Appetite is a necessity. Without it, sufficient food is not received into the stomach either to nourish the system or to give the stimulus to the bowels which they require. Both these organs and the liver become torpid in consequence, and the blood grows poor in quality and quantity. Improve the appetite, therefore, and avoid such results. This is most effectually done with Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, a tonic appetizer and alterative without a peer. It gives not only an unvonted zest for food, but enables the stomach to digest and the system to assimilate it. Flatulence, heartburn, nausea, and every other concomitant of indigestion are removed by it, as are also biliousness and constipation. Each nerve and fibre of the body is made to tingle with health by its use, and it is the leading remedy for despondency.

False Delicacy.

The friends of those who are troubled with bad breath, and, through over-squeamishness, dislike to refer to it, commit a positive and cruel mistake, especially if they are aware of the merits and great efficacy of the fragrant SOZODONT. This is the true and only remedy for the difficulty; there is no valid excuse for a bad breath now.

Spalding's Glue mends everything.

ACTING THROUGH THE PORES upon the sources of inflammation GLENN'S SULPHUR SOAP promptly relieves the burning, itching and other annoyances caused by Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Impetigo, Erysipelas, and other skin diseases and ultimately removes every vestige of them.

Adamson's Botanic Cough Balsam has effected more cures during the first two years it was in the market than all the medicines that have been advertised for twenty years past. F. W. Kinsman, Proprietor, Augusta, Me.

LYON'S KATHAIRON prevents the Hair from falling out or turning gray, renews its growth, and gives strength and vigor. It is delightfully perfumed, and makes a splendid dressing. It is the cheapest and most desirable Hair Tonic ever produced. Used by the elite. Price only 50 cents.

PILOT BREAD.

This kind of bread having come into extensive family use, it has been my purpose to furnish, from choice materials, an article which should meet the approval of the most fastidious as to neatness, looks and taste. Whether I have succeeded in giving to the public a PILOT BREAD,

SUPERIOR IN EXCELLENCE,

the consumer may be the judge; that the quality will not be suffered to depreciate, the past with the present is my best pledge. That I can compete with all the various qualities of Pilot Bread in the market, as to price, I make no pretensions,—but in price, all things being equal, I fear no competition.]

KEEP IT BEFORE THE PEOPLE!

GILBERT'S

EXCELSIOR LIVER LOZENGES!

PATENTED DEC. 16, 1873.

Cure Costiveness, Dyspepsia, Cough, Sore Throat, Piles, Rheumatic Affections, Humors, Headache, Inflammatory Fevers, Sick Headache, Palpitation of the Heart, Canker, Loss of Appetite, and the long line of Affections consequent on a diseased state of the Liver.

An Excellent Spring Medicine.

They are purely Vegetable, perfectly safe; can be used by all persons, at any season and in any climate, and warranted to give entire satisfaction. They cause a healthy action of the Liver, thus promoting the flow of Bile, causing health and vigor to take the place of Lassitude and Disease.

N. B. Persons afflicted with any of the above affections, and wish to test the merits of this remedy, no cure, no pay,—will please call at

No. 97 Daniel Street,

Directions for Restoring Persons Apparently Dead from Drowning.

I. Lose no time. Carry out these directions on the spot.

II. Remove the froth and mucous from the mouth and nostrils.

III. Hold the body, for a few seconds only, with the head hanging down, so that the water may run out of the lungs and windpipe

IV. Loosen all tight articles of clothing about the neck and chest.

V. See that the tongue is pulled forward if it falls back into the throat. By taking hold of it with a handkerchief it will not slip.

VI. If the breathing has ceased, or nearly so, it must be stimulated by pressure of the chest with the hands, in imitation of the natural breathing; forcibly expelling the air from the lungs, and allowing it to re-enter and expand them by the elasticity of the ribs. Remember that this is the most important step of all. To do it readily, lay the person on his back, with a cushion, pillow, or some firm substance, under the shoulders; then press with the flat of the hands over the lower part of the breastbone and the upper part of the abdomen, keeping up a regular repetition and relaxation of pressure; twenty or thirty pounds may be applied with safety to a grown person.

VII. Rub the limbs with the hands, or with dry cloths, constantly, to aid the circulation and keep the body warm.

VIII. As soon as the person can swallow, give a table-spoonful of spirits in hot water, or some warm tea or coffee.

IX. Work deliberately. Do not give up too quickly. Success has rewarded the efforts of hours.

Modern Women.

It is a sad commentary upon our boasted civilization that women of our time have degenerated in health—pale, nervous, feeble and back-achy, with only here and there a few noble exceptions in the persons of the robust, buxom ladies characteristic of the sex in days gone by. By a very large experience, covering a period of years and embracing the treatment of many thousands of cases of those ailments peculiar to Women, Dr. Pierce, of the World's Dispensary, Buffalo, N. Y., has perfected, by the combination of certain vegetable extracts, a natural specific, which he does not extol as a cure-all, but one which admirably fulfills a singleness of purpose, being a most positive and reliable remedy for those weaknesses and complaints that afflict the women of the present day. This natural specific compound is called Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. The following are among those diseases in which this wonderful medicine has worked cures as if by magic and with a certainty never before attained by any medicines: Weak back, nervous and general debility, falling and other displacements of internal organs, resulting from debility and lack of strength in natural supports, internal fever, congestion, inflamation and ulceration and very many other chronic diseases incident to women, not proper to mention here, in which, as well as in the cases that have been enumerated, the Favorite Prescription effects cures—the marvel of the world. It will not do harm in any state or condition of the system, and by adopting its use the invalid lady may avoid that severest of ordeals—the consulting of a family physician. Favorite Prescription is sold by dealers in medicines generally.

AMERICAN & FOREIGN PATENTS.

R. H. EDDY,
SOLICITOR OF PATENTS,
For Inventions Trade Marks or Designs
No. 76 STATE ST., OPPOSITE KILBY ST., BOSTON.

After an extensive practice of upwards of thirty years, continues to secure patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all papers for Patents, executed on reasonable terms with dispatch. Research made to determine the validity and utility of Patents of Inventions, and legal and other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any patent furnished, by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.

No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.

All necessity for a journey to Washington to procure a Patent and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents."

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of pushing their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office. EDMUND BURKE, Late Commissioner of Patents."

"MR. R. H. EDDY has made for me over THIRTY applications for Patents, having been successful in almost every case. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend ALL inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases and at very reasonable charges. JOHN TAGGART."

MAGIC

CONDITION PILLS!

The Wonderful Remedy for Liver Complaint, Biliousness, Dyspepsia, Constipation, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Headache, Kidney Complaint, Nervousness, Scrofula, Piles, and all diseases arising from a bad state of the Blood!

No medicine ever offered to the public has given such universal satisfaction as Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. Their praises are on every tongue where their merits are known. They strike at once at the seat of disease and show their healing power almost immediately. Thousands of voluntary testimonials of their merits have been received by the agent, from those who have been cured by them, of which the following are samples:

Dyspepsia Four Years, Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels Three Years, Confined to my Room Two Years, Pain so I Could Not Sleep Without Morphine. One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills Made Me Eat Well, Sleep Well and Free from Pain, after being given up by Physicians.

WEST LEBANON, ME., Feb. 22, 1

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I have been sick for four years with Dyspepsia, and for the past three years Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels. I have suffered all the pain I could endure and live. I have been confined to my room for two years, and could not sleep nights without the use of morphine. I have been given up by physicians as past cure. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, and they have done me more good than all the doctors I have had. I sleep well, I eat well and have no pain. They are all they are recommended to be. Please send me three packages, as two of my neighbors wish to try them. I enclose $1.50.
Your truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Another Letter from Maj. John W. Lord, one month later. Wonderful Cures by Dr. Quain's Pills Effected on Him in Thirteen Days. First time Free from Pain for Three Years.

WEST LEBANON, ME., March 22, 1875

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I commenced taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS February 9th, and wrote you February 22d of their wonderful effect. I have continued to improve ever since. My appetite is good, and I sleep as well as I ever did in my life. I am free from pain for the first time in three years. When I was taken sick four years ago, I weighed one hundred and eighty-six pounds; I now weigh one hundred and thirty, but, as I am gaining in strength, I have faith I shall regain my flesh this summer, by the use of the Pills. I shall continue taking them for some time to come.
Yours truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Dr. Quain's Pills the Remedy for Soldiers' Aches and Pains.

WEST LEBANON, ME., June 1, 1875.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I am now able to walk out every day, and am gaining in strength very fast, all of which is due to you as agent for the best Pills in the world. I have taken no other medicine, and my improvement has been steady since first taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done everything for me, and I will say to you, advertise them direct to the soldiers, for they will certainly cure them of aches and pains caused from exposure and hardship on the field. Please send me by return mail another package.
JOHN W. LORD.

Rheumatism for Twenty Years Cured by One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills—"The Best Medicine in the World."

EAST ANDOVER, N. H., Dec. 10, 1875.

MR. LANE—Dear Sir:—As I know the value of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS and the good they have done me, I take pleasure in giving them praise; so I send you another testimonial. My father has been troubled with Rheumatism for twenty years or more, and has tried everything that could be bought of, but to no good. At times it would so cripple him he could not lift his hand to his head or do any work at all, especially in cold weather. A short time ago I advised him to get some of these Pills. He believed nothing in them, but I gave him the last package I had of you, as I did not need them, and he has not been as free from the Rheumatic Complaint for years. No Rheumatism, no pain. What helped him? It was DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, the best medicine in the world. There is no ring like them. I know it, for I have tried them, and they are all, yes, more than they are recommended to be. Give them a fair trial and you will say so. I write this because I know the goodness of them and wish others to know the same. Some may think I am telling a big story I am. But remember I am not giving them half the praise they ought to have.
Yours with respect, ED. F. PEVARE.

DAINGERFIELD, MORRIS CO., TEXAS, Nov. 15, '75.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I have been afflicted for near twelve years with Neuralgia in the face and head. I tried I do not know how many physicians, and could only get partly relieved. I also tried many patent medicines with big, same result. I have been confined to my room most all the time for eight or ten winters, and have been traveling and visiting medical springs, and I still suffered most intensely. The physicians pronounced my case the worst and most stubborn that they had had anything to do with. One told me I could never get well; they all advised me to go South and spend the winter, and thought that was the only chance for me, and I was trying to get ready to go to Florida when through the kindness of Rev. H. M. Mathis, my attention was called to the advertisement of Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. I immediately sent to you for a package. I have taken four doses and I am almost free from pain. The impression here seems to be that if your pills will cure me, they will cure anybody. I have five applications to send for the pills. Enclosed please find three dollars; send five packages to me and one to Mrs. Laura Sherrell, Sulphur Springs, Hopkins county, Texas.
Yours truly, J. S. PATTON.

Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache.

LACONIA, N. H., Jan. 29, 1875.

THOS. W. LANE—Sir:—I have been troubled with Bad Blood, Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done me more good than all the medicine I ever took; I have taken considerable medicine within the last five years. For the nerves I think there is nothing so good as those pills. I can recommend them to all who are similarly afflicted, they have done me so much good. I think they will recommend themselves wherever they go. I shall recommend them to all who need them. Please send me two packages more, one for myself and one for a lady friend of mine. Many thanks to the inventor, agent and advertiser of those Pills.
MRS. P. L. ELLIOTT.

DR. QUAIN'S MAGIC CONDITION PILLS are put up only by the AMERICAN MEDICINE CO., Manchester, N. H., THOMAS W. LANE, Agent.

PULMOCINE.

BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL

is no new discovery. Twenty-three years ago it was used by one of New England's most famous physicians as the best Pulmonary Curative he could prescribe, after a dozen years spent in experimenting with it before he was satisfied that the Materia Medica could add nothing in its favor.

Is the ultima thule of Medical Discovery.

Among its many ingredients are Wild Cherry Bark, Squill Root, Liquorice Root, Blood root, &c. It is a Blood Purifier, gently stimulating. It increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is sudorific and alterative. It is a necessary family medicine. It is a tonic and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is a gentle sedative, and relieves nervousness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.

CLEAR YOUR THROAT!

Relieve Your Lungs.

For the terrible diseases engendered by the lung-trying climate of New England!

PULMOCINE CORDIAL

Is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. Every Family should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croups, Laryngitis, or inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred Throat Diseases at all times prevalent, it is the ounce of Prevention. Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for. These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning, when a physician may be out of immediate reach. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy relief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As "a stitch in time saves nine," so does the possession of this Family Medicine prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agent. There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all this afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and the patient's danger is past.

For Coughs,

Croup,

Diphtheria,

Asthma, etc.,

USE

Buchman's Pulmocine Cordial.

The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. It is offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

Health Regulations.

THE BOARD OF HEALTH OF THE CITY OF PORTSMOUTH call the attention of the public to the following sections of Chapter 16, of the Revised Ordinances, and invite all interested in the preservation of health in our city to aid them in the execution of their duty:

SEC. 3. All waste water of houses, yards, cellars, sinks, pumps, etc., shall be conveyed by their own pipes or conduits to the common sewers, or to such places as the Health Officers may direct.

SEC. 4. No person shall be allowed to throw any vegetable or dead animal substance, or any other matter capable of producing infection, into any street, lane, alley or dock, or upon any wharf, but shall bury them or throw them into the river below low-water mark.

SEC. 5. The contents of vaults and privies shall not be permitted to rise within one foot of the surface of the earth. And all owners or occupiers of buildings having such vaults or privies as may require it, shall cause them to be emptied within ten days from the promulgation of this ordinance, and in future on or before the the first day of May in each year. And any such owner or occupier neglecting so to do, shall forfeit and pay for every such neglect a sum not less than three nor more than twenty dollars, and a like sum for every week's neglect after the time above specified.

SEC. 6. No vender of meat at the stalls shall be permitted to leave any stale meat, heads, feet or offal of any kind about their stalls or stores over night, or suffer them to be thrown into any street, lane or alley of the city. Nor shall any sellers of fish be permitted to throw any offal of fish into any street, lane or alley of the city, or upon any wharf, but shall either bury them or throw them into the river beyond low-water mark.

SEC. 7. If any dead animal or decaying vegetable substance, or any other nuisance, shall be found in any part of the city, the owners or occupiers of the premises where such nuisance shall be found, shall cause the same to be removed within twenty-four hours after being notified so to do by one or more of the health officers.

SEC. 12. When any householder shall know that any person within his family is taken sick of the small pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, he shall immediately give notice thereof to the Health Officers.

SEC. 13. When any physician shall know that any person whom he is called to visit is infected with the small pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, such physician shall immediately give notice thereof to the Health Officers.

SEC. 14. If any such householder or physician shall refuse or neglect to give the notice required in the preceding sections, he shall for each refusal or neglect, forfeit the sum of twenty dollars, to be recovered by either of the Health Officers in the name of the city.

SEC. 16. The Health Officers may give written notice to the owner or occupier of any building, vessel or enclosure, to remove or destroy any nuisance or other thing deemed by them on examination, to be injurious to the public health, within a certain time limited therein; and in case such owner or occupier—the said notice having been given to him, or left at his usual place of abode—shall neglect to comply therewith, the said Health Officers may, by direction of the mayor and accompanied by the city marshal, forcibly enter such building, vessel, or enclosure, and cause said nuisance or other thing aforesaid to be removed or destroyed.

SEC. 21. No person shall erect, keep or continue, or permit to be erected, kept or continued, upon any land occupied by him, any pen for the keeping of swine, or privy, over either of the mill ponds in this city, or so placed that offensive substances therefrom shall be discharged or drained into either of said ponds, or into any creek, or cove, or drain leading thereto. And no person shall construct, keep or continue any drain leading from any pen for the keeping of any swine, slaughter-house, privy vault, or other unwholesome or offensive place, into either of said ponds, or to any flat or marsh adjoining the same. And no person shall throw or suffer to be thrown from his land into either of said ponds, or upon any of said flats or marshes, any dead, decaying, unwholesome or offensive animal or vegetable substances.

KIM'S LAST WHIPPING.

There was once a wretched little unpainted school-house, that stood in a sand-bank year after year, waiting for a strong north wind to blow it over.

"Say, what will you sell that house for?" asked a traveller of a little boy, who stood on one foot on the rickety door-step.

"For a bunch of matches, answered the little boy, as quick as a thought.

The man laughed, and rode on. The boy was Kimball Price, the rogue of the town of Schodac, District No. 3, and the try-patience of his teachers. He was a handsome lad, ten years old. I don't mean that he was always ten; but that was his age when Miss Pentecost whipped him, and there is where our story begins.

Now, Miss Pentecost taught the school that summer at district No. 3. She liked Kim—everybody liked him; but that was no reason why he should be allowed to tie the girls together by the hair—they wore long braids in those days—or fire paper balls, or eat choke cherries, or stick pins in the benches to make the A B C scholars cry "O!" when they were not saying their letters. Miss Pentecost never winked at naughtiness; and as whippings were fashionable at that time, she whipped Kim regularly three times a week. It was considered the most direct way of reaching the conscience."

But Kim never could remember a whipping more than a day and a half, or at the longest three days, and Miss Pentecost began to grow discouraged. Must Kim always go on doing mischief, and neglecting his lessons—a boy who could learn so well if he chose?

She knew his mother—a poor widow with a large family of children—and she was sure Mrs. Price could not afford to send Kim to school merely to play.

"What can I do or say to make an impression on that child?" thought Miss Pentecost one day, as she tied the strings of her gingham log-cabin under her chin, and stepped out of the school-house.

Just then she caught these words, spoken by Kim with energy and a flourish of fists:

"Tell you it's true, Bob Whiting, for mother said so; and if mother says it's so, blamed if it ain't so!"

Miss Pentecost laughed to herself and passed on through the sand-bank into the dusty road. When she had gone as far as the big willow she paused a little, and laughed again.

"I like to hear a boy talk so about his mother, if it is nonsense. Kim is an affectionate little fellow, and I shouldn't wonder if he is a pretty good son. Any way, I've got an idea, and I mean to try it and see how it will work."

Next day was the time for one of Kim's regular whippings. He had been more than usually trying, and Miss Pentecost sent Bob Whiting out for a remarkably strong birch stick, which could express her feelings better than the old one, which stood in the corner. She spent some time in trimming the new twig, though she was careful to leave a few little knots on it, which would give more emphasis to the blows.

"I don't think I ever saw a better birch stick," she said, looking at it admiringly. "Now, Kimball, you may take of your jacket."

He was used to taking it off, and he always kept half the buttons unfastened to save time.

Miss Pentecost gave him an unusually hard whipping; and, after it, he cried till he could hardly see out of his eyes. He thought that was enough, and it was what the boys called "a square thing;" but at night as he was running out of the school house, whistling, Miss Pentecost called him to her desk.

"Well, Kimball, I've whipped you hard to-day—very hard."

Kim thought there was no doubt about that.

"Yes'm," responded he, meekly.

"Look at this stick. Didn't I take pains to get a good one?"

"Yes'm," said Kim; but he didn't gaze at the stick as if he loved it.

"Do you know, Kimball, it's very hard work to whip you? It lames my arm and hurts my feelings. Really, I can't afford to do it day after day for nothing."

Kim looked up in surprise. This was a new view of the matter.

"You understand me, Kimball? I can't afford to do it day after day for nothing, any more. There's not another boy in school I've whipped so often as you; and this time I must be paid for it. Don't you think that fair?"

"Yes'm," said Kim, in intense amazement, his eyes black and shining like watermelon seeds.

"Well, Kimball, I think it's worth at least twenty-five cents; and I do not want you to come to school to-morrow without bringing me the money. Tell your mother about it, and tell her if you don't bring it I shall have to send you home for it. Good night, Kimball, and remember what I say."

"Yes'm."

"What did she do to you this time?" asked Joe Fuller, who had been waiting outside.

"O, go along now; she didn't do anything to me," replied Kim, sheepishly. "Come, let's run down to the pond and catch bloodsuckers."

Next morning about school time, Kim stole along into the shed kitchen, and hung about the cheese-tub where his mother was making curd.

"Why don't you start for school? You'll be late my son."

"The mistress whipped me yesterday," muttered Kim, helping himself to a plum of curd.

"Did she? Well I've no doubt you deserved it. There, run along, and see if you can't be a better boy to-day."

"But, mother"—

"Well, what?"

"Why, you see, the mistress"—

"Well, speak it out, sonny; I'm in a hurry."

"Why, you see, mother the mistress wants twenty-five cents for whipping me."

"Twenty-five cents!"

"She says it lamed her arm," and if I don't bring it she will have to send me home.

Mrs. Price looked down on the curly-headed culprit with a twinkle of fun in her eyes—she had black eyes very much like Kim's.

"Well, sonny, go get my purse out of the cupboard. If I am poor it shan't be said I don't do all I can for my children's education."

Kim brought the purse—a red worsted one with steel rings.

"Yes; here is a silver quarter, with the pillars on it. We are out of ginger-bread, and I was going to spend it for molasses; but never mind. I don't blame Miss Pentecost. I know it is hard work to whip you, and she deserves the money."

"Thank you, Kimball," said Miss Pentecost when she received the bright quarter. "Didn't your mother think I deserved it?"

"Yes'm," replied the boy, his chin sinking into the hollow place in his neck.

"I thought she would. Well, now, my dear, I shall carry this quarter home and keep it, and the next time I whip you I must have another. Do you understand?"

Kim scowled down at his little bare toes, and tried to stick them into a crack in the floor. Why, this was getting serious! Would the woman keep on crying "quarters" forever? It was perfectly ruinous. His mother had all she could do to support the family before; but what would become of them now?

"You may take your seat," added Miss Pentecost, still in a low tone, so that no one could hear her, but with a smile that exasperated poor Kim. "It is dreadful that you will be naughty; but then, you see, the more I whip you the more money I shall get; and perhaps before the summer is out, I shall have enough to buy a new dress."

"No, you don't" thought Kim, shutting his teeth together. Catch me letting my mother buy a dress for you! Why, we've got to go without ginger-bread to-day. You don't get another chance to whip me for one while, ma'am—now, you see!"

To avoid a whipping it was necessary to study; for Kim was a boy that must be doing something. He saw Bob Whiting go to sleep, and longed to drop a cherry into his mouth. He saw Joe Fuller sauntering down the aisle, looking straight before him, and it was the cutest chance to trip him up; but Kim resisted these allurements, and fifty more, and got his geography lesson so well that Miss Pentecost patted him on the head and said, "That's my good boy!" which would have been delightful if he could have forgotten that ginger-bread!

Next day he tried studying again, and rose to the head of his spelling class.

"Why, I haven't had a whipping since Tuesday," thought he, Saturday noon, as he ran home with the silver medal on his neck.

After that he seemed somehow to fall into the habit of studying. Studying is a habit, let me tell you, just as much as playing, though I suppose rather harder to acquire.

The little fellow's will was aroused, and that was precisely what he needed. In short, Kim had had his last whipping from Miss Pentecost or anybody else; and instead of being the most troublesome boy, he became the best scholar in school.

"I shan't be able to buy that dress, after all," said she, the night after school closed; "but Kim, dear, I know you are glad."

"Yes'm," replied Kim, meeting her eyes with a smile.

"And I'll keep the quarter to remember you by. Your mother says she wishes me to."

"Yes'm."

Kimball Price is now one of the wealthiest and most respected men in his native State.

"And that man," said 'Squire Hathaway, the other day, in his Fourth of July oration, "was educated over at Schodac, boys, in the little black school house, that is so poor and miserable that, when it took fire a few years ago, it wouldn't burn down."

Mr. Kimball Price returned from Europe, last May, with his wife, and we heard Mrs. Hathaway say—she was once Miss Pentecost—that she thought her last whipping had made a man of him.

"He wanted that old quarter of a dollar," said Mrs. Helen Hathaway laughing, "but I couldn't bear to part with it; so he cut it in two, and we've each got half."

—Only a few years ago head gear worn by gentlemen was not as cheap as it is today. In former times Panama hats, costing from $10 to $100, were greatly in vogue and much admired; but such is not the case to-day, the matter of economy probably having something to do with it. It is now a common circumstance to see gentlemen wearing hats that cost no more than fifteen cents, and the wearers seem to be quite as healthy as ever. Even last summer's hats have been fished out of dusty places, cleaned up, and made to do duty once more. This is a straw which shows which way the financial wind blows.

—A man at Tionesta, Pa., was stung by a black spider, and has shrunk from sleek and fair proportions to a condition of emaciation and absolute inability to work.

—"Madam," said a gentleman to his wife, "let me tell you, facts are very stubborn things." "What a fact you must be," quoth the lady.

Daily Chronicle.

WEDNESDAY, JULY 19, 1876.

FOR PRESIDENT,

Rutherford B. Hayes,

OF OHIO.

FOR VICE PRESIDENT,

William A. Wheeler,

OF NEW YORK.

Hayes' Platform in War.

In 1864, when Hayes was in the army, being nominated for Congress he was requested to come home and stump his district. His reply was, "I have other business just now. Any man who would leave the army at this time to electioneer for Congress ought to be scalped!"

Hayes' Platform in Peace.

"Honest money for all, and free schools for all. There should be no inflation which will depreciate the one, nor sectarian interference which will destroy the other."

Hayes and Tilden.

In the remarks of Governor Hayes to his friends and neighbors at his home in Fremont, Ohio, in response to their congratulations on his nomination, he expressed himself in this modest language:

"It is a very great responsibillity that has been placed upon me to be a representative of forty millions of people, a responsibility which I know very well I am not able to perform. I understand very well that it was not by reason of ability or talent that I was chosen. There were accidents and contingencies that caused this result, but that which does rejoice me is that here, where I have been born, and where I spent my childhood, there are those that come and rejoice at the result."

On being notified of his nomination, Governor Tilden made this significant remark:

"This nomination was not made by the leaders of the party; it was the people who made it. They want reform. They have wanted it a long time, and in looking about they became convinced that it is to be found here (pointing to himself.) They want it; that is what they are after."

When General Hayes was tendered a nomination for Congress, in 1862, he answered:

"I have other business just now. Any man who would leave the army at this time for electioneering, ought to be scalped."

When Governor Tilden was asked what response he had to make to the threats of secession, he wrote:

"The framers of our government left revolution organized; left it with power to snap the tie of confederation as a nation might break a treaty, and to repel coercion as a nation might repel invasion."

The characteristics of the two men are most completely illustrated in these utterances,—the measures of their personal assumption and of their sense of patriotism, respectively. No two men, presented for the suffrages of the people, could be placed in a stronger contrast.

Tilden and Tweed.

There are a great many honest democrats in New England, says the Boston Journal, who imagine that the reported intimacy of Governor Tilden with Tweed are campaign lies. Governor Tilden was an adviser of Tweed's when he secured the passage of the charter which enabled him to rob the city of New York. Governor Tilden did not part company with Tweed till some time after the discovery of Tweed's rascalities. His personal relations with Tweed are shown by the following correspondence, which Governor Tilden admitted in a court of justice, no later than last February, were in his handwriting. This is the great reformer who is held up as the only man capable of purifying the politics of the country:

My Dear Sir—The National Committee meet at the Metropolitan Hotel, in Washton, on the 25th of February, at 12 o'clock.

Yours, etc., S. J. TILDEN.

Hon. Wm. M. Tweed.

NO. 15 GRAMERCY PARK, }
Aug. 12, 1866—11 A. M. }

My Dear Sir—I decided to go to Philadelphia in the morning, and shall not be able to see you before I leave. Mr. Richmond is at the St. Nicholas, somewhat ill. If well enough he will come on the 2 P. M. train. Whether he is there to-day or not, I hope you will not fail to be in Philadelphia.

Very truly your friend,

S. J. TILDEN.

Hon. William M. Tweed.

Hon. W. M. Tweed:

My Dear Sir—I beg to present to your attention the case of Mr. Samuel Allen, a very old friend of ours, who is in great need of a small appointment under your department, for which he has applied. He would be content with something for a time of not a very high rank. You know him so well that I need add nothing. He used to be a very efficient and useful worker, and is an entirely reliable man, and I should be personally glad if you could help him.

Truly yours, S. J. TILDEN.

Reform.

The New York Times reckons up the result of Governor Tilden's strike for canal reform as follows:

Number of suits brought,	3
Number brought to trial,	2
Number of convictions obtained,	1
Number of suits dismissed by court,	1
Number of suits now pending,	1
Amount of money recovered,	None.
Expenses of commission and counsel to assist the Attorney-General, about	$100,000
Payment of two certificates stopped by commission,	$8000
Number of existing fraudulent contracts stopped,	None.

Of the two suits brought to trial one was but a revival of an old suit, commenced and dismissed before Tilden became governor, and again dismissed since. The one conviction obtained was against George D. Lord, a bitterly anti-Tilden democrat, — whose counsel, however, was an ardent worker for Tilden at St. Louis,—and even this one convict is still at large, with no very brilliant prospect of his being soon punished by imprisonment or being compelled to disgorge his ill-gotten gains.

Errors in Reform Clubs.

The published accounts of the various reform clubs are almost uniformly good. A great work is being done, and some errors may creep in, but these, if published, may serve as a caution to avoid a rock on which there is danger of splitting. Business has led me to different places. The good in the operation of the clubs I have gathered up, the bad thrown mostly away. A few things somewhat disastrous shall be put down as a warning.

In one case the "one-man-power" appeared to disadvantage. Men of a leading influence in the right are a blessing in any organization; but self-constituted leaders, those that are vain of what they do, and "love to have the pre-eminence" are of little use. One of these in attempting to run a club, presented a Constitution which had grammatical blunders. Afterwards he boasted of having been father of the club, but by extravagant and injudicious speeches, injured it so that for a time it seemed that it would be ruined.

Some appear to think they do a great work by denouncing liquor sellers. Argument and sound reasoning are worth infinitely more. In one place a speaker tried the power of mimicry, and by vociferous screaming and horrid contortions of the body, disgusted several persons so that they refused to attend the meetings.

In one case moderate drinking was called temperance, and such strange perversions of the teachings of the Bible on the subject were made that children in the Sabbath school privately asked others if these things were so.

The errors noted may not be common, but we entreat those engaged in the work of the reform clubs to be judicious, rational and consistent,—to keep about their appropriate work. The enterprise is a glorious one, and great interests are involved. The fallen, wretched and suffering may be raised up to the dignity of men and women—peace, prosperity and happiness be carried to families now in misery.

ON THE WING.

Dom Pedro.

There came an energetic ring at the door-bell the other morning, and we descended the stairs and grappled the door-knob. A middle-aged man, with sinister countenance and ginister breath, stood before us.

"I am Dom Pedro, emperor of Brazil," he said.

"Ah!" we replied, "how's the empress?"

"Never mind the empress," he rejoined; "just give your undivided attention to the emperor for a few minutes. You see, since leaving Brazil I've become a little short up for means, and am making an effort to raise the wind, as the Americans say. I am selling the centennial spelling-book. I met a party down town who said you were an editor, and needed a spelling-book badly, and"—

"What else did he tell you?" we interrupted.

"He said you had a wife who was orthographically shaky, and eleven children who should each have one of my books by all means."

"Anything else?"

"Well, yes. He said you were in old clothes and pretended you were poor, but that you were in reality a foreign prince, with gold enough to sink a canal boat, and if approached by royalty you would unbosom yourself, and as the Americans say, 'come down.'"

"That isn't all he told you, is it?"

"No—he also informed me that you had wine in your cellar and that it was made in the time of the first crusade, and that you would invite me in and fill me so full of pound cake and the juice of the ancient grape that I would be compelled to get into one of your most luxuriant beds and remain over night."

"Then you are the emperor of Brazil, are you?"

"I am; the simon pure, bona fide, emperor of Brazil."

"Well, Pedro, as you came along the fence there, did you notice a section of it that swings on hinges?"

"Why, of course I did. You mean the gate, I suppose. How do you expect I got into the yard?"

"We thought, perhaps, that as you were an emperor, you spurned to walk through an ordinary gate and crawled under the fence. Now, Pedro, old boy, let's see if you can get through that gate again without knocking any of the paint off the post."

He started slowly down the path, but stopped presently, and, by the movement of his lips, we judge that he was indulging in silent anathemas. We quietly picked up a brick and he moved on again and was soon out of sight. That's the only way to deal with centennial spelling-book emperors.—Franklin (Ky.,) Patriot.

—A gentleman visited an unhappy man in jail awaiting his trial. "Sir," said the prisoner, tears running down his cheeks, "I had a good home education: it was my street education that ruined me. I used to slip out of the house and go off with the boys in the street. In the street I learned to lounge; in the street I learned to swear; in the street I learned to smoke; in the street I learned to gamble; in the street I learned to pilfer. Oh, sir, it is in the street the devil lurks to work the ruin of the young."

—The contrast between the jaunty appearance of a fly before he gets into the butter and his crest fallen aspect as he crawls out has been generally noticed, we believe.

—A wedding in a balloon and a bridal trip among the clouds was one of the attractions at Indianapolis on the Fourth.

ELECTION, AUGUST 1, 1876.

CITY OF PORTSMOUTH.

NOTICE.

Having my ware-room (which is the largest this side of Boston) full of the best of

MARBLE WORK,

I would respectfully invite the people of Portsmouth and vicinity, who have lost relatives or friends, or have occasion for the use of any kind of stone work to call before purchasing elsewhere. My stock consists of Monuments, Headstones, Marble Posts, Mantel Shelves, Pier Tops, &c., the stock for which was bought and men employed to work the same, since the commencement of the present hard times. I have not sufficient room in which to place more work, and do not wish to discharge any of my hands. For the above reasons, I feel confident that no one can undersell me with the same quality of stock and work, I take occasion to call the attention of all who are repairing or building houses, to my large stock of

Mantel Shelves and Pier Tops!

I also have Three LOTS, enclosed with Granite Curbs and Posts, in Harmony Grove and Sagamore Cemeteries, which I will sell at a discount.

Jottings.

Tuesday was the hottest yet, the thermometer registering 100 in the shade. Subtract from this condition of things a cool sea breeze with which we are generally favored here, and add a plentiful supply of scorching, blistering sand and we can imagine the comfort our legislators are enjoying at Concord.

Upwards of five hundred individuals, by actual count, drank from that aqueous institution in front of the Post Office on Tuesday between the hours of 7 A. M. and 6 P. M.

The temperance reform club is contemplating a picnic to take place a week from to-day (Wednesday,) probably at So. Berwick.

Capt. Marvin's Light Battery did not fire those guns at Barnum's circus the other evening, as has been stated.

Political.

Sunset Cox, in a debate in Congress over the massacre of colored republicans by white democrats at Hamburg, S. C., said, "Give South Carolina a democratic government" and such things would not occur! Exactly; allow the democrats to have their own way and they will refrain from murdering their political antagonists; but so long as the southern democracy cannot work their own sweet will without let or hindrance, so long will they murder those who dare to differ with them. That theory was well understood before Cox announced it. Hon. Daniel Marcy, when he was in Congress, said if the "wicked, disloyal abolition party" would repent and apologise, lay down their arms "and act with the democratic party," there would be no more war! Cox's plan of stopping democratic massacres of republicans in the South is but Marcy's old recipe altered over to suit the change in the times.

Already the name of John Morrissey is announced as a very proper one for a place in Tilden's cabinet. He certainly should be rewarded by such a recognition, as the nomination was largely due to his manipulations at St. Louis. In the event of success McMullin, the Philadelphia bully, and Randall's alternate, is to be made collector of the port of Philadelphia. To complete such meritorious selections it is suggested that the position of judge of the Criminal Court would be a proper recognition of the work of Slatter, the recently pardoned murderer. A sweet trio of reformers.—Republic.

The democratic ticket, on the great question of finance, is like a certain class of war vessels built for service during the late rebellion. They were called "double enders" from the fact that they could run either way with equal facility as occasion might require. Tilden, a pronounced hard money advocate, and backed by that influence in the East, and Hendricks, representing all that is wild in the West on the inflation side. The financial plank adopted at St. Louis is equally ambiguous, and sustains both ideas or neither as desired.

One of the oldest and most influential of the Iowa democracy, Gen. James M. Tuttle, recently the nominee of his party for Governor, repudiates Tilden and sustains Hayes. The general, with the same patriotism which won him fame on the field of actual battle, and which has ever distinguished him, can go no farther with the democratic party, with the Confederate element leading it. The actions of the, Confederate House, the displacement of Union soldiers with Confederates, the alarming speech of Ben Hill, confirmed to his mind what the democratic success in the fall before had suggested. The ex-rebel array at St. Louis, their control of that convention, the readiness of leading democratic politicians of the North again to truckle to them, and the ticket made up at their behest, leave him no other choice as a lover of his country, and at a man who knows as well as any other man in America what the real rebels are, than to repudiate the ticket so made and the party making it.

If the Southern democrats are really in earnest in denouncing the course of the whites at Hamburg, S. C., why don't they string up the ringleaders, who are perfectly well known and boast of their bloody work? A beginning might be made with "Gen." M. C. Butler, the chief of the gang, who is one of the old Ku-Klux leaders, and who is boasting now that the affair at Hamberg is only the beginning of the work of the campaign. Fifteen hundred whites hunting down forty blacks and shooting in cold blood those who surrendered, present an interesting spectacle of Caucasian civilization and "Centennial good feeling."—Boston Journal.

Suppose Hayes had such a record as Tilden's—opposition to the war; demanding peace at any price in 1864; the intimate friend and adviser of Boss Tweed, and the whole gang of New York plunderers; the man who cheated Griswold out of an election in 1868, and counted Hoffman in by fraudulent votes; who turned a reformer only when he saw no hope for the survival of the ring which he had been supporting; whose only reforms consist of the prosecution of one personal enemy, and that enemy, though convicted, not yet in the penitentiary, while his lawyer appeared in the St. Louis convention, an ardent supporter of Tilden—suppose Hayes had been such a man as this, what chance would there have been for him in the Cincinnati convention? His name would have been laughed at there, and his candidacy would have been a failure from the very beginning. Among the democracy Tilden is known chiefly as an astute manager. In the republican party such a man would be known as an associate of corrupt rings, and a dangerous enemy to the State.—Cincinnati Times.

The democratic press is quietly abandoning the pretense that Mr. Tilden was a steadfast opponent of the Tweed Ring and that to him mainly belongs the credit of its downfall. Here and there, however, some more than usually foolish Tilden organ echoes the lying pretensions of the campaign biography supplied in advance by the great "Reformer" himself. Among the latest of these the Utica Observer has the cool assurance to declare that "among Mr. Tilden's acquaintances there is not one but remembers his bitter and uncompromising hostility to the Ring from the day of its inception to the hour of its destruction." As, according to Mr. Tilden's own statement, the Ring had its "inception" in the elective Board of Supervisors, whose sessions began in 1858, it would be interesting to hear in what way Mr. Tilden ever manifested the slightest hostility to that thieving organization. The six democratic members of that Board were among the active political associates of Mr. Tilden, and three of them—John Fox, James Hayes, and Smith Ely, Jr., are reckoned, to-day, among his most ardent personal supporters. After this Board, of infamous memory, had been in existence for eight years, its chairman, Tweed, was addressed by Mr. Tilden as his "true friend," and after it had lasted ten years, and was pretty nearly loaded down by the weight of public indignation, Mr. Tilden is found indorsing Tweed's check for $5,000 stolen from the county to pay for democratic campaign expenses.—N. Y. Times.

—"General Grant," said the Empress of Brazil, "is a very silent gentleman. He walked with me at your dedication. I wanted to talk as we went along. I was not like a doll-baby, to be carried an hour or two and say nothing. But he would not say anything to me at all. So I said to him something, and he replied yes, or no, and did not say any more words to me. Oh, I was so glad when it was over. He was so very silent."

Appetite a Necessity.

Appetite is a necessity. Without it, sufficient food is not received into the stomach either to nourish the system or to give the stimulus to the bowels which they require. Both these organs and the liver become torpid in consequence, and the blood grows poor in quality and quantity. Improve the appetite, therefore, and avoid such results. This is most effectually done with Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, a tonic appetizer and alterative without a peer. It gives not only an unwonted zest for food, but enables the stomach to digest and the system to assimilate it. Flatulence, heartburn, nausea, and every other concomitant of indigestion are removed by it, as are also biliousness and constipation. Each nerve and fibre of the body is made to tingle with health by its use, and it is the leading remedy for despondency.

False Delicacy.

The friends of those who are troubled with bad breath, and, through over-squeamishness, dislike to refer to it, commit a positive and cruel mistake, especially if they are aware of the merits and great efficacy of the fragrant SOZODONT. This is the true and only remedy for the difficulty; there is no valid excuse for a bad breath now.

PILOT BREAD.

This kind of bread having come into extensive family use, it has been my purpose to furnish, from choice materials, an article which should meet the approval of the most fastidious as to neatness, looks and taste. Whether I have succeeded in giving to the public a PILOT BREAD,

SUPERIOR IN EXCELLENCE,

the consumer may be the judge; that the quality will not be suffered to depreciate, the past with the present is my best pledge. That I can compete with all the various qualities of Pilot Bread in the market, as to price, I make no pretensions,—but in price, all things being equal, I fear no competition.]

JOHN PEARSON, Jr.,

Daily Chronicle.

—In his morning trots Mr. Murray was frequently brought into the society of another sporting gentleman, with whom a community of tastes induced, in the course of time, a monosyllabic intercourse, without a formal exchange of cards, however. So Mr. Murray felt that he was only doing the good-natured thing, when meeting his road acquaintance, accompanied by a lady, one day in Boston, he vouchsafed a courteous bow. It was replied to by a well bred stare and a decided "cut." They met next morning upon the Mildam, and I think our parson was meditating a rebuke for the other's rudeness, when the latter opened the discourse in a tone of kindly but firm remonstrance: "See here, my friend, I'd like to say to you, that I am always glad to see you here, and treat you civilly here; but you should understand that the acquaintance goes no further. I'll thank you not to recognize me again when I'm in the company of a lady." The speechless minister handed over his card, by way of explanation. But I'm sorry to say there was no fight.

—"Well, how do you like the looks of the varmint?" said a "Southwester" to a "down Easter," who was gazing with round-eyed wonder, and evidently for the first time, at a huge alligator, with wide-open jaws, on the muddy banks of the Mississippi. "Wa'al," replied the Yankee, "he ain't what you may call a hansum critter, but he got's a great deal of openness when he smiles."

—"Time works wonders," as the lady said when she got married after a thirteen years' courtship.

Modern Women.

It is a sad commentary upon our boasted civilization that women of our time have degenerated in health—pale, nervous, feeble and back-achy, with only here and there a few noble exceptions in the persons of the robust, buxom ladies characteristic of the sex in days gone by. By a very large experience, covering a period of years and embracing the treatment of many thousands of cases of those ailments peculiar to Women, Dr. Pierce, of the World's Dispensary, Buffalo, N. Y., has perfected, by the combination of certain vegetable extracts, a natural specific, which he does not extol as a cure-all, but one which admirably fulfills a singleness of purpose, being a most positive and reliable remedy for those weaknesses and complaints that afflict the women of the present day. This natural specific compound is called Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. The following are among those diseases in which this wonderful medicine has worked cures as if by magic and with a certainty never before attained by any medicines: Weak back, nervous and general debility, falling and other displacements of internal organs, resulting from debility and lack of strength in natural supports, internal fever, congestion, inflamation and ulceration and very many other chronic diseases incident to women, not proper to mention here, in which, as well as in the cases that have been enumerated, the Favorite Prescription effects cures—the marvel of the world. It will not do harm in any state or condition of the system, and by adopting its use the invalid lady may avoid that severest of ordeals—the consulting of a family physician. Favorite Prescription is sold by dealers in medicines generally.

R. H. EDDY,
SOLICITOR OF PATENTS,
For Inventions Trade Marks or Designs
No. 76 STATE ST., OPPOSITE KILBY ST., BOSTON.

After an extensive practice of upwards of thirty years, continues to secure patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all papers for Patents, executed on reasonable terms with dispatch. Researches made to determine the validity and utility of Patents of Inventions, and legal and other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any patent furnished, by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.

No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.

All necessity for a journey to Washington to procure a Patent and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents."

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office. EDMUND BURKE, Late Commissioner of Patents."

"MR. R. H. EDDY has made for me over THIRTY applications for Patents, having been successful in almost every case. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend ALL inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases and at very reasonable charges. DR. QUAIN'S
CONDITION PILLS!

The Wonderful Remedy for Liver Complaint, Biliousness, Dyspepsia, Constipation, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Headache, Kidney Complaint, Nervousness, Scrofula, Piles, and all diseases arising from a bad state of the Blood!

No medicine ever offered to the public has given such universal satisfaction as Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. Their praises are on every tongue where their merits are known. They strike at once at the seat of disease and show their healing power almost immediately. Thousands of voluntary testimonials of their merits have been received by the agent, from those who have been cured by them, of which the following are samples:

Dyspepsia Four Years, Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels Three Years, Confined to my Room Two Years, Pain so I Could Not Sleep Without Morphine. One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills Made Me Eat Well, Sleep Well and Free from Pain, after being given up by Physicians.

WEST LEBANON, ME., Feb. 22, 1

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I have been sick for four years with Dyspepsia, and for the past three years Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels. I have suffered all the pain I could endure and live. I have been confined to my room for two years, and could not sleep nights without the use of morphine. I have been given up by physicians as past cure. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, and they have done me more good than all the doctors I have had. I sleep well, I eat well and have no pain. They are all they are recommended to be. Please send me three packages, as two of my neighbors wish to try them. I enclose $1.50.
Your truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Another Letter from Maj. John W. Lord, one month later. Wonderful Cures by Dr. Quain's Pills Effected on Him in Thirteen Days. First time Free from Pain for Three Years.

WEST LEBANON, ME., March 22, 1875

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I commenced taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS February 9th, and wrote you February 22d of their wonderful effect. I have continued to improve ever since. My appetite is good, and I sleep as well as I ever did in my life. I am free from pain for the first time in three years. When I was taken sick four years ago, I weighed one hundred and eighty-six pounds; I now weigh one hundred and thirty, but, as I am gaining in strength, I have faith I shall regain my flesh this summer, by the use of the Pills. I shall continue taking them for some time to come.
Yours truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Dr. Quain's Pills the Remedy for Soldiers' Aches and Pains.

WEST LEBANON, ME., June 1, 1875.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I am now able to walk out every day, and am gaining in strength very fast, all of which is due to you as agent for the best Pills in the world. I have taken no other medicine, and my improvement has been steady since first taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done everything for me, and I will say to you, advertise them direct to the soldiers, for they will certainly cure them of aches and pains caused from exposure and hardship on the field. Please send me by return mail another package.
JOHN W. LORD.

Rheumatism for Twenty Years Cured by One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills—"The Best Medicine in the World."

EAST ANDOVER, N. H., Dec. 10, 1875.

MR. LANE—Dear Sir:—As I know the value of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS and the good they have done me, I take pleasure in giving them praise; so I send you another testimonial. My father has been troubled with Rheumatism for twenty years or more, and has tried everything that could be thought of, but to no good. At times it would be so bad that he could not lift his hand to his head, or do any work at all, especially in cold weather. A short time ago I advised him to get some of these Pills. He believed nothing in them, but I gave him the last package I had of you, as I did not need them, and he has not been as free from the Rheumatic Complaint for years. No Rheumatism, no pain. What helped him? It was DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, the best medicine in the world. There is nothing like them. I know it, for I have tried them, and they are all, yes, more than they are recommended to be. Give them a fair trial and you will say so. I write this because I know the goodness of them and wish others to know the same. Some may think I am telling a big story I am. But remember I am not giving them half the praise they ought to have.
Yours with respect, ED. F. PEVARE.

DAINGERFIELD, MORRIS CO., TEXAS, Nov. 16, '75.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I have been afflicted for near twelve years with Neuralgia in the face and head. I tried I do not know how many physicians, and could only get partly relieved. I also tried many patent medicines with the same result. I have been confined to my room most all the time for eight or ten winters, and have been traveling and visiting medical springs, and I still suffered most intensely. The physicians pronounced my case the worst and most stubborn that they had had anything to do with. One told me I could never get well; they all advised me to go South and spend the winter, and thought that was the only chance for me, and I was trying to get ready to go to Florida, when through the kindness of Rev. H. Mathis, my attention was called to the advertisement of Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. I immediately sent to you for a package. I have taken four doses and I am almost free from pain. The impression here seems to be that if your pills will cure me, they will cure anybody. I have five applications to send for the pills. Enclosed please find three dollars; send five packages to me and one to Mrs. Laura Sherrell, Sulphur Springs, Hopkins county, Texas.
Yours truly, J. S. PATTON.

Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache.

LACONIA, N. H., Jan. 29, 1875.

THOS. W. LANE—Sir:—I have been troubled with Bad Blood, Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done me more good than all the medicine I ever took; I have taken considerable medicine within the last five years. For the nerves I think there is nothing so good as those pills. I can recommend them to all who are similarly afflicted, they have done me so much good. I think they will recommend themselves wherever they go. I shall recommend those Pills to all who need them. Please send me two packages more, one for myself and one for a lady friend of mine. Many thanks to the inventor, agent and advertiser of those Pills.
MRS. P. L. ELLIOTT.

DR. QUAIN'S MAGIC CONDITION PILLS are put up only by the AMERICAN MEDICINE CO., Manchester, N. H., THOMAS W. LANE, Agent.

PULMOCINE.

BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL

is no new discovery. Twenty-three years ago it was used by one of New England's most famous physicians as the best Pulmonary Curative he could prescribe, after a dozen years spent in experimenting with it before he was satisfied that the Materia Medica could add nothing in its favor.

Is the ultima thule of Medical Discovery.

Among its many ingredients are Wild Cherry Bark, Squill Root, Liquorice Root, Blood root, &c. It is a Blood Purifier, gently stimulating. It increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is sudorific and alterative. It is a necessary family medicine. It is a Tonic and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is a gentle sedative, and relieves nervousness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.

CLEAR YOUR THROAT!

Relieve Your Lungs.

For the terrible diseases engendered by the luxurious climate of New England!

PULMOCINE CORDIAL

Is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. Every Family should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croups, Laryngitis, or inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred Throat Diseases at all times prevalent, it is the ounce of Prevention. Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for. These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning, when a physician may be out of immediate reach. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy relief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As "a stitch in time saves nine," so does the possession of this Family Medicine prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agent: there is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all thus afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and the patient's danger is past.

For Coughs,
Croup,
Diphtheria,
Asthma, etc.,

USE

Buchman's Pulmocine Cordial.

The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. It is offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

Health Regulations.

THE BOARD OF HEALTH OF THE CITY OF PORTSMOUTH call the attention of the public to the following sections of Chapter 16, of the Revised Ordinances, and invite all interested in the preservation of health in our city to aid them in the execution of their duty:

SEC. 3. All waste water of houses, yards, cellars, sinks, pumps, etc., shall be conveyed by their owners or occupiers to the common sewers, or to such places as the Health Officers may direct.

SEC. 4. No person shall be allowed to throw any vegetable or dead animal substance, or any other matter capable of producing infection, into any street, lane, alley or dock, or upon any wharf, but shall bury them or th ow them into the river below low-water mark.

SEC. 5. The contents of vaults and privies shall not be permitted to rise within one foot of the surface of the earth. And all owners or occupiers of buildings having such vaults or privies as may require it, shall cause them to be emptied within ten days from the promulgation of this ordinance, and in future on or before the first day of May in each year. And any such owner or occupier neglecting so to do, shall forfeit and pay for every such neglect a sum not less than three nor more than twenty dollars, and a like sum for every week's neglect after the time above specified.

SEC. 6. No vender of meat at the stalls shall be permitted to leave any stale meat, heads, feet or offal of any kind about their stalls or stores over night, or suffer them to be thrown into any street, lane or alley of the city. Nor shall any sellers of fish be permitted to throw any offal of fish into any street, lane or alley of the city, or upon any wharf, but shall either bury them or throw them into the river beyond low-water mark.

SEC. 7. If any dead animal or decaying vegetable substance, or any other nuisance, shall be found in any part of the city, the owners or occupiers of the premises where such nuisance shall be found, shall cause the same to be removed within twenty-four hours after being notified so to do by one or more of the health officers.

SEC. 12. When any householder shall know that any person within his family is taken sick of the small pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, he shall immediately give notice thereof to the Health Officers.

SEC. 13. When any physician shall know that any person whom he is called to visit is infected with the small pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, such physician shall immediately give notice thereof to the Health Officers.

SEC. 14. If any such householder or physician shall refuse or neglect to give the notice required in the preceding sections, he shall for each refusal or neglect, forfeit the sum of twenty dollars, to be recovered by either of the Health Officers in the name of the city.

SEC. 16. The Health Officers may give written notice to the owner or occupier of any building, vessel or enclosure, to remove or destroy any nuisance or other thing deemed by them on examination, to be injurious to the public health, within a certain time limited therein; and in case such owner or occupier—the said notice having been given to him, or left at his usual place of abode—shall neglect to comply therewith, the said Health Officers may, by direction of the mayor and accompanied by the city marshal, forcibly enter such building, vessel, or enclosure, and cause said nuisance or other thing aforesaid to be removed or destroyed.

SEC. 21. No person shall erect, keep or continue, or permit to be erected, kept or continued, upon any land occupied by him, any pen for the keeping of swine, or privy, over either of the salt ponds in this city, or so placed that offensive substances therefrom shall be discharged or drained into either of said ponds, or into any creek, or cove, or drain leading thereto. And no person shall construct, keep or continue any drain leading from any pen for the keeping of any swine; slaughter-house, privy vault, or other unwholesome or offensive place, into either of said ponds, or to any flat or marsh adjoining the same. And no person shall throw or suffer to be thrown from his land into either of said ponds, or upon any of said flats or marshes, any dead, decaying, unwholesome or offensive animal or vegetable substances.

LINCOLN BUTTER POWDER.

Good Fresh Butter All The Year Round.

BUTTER IN 20 MINUTES.

Lincoln Butter Powder is an entirely harmless article made from a cooked-root English recipe, and now in daily use by many of the most noted farmers in the butter counties around Philadelphia.

In hot weather this Powder makes butter much firmer and sweeter than it usually is, and keeps it from turning rancid. It also removes the strong flavor of turnips, weeds, corn stalks, cotton seed, etc.; and the increased yield of butter much more than pays the trifling expense of using it.

Printed Mail Matter.

The following section of a law has been passed by Congress and approved by the President:

Sec. 15. That transient newspapers and magazines, regular publications designed primarily for advertising purposes, or free circulation at nominal rates, and all printed matter of the third class, except unsealed circulars, shall be admitted to and be transmitted in the mails at the rate of one cent for every two ounces or fractional part thereof, and one cent for each two additional ounces or fractional part thereof, and the sender of any article of the third class of mail matter may write his or her name or address therein, or on the outside thereof, with the word "from" above or preceding the same, or may write briefly, or print on any package the number and names of the articles enclosed. Publishers of newspapers and periodicals may print on the wrappers of newspapers or magazines, sent from the office of publication to regular subscribers, the time to which subscription therefor has been paid, and addresses upon postal cards and unsealed circulars may be either written, printed or affixed thereto, at the option of the sender.

Sec. 16. That all acts or parts of acts in conflict with the provisions of this act are hereby repealed. On unsealed circulars and all mailable matter of the third class, other than that designated in the aforegoing section, postage will be charged as heretofore, one cent for each ounce or fraction thereof.

Gave Him a Hint.

We have another instance of woman's subtlety and remarkable ingeniousness. She is a South Eastern young woman, and she wanted to go to the Opera House the other night to such a degree that it became the chief yearning of her soul, and her beau was so everlasting obtuse of brain that he couldn't take a hint unless it was the size of a haystack. When he came around to see her on Saturday night she was tired, and told him so, soon further convincing him of the fact by going to sleep on his shoulder. She didn't snore, but pretty soon she began to murmur softly in her slumbers.

"Opera House," she faintly sighed.

"Umph," queried Joe.

"Want-to-go-to-Opera-House," she murmured softly.

"Eh, what's that!" demanded Joe, raising up her head gently by the back hair.

"What's the matter, Joe?" and the guileless darling rubbed her eyes wearily.

"Why, I was asleep, wasn't I?"

"Yes, I guess you was. Do you talk in your sleep as a general thing?"

"Oh! yes; sometimes, when I'm worried about anything."

"Well, you shan't be worried about anything if I can help it. Let's go to the Opera House for the first thing that comes along."

"Thank you, Joe; I don't care if I do. You are a dear old darling." And then the little fraud paid him for his thoughtfulness in a legal tender that sounded like two shingles slapped together.

—A Michigan grocer purchased a thirty pound crock of a farmer whom he had never dealt with before, and while down cellar emptying the crock, he thought of a trick to surprise the agriculturist. Finding a stone weighing about eight pounds, the grocer greased it, carried it up stairs with the crock, and, pointing to it, quietly remarked: "This, of course, is to be taken from the gross weight, as well as the jar." The farmer looked at the stone for several long seconds, and then in a voice so low that no one else could hear, replied: "Please kiver a piece of paper over the jar, for there's a man out by the door who knows me." The grocer finally explained his fiendish plot, and the butter seller's face underwent a sudden change. Reaching over the sugar barrel to shake hands, he said: "I didn't hardly believe it, though my wife came from a tricky family, and I should have gone home and organized mourning and lamentation in that farm house."

—A Georgia musical critic says: "At the concert in Griffin, the other night, a solo sung by Mrs. Clara R. Johnson received rapturous applause. Her voice falls upon the hearers like silver spray upon a sea of molten gold dotted with floating diamonds and precious pearls."

—The English sparrows in New York are learning to fly up to the cages of the canaries which are hung in the house windows, and eat the birds' food.

REASONS WHY FARMERS should purchase

The Halladay Wind-Mill!

It is the first reliable self-regulating Wind Mill ever made, and continues to lead the van.

It has stood the test of nearly a quarter of a century, and has gained a reputation as broad as its use is extensive.

It is the only wind mill generally adopted on all the railroads.

It is the cheapest wind mill.

The United States Wind Engine and Pump Co. have the largest wind mill manufactory in the world. We are willing to put our mill upon its merits. We ask an investigation of facts and motives. We duly appreciate the patronage and support we have received in the past, and while we solicit a continuance of favors, we shall try to merit them. We are the pioneers in the production of a wind mill adapted to the use of farmers.

THURSDAY, JULY 20, 1876.

FOR PRESIDENT,

Rutherford B. Hayes,

OF OHIO.

FOR VICE PRESIDENT,

William A. Wheeler,

OF NEW YORK.

Hayes' Platform in War.

In 1864, when Hayes was in the army, being nominated for Congress he was requested to come home and stump his district. His reply was, "I have other business just now. Any man who would leave the army at this time to electioneer for Congress ought to be scalped!"

Hayes' Platform in Peace.

"Honest money for all, and free schools for all. There should be no inflation which will depreciate the one, nor sectarian interference which will destroy the other."

The Legislature.

In the House, Tuesday, addresses for the removal of the following officers were passed: Lewis W. Clark, Attorney-General for the State; Oliver H. Noyes, John S. Wadleigh and Andrew S. Fifield, Fish Commissioners; Lucien B. Clough, Judge of Probate, Timothy B. Crowley, Register of Probate, and Thomas P. Pierce, Sheriff of Hillsboro' county; John P. Bartlett, Justice, and Newton H. Wilson, Associate Justice of the Police Court of Manchester; Warren Clark, Judge of Probate, William Yeaton, Register of Probate, William W. Flanders, Solicitor, and Edwin Judkins, Sheriff of Merrimac County. Also, Benjamin L. Cram, Police Justice at Pittsfield.

Appintments.

The Governor and Council have made the following nominations: for Chief Justice of the Supreme Court, Charles Doe of Rollinsford; Associate Justices, William L. Foster of Concord, George A. Bingham of Littleton, Aaron W. Sawyer of Nashua, William H. Allen of Claremont, Clinton W. Stanley of Manchester. Officers for Sullivan County: for Sheriff, Rufus P. Claggett of Newport; for Judge of Probate, William Clark of Claremont; for Register, Shepard L. Bowers of Newport; for Solicitor, Hon. Ira Colby of Claremont.

A Victim of Southern Proscription.

Mrs. Helen E. Willis, sister of Senator Twitchell, of Louisiana, died recently at Indianapolis. Her husband and one brother were killed by the White Leaguers; her other brother, Senator Twitchell, survives their animosity, a mere wreck, with both arms gone and otherwise injured; and her own death was hastened by the scenes of terror she passed through. Under these circumstances, Rev. Dr. Bayliss, who conducted the funeral services, may surely be pardoned for making some reference to the occasion of her death, and the condition of society that made it possible. We give some extracts from his discourse:

"And so the weary wheels at last stood still. Her husband, her brother, and her sisters and their husbands all sleep in Southern graves, and every male relative was murdered. In her last moments her only surviving brother was unable to do anything for her except to weep. A nurse must have hands and be able to walk. No wonder she died without dread. She was too weary of human cruelty and wrong to remain longer here. She sent word to her mother, now in New England, that she had no fear of dying; she gave her last requests to her friends and then departed, let us trust, to where the wicked cease from troubling and the weary are at rest.

We are sometimes accused of flaunting the bloody shirt for political effect; of reviving memories which ought to sleep in forgetfulness; of dragging before the startled and unwilling eyes of this age the ghastly skeletons of horror which, but for our persistence, would have been forgotten before now. But this to-day is no mere memory.

This is no buried horror just now newly exposed for tragic effect. This woman, whose weary body we to-day carry to a new made grave, is almost as much the victim of Southern cruelty as though some assassin's bullet had pierced her heart. They have killed her. They have loaded her with horrors until her frail body could endure it no longer.

Indianapolis is called to-day to the task of burying one of the victims of Southern hate, and the victim is a woman. And what of her only surviving male relative? Is this some ancient terror? some forgotten wrong but just now restated for effect? His wounds are not yet healed; they are almost fresh enough to be ghastly. Scarcely three months ago he was as well as any of us, and now he is so helpless that he cannot wipe away his own tears.

And this is America, 'the land of the free and the home of the brave;' the land whose historic boast has been in its Southern chivalry; the land where men can think what they please and speak what they think; the land where more has been said about freedom and the rights of man than has been said in all other nations since time began. Oh, how the eloquence of these mute lips rebukes and scathes us in our boasting. Our talk of freedom is a sarcasm. These white lips do mock at us. Freedom for the South yet waits its natal day.

I am sure I say only what these lips would say could they speak, and only what this brother will approves when I ask, not as a partisan, but as a man, Has the time come for us to elevate this proscription into power? Shall we dare, with these facts before us, to enthrone the political principles with which these assassins are identified? Shall we give to such gigantic and bloody wrongs as these the sanction of a political victory? It becomes us to consider the question, not as partisans, but as men who love freedom and as Christians who love God."

How to Beat Tilden.

The Springfield Republican, the staunchest and by far the most influential of the friends of the South among the journals of New England, talks right out, in this fashion:

"The one thing the democracy cannot possibly afford this year is a revival of this wretched and infamous business of killing negroes down South. They can put a stop to it before it goes any further, if they will; and they had better be doing it with some energy. Every dead negro in Mississippi or Louisiana or South Carolina, this summer and fall, means a loss of live white voters in New York, Connecticut and New Jersey. The argument from humanity is powerfully reinforced in this case by the argument from enlightened selfishness."

If the National democracy are to be handicapped by any more such blunders as the Hamburg affray, it shall not be the fault of the News and Courier. But there are so-called democratic newspapers hereabouts which are doing their very best to defeat Tilden, whose nomination they never relished, by seeking to saddle the white people of the State with the responsibility for deeds which they utterly abhor. That is their game. Whatever their ostensible aim, the effect, if they succeed, will be to put Charleston, and every other county in like position, under the heels of the Bowens and Whippers, and to perpetuate Grantism in the National Government through the election of Hayes. We know that there are very many well-meaning persons who applaud "Straightoutism" of the Hamburg sort, without realizing whither it tends. We have told them what is at the bottom of it. Let them remember our warning!—Charleston (S. C.) News and Courier.

Political.

The White Line "bull-dozers" of West Feliciana parish, La., on the 11th shot Gilbert Carter, hung Rully Norfles, and carried Isaac Bessel off, the latter not having since been heard of. The three men murdered were colored republicans.

The rebel—or must we say Confederate "in these Centennial days?"—flag flies from a court house in Missouri; the local authorities are powerless to remove it, and there is a general jubilation over "the lost cause" in that region. Who will the men that raised and protected it vote for when November comes?—Boston Transcript.

How is it that we can publish to any length the details of Custer's massacre without being accused of waving the bloody shirt? The striking difference between the butcheries at Little Horn river by red savages, and at Coushatta by white ones, is that the latter was infinitely more cowardly and full as barbarously conducted.—Lake Village Times.

The Missouri ex-rebels are among the most defiant and outspoken of any of their class. A gentleman who has travelled extensively in the South and South-west, recently, says that everywhere he heard the Federal Government spoken of with the utmost loathing and contempt. The common toast in bar-rooms in all this region is "Here's to the next rebellion," and the late massacre at Hamburg, S. C., is but an illustration of what is in store for the blacks and Union men of the South should Tilden be elected. The universal opinion in Missouri among the rebel Democracy is that Tilden, if elected, will prove another Buchanan, and in that hope they are leaving no stone unturned to secure his success.

The Democrats of Denison, Texas, got up a torch light procession on hearing of the nomination of Tilden and Hendricks, and went about the town cheering lustily for Jeff Davis.

Gov. Vance, of North Carolina, says that the reconstruction acts and negro suffrage are both unconstitutional. Secession and oppression of the negro are about the only constitutional things from an unreconstructed rebel's standpoint.

Representatives Smalls and Rainey, of South Carolina, having succeeded in getting a debate on the Hamburg massacre into the House, Sunset Cox of New York undertook to play two characters—bully and funny man—at once. Concerning this debate and the massacre which led to it, the Boston Herald says: "The New York Herald suggests to Governor Tilden that 'the Hamburg massacre will afford him a text from which, if he knows how, he may in his letter of acceptance preach an important lesson to the Southern whites and draw a conclusion which will soon gain him many votes in the North.' We trust the Governor will not neglect such excellent advice. The people desire very much to know what would be the attitude of a democratic administration toward the brutal and lawless class in the Southern States who participated in the massacre of the 8th of July. When the subject came up incidentally in the House of Representatives last Saturday, Mr. Cox of New York made himself especially conspicuous by his cold-blooded and heartless allusions to the subject, and by his efforts to stifle the truth, which Messrs. Rainey and Smalls, the colored Representatives of South Carolina were endeavoring to get before the House. It will require some very plain talk on the part of Uncle Samuel to do away with the bad impression made upon the public mind by the ill-advised remark of some of his party friends during the debate in the House upon that outrage."

Gov. Tilden has got to have a little more time in which to concoct a suitable letter accepting the democratic nomination for the Presidency—a letter, that is, that will help Tilden along over the hard road he is travelling. It is announced that the letter will not be written until Congress adjourns, so that it will not clash with what may or may not have been done by the rebel bri-gadiers. The great "reformer" has to wait to see what his party will do before he can tell what his own "principles" are.

The Charleston News and Courier reports that at Hamburg the condition of the negroes is that of "terrified submission." The recent achivements of that great chief, Sitting Bull, seem to have made an impression upon the Confederate Major General Butler, who commanded "the attacking columns," for according to the same journal, "two of the bodies were mutilated with hatchets or bayonets." As a further bit of information we are informed that "all the killed had families with one exception, and the grief and distress of the women and children were violent and heartrending." We hope our readers will bear in mind that these extracts are not from a speech of Senator Morton, intended to inflame the North, but from the Charleston News and Courier, one of the ablest journals in the South, and leading the campaign in South Carolina for Tilden and Hendricks.—N. Y. Herald.

The Rebellion of the Stomach.

The stomach obstinately rebels against all efforts to make it digest superabundant or indigestible food. When a fit of dyspepsia has been brought on by over-indulgence in the pleasures of the table, or any other cause, the invalid can obtain from Hostetter's Stomach Bitters prompter and more complete relief than from any other source. This admirable specific not only renders digestion active, but regulates the secretion and distribution of the bile, re-establishes a regular habit of body when costiveness exists, restores the appetite, soothes and invigorates the nerves, and, if taken before retiring, facilitates sleep. Under these happy conditions, the dyspeptic or bilious subject regains lost flesh, his spirits recover their elasticity, and all the various and harassing bodily and mental symptoms of chronic indigestion disappear.

No Lady's Toilet Complete

Oily Substances always aggravate Skin Diseases. Ointments are therefore rather hurtful than beneficial. Glenn's Sulphur Soap, which opens, instead of clogging the pores with grease, has, as might have been expected, widely superseded oleaginous compounds as a remedy for scorbutic affections.

☞ That yellow tinge of the complexion is a sure indication of bile in the blood. It is effectually removed by using GILBERT'S EXCELSIOR LIVER LOZENGES.

Important to persons visiting New York or the Centennial. The Grand Union Hotel, New York, opposite the Grand Central Depot, has over 350 elegantly furnished rooms. Elevator, steam and all improvements. European plan. Carriage hire is saved, as baggage is taken to and from the depot free. Guests can live better for less money at the Grand Union than at any other first-class hotel. Stages and cars pass the Hotel constantly to all parts of the city, and to the Philadelphia depot.

NOTICE.
Having my ware-room (which is the largest this side of Boston) full of the best of
MARBLE WORK,
I would respectfully invite the people of Portsmouth and vicinity, who have lost relatives or friends, or have occasion for the use of any kind of stone work, to call before purchasing elsewhere. My stock consists of Monuments, Headstones, Marble Posts, Mantel Shelves, Pier Tops, &c., the stock for which was bought and men employed to work the same, since the commencement of the present hard times. I have not sufficient room in which to place more work, and do not wish to discharge any of my hands. For the above reasons, I feel confident that no one can undersell me with the same quality of stock and work. I take occasion to call the attention of all who are repairing or building houses, to my large stock of Mantel Shelves and Pier Tops!

The Fine Drinking Fountain

Just put up in front of the Post-office is one of the best signs of progress in our old city. It has accommodations for man and beast, besides the doggies, who gladly avail themselves of a refreshing lap. Water! water! It has been our greatest want, and the hardest thing to get on a hot day. Two or three old pumps did their best, but they were rickety, insufficient and out of the way. Who put the fountain up? The Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals? The Woman's League or the Reform Club? The City Government? All honor to whoever did it. Western cities are all ahead of us in these matters. The pride of Detroit is her eight large drinking fountains, pouring forth an abundant supply of cold water to whomsoever will come and take of it. Cincinnati, Chicago, St. Louis, look well after this common and pressing need. Men can find a plenty of bad substitutes which it is wise to forestall, but the poor beasts are a cold water army in solid column.

The Excursion

Of the "Piscataquatico Chowderheads" to Gerrish's Point came off on the 18th, between seventy-five and a hundred ladies and gentlemen leaving this city at about half-past eight o'clock in steamer "Mystic," of Dover, and soon arriving at their destination, where they found (after much searching among the grass) the "grove" recently set out, and to dedicate which was one object of the expedition; also, a magnificent marble monument of pine wood, erected to the memory of Pocahontas, two big tents, etc. A number of sail-boats took down additions to the party, and raised the number of Chowderheads to over a hundred, who amused themselves for several hours by various games,——quoit throwing, kite flying, flirting, wishing the chowder was done, etc.,—until "high noon," when a glorious double-barrelled chowder (onions on one side—no onions on the other) made by Messrs. Eugene A. Sanborn and John Lewis, the "ministers of the interior," with coffee, biscuits, cake, pickles and other good things, were promptly attended to.

After dinner came the "literary exercises;" a poem and two dedicatory addresses, one for the "grove" and one for the "monument,"—the assembled multitude listening to the words of poetry, patriotism and truth that were fired off at them by the literati, with exemplary patience and attention,—they were good-natured, probably, on account of the chowder. The literary exercises being happily ended, rural and aquatic sports were in order; the principal rural sport indulged in was sitting on the rocks; the aquatics were sailing and fishing. At four o'clock a tub-race came off, (there being three contestants,) and created uproarious fun. Soon after, supper was announced. Then black clouds commenced to gather, one or two of the small boats made sail for town, and those of the party who don't like being wet through with rain or killed by lightning were a little apprehensive; until the "Mystic," which had agreed to return for the party at nine, ran close in shore two hours before the appointed time, in order to provide the ladies a shelter if needed—a judicious thoughtfulness on the part of her skipper which the Chowderheads only appreciated. At about eight o'clock the re-embarkation was com-completed, and the steamer, with a number of boats in tow, returned to town, rockets, blue-lights and Roman candles being fired from one of the boats all the way up the river. The day was very warm, and the sun and salt-water air brilliantly reddened some of the ladies' cheeks and gentlemen's noses; but the heat was trifling compared to what it was in the city. The excursion was perhaps the most enjoyable one yet gotten up by the Chowderheads, which is saying a great deal; and every one seemed to enjoy it, too.

Major Daniel J. Vaughan presided with his usual equanimity, and led the literati and committee of arrangements to the "grove" to the soul-stirring music of an ancient fish-horn which had in some manner contracted an unwonted hoarseness during the day. The poet of the occasion was Chowderhead Robert B. Palfrey, and his humorous hits struck deep into the hearts of all listeners. The oration was delivered by Chowderhead J. Albert Sanborn,— who remarked that "Rome never had such a grove as this." That modest youth, whose intenseness of self-forgetfulness led him to decline to write anything about the literary proceedings, Chowderhead Israel P. Miller, read a solemn address to the memory of the lamented Pocahontas, notwithstanding the bronzeness of nose most prominent in his personal appearance. These literary exercises were immense, and after a war dance around the monument had been performed by the male C. H.'s, each person present threw a stone into the pedestal—and the thing was done. [It is proper to remark just here that under the monument lie the remains of a bright little Scotch terrier named "Mop," who died on the passage down to the Island on Monday, in the arms of his master, Mr. Palfrey, who little thought the shaft he had so much to do with in planning should be used to adorn the spot where his favorite was to be planted.]

That Cat

Which every day during the absence of her master's family had her meat and milk provided for her in the garden,—that cat again. Her home had been dismantled and moved off to make room for another. "And what did you do with the cat?" I asked. Puss was put into a bag and taken to the South End. Her quarters of course were strange, but she was fed and petted and petted and fed, as became a cat of character and family. She seized, however, her first chance to run, and puss vanished. Where was she? The man came up to her old haunts to hunt her up. Had anybody seen her? Yes; she had been seen creeping warily and enquiringly over the wreck of the old house. Having satisfied herself that old things had indeed passed away, she threaded her way sadly back to the South End and walked into the house of her new friends with an evident determination to make the best of it and stay, and there she is. Cats, like other folks, have their feelings.

Jottings.

Postage on transient newspapers sent through the mails to any part of the United States is now one cent each, instead of two cents as it has been for a year past, the new postal law having been signed by the President and gone into effect.

The Portsmouth & Dover Railroad has been doing a thriving business since the opening of the summer traffic. The freight receipts and collections at this station during the month of June were $13,259.71, being in excess of any other station on the Eastern Railroad, with the exception of Boston. Of the above amount $11,691.08 was remitted to the Treasurer of the Company, and the balance used in contingent expenses. The above showing is of the most satisfactory nature, and must be very gratifying to the stockholders and friends of the road.—Dover Democrat.

Another radical outrage was discovered on Wednesday, by an intelligent American citizen of the Irish persuasion, in the vestibule of the Post-office in this city. After a long and earnest inspection of the list of unclaimed letters, which bore numerous names through which a heavy pen-mark had been drawn, signifying that the letters referred to had been called for, he exclaimed in a tone indicative of the deepest indignation, "Be jabers! it's an infernal shame for 'em to mark off all thim names; and thim all dimmocrats, and just as much right to vote as any republikin, too, I'll bate!" He thought he was examining a "corrected check-list," probably; and just as probably he couldn't read, or he would have seen that many of the names crossed out were those of females.

The trustees of Langdon Park have issued a circular to most of our prominent citizens, stating that the expenses of fitting up the grounds thus far have been about $700, and the receipts about half this sum; and soliciting subscriptions (not to exceed $10) from citizens who are able and willing to aid the enterprise. The five trustees headed the list of donations with $10 each, and their example is being followed by other citizens, in equal or smaller sums sent to Mr. H. M. Clark, treasurer. Negotiations are in progress to procure more land for the Park, and to secure the marginal road and bridge at the pond.

A very heavy thunder shower, accompanied by a violent wind, passed over Rye and Hampton between five and six o'clock on the evening of the 18th. The Sea View House was struck by lightning, but no serious damage was inflicted; two men were prostrated in the kitchen, but escaped without much injury. The barn of Hon. Charles H. Bell, at Little Boar's Head, was blown down, and many trees in the track of the storm broken off or uprooted.

News and Notes.

Mrs. Solomon Crane, of Suncook, was so frightened by boys firing a cannon near her house on the morning of the Fourth, setting the house on fire, that she died on the 12th from the effects of nervous excitement.

A committee of women in Boston have purchased the Old South church, and will move it to some other site if its present one cannot be purchased.

The stallion race between Smuggler and Judge Fullerton was won by the former, in the fastest stallion time on record, 2:17.

Cornell won the University boat race at Saratoga, on the 19th; also the single-scull and Freshmen races.

A woman and her two children were suffocated in a lime kiln at Pottsville, Penn., on the 17th. The children were at play near the kiln, and the elder, a boy aged nine years, lowered the younger, a girl aged five, to the bottom, and was unable to heave her up by the windlass; the mother lowered the boy down, and he placed his sister in the bucket but was himself overcome by the poisonous gases, and fell. The mother then went down, and was also asphyxiated. A stage driver passing by went to the rescue; was lowered by a passenger, sent up the dead woman and boy, and was then drawn up himself, terribly exhausted. Two men lost their lives in the same way in the same kiln last Autumn, and three others have perished in it within seven years.

Jennie Mears, sixteen years old, was seriously and probably fatally wounded on Monday by a pistol shot fired by a girl of nine, in Charlestown, Mass. She "didn't know it was loaded" when she snapped it at the Mears girl.

PILOT BREAD.

This kind of bread having come into extensive family use, it has been my purpose to furnish, from choice materials, an article which should meet the approval of the most fastidious as to neatness, looks and taste. Whether I have succeeded in giving to the public a PILOT BREAD,

SUPERIOR IN EXCELLENCE,

the consumer may be the judge; that the quality will not be suffered to depreciate, the past with the present is my best pledge. That I can compete with all the various qualities of Pilot Bread in the market, as to price, I make no pretensions,—but in price, all things being equal, I fear no competition.

Old Bounty Land Warrants.

The last Report of the Commissioner of the General Land Office shows 2,897,500 acres of Bounty Land Warrants outstanding. These were issued under act of 1855 and prior acts. GILMORE & CO., prosecute for them. Send by registered letter. Where Assignments are imperfect we give instructions to perfect them.

Arrears of Pay and Bounty.

OFFICERS, SOLDIERS and SAILORS of the late war, or their heirs, are in many cases entitled to money from the Government of which they have no knowledge. Write full history of service, and state amount of pay and bounty received. Enclose stamp to GILMORE & CO., and a full reply, after examination, will be given you free.

Pensions.

All OFFICERS, SOLDIERS and SAILORS wounded, ruptured or injured in the late war, however slightly, can obtain a pension by addressing GILMORE & CO. Cases prosecuted by GILMORE & CO. before the Supreme Court of the United States, the Court of Claims and the Southern Claims Commission.

Each department of our business is conducted in a separate bureau, under the charge of the same experienced parties employed by the old firm. Prompt attention to all business entrusted to GILMORE & CO. is thus secured. We desire to win success by deserving it. ADDRESS

Daily Chronicle.

Obeyed Orders.

A few days since, a gentleman whose residence is in a fashionable part of the South End, and who is passing the summer with his family at a seaside resort, returned to town for the purpose of attending to some banking business. Being detained here until after the evening train on which he had intended to return had departed, he partook of supper at a hotel and then visited his club house, where he remained until midnight. During the absence of the family the house was left in charge of a housekeeper, who it appears that evening went to pass the night with an invalid relative, and entrusted the premises to the care of one of her friends, a young and robust woman. She was charged by the housekeeper not to allow any person whatever to enter the house until she returned. Now it seems that Norah, for that is the girl's name, had never seen the master of the mansion, and was also told by the housekeeper that none of the family would visit the house before next September. Soon after midnight Norah was aroused from her slumber by a violent ringing of the door-bell, and putting her head out of a window on the fourth story she asked "Who's there?" "Me," was the response; "but who are you?" "Who am I," replied the girl, "faith, you will soon find out if you don't go away from that door." The gentleman then informed the woman that he was Mr ——, and wished to enter the house. "Oh, that's too thin, old fellow," said Norah. "Well, now," continued the owner of the mansion, "if you don't open this door, I will burst it open." "Well, you try it on," replied Miss Norah, "and I will bust your snoot. You are not Mr. ——, but a dirty, bald-headed thief of the wurld, so ye are." Mr. —— now descended the steps and looked up to the window where Norah was, but just as he did so, he received the contents of a slop-pail on his head, followed by the remark, "Now, me fine old buck, do you want any more?" The gentleman then thought discretion the better part of valor and beat a hasty retreat for the nearest hotel, where he at once sought the luxury of a bath, and now says it was a good joke, though the practical part was rather demoralizing to his new yachting suit.—Boston Post

AMERICAN & FOREIGN PATENTS.

R. H. EDDY, SOLICITOR OF PATENTS,

For Inventions Trade Marks or Designs

No. 76 STATE ST., OPPOSITE KILBY ST., BOSTON,

After an extensive practice of upwards of thirty years, continues to secure patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all papers for Patents, executed on reasonable terms with dispatch. Researches made to determine the validity and utility of Patents of Inventions, and legal and other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any patent furnished, by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.

No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.

All necessity for a journey to Washington to procure a Patent and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents."

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office. EDMUND BURKE, Late Commissioner of Patents."

"Mr. R. H. Eddy has made for me over THIRTY applications for Patents, having been successful in almost every case. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend ALL inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases and at very reasonable charges.

DR. QUAIN'S MAGIC CONDITION PILLS!

The Wonderful Remedy for Liver Complaint, Biliousness, Dyspepsia, Constipation, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Headache, Kidney Complaint, Nervousness, Scrofula, Piles, and all diseases arising from a bad state of the Blood!

No medicine ever offered to the public has given such universal satisfaction as Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. Their praises are on every tongue where their merits are known. They strike at once at the seat of disease and show their healing power almost immediately. Thousands of voluntary testimonials of their merits have been received by the agent, from those who have been cured by them, of which the following are samples:

Dyspepsia Four Years, Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels Three Years, Confined to my Room Two Years, Pain so I Could Not Sleep Without Morphine. One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills Made Me Eat Well, Sleep Well and Free from Pain, after being given up by Physicians.

WEST LEBANON, ME., Feb. 22, 1

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I have been sick for four years with Dyspepsia, and for the past three years Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels. I have suffered all the pain I could endure and live. I have been confined to my room for two years, and could not sleep nights without the use of morphine. I have been given up by physicians as past cure. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, and they have done me more good than all the doctors I have had. I sleep well, I eat well and have no pain. They are all they are recommended to be. Please send me three packages, as two of my neighbors wish to try them. I enclose $1.50.

Your truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Another Letter from Maj. John W. Lord, one month later. Wonderful Cures by Dr. Quain's Pills Effected on Him in Thirteen Days. First time Free from Pain for Three Years.

WEST LEBANON, ME., March 22, 1875

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I commenced taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS February 20th, and wrote you February 22d of their wonderful effect. I have continued to improve ever since. My appetite is good, and I sleep as well as I ever did in my life. I am free from pain for the first time in three years. When I was taken sick four years ago, I weighed one hundred and eighty-six pounds; I now weigh one hundred and thirty, but, as I am gaining in strength, I have faith I shall regain my flesh this summer, by the use of the Pills. I shall continue taking them for some time to come.

Yours truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Dr. Quain's Pills the Remedy for Soldiers' Aches and Pains.

WEST LEBANON, ME., June 1, 1875.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I am now able to walk out every day, and am gaining in strength very fast, all of which is due to you as agent for the best Pills in the world. I have taken no other medicine, and my improvement has been steady since first taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done everything for me, and I will say to you, advertise them direct to the soldiers, for they will certainly cure them of aches and pains caused from exposure and hardship on the field. Please send me by return mail another package.

JOHN W. LORD.

Rheumatism for Twenty Years Cured by One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills—"The Best Medicine in the World."

EAST ANDOVER, N. H., Dec. 19, 1875.

MR. LANE—Dear Sir:—As I know the value of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS and the good they have done me, I take pleasure in giving them praise; so I send you another testimonial. My father has been troubled with Rheumatism for twenty years or more, and has tried everything that could be thought of, but to no good. At times it would be so bad that he could not lift his hand to his head or do any work at all, especially in cold weather. A short time ago I advised him to get some of these Pills. He believed nothing in them, but I gave him the last package I had of you, as I did not need them, and he has not been as free from the Rheumatic Complaint for years. No Rheumatism, no pain. What helped him? It was DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, the best medicine in the world. There is nothing like them. I know it, for I have tried them, and they are all, yea, more than they are represented to be. Give them a fair trial and you will say so. I write this because I know the goodness of them and wish others to know the same. Some may think I am telling a big story. I am. But remember I am not giving them half the praise they ought to have.

Yours with respect, ED. F. PEVARE.

Wonderful Effect of Four Doses of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills upon Neuralgia of Twelve Years' Duration—Testimony of Rev. J. S. Patton.

DAINGERFIELD, MORRIS CO., TEXAS, Nov. 15, '75.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I have been afflicted for near twelve years with Neuralgia in the face and head. I tried I do not know how many physicians, and could only partly relieved. I also tried many patent medicines with the same result. I have been confined to my room most all the time for eight or ten months, and have been traveling and visiting medical springs, and I still suffered most intensely. The physicians pronounced my case the worst and most stubborn that they had had anything to do with. One told me I could never get well; they all advised me to go South and spend the winter, and thought that was the only chance for me, and I was trying to get ready to go to Florida, when through the kindness of Rev H. M. Mathis, my attention was called to the advertisement of Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. I immediately sent to you for a package. I have taken four doses and I am almost free from pain. The impression here seems to be that the pills will cure me. They will cure anybody. I have five applications to send for the pills. Enclosed please find three dollars; send five packages to me as directed to Mrs. Martin Sherrell, Sulphur Springs, Hopkins county, Texas.

Yours truly, J. S. PATTON.

Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache.

LACONIA, N. H., Jan. 29, 1875.

THOS. W. LANE—Sir:—I have been troubled with Bad Blood, Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done me more good than all the medicine I ever took; I have taken considerable medicine within the last five years. For the nerves I think there is nothing so good as those pills. I can recommend them to all who are similarly afflicted, they have done me so much good. I think they will recommend themselves wherever they go. I shall recommend those Pills to all who need them. Please send me two packages more, one for myself and one for a lady friend of mine. Many thanks to the inventor, agent and advertiser of those Pills.

MRS. P. L. ELLIOTT.

PULMOCINE.

BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL

is no new discovery. Twenty-three years ago it was used by one of New England's most famous physicians as the best Pulmonary Curative he could prescribe, after a dozen years spent in experimenting with it before he was satisfied that the Materia Medica could add nothing in its favor.

Is the ultima thule of Medical Discovery.

Among its many ingredients are Wild Cherry Bark, Squill Root, Liquorice Root, Blood root, &c. It is a Blood Purifier, gently stimulating. It increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is sudorific and alterative. It is a necessary family medicine. It is a Tonic and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is a gentle sedative, and relieves nervousness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.

CLEAR YOUR THROAT!

Relieve Your Lungs.

For the terrible diseases engendered by the lung-trying climate of New England!

PULMOCINE CORDIAL

Is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. Every Family should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croups, Laryngitis, or inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred Throat Diseases at all times prevalent, it is the ounce of Prevention. Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for. These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning, when a physician may be out of immediate reach. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy relief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As "a stitch in time saves nine," so does the possession of this Family Medicine prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agent. There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all this afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and the patient's danger is past.

For Coughs,

Croup,

Diphtheria,

Asthma, etc.,

USE

Buchman's Pulmocine Cordial.

The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. It is offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

Health Regulations.

THE BOARD OF HEALTH OF THE CITY OF PORTSMOUTH call the attention of the public to the following sections of Chapter 10, of the Revised Ordinances, and invite all interested in the preservation of health in our city to aid them in the execution of their duty:
SEC. 3. All owners or occupiers of houses, yards, cellars, sinks, pumps, etc., shall be conveyed by their owners or occupiers to the common sewers, or to such places as the Health Officers may direct.
SEC. 4. No person shall be allowed to throw any vegetable or dead animal substance, or any other matter capable of producing infection, into any street, lane, alley or dock, or upon any wharf, but shall bury them or throw them into the river below low-water mark.
SEC. 5. The contents of vaults and privies shall not be permitted to rise within one foot of the surface of the earth. And all owners or occupiers of buildings having such vaults or privies as may require it, shall cause them to be emptied within ten days from the promulgation of this ordinance, and in future on or before the the first day of May in each year. And any such owner or occupier neglecting so to do, shall forfeit and pay for every such neglect a sum not less than three nor more than twenty dollars, and a like sum for every week's neglect after the time above specified.
SEC. 6. No vender of meat at the stalls shall be permitted to leave any stale meat, heads, feet or offal of any kind about their stalls or stores over night, or suffer them to be thrown into any street, lane or alley of the city. Nor shall any seller of fish be permitted to throw any offal of fish into any street, lane or alley of the city, or upon any wharf, but shall either bury them or throw them into the river beyond low-water mark.
SEC. 7. If any dead animal or decaying vegetable substance, or any other nuisance, shall be found in any part of the city, the owners or occupiers of the premises where such nuisance shall be found, shall cause the same to be removed within twenty-four hours after being notified so to do by one or more of the Health Officers.
SEC. 12. When any householder shall know that any person within his family is taken sick of the small pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, he shall immediately give notice thereof to the Health Officers.
SEC. 13. When any physician shall know that any person whom he is called to visit is infected with the small pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, such physician shall immediately give notice thereof to the Health Officers.
SEC. 14. If any such householder or physician shall refuse or neglect to give the notice required in the preceding sections, he shall for each refusal or neglect, forfeit the sum of twenty dollars, to be recovered by either of the Health Officers in the name of the city.
SEC. 16. The Health Officers may give written notice to the owner or occupier of any building, vessel or enclosure, to remove or destroy any nuisance or other thing deemed by them on examination, to be injurious to the public health, within a certain time limited therein; and in case such owner or occupier—the said notice having been given to him, or left at his usual place of abode—shall neglect to comply therewith, the said Health Officers may, by direction of the mayor and accompanied by the city marshal, forcibly enter such building, vessel, or enclosure, and cause said nuisance or other thing aforesaid to be removed or destroyed.
SEC. 21. No person shall erect, keep or continue, or permit to be erected, kept or continued, upon any land occupied by him, any pen for the keeping of swine, or privy, over either of the mill ponds in this city, or so placed that offensive substances therefrom shall be discharged or drained into either of said ponds, or into any creek, or cove, or drain leading thereto. And no person shall construct, keep or continue any drain leading from any pen for the keeping of any swine, slaughter-house, privy vault, or other unwholesome or offensive place, into either of said ponds, or to any flat or marsh adjoining the same. And no person shall throw or suffer to be thrown from his land into either of said ponds, or upon any of said flats or marshes, any dead, decaying, unwholesome or offensive animal or vegetable substances.

BUTTER IN 20 MINUTES.
Lincoln Butter Powder is an entirely harmless article made from a celebrated English recipe, and now in daily use by many of the most noted farmers in the butter counties around Philadelphia.
In hot weather this powder makes butter much firmer and sweeter than it usually is, and keeps it from turning rancid. It also removes the strong flavor of turnips, weeds, corn stalks, cotton seed, etc.; and the increased yield of butter much more than pays the trifling expense of using it.

Romance in Real Life.

Quite a sensation was recently caused at Fort Hamilton, New York, by the elopement of Miss Belle Harrold, the eldest daughter of Lieut. C. W. Harrold, with Mr. Frank Bierwith, a cornet player, formerly attached to the band of her father's regiment. Miss Harrold, who was the belle of the fort, became acquainted with Bierwith during her residence with her parents in a little cottage on Fort Hamilton. After their intimacy had secretly continued for some time it was discovered by Lieut. Harrold, who forbade his daughter to associate with him any longer. The young lady, however, continued to entertain Bierwith's attentions, in opposition to her father's wish. She often stole from the house at night, and, meeting her lover at an appointed place, accompanied him in long midnight promenades. While these secret meetings were in progress an order came from the War Department commanding Lieut. Harrold to proceed immediately against the Sioux. The Lieutenant determined to take his family with him on this journey, a decision which struck his daughter with alarm, as it necessitated separation from her lover. In her consternation she held a secret interview with her lover, and, at his suggestion, decided to elope with him, a resolution which culminated in her flight. As soon as the discovery was made, the distracted father telegraphed to the police of New York and Brooklyn, beseeching them to intercept the flight of his daughter; and then, forced by the inexorable commands of his superiors, left for the West. Bierwith, a year ago, won the affections of a young locksmith's wife and drove her husband to suicide, it is said; so it is not strange Miss Harrold's father objected to her making such a match.

An English Trade.

At Warrington, Lancashire, England, a young man recently sold his wife, a good-looking young woman of some six-and-twenty summers, for the small figure of the price of half a gallon of beer. He had lived apart from his wife for about two years; and a laborer, who lodged with her mother, having become smitten with the lady's charms, conceived the idea that if her husband sold her to him there would be no lawful impediment to her becoming his wife. Accordingly, the pair proceeded to a public house, and the husband was sent for. The other told him that he would buy his wife if he would sell her. The husband replied that he could have her for "nowt" if he liked; but the other man did not wish to obtain her so cheaply, and requested the husband to name the price. He was told he could have her for half a gallon of beer, which was at once brought in and drunk, and the transaction sealed, to the apparent satisfaction of all parties. The purchaser said she was a good wench to him, and he loved her. He would like to marry her, he said, and asked the husband if he would "hurt" her. The reply was: "No; theaw can marry her as soon as theaw loikes; tonoet if theaw's a mind. I won't hurt either of you." The husband returned to his work, and the wife left the house with her purchaser, probably thinking a change of owners could but be an improvement.

—John Philpot Curran and Father O'Leary were great friends, and seemed to have a mutual respect for each other's talents. One day, after dinner, Curran said, "Reverend father, I wish you were St. Peter." "And why would you wish that?" asked O'Leary. "Because, reverend father, in that case," said Curran, "you would have the keys of heaven, and you could let me in." "By my honor and conscience," replied the divine, "it would be better for you that I had the keys of the other place, for then I could let you out." Curran enjoyed the joke and admitted there might be a good deal of justice in it.

—A little four-year-old remarked to her mamma, on going to bed: "I am not afraid of the dark." "No, of course you are not," replied her mamma, "for it can't hurt you." "But, mamma, I was a little afraid once, when I went into the pantry in the dark to get a cooky." "What were you afraid of?" asked her mother. "I was afraid I couldn't find the cookies."

—Professor of mathematics (illustrating to freshman that the sides of a prism are its surface, not its contents)—"When a tailor makes for me a suit of clothes, does he make the man?" Freshy, with avidity—"Yes, sir!"

REASONS WHY FARMERS
should purchase
The Halladay Wind-Mill!
It is the first reliable self-regulating Wind Mill ever made, and continues to lead the van.
It has stood the test of nearly a quarter of a century, and has gained a reputation as broad as its use is extensive.
It is the only wind mill generally adopted on all the railroads.
It is the cheapest wind mill.
The United States Wind Engine and Pump Co. have the largest wind mill manufactory in the world. We are willing to put our mill upon its merits. We ask an investigation of facts and motives. We duly appreciate the patronage and support we have received in the past, and while we solicit a continuance of favors, we shall try to merit them. We are the pioneers in the production of a wind mill adapted to the use of farmers.

FRIDAY, JULY 21, 1876.

FOR PRESIDENT,

Rutherford B. Hayes,

OF OHIO.

FOR VICE PRESIDENT,

William A. Wheeler,

OF NEW YORK.

Hayes' Platform in War.

In 1864, when Hayes was in the army, being nominated for Congress he was requested to come home and stump his district. His reply was, "I have other business just now. Any man who would leave the army at this time to electioneer for Congress ought to be scalped!"

Hayes' Platform in Peace.

"Honest money for all, and free schools for all. There should be no inflation which will depreciate the one, nor sectarian interference which will destroy the other."

Legislature.

In the Senate, on the 19th, addresses were passed for the removal of several officers. Also, an act in relation to the naturalization of aliens, and an act annexing the town of Gosport to the town of Rye.

In the House, addresses for the removal of Sylvester Dana, Police Justice of Concord, John M. Shirley, State reporter, and Benjamin F. Haley, special commissioner of the Boston & Maine Railroad, were passed.

On motion of Mr. Pillsbury of Londonderry, the bill to annex the town of Gosport to the town of Rye, was taken from the table.

Mr. Hatch of Portsmouth, moved to refer to the next session of the legislature, supporting his motion in a brief speech.

Mr. Gilmore of Manchester, corrected some statements made by the previous speaker, and supported the action of the committee.

Mr. Marston of Exeter, said the town was incorporated 161 years ago. It then had a population of about 300, but now it was only a heap of rocks, and only two families of the original stock were left as inhabitants. There were only the Downs and Caswells left, if we except Poor's servants, to vote there, and really there was no such town. Mr. Poor wanted to be Lord of the Isles, and Duke of Smutty-Nose, (laughter) and the Caswells and Downs wanted to belong to some town, and it was right that they should. There was no fishing interest there, and never would be. Mr. Poor, with his servants, was town clerk, overseer of the poor, and town meeting altogether. (Laughter.) Messrs. Caswell and Downs wanted to live there; he (Poor) wanted to get their property; they wanted to be protected, and they ought to be.

Mr. Hatch of Portsmouth replied briefly.

Mr. Gilmore of Manchester, made a brief speech; Mr. Marston of Exeter, followed likewise, and the question of postponement was put. A division showed 108 yeas, 175 nays; so the House refused to postpone.

Upon the passage of the bill a viva voce vote decided in the affirmative.

The bill relating to the naturalization of aliens came up on its third reading; Mr. Hatch of Portsmouth opposed it; it passed by a vote of 172 to 124.

Bill to amend an act incorporating the Eastern Railroad in New Hampshire was passed.

The new State tax apportionment bill was discussed, but the House adjourned at 6 o'clock without taking action upon it.

A joint resolution appropriating $25,000 for the expenses of the Constitutional Convention was passed in concurrence.

News and Notes.

All the evidence in the impeachment trial of Belknap has been taken.

A party of six or seven men, disguised in masks, broke into the house of Mrs. Rebecca Cross, in Stewartstown, recently, and grossly abused and insulted her, winding up by shaving her head, etc. It is thought a clue has been obtained to the identity of the scoundrels.

Mr. Gilmore F. Wing was caught in the belt and carried over the shaft at the Francestown Soapstone Company's works in Nashua, Wednesday, by which both his legs were terribly crushed and lacerated, and he was otherwise injured, so that his life is despaired of.

The saw-mill belonging to the Union Box and Lumber Company, of East Rindge, was burned on Saturday. Insured; loss not known.

Levi F. Harlow, of Windham, was arrested at Derry last week, on a charge of incendiarism, and, in default of $2000 bail, was lodged in Exeter jail to await trial.

Commodore D. McN. Fairfax and Captain Francis A. Rae are detached from the Naval Station at New London, Conn., and Boatswain C. E. Hawkins left in charge.

We clip the following paragraphs from the New Orleans Republican:

Tilden's appendix is Thomas A. Hendricks.

In obtaining cool drinks the wise man fits himself to an ice tea.

When wrestling with green apples man forgets his pride of birth.

Publishers expect an editor to review a book which he has never seen before.

The democrats pretend to be looking for a man who will come into office with clean hands. Let us soap so.

"I do not like this Tilden," said a wife to her husband, "he is a selfish old bachelor; and what is more he is a man of one eye, dear."

An enthusiastic dealer says, "Now lay in your winter coal." He has an idea that the coal shed is more comfortable than the gallery bedroom.

The raising of the Tilden and Hendricks flag gave rise to a political discussion between some twelve-year-old boys who viewed the performance. Said one, "The democrats will elect the next President." "The democrats," said another, "they don't elect the President." "Well, they did once," chimed in another, "they elected Jackson." "Well, that was ever so long ago," said the second speaker, "they haven't since I can remember." A hitherto quiet boy broke in with, "O, I remember now, they did have a President a few years ago." "Who was it, who was it?" chimed in all in chorus. "Jeff Davis," triumphantly exclaimed the little fellow.—Westfield Advertiser.

Six men in Kentucky stole a horse; a deputy sheriff with nine men pursued them; a fight ensued, one hence thief was killed and another wounded, and the stolen horse recaptured. Served the rascals right; if they wanted a little fun why didn't they go to South Carolina and shoot a few "niggers" or white republicans, and then they wouldn't have been troubled.

The Great Reformer.

The New Orleans Republican talks thus irreverently of the great "reformer:"

Reading only the prepared statements of the democratic press, it is possible there is yet a democrat sincere in the belief that Samuel Jones Tilden is what he claims to be, and what Morrisey says he is—an honest man. Let such a man be undeceived before he votes in the presidential election. The indictment against Tilden, covering his nefarious railroad transactions, whereby the petty lawyer became a power in his ring, the issuing of shinplaster money in Michigan, the evasion of United States income and internal revenue taxes, the crooked alcohol distillery, the political partnership with Boss Tweed, is all too long to be read in detail, and it would be thrown away here, where White Leage democrats argue with shotguns. The ballot-box stuffing, though, in New York city, calls for special mention, that our commissioners of election may be prepared for the confidential Tilden circulars which will undoubtedly be sent here.

In 1866 Fenton, republican, was elected Governor of New York by a majority of 13,789, against Hoffman, democrat. It was the natural result of fair election, New York being then, as now, a republican State. At the next election Hoffman was again the democratic candidate. S. Jones Tilden was chairman of the democratic State committee, and Mr. Boss Tweed was second in command. In that election the republicans were surprised to find Hoffman counted in by a democratic majority of 27,946, showing the work of Tilden and Tweed to be worth 40,000 votes to the democratic party. Tweed had full control of the city, and Tilden was his chief adviser, and received pay for his services direct from Tweed, as shown by reports of those iniquitous times on file in the State department. The circular issued by Tilden, October 27, 1868, as democratic manager, was addressed to a confederate in each one of the towns of the State, and directed that at the moment of closing the polls, and before counting of votes, an estimate of the result should be telegraphed immediately to "William M. Tweed, Tammany Hall." A form for the dispatch was signed "Samuel J. Tilden, chairman." That election was a most gigantic swindle. Over thirty thousand fraudulent votes were added to the democratic count in Brooklyn and New York. Mr. Greeley analyzed the vote, and showed that in four wards having less than twelve thousand legal voters a majority of more than seventeen thousand was returned by Tilden for Hoffman! The showing was unanswerable, but Mr. Greeley talked to men of brass. A portion of his letter to Tilden, dated October 20, 1869, reads as follows:

"Mr. Tilden, you can not escape responsibility, for you were at least a passive accomplice in the great frauds of last November. Your name was used, without public protest on your part, in circulars sowed broadcast over the State, whereof the manifest intent was to make assurance doubly sure, that the frauds here perpetrated should not be overborne by the honest vote of the rural districts. And you, not merely by silence, but by positive assumption, have covered those frauds with the mantle of your respectability. On the principle that 'the receiver is as bad as the thief,' you are as deeply implicated in them today as though your name were Tweed, O'Brien or Oakey Hall. Mr. Tilden, you know what this contrast attests. Right well do you comprehend the means whereby the vote of 1868 was swelled out of all proportion. There are not 12,000 legal voters living in those wards to-day, though they gave Hoffman 17,443 majority."

A Comparison.

The figures showing the relative loss to the Treasury of the United States, under democratic and republican administrations, have attracted universal attention; the democrats deny, and the republicans are astounded at the facts. So much has been said about the despotism and corruption of the republican party, that this showing so disgusts the democracy that it avows the figures lie. If there are any who maintain this opinion, let them look into their party papers for the corroboration of their view. Republicans who were entirely confident of the honesty of the administrations during and since the war, were yet surprised to find that in war time, amid the new and immensely increased avenues of distribution of public money, when time was even of more consequence than money, in many cases, and when the most honest were not always able to deliberate between conflicting claims, the ratio of loss was so much less than in those piping times of peace, when, under Buchanan, the southern leaders were preparing that great defalcation, secession from the Union. Buchanan's administration, in a time of profound peace, lost, in round numbers, seven dollars on a thousand; Lincoln's, amid all the exigency and confusion of the war, $1.41. The highest per cent. of loss to the Treasury since 1834, occurred during the administration of Martin Van Buren; the next highest under that of Andrew Jackson. Under Van Buren the loss was $10.55 on $1000; under Lincoln, $1.51; under Grant's first term, 40 cents; last term, 26 cents. These figures, it must not be forgotten, are the figures of a democratic investigating committee appointed by the House to search the Treasury records for evidence to sustain the democratic charges of fraud and extravagance on the part of the the several republican administrations.

The Rebellion of the Stomach.

The stomach obstinately rebels against all effort to make it digest superabundant or improper food. When a fit of dyspepsia has been brought on by over-indulgence in the pleasures of the table, or any other cause, the invalid can obtain from Hostetter's Stomach Bitters prompter and more complete relief than from any other source. This admirable specific not only expedites digestion active, but regulates the secretion and distribution of the bile, re-establishes a regular habit of body when costiveness exists, restores the appetite, soothes and invigorates the nerves, and, if taken before retiring, facilitates sleep. Under these happy conditions, the dyspeptic or bilious subject regains lost flesh, his spirits recover their elasticity, and all the various and harassing bodily and mental symptoms of chronic indigestion disappear.

It is said that the most elegant and attractive family Cooking Range at the Centennial is called the "Delmonico" range, made by Rathbone, Sard & Co., Albany.

Adamson's Botanic Cough Balsam contains no opium, calomel or mineral substance whatever. Warranted to cure. 35 and 75 cents per bottle.

Oily Substances always aggravate Skin Diseases. Ointments are therefore rather hurtful than beneficial. Glenn's Sulphur Soap, which opens, instead of clogging the pores with grease, has, as might have been expected, widely superseded oleaginous compounds as a remedy for scorbutic affections.

☞ That yellow tinge of the complexion is a sure indication of bile in the blood. It is effectually removed by using GILBERT'S EXCELSIOR LIVER LOZENGES.

Important to persons visiting New York or the Centennial. The Grand Union Hotel, New York, opposite the Grand Central Depot, has over 350 elegantly furnished rooms. Elevator, steam and all improvements. European plan. Carriage hire is saved, as baggage is taken to and from the depot free. Guests can live better for less money at the Grand Union than at any other first-class hotel. Stages and cars pass the Hotel constantly to all parts of the city, and to the Philadelphia depot.

NOTICE.

HAVING my ware-room (which is the largest this side of Boston) full of the best of

MARBLE WORK,

I would respectfully invite the people of Portsmouth and vicinity, who have lost relatives or friends, or have occasion for the use of any kind of stone work to call before purchasing elsewhere. My stock consists of Monuments, Headstones, Marble Posts, Mantel Shelves, Pier Tops, &c., the best for which was bought and men employed to work the same, since the commencement of the present hard times. I have not sufficient room in which to place more work, and do not wish to discharge any of my hands. For the above reasons, I feel confident that no one can undersell me, either as regards quality of stock and work. I take occasion to call the attention of all who are repairing or building houses, to my large stock of

Mantel Shelves and Pier Tops!

Also have Three LOTS, enclosed with Granite Curbs and Trees, in Harmony Grove and Sagamore Cemeteries, which I will sell at a discount.

Jottings.

At the Shoals, during the first thirteen days of July, the thermometer, at 6 o'clock A. M., ranged from 64 to 74 degrees above zero; at noon, from 66 to 76 above; at 6 o'clock P. M., from 67 to 76; and at midnight, from 66 to 75. It is refreshing even to read of such sensible temperature.

A Y. M. C. A. excursion party from Manchester went to the Appledore on Wednesday, the 19th. They numbered about one hundred and fifty. Laighton Bros. are enjoying a lively season already.

Mr. Wm. H. Gardiner, of this city, a graduate of Dartmouth '76, has been elected principal of the Conant Free High School in Jaffrey, this State, for the fall term.

On Wednesday, the 19th, the Episcopal parish had a huge picnic at Wallis' sands.

The Rockingham Ten Cents Savings Bank suspended payment on Thursday.

A school of mackerel became entangled in the eel-grass in Chauncy's Creek, Thursday morning, and about thirty barrels of them were taken by hand. Schooner Can't Come 1c" captured 125 bbls. of prime shad in one haul near Whale's-back light, on the 19th.

A picnic party in a big covered wagon passed through this city on the way from Dover to York Beach, at about 8 o'clock Thursday morning. Notwithstanding the wretchedly early hour at which they must have turned out of bed to get down here so early, and the heat, the picnicers sang merrily as they rattled over the stones up Market street. We felt of our nose, and pitied them—been on a picnic ourself, lately.

The item for $15,000 for a lighthouse and fog signal at the Nubble, York Beach, was struck out of the appropriation bill by the House of Representatives.

Senator Allison's proposed substitute for the House river and harbor bill appropriates $14,000 for the improvement of the Cocheco river.

On Tuesday, the 18th, the fishing sloop Dauntless, Capt. Andrew White, of Newcastle, when a short distance east of Whale's-back light, struck into a large school of fish, and spreading their seine the crew soon succeeded in taking one hundred and seventy-five barrels of prime shad. This catch at the present price, one dollar per barrel, was a profitable day's work to the crew of four on the vessel at the time.

A large photograph of the "Bryant vase," manufactured by Tiffany & Co., of New York, and now on exhibition at the Centennial, is in the window of Mr. Wm. B. Lowd's bookstore and attracts much attention. The vase is considered the finest specimen of working in silver ever produced in this country.

David L. Magoon, the alleged wife poisoner, arrived at his home in Raymond on the 19th, having succeeded in obtaining the $5000 bail demanded, and in consequence been discharged from the jail in this city.

In the debate on the State tax apportionment bill, in the House on the 19th, "Mr. Pillsbury of Concord, referred to Portsmouth's valuation, asking the gentleman from that city how it was that that city had increased so little?" "Mr. Hatch of Portsmouth, replied to Mr. Pillsbury's inquiry about Portsmouth. He said that the present national administration had prostrated Portsmouth's business. (Laughter.) The city had grown poor, both from this cause and the failure of a great railroad." The following squib from the Lake Village Times seems to apply here: "'I got up this morning,' he said 'and found a potato-bug on my vines. In the afternoon the lightning struck my house, and I'm getting sick of this d—d republican administration anyhow.'" Nobody knows better than Mr. Hatch that the only really damaging act of "the present national administration" in regard to Portsmouth has been the almost entire stoppage of the work on the navy yard,—an act which Hon. Daniel Marcy two years ago promised should be done "when we get a democratic administration," and which the rebel brigadiers in Congress hastened to do as soon as they got the power. Five or ten thousand dollars a month, distributed through the hands of mechanics and laborers to the storekeepers of the city, was not unpleasant to take; and since that periodical contribution to the city's prosperity was cut off, many a democratic working man who now finds that an overplus of laborers does not increase his chances for securing employment, and many a democratic storekeeper who sadly misses the monthly squaring-up of his bills, would be willing to forego the cheap political capital to be made by yelping at the navy yard for the sake of having a good gang of men again employed there, even though most of them should be republicans.

Political.

It is getting to be a rather dangerous thing to be a republican member of the legislature in South Carolina. Hon. Joseph Crows, one republican member, was murdered for that offence ten months ago; three or four weeks ago, Alfred Rush, another republican member, was killed for the same offence; and among those killed and mutilated at Hamburg, was Mr. Atway, another republican member. A prominent democrat of Laurens said publicly, on the 27th of June, that the "democrats proposed to carry this State if they had to take their shot guns and kill off a few of the radical leaders." This policy appears to have become popular with the South Carolina democrats. —Boston Journal.

The Attakapas (La.) Sugar Bowl of July 12th announced a grand gathering of "twenty companies of the vigilance committee" at Royville on the 15th, coupling the announcement with a defiance of the State authorities. This indicates a vigorous prosecution of the shot-gun canvass by the democrats of the Attakapas parishes; the West Feliciana "vigilance committee" have started at it already.

There were no colored men at the St. Louis convention. Quite true. But there were men there who, thoughout their whole lives, held colored men in slavery, and who fought for four years to keep them in slavery. There were men there who have, for ten years past, lent their countenance, if not their active assistance, to the White Leagues and Ku Klux Klans who have murdered innocent colored men by the hundreds in order to keep them from voting. And there were men there who propose to lend their assistance, this fall, to the same nefarious schemes for driving the colored voter from the polls, in order to carry the "solid South" in behalf of "a white man's Government." No wonder none of the colored race were admitted.—Cin. Times.

The Spencer and anti-Spencer republican factions in Alabama have withdrawn their State tickets and united on a ticket headed by N. Woodruff, the present Mayor of Selma. This action gives the republicans good prospects of carrying the State, if the shot-gun brigade is not too energetic.

Ex-Senator Maginis and Gen. William H. Ball of Zanesville, Ohio, are among the prominent democrats who repudiate Tilden. Col. Wm. E. Gilmore, who four years ago was nominated by the Missouri democrats for Lieutenant Governor, has pronounced for Hayes and Wheeler.

Hon. George W. Houk, a delegate to St. Louis, made a speech at Dayton, Ohio, recently, in which he denounced the convention and its work, and the "treachery of the gold bags of New York."

"Confederate X Roads" is not a myth but an actual spot in Kentucky, and its usual name is Carlisle, lying about midway on the railroad between Lexington and Maysville. When the news of Tilden and Hendrick's nomination reached that place, a rebel flag was hoisted on the court house; and on the 4th of July, when the widow of Col. Lou. Metcalf, late of the U. S. army, put out the stars and stripes from her house, these confederates ordered her to pull the national flag down, under penalty of having her house burned. She obeyed the order, and after shouting for "Tilden and Hendricks," these rebels went away "reconciled."

The Albany (N. Y.) Argus says: "Every State in democratic hands is orderly and peaceful." Texas is "in democratic hands," and of course is "orderly and peaceful;" yet a Texan democratic paper, the San Antonio Herald, says: "By the apathy of the State government, anarchy prevails and lawlessness abounds."

The Greenville (Mississippi) Times, a democratic paper, not long ago urged the ex-rebels in South Carolina to follow the example set by the democrats of Mississippi, and inaugurate a shot-gun (or Winchester rifle) campaign, such as had sufficed in the latter State to turn a republican majority of 25,000 into a big democratic majority. Said this staunch supporter of liberty, Tilden and reform: "Mississippi's example is all that South Carolina needs for her extrication and liberation. Let her apply what Ames calls intimidation, and when the battle is over and the smoke cleared away, it will not be the owners of the soil who will be seen leaving their State. The people here resolved that before they would leave their homes, or permit the State to be ruled and plundered by carpet-baggers any longer, they would turn it into a grave-yard. Hence the purchase of Winchester rifles as peace-makers—with which to commit suicide in case of failure to carry the election. Let South Carolina profit by the example. It is idle and base to wait longer upon a change of sentiment in the North." Judging from the Hamburg horror, the South Carolina ex-rebels considered the above good advice.

The Petersburg (Va.) Index rejoices over the "disturbances" at Hamburg, S. C., by which "a half-dozen mutinous negroes lost their worse than useless lives." The Index is strong for Tilden.

PILOT BREAD.

This kind of bread having come into extensive family use, it has been my purpose to furnish, from choice materials, an article which should meet the approval of the most fastidious as to neatness, looks and taste. Whether I have succeeded in giving to the public a PILOT BREAD,

SUPERIOR IN EXCELLENCE,

the consumer may be the judge; that the quality will not be suffered to depreciate, the past with the present is my best pledge. That I can compete with all the various qualities of Pilot Bread in the market, as to price, I make no pretensions,—but in price, all things being equal, I fear no competition.]

Daily Chronicle.

—When about eight miles out, one corner of a bridge gave way, and five cars of the third section ran off the track, and turned over into the soft mud. The first car contained horses; the second, an elk and a camel; the other three, the five elephants. The small animals were easily liberated, but the elephants were all in a heap. To remove them, the top of the car was cut away, and then was exhibited the intelligence that marks these half-human brutes. They obeyed every command of the keeper like children, crawling on their knees, turning on their sides, squirming like eels, taking more wonderful and novel positions than any described on the show-bills. After their release there was not a scratch on them, and no school boy ever gave more emphatic expression of relief than did those five elephants. They trumpeted, swayed back and forth, and did all but talk. The remaining distance to the city was made overland, and a happier crew never started on a march than were those animals. The cool, breezy atmosphere and the bright moonlight, were all inspiring. As all bridges were gone, at every stream the elephants took fresh enjoyment of their liberty. They arrived here before the train.—Chicago Journal.

—I have frequently seen the robin counting, and have always been astonished and amused at the utter coldness and indifference of the female. She will positively not hear a word of it, at least during certain stages of the ceremony, nor recognize her adorer by look or sign. Yet he is not discouraged; he follows her from tree to tree, and from field to field, spreading his plumage, pouring out his flattery, offering her food, challenging his rivals, and doing his utmost to gain her approval, which, no doubt, he soon succeeds in doing. I have noticed the same little comedy enacted among the English house-sparrow, but not among any other birds. The females of every species of birds, however, I believe, have this in common—they are absolutely free from coquetry, or any airs and wiles whatever. In most cases nature has given the song and the plumage to the other sex, and all the embellishing and acting is done by the male bird.—Scribner's.

AMERICAN & FOREIGN PATENTS.

R. H. EDDY SOLICITOR OF PATENTS,

For Inventions Trade Marks or Designs

No. 76 STATE ST., OPPOSITE KILBY ST., BOSTON,

After an extensive practice of upwards of thirty years, continues to secure patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all papers for Patents, executed on reasonable terms, with dispatch. Researches made to determine the validity and utility of Patents of inventions, and legal and other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any patent furnished, by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.

No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.

All necessity for a journey to Washington to procure a Patent, and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents."

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office. EDMUND BURKE, Late Commissioner of Patents."

"MR. R. H. EDDY has made for me over THIRTY applications for Patents, having been successful in almost every case. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend all inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases and at very reasonable charges. DR. QUAIN'S

CONDITION PILLS!

The Wonderful Remedy for Liver Complaint, Biliousness, Dyspepsia, Constipation, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Headache, Kidney Complaint, Nervousness, Scrofula, Piles, and all diseases arising from a bad state of the Blood!

No medicine ever offered to the public has given such universal satisfaction as Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. Their praises are on every tongue where their merits are known. They strike at once at the seat of disease and show their healing power almost immediately. Thousands of voluntary testimonials of their merits have been received by the agent, from those who have been cured by them, of which the following are samples:

Dyspepsia Four Years, Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels Three Years, Confined to my Room Two Years, Pain so I Could Not Sleep Without Morphine. One Package of Mr. Quain's Condition Pills Made Me Eat Well, Sleep Well and Free from Pain, after being given up by Physicians.

WEST LEBANON, ME., Feb. 22, 1

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I have been sick for four years with Dyspepsia, and for the past three years Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels. I have suffered all the pain I could endure and live. I have been confined to my room for two years, and could not sleep nights without the use of morphine. I have been given up by physicians as past cure. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, and they have done me more good than all the doctors I have had. I sleep well, I eat well and have no pain. They are all they are recommended to be. Please send me three packages, as two of my neighbors wish to try them. I enclose $1.50.

Your truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Another Letter from Maj. John W. Lord, one month later. Wonderful Cures by Dr. Quain's Pills Effected on Him in Thirteen Days. First time Free from Pain for Three Years.

WEST LEBANON, ME., March 22, 1875

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I commenced taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS February 9th, and wrote you February 23d of their wonderful effect. I have continued to improve ever since. My appetite is good, and I sleep as well as I ever did in my life. I am free from pain for the first time in three years. When I was taken sick four years ago, I weighed one hundred and eighty-six pounds; I now weigh one hundred and thirty, but, as I am gaining in strength, I have faith I shall regain my flesh this summer, by the use of the Pills. I shall continue taking them for some time to come.

Yours truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Dr. Quain's Pills the Remedy for Soldiers' Aches and Pains.

WEST LEBANON, ME., June 1, 1875.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I am now able to walk out every day, and am gaining in strength very fast, all of which is due to you as agent for the best Pills in the world. I have taken no other medicine, and my improvement has been steady since first taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done everything for me, and I will say to you advertise them direct to the soldiers, for they will certainly cure them of aches and pains caused from exposure and hardship on the field. Please send me by return mail another package.

JOHN W. LORD.

Rheumatism for Twenty Years Cured by One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills—"The Best Medicine in the World."

EAST ANDOVER, N. H., Dec. 16, 1875.

MR. LANE—Dear Sir:—As I know the value of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS and the good they have done me, I take pleasure in giving them praise; so I send you another testimonial. My father has been troubled with Rheumatism for twenty years or more, and has tried everything that could be thought of, but to no good. At times it would be so bad that he could not lift his hand to his head or do any work at all, especially in cold weather. A short time ago I advised him to get some of these Pills. He believed nothing in them, but I gave him the last package I had of you, as I did not feed them, and he has not been a free from the Rheumatic Complaint for years. No Rheumatism, no pain. What helped him? It was DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, the best medicine in the world. There is nothing like them. I know it, for I have tried them, and they are all, yes, more than they are recommended to be. Give them a fair trial and you will say so. I write this because I know the goodness of them and wish others to know the same. Some may think I am telling a big story I am. But remember I am not giving them half the praise they ought to have.

Yours with respect, ED. F. PEVARE.

Wonderful Effect of Four Doses of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills upon Neuralgia of Twelve Years' Duration—Testimony of Rev. J. S. Patton.

DAINGERFIELD, MORRIS CO., TEXAS, Nov. 15, '75.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I have been afflicted for near twelve years with Neuralgia in the face and head. I tried I do not know how many physicians, and could only get partly relieved. I also tried many patent medicines with the same result. I have been confined to my room most all the time for eight or ten winters, and have been travelling and visiting medical springs, and I still suffered most intensely. The physicians pronounced my case the worst and most stubborn that they had had anything to do with. One told me I could never get well; they all advised me to go South and spend the winter, and that was the only chance for me, and I was trying to get ready to go to Florida, when through the kindness of Rev. H. M. Mathis, my attention was called to the advertisement of Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. I immediately sent to you for a package. I have taken four doses and I am almost free from pain. The impression here seems to be that if your pills will cure me, they will cure anything. I have five applications to send for the pills. Enclosed please find three dollars; send five packages to me and one to Mrs. Laura Sherrell, Sulphur Springs, Hopkins county, Texas.

Yours truly, J. S. PATTON.

Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache.

LACONIA, N. H., Jan. 29, 1875.

THOS. W. LANE—Sir:—I have been troubled with Bad Blood, Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done me more good than all the medicine I ever took; I have taken considerable medicine within the last five years. For the nerves I think there's nothing so good as those pills. I can recommend them to all who are similarly afflicted, they have done me so much good. I think they will recommend themselves wherever they go. I shall recommend those Pills to all who need them. Please send me two packages more, one for myself and one for a lady friend of mine. Many thanks to the inventor, agent and advertiser of those Pills. MRS. P. L. ELLIOTT.

PULMOCINE.

BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL

is no new discovery. Twenty-three years ago it was used by one of New England's most famous physicians as the best Pulmonary Curative he could prescribe, after a dozen years spent in experimenting with it before he was satisfied that the Materia Medica could add nothing in its favor.

Is the ultima thule of Medical Discovery.

CLEAR YOUR THROAT!

Among its many ingredients are Wild Cherry Bark, Squill Root, Liquorice Root, Blood root, &c. It is a Blood Purifier, gently stimulating. It increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is soothing and alterative. It is a necessary family medicine. It is a Tonic and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is a gentle sedative, and relieves nervousness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.

Relieve Your Lungs.

For the terrible diseases engendered by the luxurious trying climate of New England

PULMOCINE CORDIAL

is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. Every Family should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croups, Laryngitis, or inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred Throat Diseases at all times prevalent, it is the ounce of Prevention. Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for. These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning, when a physician may be out of immediate reach. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy relief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As "a stitch in time saves nine," so does the possession of this Family Medicine prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agent. There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all thus afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and the patient's danger is past.

For Coughs,

Croup,

Diphtheria,

AND

Asthma, etc.,

USE

Buchman's Pulmocine Cordial.

The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. It is offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

Health Regulations.

THE BOARD OF HEALTH OF THE CITY OF PORTSMOUTH call the attention of the public to the following sections of Chapter 10, of the Revised Ordinances, and invite all interested in the preservation of health in our city to aid them in the execution of their duty:

SEC. 3. All waste water of houses, yards, cellars, sinks, pumps, etc., shall be conveyed by their owners or occupiers to the common sewers, or to such places as the Health Officers may direct.

SEC. 4. No person shall be allowed to throw any vegetable or dead animal substance, or any other matter capable of producing infection, into any street, lane, alley or dock, or upon any wharf, but shall bury them or throw them into the river below low-water mark.

SEC. 5. The contents of vaults and privies shall not be permitted to rise within one foot of the surface of the earth. And all owners or occupiers of buildings having such vaults or privies as may require it, shall cause them to be emptied within ten days from the promulgation of this ordinance, and in future on or before the first day of May in each year. And any such owner or occupier neglecting so to do, shall forfeit and pay for every such neglect a sum not less than three nor more than twenty dollars, and a like sum for every week's neglect after the time above specified.

SEC. 6. No vender of meat at the stalls shall be permitted to leave any such meat, heads, feet or offal of any kind about their stalls or stores over night, or suffer them to be thrown into any street, lane or alley of the city. Nor shall any sellers of fish be permitted to throw any offal of fish into any street, lane or alley of the city, or upon any wharf, but shall either bury them or throw them into the river beyond low-water mark.

SEC. 7. If any foul and animal or decaying vegetable substance, or any other nuisance, shall be found in any part of the city, the owners or occupiers of the premises in which such nuisance shall be found, shall cause the same to be removed within twenty-four hours after being notified so to do by one or more of the health officers.

SEC. 12. When any householder shall know that any person within his family is taken sick of the small pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, he shall immediately give notice thereof to the Health Officers.

SEC. 13. When any physician shall know that any person whom he is called to visit is infected with the small pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, such physician shall immediately give notice thereof to the Health Officers.

SEC. 14. If any such householder or physician shall refuse or neglect to give the notice required in the preceding sections, he shall for each refusal or neglect, forfeit the sum of twenty dollars, to be recovered by either of the Health Officers in the name of the city.

SEC. 16. The Health Officers may give written notice to the owner or occupier of any building, vessel or enclosure, to remove or destroy any nuisance or other thing deemed by them on examination, to be injurious to the public health, within a certain time limited therein; and in case such owner or occupier—the said notice having been given to him, or left at his usual place of abode—shall neglect to comply therewith, the said Health Officers may, by direction of the mayor and accompanied by the city marshal, forcibly enter such building, vessel, or enclosure, and cause said nuisance or other thing aforesaid to be removed or destroyed.

SEC. 21. No person shall erect, keep or continue, or permit to be erected, kept or continued, upon any land occupied by him, any pen for the keeping of swine, or privy, over either of the mill ponds in this city, or so placed that offensive substances therefrom shall be discharged or drained into either of said ponds, or into any creek, or cove, or drain leading thereto. And no person shall construct, keep or continue any drain leading from any pen for the keeping of any swine, slaughter-house, privy vault, or other unwholesome or offensive place, into either of said ponds, or to any flat or marsh adjoining the same. And no person shall throw or suffer to be thrown from his land into either of said ponds, or upon any of said flats or marshes, any dead, decaying, unwholesome or offensive animal or vegetable substance.

BUTTER IN 20 MINUTES.
Lincoln Butter Powder is an entirely harmless article made from a celebrated English receipe, and now in daily use by many of the most noted farmers in the butter country around Philadelphia.
In hot weather this Powder makes butter much firmer and sweeter than it usually is, and keeps it from turning rancid. It also removes the strong flavor of turnips, weeds, corn stalks, cotton seed, etc.; and the increased yield of butter much more than pays the trifling expense of using it.

A Goat's Fourth of July.

That Monroe street goat proved himself on the Fourth to be as patriotic as anybody in St. Louis; at least he made as fine a display of bunting as any house on Fourth or Fifth street. There was a novelty about his bunting, of course. The bunting on the stores down town showed stripes frequently perpendicular with a batch of stars in the corner, while the goat's bunting was strictly in a horizontal line, and the only stars connected therewith were those observed suddenly by the various buntees. The goat probably wouldn't have been so patriotic but for the boys. He was nibbling the scant herbage beside the street on the morning of the Fourth, when he attracted the attention of a group of the worst youngsters in the ward, and they resolved upon the brilliant expedient of tying a bunch of crackers to his tail, just to see what he would do. They surrounded the goat and after infinite strategy and a final desperate battle captured him. Then came the task of attaching the bunch of crackers to the animal's tail, and a difficult task it proved. Goats in general have no tail to speak of, and the Monroe street goat in particular is caudally deficient. His tail is but an inch long, perfectly smooth and with an unwavering tendency to point upward toward the zenith. The boys tried half an hour to fasten on the crackers without success, until finally one boy who had learned to tie some kind of a sailor's knot accomplished the feat thoroughly and satisfactorily. Then the crackers were ignited, and the boys formed a hollow square about the goat, awaiting developments. At the first fizz of the burning cracker the animal leaped perpendicularly five feet upward, and came down stiff-legged, casting at the same time a dreadfully interested look over its shoulder at its rear. As the fizz changed into a flaming sputter it leaped higher still and came down more stiff-legged than before and then began shying about sideways. The boys, previous to affixing the crackers, had taken the goat into a yard with a high board fence about it so that it couldn't get away, anyhow, but they still preserved their hollow square to observe the phenomena of the occasion more closely. Soon the first cracker exploded, and then followed a frightful scene. The goat took in the situation fully and became a baneful Nemesis! With a revengeful "bla-a-ab" and a rush, he knocked a corner boy out of that hollow square and a rod away, and then wheeled like lightning and charged again. The boys started for that fence in a wild stampede, but not one of them reached it. The goat shot about like a giant boomerang and every time he struck a boy that boy went to grass a total wreck. The crackers roared and flamed and the goat resembled a comet with a fiery tail, careering through the air as he bounded from side to side and smote the hapless boys! Before the bunch of crackers was half gone every boy was down, and all afraid to get up again before the raging beast, save that boy who was lying close by the fence, and thought he might get over before the whirlwind would reach him. He made the attempt but wasn't quite quick enough and dropped again just in time to let the goat pass over him with terrible force and pass through the fence like a cannon ball, carrying off a board as he went. The boys rushed to the gap thus made and saw a ball of fire far down the street going at the rate of a thousand miles an hour, and they saw no more goat on the Fourth of July. On the next morning, however, the animal was feeding about in its accustomed haunts, and, but for the blackened appearance of its stump of a tail, and a sinister gleam in its eye, no one would have suspected that it aided in celebrating the Centennial Fourth.—St. Louis Repub.

—According to a Cologne newspaper, there is in that city a booth in which is exhibited a "bearded lady." At the entrance is stationed a girl to take money. Recently a visitor, having feasted his eyes on the strange phenomenon, thinking on his departure to have a joke with the little money-taker, said to her, fondling her under the chin the while, "Well, little one, I suppose the bearded woman is your mamma, eh?" "No, sir," replied the child, "she is my papa."

—A Chicagoan has obtained a verdict against a railroad company whose baggageman smashed his trunk. He proved that the trunk was not only dropped from a wagon to the ground, but that the baggageman lifted it as high as he could, so that it would fall heavier.

REASONS WHY FARMERS should purchase
The Halladay Wind-Mill!
It is the first reliable self-regulating Wind Mill ever made, and continues to lead the van.
It has stood the test of nearly a quarter of a century, and has gained a reputation as broad as its use is extensive.
It is the only wind mill generally adopted on all the railroads.
It is the cheapest wind mill.
The United States Wind Engine and Pump Co. have the largest wind mill manufactory in the world. We are willing to put our mill upon its merits. We ask an investigation of facts and motives. We duly appreciate the patronage and support we have received in the past, and while we solicit a continuance of favors, we shall try to merit them. We are the pioneers in the production of a wind mill adapted to the use of farmers.

SATURDAY, JULY 22, 1876.

FOR PRESIDENT,

Rutherford B. Hayes,

OF OHIO.

FOR VICE PRESIDENT,

William A. Wheeler,

OF NEW YORK.

Hayes' Platform in War.

In 1861, when Hayes was in the army, being nominated for Congress he was requested to come home and stump his district. His reply was, "I have other business just now. Any man who would leave the army at this time to electioneer for Congress ought to be scalped!"

Hayes' Platform in Peace.

"Honest money for all, and free schools for all. There should be no inflation which will depreciate the one, nor sectarian interference which will destroy the other."

Legislature.

On Thursday, the House passed the act in aid of purity of elections.

The committee on towns and parishes decided that the Merrimac county Kearsarge mountain is the only and original simon pure article, the Carroll county claimant being an upstart and an imposter.

An address for the removal of Bernard B. Whittemore, Associate Justice of the Police Court of Nashua, was passed.

An act to establish a new apportionment of State taxes was passed.

An address for the removal Timothy B. Crowley, Register of Probate for Hillsboro' County, was reconsidered and the address finally postponed.

A joint resolution to investigate the Boston & Maine Railroad was indefinitely postponed; also a bill to establish a State Technical School.

During the evening session the Speaker, Hon. Charles P. Sanborn, was presented with a massive gold watch and chain by Mr. Frank Hiland of Manchester, in behalf of the members of the legislature, with appropriate remarks. The Speaker responded in a fitting manner.

Mr. Little of Atkinson was presented with an elegant gold-headed cane, he being the man who headed the roll of the House on the aye and nay vote; after which the usual mock session of an hour's duration occurred, and the House adjourned till morning.

The legislature adjourned sine die on Friday morning.

Appointments.

The following appointments have been made by the Governor and Council:

Attorney-General, Hon. Mason W. Tappan of Bradford;

Commissioner of Pharmacy, Eben S. Russell of Nashua;

Trustees of the Asylum for the Insane, Joseph Burrows of Plymouth, Waterman Smith of Manchester, William S. Perry of Exeter; Pilot Commissioners of Portsmouth, William H. Sise, Joseph Grace, Richard C. Bartlett.

News and Notes.

A daughter of James K. Atwood, of Bucksport, Me., on the 18th saved from drowning, at Calais, two other girls, but lost her own life in doing it. Miss Atwood was only thirteen years old.

Schooner yacht "Mohawk," owned by Vice-Commodore Garner of the New York Yacht Club, was capsized at her anchors in New York harbor by a squall on the 20th, and Mr. Garner and his wife, Miss Adele Hunter, and two of the schooner's cooks, who were all below at the time of the accident, were drowned; another of the schooner's crew lost his life. Mr. and Mrs. Garner and Miss Hunter were in the cabin and could not get out; other guests (who were going with them for a yachting cruise of some days) were on deck, and escaped with their lives. The Mohawk is a centre-board schooner of 330 tons old measurement. When struck by the squall she was anchored head and stern, and had all sail set and the centre-board down.

A block of twelve stores on Union Wharf, Portland, was burned Thursday night. Loss about $50,000.

Hon. George E. Pugh, ex-Senator of the United States, formerly a leading democratic politician, and one of the ablest lawyers of the West, died in Cincinnati on the 19th, aged 54 years. When in the Senate he was a strong Union man, and an opponent of Jeff. Davis and his class.

During a storm Thursday afternoon a tree was blown across the railroad track about three miles north of Contoocookville. The up train for Hillsboro', which left Concord at 3.50 P. M., ran into it, and the locomotive and two passenger cars were thrown from the track. No person was injured, but the engine was smashed.

There was quite a riot in Saco on the night of the 19th. The fight took place in the depot at Saco between a large excursion party from Lowell—11 cars full of drunken rowdies—and some roughs from Biddeford and Saco. The Lowell roughs pitched into everybody, using knives and revolvers freely. The few policemen at hand were powerless to quell the disturbance. Pistol shots were fired indiscriminately into the crowd, and shots even aimed at houses near by. Several women fainted and there was intense excitement. The car windows were smashed in and other damage done. Marshal Sanders of Saco narrowly escaped being shot, and a Lowell policeman, who was drunk and assaulted officer Myers of Saco, was knocked down by the latter with a club. No lives lost.

Stories of Dr. De Falk.

From time immemorial the possession of great supernatural powers has been usually attributed to those Jewish doctors who have mastered the secrets of the Kabbala, and the character of a Thaumaturgos is by no means new in Jewish history. A gentleman popularly invested with those miraculous gifts made his appearance in London during the latter part of the eighteenth century. This Baal Shem, this master of the mode of uttering the Ineffable name; this holder of an extraordinary faculty, which was said to have proved highly valuable to him, was known in every day life as Dr. or Rabbi de Falk. He came from Furth, where his mother had died under straightened circumstances, and had been buried at the expense of the congregation; De Falk himself was without means when he reached England. Whether he owned among his secrets the grand one of the transmutation of metals, or whether he followed privately some lucrative occupation, like a common mortal, we are unable to state. But by all accounts, soon after his arrival in London, De Falk was seen to be in possession of considerable funds, and one of his first cares was to remit to the congregation of Furth the amount of the expenses incurred for his mother's funeral.

Usually De Falk was well provided with cash; but occasionally he found himself in absolute need, when he did not disdain to seek advances on his plate of the pawnbroker in Houndsditch. The bolts and bars of the pawnbroker's strong room were insufficient to confine there De Falk's valuables when he summoned them back to his own closet; but he always honorably acquitted his debt. One day, shortly after having deposited some gold and silver vessels with the pawnbroker, the Kabbalist went to the shop in question, and laying down the duplicate with the sum advanced and exact interest, he told the shopman not to trouble himself, for the plate was already in his possession. The incredulity with which this statement was received changed into absolute dismay when it was ascertained that De Falk's property had really disappeared, without displacing any of the articles that had surrounded it!

Rabbi De Falk lived in Wellclose Square, where he kept a comfortable establishment. He had there his private synagogue; and he exercised great benevolence toward the deserving. He is described as a man of universal knowledge, of singular manners, and of wonderful talent, which seemed to command the supernatural agencies of spiritual life. Instances are given of his extraordinary faculties, by witnesses of his day, who evidently placed implicit faith in the stories they related. Dr. De Falk was a frequent guest at Aaron Goldsmid's table. One day, it is said, the Baal Shem was invited to call on one of Dr. Goldsmid's visitors, a gentleman dwelling in the Chapter House, in St. Paul's churchyard, to hold conversation with him in a friendly manner on philosophical subjects. "When will you come?" asked the gentleman. De Falk took from his pocket a small piece of wax candle, and handing it to his new acquaintance, replied, "Light this, sir, when you get home; I shall be with you as soon as it goes out." Next morning, the gentleman in question lighted the piece of candle. He watched it closely, expecting it to be consumed soon, and then to see De Falk. In vain. The taper, like the sepulchral lamps of old, burned all day and all night, without the least diminution in its flame. He removed the magic candle into a closet, where he inspected it several times daily, for the space of three weeks. One evening, at last, Dr. De Falk arrived in a hackney coach. The host had almost given up all expectations of seeing De Falk, as the taper, shortly before the advent, was still burning as brightly as ever. As soon as mutual civilities were over, the master of the house hastened to look at the candle in the closet. It had disappeared. When he returned he asked De Falk whether the agent that had removed the candle would bring back the candlestick? "Oh, yes," was the reply; "it is now in your kitchen below," which actually proved to be the fact.

On one occasion a fire was raging in Duke's Place, and the synagogue was considered in imminent danger of being destroyed. The advice and assistance of De Falk were solicited; he wrote only four Hebrew letters on the door, when the wind immediately changed its quarter, and the fire subsided without committing further damage. When De Falk made his will, for not all his knowledge could save him from the fate of ordinary mortality, he appointed as his executors Mr. Aaron Goldsmid, Mr. George Goldsmid and Mr. De Symons. He bequeathed to the Great Synagogue a small legacy of £68 16s. 4d., and an annual sum of £4 12s. to whoever fulfilled the function of Chief Rabbi. To Aaron Goldsmid, De Falk, in token of his friendship, left a sealed packet or box, with strict injunction that it should be carefully preserved but not opened. Prosperity to the Goldsmid family would attend obedience to De Falk's behests; while fatal consequences would follow their disobedience. Some time after the Kabbalist's death, Aaron Goldsmid, unable to evercome his curiosity, broke the seal of the mysterious packet. On the same day he was found dead. Near him was the fatal paper, which was covered with hieroglyphics and cabalistic figures.—Sketches of Anglo-Jewish History by James Picciotto.

Honesty and Economy.

From the democratic talk about honesty and reform, people unacquainted with the party's record might suppose that in States where the democrats are supreme everything would be altogether lovely; but it isn't so in all cases. The Tweed-Tilden ring rule in New York may be remembered by some; in Indiana, the democratic Supreme Court is composed of men who have been proved on democratic testimony and by official figures to have furnished their houses and lined their pockets at the expense of the State,—yet these same pilfering judges are supported for re-election by the democrats; and how things are managed in Texas is shown by the following extract from the San Antonio Herald, a democratic sheet. "In our legislature the characteristic feature is waste and extravagance. Offices are multiplied, salaries increased, and the people's domain squandered in the most reckless manner; but the sacred trust—the school fund, amounting to $800,000—committed to the fiduciary care, is also violently seized and appropriated to the payment of the mileage and per diem, and other expenses of this session of the legislature, and to make good the deficit in the State Treasury, caused in part by the expenses incurred for the Constitutional Convention. Our State government is a curse and our laws a mockery, and we call upon our people to rouse to action and apply the corrective. By the apathy of the State government anarchy prevails, and lawlessness and crime abound. The people must act in their own defence. The Governor and legislature will not."

Political.

The Kalamazoo Telegraph thinks a meteor which recently appeared there was a Tilden affair, as it came from the South, was a short-lived concern, and went to pieces in the Northwest.

Conference committee on the financial question—Tilden and Hendricks.

A bitter fight between two papers in a Western town is caused by the fact that one was paid more than the other for the Tilden advertisement.

The Brooklyn Argus, a democratic journal of high standing, refuses to eat the crow prepared for it at St. Louis. It says: "Reform, reform; reform rings out in all of Governor Tilden's campaign documents, from the opening advertisments to the speech of acceptance. But, very singularly, when we look for expected orders to arrest the thieves who stole $2,000,000 from the new Capitol building, for the impeachment of the officials who liberated Tweed, and for the punishment of the men who have stolen $15,000,000 from the people of this city, we find nothing of the kind."

Governor Tilden is losing ground in the West, because of the fact that he has asked time until October next to put in his answer to the complaint of the St. Louis, Alton & Terre Haute railroad. This is the case in which he is charged by a director of the road with having stolen bonds of the company worth one hundred thousand dollars. The suit is now pending before an Indiana court, and the charges are specific and sworn to. Mr. Tilden first asked until July to file his answer, but he claims now that he is not ready, and the matter has been put off until October. This is taken by some papers as evidence that the "great reformer" of New York is afraid of the disclosures and is trying to stave off a hearing until after the Presidential election. His position is injuring him greatly in the West, and democratic papers are demanding that he prepare and publish his answer forthwith, in order that the party he represents may not be injured irretrievably. Until the answer appears there is no defense, except a mere general denial, which is not worth much in the face of charges made in detail and sworn to by a responsible and influential railroad man of the West. If Mr. Tilden has a good case he should not delay in giving his answer to the public.—New Haven Union.

Just what Jackson did, is well enough understood. Until his accession to the office of President, the officers charged with the routine business of the government were moderately paid and were never removed, except for cause. During the eight years of Washington's administration only nine changes were made, and all for cause. John Adams removed nine subordinate officers, but none on account of their political opinions. President Jefferson removed thirty-nine officers, but he repeatedly declared, and it has never been gainsaid, that not one was discharged because he belonged to the opposite party. In his celebrated letter to the merchants of New Haven, Mr. Jefferson laid down the true principle. "The only questions concerning a candidate, shall be, Is he honest? Is he capable? Is he faithful to the constitution?" Mr. Madison made five removals; Mr. Munroe nine; Mr. John Quincy Adams two. During the first forty years under the constitution there had been only seventy-three removals, and proscription for opinion's sake was a thing unheard of. In 1829, President Jackson came into office, and during his first year removed six hundred and ninety officers. Samuel Swartwout, who got the collectorship of New York, described the scene at Washington as "a general scramble for plunder."—Portland Advertiser.

The New Haven Union, (democratic and soft-money) says: The warring republican factions in Alabama have come to an agreement, and a new State ticket has been placed in the field to take the place of the Spencer and anti-Spencer tickets. This makes Alabama a doubtful State, with the chances in favor of the republicans, as there is a large colored vote. The republicans stand a good show now of carrying four Southern States in November which have been claimed for Tilden—North Carolina, Alabama, Mississippi and Louisiana. The carpet-baggers in each have retired to the rear and the more respectable elements have taken the lead. These States are naturally republican, but have been claimed by the democrats because local divisions within a year or two have given them the advantage. Now these dissensions are healed, and the republicans enter into the campaign with a united front, determined at all hazards to carry the day. Neither of the parties go into the Presidential canvass with votes to spare. It is nip and tuck with both of them.

NOTICE.

Having my ware-room (which is the largest this side of Boston) full of the best of

MARBLE WORK,

I would respectfully invite the people of Portsmouth and vicinity, who have lost relatives or friends, or have occasion for the use of any kind of stone work to call before purchasing elsewhere. My stock consists of Monuments, Headstones, Marble Posts, Mantel Shelves, Pier Tops, &c., the stock for which was bought and men employed to work the same, since the commencement of the present hard times. I have not sufficient room in which to place more work, and do not wish to discharge any of my hands. For the above reasons, I feel confident that no one can undersell me with the same quality of stock and work. I take occasion to call the attention of all who are repairing or building houses, to my large stock of

Mantel Shelves and Pier Tops!

Also have Three LOTS, enclosed with Granite Curbs and Posts, in Harmony Grove and Sagamore Cemeteries, which I will sell at a discount.

John S. Treat,

Corner of Deer and Vaughan Streets.

N. B. It is not so troublesome to show our goods as it is to show dry goods; we will therefore be pleased to see any one who may come, whether we sell to him or not.

Drinking Fountains.

Messrs. Editors: We want to keep it be-re the people that drinking fountains are e greatest institutions for the public ben-it that can be afforded during the hot eather. Now we want a good pump and rinking trough on Market square, for orses and oxen. We are informed that e head of water in the aqueduct pipes is t great enough to afford a flowing foun-in on the square, but a pump will do the ork, and will prove a good invest-ent. ‡

Jottings.

A wax plant at Lincoln Hill cottage, hich has been in bloom almost continu-sly for the last two years, is now cele-rating this Centennial year, by putting rth at once about thirty clusters of the ost fragrant white and pink star flowers, f the size of the old-fashioned snowball ower. It is a rare and lovely display, re-mbling the growth of this plant in the opics.

Occasional passengers in the Eastern Rail-oad cars are suprised at the freedom with hich a few Portsmouth men discuss the rivate business affairs of their neighbors o a tone audible to those not interested in he conversation.

Messrs. John Stokell & Co. advertise ex-ursion tickets to and from the Shoals by teamer "Major," Capt. Bird, at one dollar or the round trip.

Morse & Ilsley sell by auction at noon to-ay (Saturday), at their rooms on Pleasant treet, opposite the Post-office, five shares tock in Mechanics & Traders' Bank.

The striking gear of the town clock on he Water street ward room building got ut of order Thursday night, so that instead f striking eleven at the proper hour it truck for about ten minutes continuously. This eccentricity resulted in a partial alarm f fire, the entire fire department promptly marching out and then marching in again. At midnight the clock tried a repetition of he little game, and rattled off about two undred strokes instead of a dozen, but no urther alarm resulted. A number of work-men were employed painting the tower on Thursday, which probably accounts for the mproper and revolutionary proceedings of he clock, which struck all right next morn-ng, we believe.

Butler & Laighton, No. 1 Market square, have on hand in large variety and of excel-lent quality such articles as are most popu-lar with picnic and yachting parties,—ale, porter, lager, claret, champagne, potted ham, tongue and chicken, all kinds of pilot, ship and fancy biscuits, etc.

Schooner Senator, March master, while off Boon island on the 18th, was struck by lightning, which followed both masts to the deck, passed through into the cabin and went out through the port side. The deck planks were badly shattered, the bulkhead stove, the masts split and splintered, and the mainsail set on fire. The entire crew were knocked senseless to the deck and did not recover for several minutes. The Senator goes to Ellsworth, Maine, where she will be repaired.

The Portsmouth Light Artillery, Capt, T. E. O. Marvin, having accepted an invi-tation from the Messrs. Laighton to visit Appledore, will go into camp there next Tuesday for the day.

A curious case of cruelty to animals oc-curred in Salisbury a few days since. On the road to Salisbury Beach a huge bulldog was tied to a fence, probably by some parties he had followed, and left without food or drink in the broiling sun with the glass at 95 degrees all day Thursday and a part of the day Friday, when he was found by some neighbors, who fed the poor brute. An effort was made to set him at liberty, but the dog was so savage that the trial was fruitless, and he was shot out of mercy.

Hon. James G. Blaine left Augusta, Me., for Rye Beach, on Friday, to try and recu-perate. His health is not much improved, but he is physically a little stronger.

There will be religious services at the South Ward room, Sunday evening at half-past 7 o'clock. All are invited.

A German Maiden.

A lady writer from Germany gives the following account of a specimen young German lady with whom she became ac-quainted:

I must say that this pleasant young Mad-chen does not in the least resemble Caddy Jellby either in her appearance or in her education. Fraulein Morgenstern seemed to take a very pleasant and appreciative in-terest in her mamma's "Africa," but had, apparently, many other resources and em-ployments. She was open and confiding, as most German girls are, and told me that she had made an examination a year before as Kindergartnerin, and had then taken charge of the children of a Russian lady, the Princess Galitzia, until the family had determined on a long journey, and she had returned to her mamma. "It was so pleas-ant for me there," she said; "the princess was such a kind, sensible, energetic lady, and such a good mother and housewife as one does not often find in any rank. She took such an interest in the Kindergarten system that she determined to learn it her-self, and attended all my lessons and worked with the children, until she really knew all about it. We had such a pleasant winter, working and learning together; and it is so pleasant for me now to get long, confiden-tial letters from her, and feel that on my very first flight from home I have made for myself, without any help from anybody, good and warm friends for life. The Prin-cess von Galitzia was in Berlin lately, and took time to come to us and spend several hours with me, telling me all about the children and their letters from their jour-ney." She is quite an accomplished young lady, too, even according to American no-tions of accomplishments; she told me about her present occupation of giving sing-ing lessons, and the instructions she took in drawing in the Royal Institute. But an-other of her accomplishments interested me still more. "Mamma likes us to be practi-cal," she said, "and so she made me take lessons in cooking until I understood it practically as well as theoretically; and then I learned dressmaking, and now make everything I wear, and do not devote much time to this employment, either. I learned book-keeping, too, and in summer, when papa's ice-works are open for the sale of ice, I spare him the salary of a bookkeeper. I help a good deal, too, in the office of the Hausfrau Verein, so that my time is pretty well filled up, and I have a pleasant change of employments." There! enterprising young ladies of America, who hold that you alone possess energy and vim, what do you think of this list of the employments of a German Madchen of eighteen?

He Preferred Water.

A tramp, while on his travels, noticed a placard in front of a bar-room. It bore the pleasing legend, "Free Lunch," and he went in, walked unostentatiously up to a plate, and commenced operations with a sandwich; then the barkeeper walked up to the cadaverous wretch and said:

"Men who eat here are expected to pay for a drink."

"I know it," said the tramp.

"Well, then, why don't you conform to the rules?"

"'Cause I go in for health, and don't drink till I'm through eating."

The barkeeper turned his back for a mo-ment, and the tramp slipped three sand-wiches into his coat pocket and devoured four, then he walked up to the bar, and to the dispensor of stimulant huskily whis-pered:

"Gimme a glass o' water, will yo?"

"What! water, after four sandwiches?" bellowed the barkeeper, angrily.

"Yes'r, water," replied the tramp. "I've been drinking o' it nigh outer forty years, and it's just the healthiest stuff agoin'."

And he hobbled out; but if he had caught the foot that flew after him, he wouldn't have been satisfied with the "booty" of his visit.

—Some time since an inquiry was made in England as to the state of the teetotalers in a certain African regiment. The reply was that 50 per cent. were dead and 50 per cent. were invalided. This alarmed the temperance party, but on inquiry it was as-certained to be quite correct. It was found that there were only two teetotalers; one man had died from the bite of a serpent, and the other had been sent home invalided with a broken leg.

—There is said to be a benevolent gen-tleman in Boston who gives twenty-five cents for religious purposes every time he swears! He has already sworn a new steeple on the Presbyterian church, and is now engaged "cussing up" a gift to the Home Missionary Society.

PILOT BREAD.
This kind of bread having come into extensive family use, it has been my purpose to furnish, from choice materials, an article which should meet the approval of the most fastidious as to neatness, looks and taste. Whether I have succeeded in giving to the public a PILOT BREAD,
SUPERIOR IN EXCELLENCE,
the consumer may be the judge; that the quality will not be suffered to depreciate, the past with the present is my best pledge. That I can compete with all the various qualities of Pilot Bread in the market, as to price, I make no pretensions,—but in price, all things being equal, I fear no competition.]

Daily Chronicle.

Eaten by an Alligator.

There lived in Calcutta a lovely girl of 17, who was engaged to a man she was much attached to; her father, however, did not approve of the match, and was anxious that she should marry another man, who had proposed to her some time before. This second lover, backed up by the father, was most persistent in his attentions, and ultimately hoped to win the girl, who, on her part, disliked him intensely, and declared she would only marry the man she was engaged to, and no one else. All of a sudden the girl disappeared, and though every search was made no intelligence could be gained of her, nor was there any apparent reason for her mysterious absence. Suspicion fell on both lovers, especially on the one whose suit she had rejected, for it was well known he was highly incensed against her for her indifference toward him. They were both arrested and imprisoned, albeit they declared their innocence, and also their sorrow and astonishment at her disappearance. It was ascertained that she was last seen alive going to the "tank" with her pitcher to draw water, and that she had never been seen since. On this it was decided to have the tank dragged, which was accordingly done. The first time they found nothing; however, they tried again. On this occasion they felt something very heavy in the net; presently they saw the huge head of an alligator, and soon after heard a tremendous splash, which broke the net and allowed the animal to escape. They immediately commenced making another net of extra strength, and not one likely to be broken by the alligator. When it was finished, they dragged the tank, and this time they did so most thoroughly, but to their amazement nothing of the alligator was seen. "Where can it be?" they exclaimed. "Surely we were not deceived; we all saw it, and yet if it was in that tank we must have caught it." Some of them proposed that they should drag the tank from the opposite side. This they did, and their efforts were crowned with success, for they captured the alligator and brought him safe to land. He was of monstrous size, and a most ferocious monster. Inside of him they found no end of gold and silver bankles and native ornaments; some of them were recognized by the bereaved father as belonging to his poor daughter, for they were the same she wore on the evening she was last seen walking toward the tank. The grief of her friends on this terrible discovery can be better imagined than described. She must have put down her pitcher into the water, quite unconscious of danger, when she was seized by the monster and in a moment dragged down. Not a soul knew the existence of the alligator in that tank. It was the only one there, and had a habit of hiding under a shelving of rock on one side of the tank. This accounts for its not being captured when the tank was dragged on so many occasions. How this monster got into that tank, and where it came from is a question for naturalists alone to answer. I have heard, though I can not vouch for the truth, that alligators have been known to travel great distances at night. This animal must have walked straight through the populous city of Calcutta to the tank, unobserved.—Calcutta Cor. London Sporting Magazine.

—Poole, the English tailor, died worth about $600,000. Mr. Jennings writes of him: He was a very good sort of a fellow, although a little inclined to put on airs now and then. One day he was out hunting, when rather a large party happened to be in the field. He went up to Lord Hardwicke and said, with a gesture of contempt, "A fine day, my lord, but a very mixed company." "Well, Poole," replied Lord Hardwicke, "you know you cannot expect them all to be tailors."

AMERICAN & FOREIGN PATENTS.

R. H. EDDY, SOLICITOR OF PATENTS,

For Inventions Trade Marks or Designs

No. 76 STATE ST., OPPOSITE KILBY ST., BOSTON,

After an extensive practice of upwards of thirty years, continues to secure patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all papers for Patents, executed on reasonable terms with dispatch. Researches made to determine the validity and utility of Patents of Inventions, and legal and other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any patent furnished, by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.

No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.

All necessity for a journey to Washington to procure a Patent and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents."

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office. EDMUND BURKE, Late Commissioner of Patents.'

"Mr. R. H. EDDY has made for me over THIRTY applications for Patents, having been successful in almost every case. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend ALL inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases and at very reasonable charges. DR. QUAIN'S MAGIC CONDITION PILLS!

The Wonderful Remedy for Liver Complaint, Billiousness, Dyspepsia, Constipation, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Headache, Kidney Complaint, Nervousness, Scrofula, Piles, and all diseases arising from a bad state of the Blood!

No medicine ever offered to the public has given such universal satisfaction as Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. Their praises are on every tongue where their merits are known. They strike at once at the seat of disease and show their healing power almost immediately. Thousands of voluntary testimonials of their merits have been received by the agent, from those who have been cured by them, of which the following are samples:

Dyspepsia Four Years, Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels Three Years, Confined to my Room Two Years, Pain so I Could Not Sleep Without Morphine. One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills Made Me Eat Well, Sleep Well and Free from Pain, after being given up by Physicians.

WEST LEBANON, ME., Feb. 22, 1

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I have been sick for four years with Dyspepsia, and for the past three years Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels. I have suffered all the pain I could endure and live. I have been confined to my room for two years, and could not sleep nights without the use of morphine. I have been given up by physicians as past cure. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, and they have done me more good than all the doctors I have had. I sleep well, I eat well and have no pain. They are all they are recommended to be. Please send me three packages, as two of my neighbors wish to try them. I enclose $1.50.

Your truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Another Letter from Maj. John W. Lord, one month later. Wonderful Cures by Dr. Quain's Pills Effected on Him in Thirteen Days. First time Free from Pain for Three Years.

WEST LEBANON, ME., March 22, 1875

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I commenced taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS February 9th, and wrote you February 22d of their wonderful effect. I have continued to improve ever since. My appetite is good, and I sleep as well as I ever did in my life. I am free from pain for the first time in three years. When I was taken sick four years ago, I weighed one hundred and eighty-six pounds; I now weigh one hundred and thirty, but, as I am gaining in strength, I have faith I shall regain my flesh this summer, by the use of the Pills. I shall continue taking them for some time to come.

Yours truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Dr. Quain's Pills the Remedy for Soldiers' Aches and Pains.

WEST LEBANON, ME., June 1, 1875.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I am now able to walk out every day, and am gaining in strength very fast, all of which is due to you as agent for the best Pills in the world. I have taken no other medicine, and my improvement has been steady since first taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done everything for me, and I will say to you, advertise them direct to the soldiers, for they will certainly cure them of aches and pains caused from exposure and hardship on the field. Please send me by return mail another package.

Rheumatism for Twenty Years Cured by One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills—"The Best Medicine in the World."

(EAST ANDOVER, N. H., Dec. 10, 1875.

MR. LANE—Dear Sir:—As I know the value of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS and the good they have done me, I take pleasure in giving them praise; so I send you another testimonial. My father has been troubled with Rheumatism for twenty years or more, and has tried everything that could be thought of, but to no good. At times it would be so bad that he could not lift his hand to his head or do any work at all, especially in cold weather. A short time ago I advised him to get some of these Pills. He believed nothing in them, but I gave him the last package I had of you, as I did not need them, and he has not been as free from the Rheumatic Complaint for years. No Rheumatism, no pain. What helped him? It was DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, the best medicine in the world. There is nothing like them. I know it, for I have tried them, and they are all, yes, more than they are recommended to be. Give them a fair trial and you will say so. I write this because I know it gives pleasure of them and wish others to know the same. Some may think I am telling a big story. I am. But remember I am not giving them half the praise they ought to have.

Yours with respect, ED. F. PEVARE.

Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache.

LACONIA, N. H., Jan. 22, 1875.

THOS. W. LANE—Sir:—I have been troubled with Bad Blood, Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done me more good than all the medicine I ever took; I have taken considerable medicine within the last five years. For the nerves I think there is nothing so good as those pills. I can recommend them to all who are similarly afflicted, they have done me so much good. I think they will recommend themselves wherever they go. I shall recommend those Pills to all who need them. Please send me two packages more, one for myself and one for a lady friend of mine. Many thanks to the inventor, agent and advertiser of those Pills. MRS. P. L. ELLIOTT.

DR. QUAIN'S MAGIC CONDITION PILLS are put up only by the AMERICAN MEDICINE CO., Manchester, N. H., THOMAS W. LANE, Agent.

PULMOCINE.

BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL

CLEAR YOUR THROAT!

Relieve Your Lungs.

For the terrible diseases engendered by the lungs (trying climate of New England)

PULMOCINE CORDIAL

Is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. Every Family should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croups, Laryngitis, or inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred Throat Diseases at all times prevalent, it is the ounce of Prevention. Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for. These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning, when a physician may be out of immediate reach. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy relief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As "a stitch in time saves nine," so does the possession of this Family Medicine prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agent. There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all this afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and the patient's danger is past.

For Coughs,

Croup,

Diphtheria,

Asthma, etc.,

USE

Buchman's Pulmocine Cordial.

The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. It is offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

PULMOCINE.

Among its many ingredients are Wild Cherry Bark, Squill Root, Liquorice Root, Blood root, &c. It is a Blood Purifier, gently stimulating. It increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is sudorific and alterative. It is a necessary family medicine. It is a Tonic and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is a gentle sedative, and relieves nervousness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.

Is the ultima thule of Medical Discovery.

so new discovery. Twenty-three years ago it was used by one of New England's most famous physicians as the best Pulmonary Curative he could prescribe, after a dozen years spent in experimenting with it before he was satisfied that the Materia Medica could add nothing in its favor.

Rockingham Ten Cents Savings Bank.

No. 29 MARKET ST., PORTSMOUTH, N. H.

AARON H. HILL, President. JOHN CHRISTIE, Treas.

THIS Bank pays five per cent. per annum, free of all tax. A greater rate is prohibited by law. Two dividends are made in the year,—in June and December; and an extra dividend of the surplus earnings every two years. The first extra will be in June, 1874.

Deposits go on interest on the FIRST day of every MONTH, and deposits made during the FIRST THREE days of each MONTH will draw interest from the FIRST day of that MONTH.

Dividends not withdrawn will be added to the principal, and draw interest from the time when declared.

Money is received on deposit payable on checks at sight.

Portsmouth, Jan. 1, 1873.

Health Regulations.

THE BOARD OF HEALTH OF THE CITY OF PORTSMOUTH call the attention of the public to the following sections of Chapter 10, of the Revised Ordinances, and invite all interested in the preservation of health in our city to aid them in the execution of their duty:

SEC. 3. All waste water of houses, yards, cellars, sinks, pumps, etc., shall be conveyed by their owners or occupiers to the common sewers, or to such places as the Health Officers may direct.

SEC. 4. No person shall be allowed to throw any vegetable or dead animal substance, or any other matter capable of producing infection, into any street, lane, alley or dock, or upon any wharf, but shall bury them or th ow them into the river below low-water mark.

SEC. 5. The contents of vaults and privies shall not be permitted to rise within one foot of the surface of the earth. And all owners or occupiers of buildings having such vaults or privies as may require it, shall cause them to be emptied within ten days from the promulgation of this ordinance, and in future on or before the first day of May in each year. And any such owner or occupier neglecting so to do, shall forfeit and pay for every such neglect a sum not less than three nor more than twenty dollars, and a like sum for every week's neglect after the time above specified.

SEC. 6. No vender of meat at the stalls shall be permitted to leave any stale meat, heads, feet or offal of any kind about their stalls or stores over night, or suffer them to be thrown into any street, lane or alley of the city. Nor shall any sellers of fish be permitted to throw any offal of fish into any street, lane or alley of the city, or upon any wharf, but shall either bury them or throw them into the river beyond low-water mark.

SEC. 7. If any dead animal or decaying vegetable substance, or any other nuisance, shall be found in any part of the city, the owners or occupiers of the premises where such nuisance shall be found, shall cause the same to be removed within twenty-four hours after being notified so to do by one or more of the health officers.

SEC. 12. When any householder shall know that any person within his family is taken sick of the small pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, he shall immediately give notice thereof to the Health Officers.

SEC. 13. When any physician shall know that any person whom he is called to visit is infected with the small pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, such physician shall immediately give notice thereof to the Health Officers.

SEC. 14. If any such householder or physician shall refuse or neglect to give the notice required in the preceding sections, he shall for each refusal or neglect, forfeit the sum of twenty dollars, to be recovered by either of the Health Officers in the name of the city.

SEC. 16. The Health Officers may give written notice to the owner or occupier of any building, vessel or enclosure, to remove or destroy any nuisance or other thing deemed by them on examination, to be injurious to the public health, within a certain time limited therein; and in case such owner or occupier—the said notice having been given to him, or left at his usual place of abode—shall neglect to comply therewith, the said Health Officers may, by direction of the mayor and accompanied by the city marshal, forcibly enter such building, vessel, or enclosure, and cause said nuisance or other thing aforesaid to be removed or destroyed.

SEC. 21. No person shall erect, keep or continue, or permit to be erected, kept or continued, upon any land occupied by him, any pen for the keeping of swine, or privy, over either of the mill ponds in this city, or so placed that offensive substances therefrom shall be discharged or drained into either of said ponds, or into any creek, or cove, or drain leading thereto. And no person shall construct, keep or continue any drain leading from any pen for the keeping of any swine, slaughter-house, privy vault, or other unwholesome or offensive place, into either of said ponds, or to any flat or marsh adjoining the same. And no person shall throw or suffer to be thrown from his land into either of said ponds, or upon any of said flats or marshes, any dead, decaying, unwholesome or offensive animal or vegetable substances.

LINCOLN BUTTER POWDER.

Good Fresh Butter All The Year Round.

BUTTER IN 20 MINUTES.

Lincoln Butter Powder is an entirely harmless article made from a celebrated English recipe, and now in daily use by many of the most noted farmers in the butter counties around Philadelphia.

In the warmer months this Powder makes butter much firmer and sweeter than it usually is, and keeps it from turning rancid. It also removes the strong flavor of turnips, weeds, corn stalks, cotton seed, etc.; and the increased yield of butter much more than pays the trifling expense of using it.

RAINY DAYS.

'Mid the various pleasures we meet in life's way,
There is nothing to me like a dull, rainy day;
And when I am sheltered at home snug and warm,
How much I enjoy a wild November storm.

I remember in childhood that on just such a day,
My fancy would lead me in the garret to stray,
And recall to my mind recollections most rare
When I think of the relics I often found there.

With what pleasure I rummaged the room o'er and o'er,
While upon the rough boarding that served for a floor
I'd scatter old bonnets brought forth from their nooks,
With faded-out pamphlets and half-covered books.

I drew there quaint relics from their twilight domain
To serve a generation not known in their reign;
And, hearing its patter on shingle and pane,
I enjoyed there the true inspiration from rain.

And these rainy days bring their sunshine to me;
And these fond recollections, wherever I may be,
Are brought to my mind as the pure, crystal drops
Fall o'er forest and valley and verdant hill tops.

C. A. L.

Train Robbing.

A lady who was on the Missouri railroad train recently robbed, gives the following account of how things appeared to her:

After leaving Otterville, I was dozing in a reclining chair—probably fast falling asleep. Suddenly the train was brought to a halt, and, a moment later, a man rushed hurriedly through the car. I believe he was the express messenger. Some one asked him what was the matter. "The train is being robbed, that's what's the matter," he hurriedly replied, and kept on. Then all was commotion and confusion. Including myself, there were three ladies in the car. I confess that I was terribly frightened and thought I should faint, but—and Miss Peabody laughed at the remembrance—I saw that there was no one handy to catch or care for a person in a faint, and concluded to omit this part of the programme. Meanwhile shots were being fired on the outside, and we could hear numbers of men cursing and swearing. I suppose the shots were fired for the purpose of intimidation. I believe the car was next to the smoking car. Directly the car-door was thrown open and in stalked two of the robbers. The leader put his hand on the shoulder of the brakeman and said, "Here, I want you," and hustled him out. We thought they were going to shoot him, but I suppose, now, they wanted him to identify the express messenger. It was rare fun—I mean it is amusing to look back at it now, nothing funny in it then—to see the passengers concealing their valuables. Here you would see a man with his boots off cramming his greenbacks in his socks; several—Mr. Marshall of Fulton among the rest—tossed their cash, watches, etc., into a coal box; others were up on the backs of seats hunting holes for their pocket-books. Wherever anything could be concealed, something was sure to find its way. The conductor, excited and nervous, hurriedly passed through and told all who had valuables to take care of them. The most ludicrous incident I can now recall was when a sanctimonious looking individual, evidently scared almost out of his wits, broke forth with the old familiar song, "I'm going home to die no more." His quavering, doleful voice echoed through the car with lugubrious effect. Some of the male passengers were ungallant enough to interrupt him with the remark that he had better be getting his money out of the way instead of starting a camp-meeting. Having finished the hymn, he arose and gave in his experience. He stated that he had been a follower of the Lord for ever so many years—that he was a true and consistent member of the church—that he had never wronged a fellow-being, but that if he were doomed to be murdered he wanted his remains forwarded to his family in New York, and to write them that he had died true to the faith in the hope of a glorious resurrection. The tumult outside continued. We could distinctly hear them pounding away at the Adams express safe, and their coarse oaths and imprecations at being delayed. Occasionally shots were fired. The leader of the robbers, a tall, fine-looking man, accompanied by one of his comrades, passed through the car. "You need not be hiding your money," said the leader, "we do not intend to disturb you." He wore a red handkerchief over his face, with holes cut for his eyes and mouth. Below the handkerchief appeared his beard—very long, but probably false. His companion was a smaller and rougher-looking man. His mask was simply a white handkerchief tied over the lower portion of his face. The upper part was plainly visible. He remarked that we must consider them an awful set of reprobates. The inquiry for arms showed three pistols in our car. One of these was owned by a lady. Throughout the whole affair she remained perfectly cool and collected, and refused to accommodate a gentleman with the loan of her pistol. When some one said this was the work of the James boys, she laughingly remarked that her name was James, but she hoped none of her relatives were engaged in such disreputable business. The newsboy had a pistol and made his way to the front platform. Looking up the bluff he descried the figure of a man and fired. In an instant the shot was returned. The ball passed between the plucky newsboy and a gentleman who was also on the platform, and both of them sought shelter without ceremony. Thinking that the robbers might fire through the windows, I got off the chair and took a position on the floor. The sanctimonious New Yorker, who was going away to die no more, thinking, doubtless, that I was engaged in prayer, softly approached and asked if I were prepared to die? I was not in a humor to enlighten him upon the subject. We were detained about an hour, when the robbers, having accomplished their purpose, gave us permission to proceed. It was one of the episodes of my life I shall never forget.

Hayes' Platform in War.

In 1864, when Hayes was in the army, being nominated for Congress he was requested to come home and stump his district. His reply was, "I have other business just now. Any man who would leave the army at this time to electioneer for Congress ought to be scalped!"

Hayes' Platform in Peace.

"Honest money for all, and free schools for all. There should be no inflation which will depreciate the one, nor sectarian interference which will destroy the other."

Correspondence.

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 19.

Yesterday the proposition to repeal the resumption act was for the fourth time postponed; it claimed that Tilden is wrestling with the democratic members, begging them to leave it alone, and that Hendricks is quite as importunate for its repeal. Although the intelligence has been sent out from this city every day for two weeks that the deadlock was virtually broken, yet to-day a compromise on many of the appropriation bills appears as distant as when they were first referred to conference committee; and another extension of the time wherein unexpended balances of last year's appropriations may be used, is predicted.

A grossly partisan move by the democrats of Whitthorne's naval committee for election purposes, is proposed, by referring to the judiciary committee the mass of testimony taken during a seven months' raid for evidence to smirch Secretary Robeson, and requesting its opinion as to whether he (Robeson) has rendered himself liable to impeachment. Of course no report could be obtained before the November election, and in the meantime Mr. Robeson could be held up to the public as another high republican official who has rendered himself liable to impeachment and criminal prosecution by his corrupt administration of the navy department. This committee has spent, it is claimed, more than $600,000 in its efforts to criminate this officer; but with those who are familiar with the evidence, Mr. Robeson has fully and unanswerably met every charge, and stands fully vindicated. There will be a majority and a minority report.

The river and harbor appropriation bill, as it came from the Senate committee, was shorn of some of its ugliest features, more than seventy of its provisions for the improvement of unnavigable streams and harbors without shipping having been stricken out: but in the scramble of individual Senators to enhance their home popularity at the expense of the Government, the judicious action of their committee was ignored, the swindling bequests were restored and others quite as reprehensible added. A substitute for the bill has been offered in the Senate by Mr. Allison. During the discussion of the bill Mr. Conkling made a very able speech, and Mr. Merrimon got himself into hot water by some ill-timed political remarks, which provoked Mr. Morton to retaliate; and the ex-Confederates of the upper house received the most severe castigation of the session. Mr. Merrimon, during the debate, acknowledged that he was not dealing in facts.

It will be remembered that Mr. Davis, Senator from West Virginia, early in the session found much fault with the method of book-keeping at the Treasury Department, and made some serious charges, which were generally understood to be directed against Senator Boutwell and for party capital. Yesterday that gentleman and other republicans very nearly demolished the unfortunate arithmetician from West Virginia and showed that "he that answereth a matter before he heareth it, it is shame and folly to him."

The permission of the President to ex-Secretary Bristow to tell Cabinet secrets about the whisky ring has more than ever decided him not to do so. The impression becomes more and more prevalent that he has not much to tell. Yaryan's testimony against the President in the same connection is deemed hardly sufficient for his (the President's) impeachment, inasmuch as it consisted chiefly of the surmises and gossip of his (Grant's) enemies.

There is noticeable much uneasiness among the Bourbon leaders because of the non-appearance of Tilden's letter of acceptance; and many of the "organs" have hastened to disavow the reform candidate's sympathy with the programme of superserviceable friends, who have advised that he pledge himself to retain all official incumbents who are competent and of good character otherwise, in case of his election. They declare that it would be no reform to leave in office the vile creatures of a Grant despotism. But they are all frantically seeking for him, some method by which he can counteract the excellent impression made by the manly letter of his republican antagonist.

In the House last Saturday, on a proposition to reinforce our Texan frontier, Mr. Smalls, colored member from South Carolina, offered an amendment to the effect that none of the troops sent should be taken from his State. This instantly brought Southern members to their feet, and Butler, who led the assassins in the recent murder of negroes at Hamburg, was eulogised as a brave, chivalrous, Christian gentleman, concentrating within himself the "best blood" of the South. A few words were uttered "deploring" the recent "disturbance," and many were spoken proving that the Ku Klux were entirely justified in their proceedings because of "carpet bag governments." Cox was especially abject in his submission to the cowardly cutthroats at Hamburg. Yesterday, while the same matter was being considered, Sunset took occasion to say some very foolish things, which were made more patent by Mr. Smalls' reply; but it was reserved to Mr. Townsend of New York to show up Sunset as a political tramp, who, when repudiated by the people of Ohio, came with carpet-bag in hand to New York city and was adopted by fragrant Tammany. These painful home-thrusts drove Cox into an involuntary defense of carpet-baggers, very humiliating to his political associates and quite as refreshing to the republicans.

The Belknap trial excites no great interest outside the interested circles. The managers have got in all their direct testimony, but it is likely that the best part of next week will have been consumed before the end is reached. I believe a majority of those who have watched the trial do not think a conviction probable. The two or three past days and nights, which have been comparatively cool, are succeeded to-day by very hot weather again. Were it not for the party interests involved, Congress would adjourn before Saturday night; as it is, neither party, though showing many symptoms of exhaustion, manifests the most remote disposition to yield. MAXWELL.

News and Notes.

Wisner Murray, shot in the head by Robert H. Berdell, whom he was cowhiding, died on the 21st at Middletown, New York.

Capt. Rawlings, of the yacht "Mohawk," has been arrested for causing the disaster to the vessel by his incompetency.

The Statement that Sitting Bull was killed in the fight with Custer is confirmed from Indian sources. Crazy Horse and Black Moon are also killed. The statement that Sitting Bull's band of Uncapapas lost 100 killed, and that the total loss of the Indians will reach 400, is renewed.

Taylor L. Crockett was struck by lightning in Laconia on the 20th, and died next morning.

The steam yacht "Stella," a little craft of only twenty-three feet keel, was sunk on the Hudson river near Troy on Friday evening, by the swell occasioned by the passing of steamer "City of Troy," and five persons out of nine aboard at the time of the accident were drowned.

The squall which caused the disaster to the yacht "Mohawk" did not strike her while her anchor was down, but just as it was lifted. The tide had been holding the schooner broadside on to the wind, and she had not gathered any headway when the squall reached her. Yachts lying near her without any sail set had their lee rails forced under water by the force of the wind.

In the Alabama Claims Court, Thursday, July 13, judgment was announced in case 1765, Louisa Wildes, Kennebunkport, for loss of the "Union Jack," destroyed by the "Alabama," May 2, 1862. Interest at 4 per cent. was allowed from date of loss.

The mysterious disappearance of several hundred dollars from the American Express Company's safe at Westfield, Mass., six years ago, is now partially cleared up by the discovery of a duplicate key to the safe in possession of a man well known at Westfield. The company have bought a new safe and compelled the holder of the duplicate key to give it up, but will probably proceed no further, as he has no property to recover from, even could the theft be traced to him. At the time of the loss the express agent, E. B. Searle, was discharged and arrested for the theft. The business men had such confidence in him, however, that a purse of $200 was raised to defray his defence. After a long trial he was acquitted, but public opinion has always been divided as to his innocence.

A reunion of all the Grand Army Posts in New Hampshire will be held at Great Falls Riding Park on or about September 1st.

A barn at Meredith Centre, owned by W. H. Cate, was struck by lightning and burned Thursday night.

Hon. William Haile, Governor of this State in 1857 and 1858, and two years in the State Senate, died in Keene on Saturday, aged 69 years.

Political.

The Richmond (Va.) Whig, a democratic paper of the democraticest sort, commenting on the Hamburg massacre, argues that the great mass of the Southern whites are well disposed toward the blacks and that a few bad men do not represent the whole people, and urges the democratic party in the South to "keep our roughs and rowdies down and our fools silent," "either by sending them to bed or unloading them and repudiating all responsibility for their acts and utterances, refusing even to apologize for or conceal their wicked and inexcusable crimes." We don't know if that expression was intended as a rebuke to Sunset Cox and the other democrats in Congress who not only did apologize for and attempt to conceal the wicked and inexcusable crimes committed at Hamburg, but eulogized the bloodthirsty and brutal ringleader, Gen. M. C. Butler, late of the Confederate States army; but it sounds very like one. The Whig further says: "We cannot carry the dead weight of these repeated outrages in Mississippi, Louisiana and South Carolina, and hope to win the election thus handicapped." This is rank treason. What is the use of the democratic press of the North denying that outrages are or ever have been committed; of what use is it for the "independent" press to gush about the "era of good feeling," and deprecate the waving of the "bloody shirt;" of what use is it for a democratic investigating committee to vouch that the wholesale murder of republicans in Louisiana has no political signification, if a Southern democratic paper is to come out with talk like that? Repeated outrages, indeed! The Richmond Whig will not be regarded as loyal to the democratic party if much more such ill-considered stuff creeps into its columns.

Colonel Vest, one of the most prominent candidates for Governor before the Missouri democratic State Convention, said, in a late speech, that "the negro should be relegated to his former condition." This was thought to be a little too plain, just now, though intended only for home consumption in Confederate circles. Consequently his friends have been trying to get him to explain away this demand for the re-enslavement of the colored men. A St. Louis correspondent of the Enquirer says: "Calling on Colonel Vest, that gentleman was asked about the Fourth of July speech at Fulton, wherein he is reported to have demanded the relegation of the negro to his former condition. Mr. Vest said that what he had spoken at Fulton he meant thoroughly, and would repeat on every proper occasion. What he meant was that the negroes in the South, instead of being brought to the polls to vote, should be remanded to the cotton-fields to work."

Referring to the Tilden serenade at Albany, the Cleveland Herald delivers this home thrust: "Tilden's speech was a libel upon the country. It was the utterance of an arrant demagogue. He said 'the wolf is at the door of nearly every home in the land, gaunt and hungry.' The wolf is not ravening at the door of Mr. Tilden, with his wealth acquired as a railroad lawyer. It is not howling at the door of his fellow reformer, John Morrissey, with his wealth amassed by keeping a gambling hell."

Of Hendricks' Eastern trip the Cincinnati Enquirer, which says that it is supporting Tilden and Hendricks, remarks: "Mr. Hendricks was talking to the Eastern democrats when at Saratoga. He was endeavoring to catch the Eastern coon. He wasn't there to harrow up the feelings of his Eastern friends. He is a soothing and complacent man. But just get hold of Governor Hendricks on the plains of the West, and he will satisfy his greenback friends. Mr. Hendricks is a sagacious, wise man."

It is hardly worth while for the democratic papers to make so much ado over the fact that "Mr. Herndon, Abraham Lincoln's law partner and friend, has declared for Tilden." Mr. Herndon supported the democratic ticket in 1872 and 1874, and when a man gets going down hill there is little use trying to stop him.

The democrats urge that Tilden's intimacy with Tweed should not discredit him, as their mutual operations were suspended six or eight years ago.

The Rebellion of the Stomach.

The stomach obstinately rebels against all effort to make it digest superabundant or indigestible food. When a fit of dyspepsia has been brought on by over-indulgence in the pleasures of the table, or any other cause, the invalid can obtain from Hostetter's Stomach Bitters prompter and more complete relief than from any other source. This admirable specific not only renders digestion active, but regulates the secretion and distribution of the bile, re-establishes a regular habit of body when costiveness exists, restores the appetite, soothes and invigorates the nerves, and, if taken before retiring, facilitates sleep. Under these happy conditions, the dyspeptic or bilious subject regains lost flesh, his spirits recover their elasticity, and all the various and harassing bodily and mental symptoms of chronic indigestion disappear.

Oily Substances always aggravate Skin Diseases. Ointments are therefore rather hurtful than beneficial. Glenn's Sulphur Soap, which opens, instead of clogging the pores with grease, has, as might have been expected, widely superseded oleaginous compounds as a remedy for scorbutic affections.

☞ That yellow tinge of the complexion is a sure indication of bile in the blood. It is effectually removed by using GILBERT'S EXCELSIOR LIVER LOZENGES.

Important to persons visiting New York or the Centennial. The Grand Union Hotel, New York, opposite the Grand Central Depot, has over 350 elegantly furnished rooms. Elevator, steam and all improvements. European plan. Carriage hire is saved, as baggage is taken to and from the depot free. Guests can live better for less money at the Grand Union than at any other first-class hotel. Stages and cars pass the Hotel constantly to all parts of the city, and to the Philadelphia depot.

Jottings.

Ship Nightingale, 722 tons, built on the Piscataqua in 1851, was sold at auction July 12, at the Merchants' Exchange, San Francisco, for $11,700.

Saturday was a most enjoyable day, after the long spell of hot weather, a delicious East wind blowing in from the sea and making people feel glad they were not dead. It is matter for congratulation that notwithstanding the intense heat of the previous ten days, the thermometer marking far above ninety every day, no serious injury to any person in this city has yet been reported from that cause.

Mr. Pitt Dillingham, youngest son of the late Rev. W. A. P. Dillingham, formerly of this city, was a graduate of the last class from the Cambridge Divinity School, and has since received and accepted a call to the Harvard church in Charlestown, Mass., at a salary of $2500 per year.

Messrs. Morse & Ilsley sold five shares National Mechanics and Traders Bank at auction Saturday, for $102 per share.

On Wednesday evening Mrs. Ursula S. Riddle, widow of Mr. Isaac Riddle, of Manchester, died at the Sea View House, Rye Beach, where she had been boarding for several weeks. She was possessed of considerable literary ability and was a frequent contributor to the press.

Rev. Daniel Mason, who has recently preached for the colored people here, has received and accepted a call from a church in Indianapolis, Ind., and has begun his labors there.

Conductor Charles Wyatt has been transferred from the main line of the Concord & Portsmouth railroad, to the Acton branch, and Conductor Henry Chandler of Concord now fills the position between this city and Concord.

In the athletic sports of the collegians, at Saratoga, the day after the boat races, the three-mile race was won by Mr. E. C. Stimson of this city, representing Dartmouth college; time 16 minutes, 21 1-2 seconds; first mile made in 5:26. The mile run was contested by Mr. Stimson and T. R. Green of Princeton. Green led over three-quarters of the distance, and then Stimson passed and came in winner; time, 4:58.

Last Tuesday about one hundred Portsmouth "Chowderheads and Chowderheadesses" with several invited guests, "picknicked" at Gerrish's Island, arriving there about nine o'clock. Fishing, tub racing, bathing and boating occupied the party as their several inclinations directed. At one o'clock a nice fish chowder with hot coffee was served, after which literary exercises came off amid the roar of artillery, and of the C and C. A costly monument was unveiled and dedicated amid the roar, etc., to Mrs. Pocahontas Smith.—Biddeford Journal.

Water street and some other localities were made quite lively Saturday night by the presence of numbers of the discharged seamen of the U. S. S. "Congress." A number of them were locked up for drunkenness, and several colored sailors were arrested for wantonly assaulting a colored barber named Shepard, and damaging his personal property, including his body.

There was a feeble attempt to get up a false alarm of fire at about eleven o'clock Saturday evening. A moderate fine inflicted on one of the jokers who show their wit in this way would save the city some money.

Lady Holland's Divorce.

Everybody has heard of Holland House and Lady Holland, and most people know that the lady was a divorcee; but somehow the history of her divorce has not found its way into the various accounts of her. Elizabeth Vassall, for such was her maiden name, was heiress of a gentleman who belonged to an American royalist family, which also held a great estate in Jamaica. In 1689 she was married in Golden Square, then a fashionable place of residence, guileless of such occupants as Ralph Nickleby, to a young baronet, Sir Godfrey Webster, who owned the famous abbey in Sussex which derives its name from the battle of Hastings. By him she had three children, one of whom married Admiral Sir Fleetwood Pellew, son of Lord Exmouth, the hero of Algiers. In 1794, Lord Holland, then twenty-one, was on his travels, and, falling in with the Websters in Italy, was, as any clever, accomplished young man would have been, greatly attracted by the beauty and conversation of Lady Webster, then twenty-five. The year following, Sir Godfrey had to return to England, to wind up his father-in-law's affairs, but, as Lady Holland was expecting her confinement, she remained abroad. It was soon after this that her intimacy with Lord Holland began to assume a less innocent character, and when she returned to England, in 1796, she refused to live as a wife with Sir Godfrey, who even then suspected nothing, and before long eloped with Lord Holland. The action for crim. con. was tried in February, 1796, before Lord Kenyon. Mr. Garrow, afterward an eminent Judge, was counsel for Webster, and the celebrated Lord Erskine, who told the Court that he had appeared in more cases of the sort than any other man, for Lord Holland. The verdict was for £6,000; £10,000 was the sum at which the damages were laid, but it is probable that Sir Godfrey's long absence weighed somewhat against him with the jury, although the judge summed up strongly in his favor. Lady Holland inherited from her father property worth more than £7,000 a year, but as it was in Jamaica she probably lived to see it reduced to £700. Her son by Sir Godfrey persistently declined her acquaintance. By Lord Holland she had one son, who died childless, and one daughter, Lady Lilford, who had a large family. Holland House belongs absolutely to her son's wife.—N. Y. Sun.

Helped Them Along.

Matters were brought to a climax with a rush, at a certain farmer's residence in Vernon Township, Iowa, recently. A young tiller of the soil had for months and months been paying most assiduous attention to one of the daughters, but he was such a bashful, modest chap, never having been much in the company of girls, except this one, that he had never been able to raise his courage sufficiently high to pop the all-important question. He had gone to the house in which his admirer lived, upon at least twenty different occasions, resolved to know his fate, but when ushered into the presence of the fair one, in whose keeping he had placed his heart, his courage would invariably go back on him, and he would return to his lonely room in greater suspense than before. Upon the evening in question he had determined that come what would, he would tell his Mary he loved her. He would once for all decide the matter; but as upon each former occasion, he could get the proposal no farther than his throat. There it stuck, and he had just determined to gulp it down and give up the siege, when the door opened, and in stalked the girl's father, who advanced to where they were sitting and thus addressed them:

"I came to put a stop to this infernal foolishness. It ain't the courting expense that I'm looking at, for coal-oil's cheap, and wood can be had for the haulin'; but I'm sick and tired of this billin' and cooin' like a pair of sick doves, keepin' me awake o' nights, an' it's got to be stopped right here. Mary Jane, look up here. Do you love John Henry well enough to marry him!"

"Why, father, I—I—you must—"

"Stop that darn foolishin'," yelled the old man. "Answer yes or no, and mighty quick too. It's got to be settled now or never."

"Well, but, father, don't you know—if you'd only wait an—"

"Dry up; answer yes or no. Speak," roared the old gent.

"Well, yes, then. There now," and Mary again hid her face.

"That's business; that's the way to talk! Now, John, look here—look up here or I'll shake you all to pieces. Do you want that gal o' mine for a wife? Speak out like a man, now."

"Why Mr. ——, ain't this rather a—I mean, can't you—"

"Speak it out, or out of this house you'll go headforemost. I won't wait a minute longer. There's the gal, an' a likelier gal ain't in the State, an' you just heard her say she wanted you. Now, John, I won't stand a bit o' foolin'; once for all, yes or no."

"Well, yes, sir, I have been presumptuous enough to hope that I—"

"Oh, cuss your soft talk; the thing's settled now. You two blasted fools would have been six months more at that job that I have done in five minutes. I never saw such fooling as there is among the people now-a-days. Ain't like it was when I was young—an' now, good night. You can talk the thing over, an' you an' me, John, 'll go to town an' get the license to-morrow. Soon be time to go to plowin'—no time for love-makin' then. Good night; hope I wasn't too rough, but I was determined to fix the thing up one way or 'tother;" and the old man went back to bed.

PILOT BREAD.
This kind of bread having come into extensive family use, it has been my purpose to furnish, from choice materials, an article which should meet the approval of the most fastidious as to neatness, looks and taste. Whether I have succeeded in giving to the public a PILOT BREAD,
SUPERIOR IN EXCELLENCE,
the consumer may be the judge; that the quality will not be suffered to depreciate, the past with the present is my best pledge. That I can compete with all the various qualities of Pilot Bread in the market, as to price, I make no pretensions,—but in price, all things being equal, I fear no competition.]

FACTS AND FANCIES.

Only an orange peel, dusty and brown,
Lying where careless hand just threw it down;
Only an orange peel, shrivelled and small,—
Poor were its chances attention to call.

Only a happy youth, tripping along,
His heart full of joy, his mouth full of song,
Proud and defiant, no danger feared he—
Only a happy youth, glad'ning to see.

Only a step or two, only a clutch,
Only a word well expressed, you've heard such;
Only a sitting down sudden and rash,
Only a yell, and a slide and a crash.

Only a gathering up of the youth,
Only a look—'twas a dark one, forsooth;
Only a speech, but the words that he said
Caused a fly that looked on to blush clear to its head.

A Marine Invention.

It is a singular circumstance, that while Mr. Herreschoff, the blind yacht-builder of Providence, was at work perfecting the racing machine which so completely vanquished our sand-bag racing boats and astonished their owners at the second Centennial regatta, an ingenious relative of our own great humanitarian, Mr. Bergh, was similarly occupied, precisely the same idea having occurred to him. Neither gentleman, it appears, knew of the other's intention, and yet the result of their ideas is substantially the same. Each has produced a double boat, connected by beams laid traversely across them; the principle in which they differ from catamarans, previously built, being simply that the ends of these cross-beams, where they connect with the hulls, instead of being solidly fastened, are secured in a manner to allow of a pivotal movement of the hull beneath it, and the two hulls are permitted each to accommodate itself to the motion of its own wave. Mr. Bergh modestly worked out his idea in a miniature craft which he sailed upon the Prospect Park Lake, the result in her case being the same as in Mr. Herreschoff's experiment, she out sailing the other miniature craft as much as the Amaryllis did the racing yachts at the Centennial regatta.—New York World.

—At the closing of a concert, while a young man was struggling with his hat, cane, overcoat, opera-glass and his young lady's fan, all of which he was trying to retain on his lap, a suspicious-looking black-bottle fell on the floor with a thud. "There," he exclaimed to his companion, "I shall lose my cough medicine." That was presence of mind for you.

AMERICAN & FOREIGN PATENTS.
R. H. EDDY,
SOLICITOR OF PATENTS.
For Inventions Trade Marks or Designs
NO. 76 STATE ST., OPPOSITE KILBY ST., BOSTON,
After an extensive practice of upwards of thirty years, continues to secure patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all papers for Patents, executed on reasonable terms with dispatch. Researches made to determine the validity and utility of Patents of Inventions, and legal and other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any patent furnished, by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.
No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.
All necessity for a journey to Washington to procure a Patent and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.
TESTIMONIALS.
"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents."
"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.
EDMUND BURKE, Late Commissioner of Patents.'
"MR. R. H. EDDY has made for me over THIRTY applications for Patents, having been successful in almost every case. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend ALL inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases and at very reasonable charges.
JOHN TAGGART."

DR. QUAIN'S
MAGIC
CONDITION PILLS!
The Wonderful Remedy for Liver Complaint, Billiousness, Dyspepsia, Constipation, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Headache, Kidney Complaint, Nervousness, Scrofula, Piles, and all diseases arising from a bad state of the Blood!
Is the ultima thule of Medical Discovery.
Among its many ingredients are Wild Cherry Bark, Squill Root, Liquorice Root, Blood root, &c. It is a Blood Purifier, gently stimulating. It increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is sudorific and alterative. It is a necessary family medicine. It is a Tonic and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is a gentle sedative, and relieves nervousness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.
CLEAR YOUR THROAT!
Relieve Your Lungs.
For the terrible diseases engendered by the lung trying climate of New England;
PULMOCINE CORDIAL
is a new discovery. Twenty-three years ago it was used by one of New England's most famous physicians as the best Pulmonary Curative he could prescribe, after a dozen years spent in experimenting with it before he was satisfied that the Materia Medica could add nothing in its favor.
Dyspepsia Four Years, Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels Three Years, Confined to my Room Two Years, Pain so I Could Not Sleep Without Morphine. One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills Made Me Eat Well, Sleep Well and Free from Pain, after being given up by Physicians.
WEST LEBANON, ME., Feb. 22, 1
MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I have been sick for four years with Dyspepsia, and for the past three years Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels. I have suffered all the pain I could endure and live. I have been confined to my room for two years, and could not sleep nights without the use of morphine. I have been given up by physicians as past cure. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, and they have done me more good than all the doctors I have had. I sleep well, I eat well and have no pain. They are all they are recommended to be. Please send me three packages, as two of my neighbors wish to try them. I enclose $1.50.
Your truly, JOHN W. LORD.
Another Letter from Maj. John W. Lord, one month later. Wonderful Cures by Dr. Quain's Pills Effected on Him in Thirteen Days. First time Free from Pain for Three Years.
WEST LEBANON, ME., March 22, 1875
MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I commenced taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS February 9th, and wrote you February 23d of their wonderful effect. I have continued to improve ever since. My appetite is good, and I sleep as well as I ever did in my life. I am free from pain for the first time in three years. When I was taken sick four years ago, I weighed one hundred and eighty-six pounds; I now weigh one hundred and thirty, but as I am gaining in strength, I have faith I shall regain my flesh this summer, by the use of the Pills. I shall continue taking them for some time to come.
Yours truly, JOHN W. LORD.
Dr. Quain's Pills the Remedy for Soldiers' Aches and Pains.
WEST LEBANON, ME., June 1, 1875.
MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I am now able to walk out every day, and am gaining in strength very fast, all of which is due to you as agent for the best Pills in the world. I have taken no other medicine, and my improvement has been steady since first taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done everything for me, and I will say to you, advertise them direct to the soldiers, for they will certainly cure them of aches and pains caused from exposure and hardship on the field. Please send me by return mail another package.
JOHN W. LORD.
Rheumatism for Twenty Years Cured by One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills—"The Best Medicine in the World."
EAST ANDOVER, N. H., Dec. 10, 1875.
MR. LANE—Dear Sir:—As I know the value of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS and the good they have done me, I take pleasure in giving them praise; so I send you another testimonial. My father has been troubled with Rheumatism for twenty years or more, and has tried everything that could be thought of, but to no good. At times it would be so bad that he could not lift his hand to his head or do any work at all, especially in cold weather. A short time ago I advised him to get some of these Pills. He believed nothing in them, but I gave him the last package I had of you, as I did not need them, and he has not been a free from the Rheumatic Complaint for years. No Rheumatism, no pain. What helped him? It was DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, the best medicine in the world. There is nothing like them. I know it, for I have tried them, and they are all, yes, more than they are recommended to be. Give them a fair trial and you will say so. I write this because I know the goodness of them and wish others to know the same. Some may think I am telling a big story. I am. But remember I am not giving them half the praise they ought to have.
Yours with respect, ED. F. PEVARE.
Wonderful Effect of Four Doses of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills upon Neuralgia of Twelve Years' Duration—Testimony of Rev. J. S. Patton.
DAINGERFIELD, MORRIS CO., TEXAS, Nov. 15, '75.
MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I have been afflicted for near twelve years with Neuralgia in the face and head. I do not know how many physicians, and could only get partly relieved. I also tried many patent medicines with the same result. I have been confined to my room most all the time for eight or ten winters, and have been travelling and trying medical springs, and I still suffered most intensely. The physicians pronounced my case the worst and most stubborn that they had had anything to do with. One told me I could never get well; they all advised me to go South and spend the winter, and I had made up my mind to do so for me, and I was trying to get ready to go to Florida, when through the kindness of Rev. R. M. Mathis, my attention was called to the advertisement of Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. I immediately sent to you for a package. I have taken four doses and I am almost free from pain. The impression here seems to be that if your pills will cure me, they will cure anybody. I have five applications to send for the pills. Enclosed please find three dollars; send five packages to me and one to Mrs. Laura Sherrell, Sulphur Springs, Hopkins county, Texas.
Yours truly, J. S. PATTON.
Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache.
LACONIA, N. H., Jan. 29, 1875.
THOS. W. LANE—Sir:—I have been troubled with Bad Blood, Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done me more good than all the medicine I ever took; I have taken considerable medicine within the last five years. For the nerves I think them the best. They do good as those pills. I can recommend them to all who are similarly afflicted, they have done me so much good. I think they will recommend themselves wherever they go. I shall recommend those Pills to all who need them. Please send me two packages more, one for myself and one for a lady friend of mine. Many thanks to the inventor, agent and advertiser of those Pills.
MRS. P. L. ELLIOTT.

Buchman's Pulmocine Cordial.
The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. It is offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

Health Regulations.

THE BOARD OF HEALTH OF THE CITY OF PORTSMOUTH call the attention of the public to the following sections of Chapter 16, of the Revised Ordinances, and invite all interested in the preservation of health in our city to aid them in the execution of their duty:

SEC. 3. All waste water of houses, yards, cellars, sinks, pumps, etc., shall be conveyed by their owners or occupiers to the common sewers, or to such places as the Health Officers may direct.

SEC. 4. No person shall be allowed to throw any vegetable or dead animal substance, or any other matter capable of producing infection, into any street, lane, alley or dock, or upon any wharf, but shall bury them or throw them into the river below low-water mark.

SEC. 5. The contents of vaults and privies shall not be permitted to rise within one foot of the surface of the earth. And all owners or occupiers of buildings having such vaults or privies as may require it, shall cause them to be emptied within ten days from the promulgation of this ordinance, and in future on or before the the first day of May in each year. And any such owner or occupier neglecting so to do, shall forfeit and pay for every such neglect a sum not less than three nor more than twenty dollars, and a like sum for every week's neglect after the time above specified.

SEC. 6. No vendor of meat at the stalls shall be permitted to leave any stale meat, heads, feet or offal of any kind about their stalls or stores over night, or suffer them to be thrown into any street, lane or alley of the city. Nor shall any sellers of fish be permitted to throw any offal of fish into any street, lane or alley of the city, or upon any wharf, but shall either bury them, or throw them into the river beyond low-water mark.

SEC. 7. If any dead animal or decaying vegetable substance, or any other nuisance, shall be found in any part of the city, the owners or occupiers of the premises where such nuisance shall be found, shall cause the same to be removed within twenty-four hours after being notified so to do by one or more of the health officers.

SEC. 12. When any householder shall know that any person within his family is taken sick of the small pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, he shall immediately give notice thereof to the Health Officers.

SEC. 13. When any physician shall know that any person whom he is called to visit is infected with the small pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, such physician shall immediately give notice thereof to the Health Officers.

SEC. 14. If any such householder or physician shall refuse or neglect to give the notice required in the preceding sections, he shall for each refusal or neglect, forfeit the sum of twenty dollars, to be recovered by either of the Health Officers in the name of the city.

SEC. 16. The Health Officers may give written notice to the owner or occupier of any building, vessel or enclosure, to remove or destroy any nuisance or other thing deemed by them on examination, to be injurious to the public health, within a certain time limited therein; and in case such owner or occupier—the said notice having been given to him, or left at his usual place of abode—shall neglect to comply therewith, the said Health Officers may, by direction of the mayor and accompanied by the city marshal, forcibly enter such building, vessel, or enclosure, and cause said nuisance or other thing aforesaid to be removed or destroyed.

SEC. 21. No person shall erect, keep or continue, or permit to be erected, kept or continued, upon any land occupied by him, any pen for the keeping of swine, or privy, over either of the mill ponds in this city, or so placed that offensive substances therefrom shall be discharged or drained into either of said ponds, or into any creek, or cove, or drain leading thereto. And no person shall construct, keep or continue any drain leading from any pen for the keeping of any swine, slaughter-house, privy vault, or other unwholesome or offensive place, into either of said ponds, or to any flat or marsh adjoining the same. And no person shall throw or suffer to be thrown from his land into either of said ponds, or upon any of said flats or marshes, any dead, decaying, unwholesome or offensive animal or vegetable substances.

BUTTER IN 20 MINUTES.

Lincoln Butter Powder is an entirely harmless article made from a celebrated English recipe, and now in daily use by many of the most noted farmers in the butter counties around Philadelphia.

In hot weather this Powder makes better much firmer and sweeter than it usually is, and keeps it from turning rancid. It also removes the strong flavor of turnips, weeds, corn stalks, cotton seed, etc.; and the increased yield of butter much more than pays the trifling expense of using it.

Tilden as a Reformer.

Governor Tilden's speech reads beautifully. It is a middle chapter of his volume of "Reform," the preface of which was the paid for reform advertisements, and the introduction to which was the eight reform planks in the St. Louis platform. Governor Tilden and Talleyrand enjoy the distinction of holding similar views in regard to the use of language. Reform, reform, reform, rings out in all of Governor Tilden's campaign documents, from the opening advertisements to the speech of acceptance. But, very singularly, when we look for his expected order to arrest the thieves who stole $1,000,000 from the new capitol building, for the impeachment of the officials who liberated Tweed, and for the punishment of the men who have stolen $15,000,000 from the people of this city, we find nothing of the kind. Some say that Mr. Tilden overlooked these little matters of "reform in detail," and others say there is nothing inconsistent in a man with Governor Tilden's antecedents talking and acting in this way. We beg leave to differ with them. Mr. Tilden is not the man to overlook details when gathering up the ends of the threads leading to success. It is said that his money supplied carriages in over seventeen hundred election districts in this state to carry the "stay at home vote" to the polls in 1874. He did not forget to telegraph the inspectors of every democratic district in regard to sending to William M. Tweed, Chairman, the probable vote of 1868, immediately after the closing of the polls, by reason of which information the ballot boxes of New York City were stuffed with the requisite number of votes and Hoffman was counted in over John A. Griswold. No. Mr. Tilden is decidedly a man of detail, and a man who knows that the sufferings of the American people at the present time incline them to worship the banner which has "reform" upon it. We commend him for his sagacity. We have frequently recommended his example in this respect to Governor Hayes as worthy of emulation.

But when it comes down to the true meaning of the thing, there is not a well-informed man in this section of the State who does not believe that Gov. Tilden procured his nomination through a bargain with some of the most corrupt Ring men out of the State Prison. Three of his chosen delegates from this city are men who are now defendants in Ring suits for fraud and conspiracy. Others of them are notorious for being the pals, dividers with and abettors of the Alabany, the New York and the Brooklyn rings. Every man in Brooklyn knows that a vote for Tilden is a vote for McLaughlin in the navy yard, Murphy in the custom house, Kinsella in the post office, Jacobs in the United States marshalship, Britton in the district attorneyship, Fowler in the collectorship of Internal Revenue, and Kinsley to the harbor repairs in general. It is this ticket which the seventy-five thousand voters of Brooklyn are to vote this coming fall. They believe that Mr. Tilden was pledged to prosecute Ring men in this state. They know that he has not attacked the worst of them, and that instead of their being in the docks on his motion, they were his delegates to the St. Louis convention by his special solicitation. A man elevated to the Presidency upon such shoulders would not, in the estimation of those who know the facts, be exactly situated to introduce "political reform." Almost every third man we meet says, "I am going to vote against the Brooklyn Ring at any hazard. I voted for Tilden two years ago, but he is now the candidate of the Ring and down he must go; for to elevate these men to Federal power would be equal to surrendering Brooklyn over to plunder." This is not our language, and we, too, supported Tilden for Governor in 1874, in a county which gave him one-third of his entire majority. This is the language of earnest men everywhere to be encountered. It is what they think of Governor Tilden as a "reformer."—Brooklyn Argus (Dem.)

Death of Two Brutes.

A man named John Connolly recently died at St. Clairsville, Pa., from the effects of a dog-bite. Connolly was of a brutish nature, and while in a saloon recently, he seized in his teeth the ear of an old hound which was sleeping on the floor, and, raising the dog clear off the floor, shook it a while, and then let the animal drop by biting the ear off. The dog ran howling and bleeding out of the room. Connolly chewed up the ear, and spat it out on the floor, with the remark, "I can chaw up any dog in this town just like that." Soon after he went into a saloon kept by one Fogarty, who owned a full-blooded English bull-dog, which was dozing under the table. Connolly got on his hands and knees and crawled under the table, seized one of the dog's ears in his teeth, and dragged the animal out into the centre of the room. The dog tried to get away, but Connolly held tight, and rising to his feet shook the dog until its weight tore the ear off. The bull-dog, thoroughly aroused, made a savage dash for its assailant. Connolly dropped on his hands and knees and knocked the dog away with his fist. The dog rushed at him again and caught him by the forearm, lacerating it fearfully before Connolly could choke it loose. There were two men in the place beside Fogarty, and they made a move to interfere. Fogarty exclaimed,

"Let him alone! The man's to blame, and I hope the dog will kill him." At length Fogarty drew his pistol, and remarking that it was a shame to have to save the life of the worst brute of the two by taking that of the least, he placed it against the dog's side, and shot it through the heart. Even then they had to pry its jaws loose. A few days afterward, Connolly, who was horribly lacerated, died in convulsions. "All's well that ends well."

OF OHIO.

FOR VICE PRESIDENT,

William A. Wheeler,

OF NEW YORK.

Hayes' Platform in War.

In 1864, when Hayes was in the army, being nominated for Congress he was requested to come home and stump his district. His reply was, "I have other business just now. Any man who would leave the army at this time to electioneer for Congress ought to be scalped!"

Hayes' Platform in Peace.

"Honest money for all, and free schools for all. There should be no inflation which will depreciate the one, nor sectarian interference which will destroy the other."

Correspondence.

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 21.

The quality of the economy and retrenchment practiced by our reformers of the House will be appreciated by the mention of a few items collected at random, which are unprovided for. A bill recently passed, authorized the issue of $50,000 of subsidiary coin; but the House bill provides no means for coining the silver, so the silver bill is a dead letter. Another law provides that taxes in this District shall not be collected until December, and by the refusal of the House to appropriate money usually supplied by these deferred taxes, the public schools must be closed, unless the calamity shall have been avoided by legislation before the final adjournment. No provision is made for continuing work on public buildings in various cities, now partially completed, and where there will result a loss of hundreds of thousands of dollars if left in their present condition to the destructive action of the weather and other casualties. In the sundry civil service bill, the appropriation of a few thousand dollars for the examination of the rebel archives, by which has been defeated claims amounting to millions of dollars in the past, on the evidence furnished of the disloyalty of the claimants, has been stricken out. The whole pretence of retrenchment is fraudulent; for the losses that will result to the Government and to individuals, as in the case of closing the public schools and taking off the fast mail service, will exceed by by millions all that is saved.

To still further illustrate the unscrupulous character of democratic methods for partisan purposes, the case of Secretary Robeson, who is now menaced by impeachment, is instanced. After a desperate effort during the entire session to obtain evidence of his alleged criminality, it is now proposed to turn over the testimony to the judiciary committee for the opinion as to his liability to impeachment; and this menace is to be held over his head until after the November election. Their treatment of Representative Hayes is not a whit less infamous and for the same purpose, evidently. He was accused of selling a cadetship, and although the investigation (which entirely exonerated him from the charge) was completed long ago, it was only yesterday that a report was made, saying that while the evidence did not convict him of fraud, yet it cast on him many suspicions.

The Hamburg massacre, where the Ku-klux of that vicinity, including a merry party imported from Georgia, indulged in their wonted pastime of killing "niggers," has been considered in the House. The leader, Butler, was commended for his gentlemanly and Christian virtues, and the butcheries excused on the ground of carpet-bag governments. The remedy prescribed was a democratic restoration to complete power,—so they could do the killing lawfully, perhaps. Lamar, from Mississippi, properly denounced the barbarism and called for the condign punishment of the perpetrators. Other democrats "deplored" it. Cox never appeared to worse advantage, as in the very dust at his imperious masters' feet, he attempted to make merry over the ghastly butcheries. He earned the contempt of the Southern members by his flippant sycophancy. Tousend, of New York, painted his political character with a master hand, and drove him into retirement. Senators Morton, Logan and Boutwell have devoted a part of one day during the week to giving some needed information to Senators Merrimon, Davis and others of the democratic side.

Several of the appropriation bills, so long in controversy, have been agreed to; and the dead-lock is virtually broken though not ended. Five other bills remain to be compromised, four of them now before conference committees and the other—the river and harbor bill—in the Senate.

The report of the committee to investigate the last Mississippi election will soon be made. It is claimed it will show a condition of intimidation, fraud and terrorism almost rivaling New York city or Baltimore in their palmiest days of democratic supremacy.

The letter of Mr. Wheeler, like that of Gov. Hayes, is received with many expressions of satisfaction by every one here save the Bourbon element; and to them the ominous silence of their great reform candidate, Tilden, brings many misgivings.

The evasive disposition of the democrats of the banking and currency committee is making the inflationists thoroughly mad. They entreat and threaten by turns. But the assurances of two prominent democratic State officials from Indiana that Hendricks will refuse to run unless the democrats of the House repeal the resumption act, is causing a lively stir all around the democratic camp; and it is asserted that several of the heretofore sound Eastern men have at last yielded allegiance to the rag child.

Democratic comments upon the length of time it took Hayes to prepare his letter are heard no more; and the uncertainty and doubt enveloping the recent meeting between Tilden and Hendricks lead them to regard the probabilities of the future with much distrust. MAXWELL.

News and Notes.

Sadie E. Robinson, daughter of Henry K. Robinson, of Brewer, Me., recently made the journey from Maine to Pioche, Nev., alone, to meet her affianced. The last 200 miles she rode on an express team, the driver keeping constantly by his side a revolver and double-barreled shot-gun, as a protection from robbers. But she had a wedding worth having when she got there, the church being elegantly decorated, the crowd large, the music from the band fine, and all that.

The Cunard steamer Batavia ran into and disabled the fishing schooner C. F. Laurence, at anchor on Brown's Bank, in a fog on the 21st. The steamer towed the schooner into Boston.

Nicholas Lavigone, an Italian, was murdered in the Phenix hotel at Boston on Friday night, by his room-mate.

A hundred houses in Gavray, Department of Mauche, France, were burned Friday. Four hundred families are homeless.

A fire at Lachine, on the St. Lawrence, Thursday, destroyed the entire fleet of the Lachine Yacht Club, and caused the loss of three lives.

In Fairhaven, Mass., Thursday morning, the family of Isaac B. Dodge ate at breakfast canned corn beef taken from a tin can put up by Libby, McNeill & Libby, Chicago. The family were all taken sick during the forenoon, and one child aged two years died. The others are in a more hopeful condition, and will probably recover.

Capt. Rawlings, master of the yacht "Mohawk," has been acquitted of the charge of criminal negligence by a coroner's jury, and discharged from custody.

Giovanni Maestro, the Italian who murdered his companion at the Phenix House in Boston on Friday night, was captured Saturday evening. He was secreted under the draw of the Lowell Railroad bridge leading from the passenger station on Causeway street, and dashed out, entirely naked, to avoid being crushed by the opening of the draw to allow a vessel to pass. The two Italians have been engaged on the Natick water works, and the murdered man had considerable money.

At Ayer, Mass., on Sunday, an eighteen-years-old daughter of William Wilson was killed by lightning; a little sister who was sleeping with her was unharmed. A man who was riding on horseback was also killed; his name is not given. At Martha's Vineyard Mr. Charles E. Chase was killed by a bolt which shattered the whole front of his house.

Those tender-hearted people who make a specialty of murderers, insist that the law, instead of protecting the innocent by placing murderers where they can do no more harm, shall humour the guilty by shutting them away from danger in comfortable quarters for their own benefit, and giving them the chance which they have denied their victims, to grow good, and die of old age. This somewhat one-sided benevolence seems to receive a pretty effectual blow from the fact that while in thirty years there has been only one hanging in Connecticut for crime committed outside the State prison, in the same period there have been four executions for crime perpetrated within it.

Wide Awake for August sets forth a tempting repast for folks little and big—two serials, four short stories, several poems, a paper of the "Poets' Homes" series, relative to S. T. Trowbridge, an etiquette paper, an article relative to "Saving Life by the Rocket Apparatus," another, racily written, about the the "Bambino" at Rome, while the departments are well filled, all prodigally illustrated. Only $2 per annum. D. Lothrop & Co., Boston.

A few days before the trial trip of the British iron-clad Thunderer, on board which vessel a terribly fatal explosion took place, as previously reported, her boilers were tested by hydraulic pressure. This necessitates the wedging down of the safety and all other relief valves. It has been discovered that the wedges on the exploded boiler had never been removed. The communication valve was also closed, and no steam able to escape even to the engine.

A new post-office has been established at East Epping, and Mr. James Barber appointed postmaster.

In Boston, Sunday evening, Patrick Ford, an Irishman, and said to have been a respectable, temperate man, murdered his wife with an axe and then jumped from the roof of his residence to escape the police, being killed by the fall. He was insane.

Counterfeiters Caught.

Mr. J. Horace Kent, chief of the United States detective force for New England, with the assistance of officers of our police department, has brought to a head some operations here which promise to bring to punishment the man who has been instrumental, for some time past, in flooding New England with counterfeit currency. Counterfeit fives on the Merchants National bank of New Bedford made their appearance in New York the last of March of this year, and the detectives of the government secret service set themselves busily at work to watch for dealers in "crooked money." It was suspected that parties in this city had been used by one notorious dealer, and finally Ransom Warner, an adroit member of the counterfeiting fraternity was traced to this city. Meantime some of the bills appeared in circulation here, and were taken by various parties. Forty-nine of them came into one bank here. Chief of Police Chamberlain, Captain Bill and detectives Flynn and Cowles worked actively to trace the bills to the parties first putting them out, and obtained evidence which would have led to the arrest of some of Warner's agents, but it was known that the arrest of one of his dupes here would alarm the gang in New York, and result in preventing the government detectives from discovering the "mill," or establishment where the bogus currency was manufactured, and arresting the chief and most dangerous operators. By special request of the government officials, therefore, the local officers here and in other places where Ransom had operated refrained from following up their clues and arresting suspected parties. Finally the establishment where the printing was done was discovered in New York, and Ransom Warner, the most extensive patron of the "mill" and dealer in the bogus money, was arrested, and will be convicted and sentenced for operations in New York. Through the efforts of the detectives George White, one of the best engravers in the counterfeiting business, Joe White his brother, Tom Congdon, printer, and others of the gang have been convicted and sentenced to imprisonment for terms varying from six to fifteen years.

Warner's business was to take the currency when manufactured, and dispose of it to agents or "shovers" all over the country. Of the issue of counterfeits on the New Bedford bank he took the whole, $10,000, and immediately disposed of the bulk of it in New England. The plates were then changed to the Hampden National bank of Westfield, Mass., then to the Northampton bank, and then to the Castleton National bank. The detectives got the whole of this latter issue when they seized the "mill" and the counterfeiters. The gang thus broken up was one of the best organized in the country. The detection of Warner, and the evidence that will now be brought against him here and other places, will close his operations in this line for a good many years.

Warner has operated undoubtedly in many New England cities, and it is possible that still further evidence may be found against him. When complaint was made before the commissioner, it was found that Warner was wanted to answer to three indictments already pending against him for selling cigars without a license. Cigar selling was one of the "blinds," when disposing of his bogus money. He sometimes sold spectacles on his New England visit.

The breaking up of this nest of counterfeiters shows the efficiency and value of the secret service force of the government,—the force which, under its head, Mr. Washburne, at Washington, ferreted out the whisky frauds and other frauds upon the government. Possibly some of the democrats who oppose an appropriation for its maintenance consider the abolition of the force the surest way to inflate the currency—as counterfeiters would then have a better chance for their operation.

Warner has been shadowed by the secret service detectives for months, and during that time some interesting discoveries have been made concerning the assistance the counterfeit dealers receive in "shoving" their money in New England, and in these discoveries local police officers in many places, as here in Hartford, have rendered the government officials efficient service.—Hartford Courant.

This same Warner has travelled through New Hampshire, in his nefarious business of "shoving the queer," and will be allowed to answer several charges of attempting to sell counterfeit money to parties in this State.

Hydrophobia.

Dr. G. F. Macdonald writes to the London Times: "I beg to invoke the powerful aid of the press to dispel the silly delusion that a person bitten by a dog will die of hydrophobia should the animal go mad afterward. Many persons of nervous temperament have actually died of this fear alone, while a lamentable amount of ignorance on the subject is still allowed to grow up. When a dog bites he is instantly suspected of madness, although not one in a thousand of the offenders is rabid; consequently numbers of our canine friends are cruelly sacrificed in more panic. Moreover, hundreds of our superstitious fellow-creatures, once bitten, live in horrible suspense, believing that they must die of the dreadful malady. Now, the bite of a sound dog is no more fatal than the scratch of a child. Furthermore, a competent authority states that even when rabid dogs bite, only one case of twenty-nine is followed by hydrophobia."

—An impecunious tramp was unable to pay his fine, and the Recorder ordered him to be locked up. The City Marshal, however, said the lock-up was crowded, and not fit to put a prisoner in anyhow, and he would have to try and make arrangements to place the fellow in the county jail. The prisoner then spoke up: "Gentlemen, I see I am intruding; don't put yourselves out to accommodate me. I'll call again when you are not so busy." And a long-legged policeman had to follow him three times around the plaza, over two fences, through a lager beer saloon, and up on top of a two-story chicken house to tell him to come back, and they would find a place for him in the lock-up, anyhow.

—A Detroit man whipped his wife because the baby did not take the first prize at a baby-show.

Oily Substances always aggravate Skin Diseases. Ointments are therefore rather hurtful than beneficial. Glenn's Sulphur Soap, which opens, instead of clogging the pores with grease, has, as might have been expected, widely superseded oleaginous compounds as a remedy for scorbutic affections.

Important to persons visiting New York or the Centennial. The Grand Union Hotel, New York, opposite the Grand Central Depot, has over 350 elegantly furnished rooms. Elevator, steam and all improvements. European plan. Carriage hire is saved, as baggage is taken to and from the depot free. Guests can live better for less money at the Grand Union than at any other first-class hotel. Stages and cars pass the Hotel constantly to all parts of the city, and to the Philadelphia depot.

Jottings.

The Light Artillery, Capt. Marvin, with honorary members and invited guests, will go to the Shoals this morning in steamer Appledore, returning in the evening.

The numerous friends of Mr. Benjamin F. Dame, formerly principal of the Haven School in this city, will be pleased to learn of the marked success that has attended him wherever he has appeared as a public reader. Gov. Cheney, Ex-Gov. Weston, Mayor Cross and other prominent citizens of Manchester, in speaking of the celebration in that city July 4th, say that the reading of the Declaration of Independence by Mr. Dame "gave to that document the vivacity and charm of an oration, he holding his immense audience spell-bound during the entire delivery." From our own knowledge of Mr. Dame's acquirements we most cheerfully recommend him as an accomplished elocutionist.

The Directors of the Portland, Saco & Portsmouth Railroad met in this city on Monday.

If the democratic city government has not expended all the city funds, we suggest that the houses on the western end of Macdonough street should be numbered.

Wm. H. Thompson, Esq., Treasurer of the Kearsarge mills, having paid a dividend of two per cent. on Monday from the earnings—what but few treasurers are able to do in these times—has gone to the Shoals to rest from his labors.

The hotels at the Shoals were "all full inside" on Sunday. Oscar says he must build a new dormitory.

The Appledore House at the Isles of Shoals has been filled to overflowing the past week, and many applicants have been turned away for lack of accommodation. This is one of the houses that hard times never affects.

The new dining hall at Straw's Point, Rye Beach, built by ex-Governor E. A. Straw, was completed Saturday, and a bell put upon the building that was cast in 1798, and once belonged to the ship "Amazon" of Boston.

The equipages at Rye Beach this season are of such glory and costliness as to completely outshine the efforts of other years, and make the office of providing and keeping them up no sinecure. The fate of bachelors hangs upon the thread of their ability and willingness to assure the fair one a turnout that shall outwink her neighbors with its gloss and glitter.

White Island Light is now the point of attraction for visitors at the Shoals, most of whom ascend the tower of the light-house and examine the apparatus whose polished glass "lens" enchantment to the view from the tower.

Meeting of Assessors at half-past seven o'clock this evening, at City Rooms.

The city government is to erect another drinking fountain, on the corner of Congress and Vaughan streets.

The three colored seamen who assaulted the colored barber Shephard, Saturday evening, were on Monday fined by Judge Bufford, for drunkenness, brawl and tumult, $10 and costs each.

The new steam fire engine "Moses H. Goodrich" is announced to arrive on Wednesday.

Austin street is now receiving the attention of the Street Commissioner.

The Hanover street school-house is being repainted, while the modest engine house in the corner of the yard awaits the brush of the artist.

Rev. Dr. A. P. Peabody preached at the Unitarian church on Sunday.

On Sunday afternoon Mr. Joseph R. Brown, of Providence, R. I., died at the Oceanic hotel on Star Island, Isles of Shoals, where he was boarding. Steam was immediately raised on the "Major" and the body brought to this city on its way to Providence, the boat arriving a few minutes too late to catch the evening train. Mr. Brown was 67 years of age, and one of the wealthy citizens of Providence.

Political.

The "investigation" of Hon. James G. Blaine by Proctor Knott's sub-committee of ex-rebel brigadier generals has been postponed until the next session of Congress—and will never voluntarily be brought up by them again, we opine. At the time the Cincinnati convention was in session the democrats in Washington proclaimed that at last something had really been discovered to connect Blaine with disreputable transactions in railroad bonds, and we didn't know but what he might be in the same fix as the great "reformer" Tilden,—charged, on the sworn statement of a responsible man, with embezzling a large amount of railroad bonds; but we never believed anything of the kind, for we were satisfied that the democrats had bent all their energies to defeating his nomination, as they feared him as an antagonist more than any other of the candidates prominently named, and we were satisfied that had they really possessed any damaging proof against him they would have been eager for his nomination in order to use their proof against him afterward, when it would do them the most good. But they did undoubtedly defeat him, though to do it they had to descend to misrepresentation, falsehood, stealing of private correspondence, suppression of evidence,—in short, nothing was too contemptible for them to stoop to in order to carry their point; how much they made by carrying it they may figure out themselves.

The "Gen." Butler who led the whites in the Hamburg massacre was a Major General in the Confederate army, and a son of Andrew Pickens Butler, to whom Charles Sumner alluded as indulging "a loose expectoration of speech"—a phrase for which Preston S. Brooks assailed Sumner with a cudgel. As Brooks was a nephew of A. P. Butler, he and "Gen." Butler must have been cousins. Their "chivalry" was all of one piece, anyway.

The republicans of Indiana opened the campaign on Thursday evening in big style, large meetings being held in twenty-four different places. A large part of Uncle Samuel's "barrel of money" will be needed to secure a decent showing for the democrats in that state.

Albert Semler, for ten years Treasurer of Washington County, Wisconsin, is a defaulter in the sum of about $50,000. He was a very prominent German democratic politician in the State, and was a delegate to the St. Louis convention.

The Sumter (S. C.,) True Southron, a democratic paper, comments and philosophizes on the Hamburg affair in this curious way: "As usual in all these outbreaks the whites behaved with calmness and moderation. But we solemnly warn the colored people that these things occur too often. The whites seek no contest with the colored people, but the latter must behave themselves and submit to the laws."

Nast hits it exactly in the Harper's Weekly in his picture of "The New Alliance." A bloodthirsty Sioux, a masked leader of the Ku-klux, and Fernando Wood, leader of the democracy in the House, are communing together, and exclaiming: "We stand here for retrenchment and reducing the army of the United States." That tells the whole story.

The New York Commercial Advertiser is sorry that Tilden has his hands so full. It says: "Poor Mr. Tilden! He is so pressed for time that he can't write his letter of acceptance for a month, and can't answer the charge of embezzlement brought against him by the St. Louis and Alton Railroad for three months."

During the years 1867 and 1868 Tilden received $1,000,000 for alleged services from the Erie Railroad at the hands of Fisk & Gould. No wonder the great reformer could afford to pay $3.50 for an advertisement setting forth his virtues as a "reformer," when the Erie Ring backed him up in that style.

The Graphic mentions that "Governor Tilden's friends have held a ratification meeting in Hamburg, South Carolina. Six negroes were killed and seventeen wounded, and held for further orders. The rest made for the woods."

General James B. Steedman, one of the blatant democrats of the St. Louis convention from Ohio, offered to raise a Sitting Bull regiment to fight Indians. The General is for Tilden and reform, and, according to the reports of Martyr Yaryan, he owed the United States about $100,000, on account of his Andrew Johnson collectorship in Louisiana, for which he stands as a defaulter. As he spent every dollar he captured and was running under a worthless bond, the government claim does not trouble him much. He is a reform and Tilden man.

The counties and towns of Illinois owe between $12,000,000 and $15,000,000 on account of railroad subscriptions that were swallowed up by Mr. Tilden's patent process. Large amounts of money have been taken from the people of Ohio, Indiana, Michigan, Wisconsin, Iowa, Minnesota, Kansas, Nebraska, Missouri and other States of the West, Northwest and Southwest in the same manner. Of all this Mr. Tilden has received his full share. He was the lawyer who devised the means whereby these frauds were worked out, he counseled the active manipulators at every stage of the operation, he acted as the agent for winding up and reorganizing the companies, and he pocketed a large part of the plunder. There is scarcely a railroad this side of the Alleghany mountains in which there was not at least one, and many in which there were several, credit mobilier schemes manipulated by Sam Tilden for the profit of himself and those associated with him. This is how he made his millions, and the people of the West who contributed the money are particularly interested in understanding and remembering it. Chicago Tribune.

PILOT BREAD.
This kind of bread having come into extensive family use, it has been my purpose to furnish, from choice materials, an article which should meet the approval of the most fastidious as to neatness, looks and taste. Whether I have succeeded in giving to the public a PILOT BREAD,
SUPERIOR IN EXCELLENCE,
the consumer may be the judge; that the quality will not be suffered to depreciate, the past with the present is my best pledge. That I can compete with all the various qualities of Pilot Bread in the market, as to price, I make no pretensions,—but in price, all things being equal, I fear no competition.]
JOHN PEARSON, Jr.,

Old Bounty Land Warrants.
The last Report of the Commissioner of the General Land Office shows 2,987,560 acres of Bounty Land Warrants outstanding. These were issued under act of 1855 and prior acts. GILMORE & CO., pay cash for them. Send by registered letter. Where Assignments are imperfect we give instructions to perfect them.
Arrears of Pay and Bounty.
OFFICERS, SOLDIERS and SAILORS of the late war, or their heirs, are in many cases entitled to money from the Government of which they have no knowledge. Write full history of service, and state amount of pay and bounty received. Enclose stamp to GILMORE & CO., and a full reply, after examination, will be given you free.
Pensions.
All OFFICERS, SOLDIERS and SAILORS wounded, ruptured or injured in the late war, however slightly, can obtain a pension by addressing GILMORE & CO. Cases prosecuted by GILMORE & CO. before the Supreme Court of the United States, the Court of Claims and the Southern Claims Commission.
Each department of our business is conducted in a separate bureau, under the charge of the same experienced parties employed by the old firm. Prompt attention to all business entrusted to GILMORE & CO. is thus secured. We desire to win success by deserving it.

The Responsible Party.

A Detriot Alderman was rather puzzled yesterday by a call from a stranger who had a carpet-bag in each hand and a malicious look in his eyes. He let his carpet-bags drop, wiped off his forehead, and wapted to know if the man before him was an Alderman.

"I am," was the reply.

"Perfectly responsible, I s'pose?" was the query.

"I suppose I am."

"Well, sir," continued the stranger, "down here at the depot some one hit me on the neck with a stone."

"Did, eh?"

"Yes, sir, he did, and I estimate the damage at $25."

"I am sorry," remarked the Alderman, "It is no way to use a stranger to hit him on the neck."

"Of course it isn't, but I don't care for your soft words—I want my $25."

"Why, I have nothing to do with it. I didn't hit you."

"I know you didn't, but you help run this town, don't you? Some one must be responsible. I am not the kind of a man to be hit on the neck and go right along without saying a word."

"I tell you what to do," said the Alderman, after a little reflection. "You go to the Mayor and get an order on me for the money, and I'll pay it."

"That's angelic and all right," replied the man, and he steered for the City Hall. He began blowing around to some of the idlers in the corridors, and they sent him to a saloon on Monroe avenue "to see the Mayor's brother." He must have found some one there, and must have had some words. Those watching him saw his big satchel come out first, then he slid out after it, hair on end and chin all bruised up, and as he reached the curbstone his small satchel hit him on the back with a loud "chug." He went down Woodward avenue stepping fast and high, and at Congress street ran against a woman and explained:

"In a hurry—didn't mean to—just licked the brother of the Mayor of this town stone blind."—Free Press.

AMERICAN & FOREIGN PATENTS.

R. H. EDDY, SOLICITOR OF PATENTS,

For Inventions Trade Marks or Designs

NO. 76 STATE ST., OPPOSITE KILBY ST., BOSTON.

After an extensive practice of upwards of thirty years, continues to secure patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all papers for Patents, executed on reasonable terms with dispatch. Researches made to determine the validity and utility of Patents of Inventions, and legal and other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any patent furnished, by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.

No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.

All necessity for a journey to Washington to procure a Patent and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents."

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.
EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents.'

"Mr. R. H. Eddy has made for me over THIRTY applications for Patents, having been successful in almost every case. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend ALL inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases and at very reasonable charges. JOHN TAGGART."

DR. QUAIN'S

CONDITION PILLS!

The Wonderful Remedy for Liver Complaint, Billiousness, Dyspepsia, Constipation, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Headache, Kidney Complaint, Nervousness, Scrofula, Piles, and all diseases arising from a bad state of the Blood!

No medicine ever offered to the public has given such universal satisfaction as Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. Their praises are on every tongue where their merits are known. They strike at once at the seat of disease and show their healing power almost immediately. Thousands of voluntary testimonials of their merits have been received by the agent, from those who have been cured by them, of which the following are samples:

Dyspepsia Four Years, Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels Three Years, Confined to my Room Two Years, Pain so I Could Not Sleep Without Morphine. One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills Made Me Eat Well, Sleep Well and Free from Pain, after being given up by Physicians.

WEST LEBANON, ME., Feb. 22, 1

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I have been sick for four years with Dyspepsia, and for the past three years Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels. I have suffered all the pain I could endure and live. I have been confined to my room for two years, and could not sleep nights without the use of morphine. I have been given up by physicians as past cure. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, and they have done me more good than all the doctors I have had. I sleep well, I eat well and have no pain. They are all they are recommended to be. Please send me three packages, as two of my neighbors wish to try them. I enclose $1.50.

Your truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Another Letter from Maj. John W. Lord, one month later. Wonderful Cures by Dr. Quain's Pills Effected on Him in Thirteen Days. First time Free from Pain for Three Years.

WEST LEBANON, ME., March 22, 1875

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I commenced taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS February 20th, and wrote you February 22d of their wonderful effect. I have continued to improve ever since. My appetite is good, and I sleep as well as I ever did in my life. I am free from pain for the first time in three years. When I was taken sick four years ago, I weighed one hundred and eighty-six pounds; I now weigh one hundred and thirty, but, as I am gaining in strength, I have faith I shall regain my flesh this summer, by the use of the Pills. I shall continue taking them for some time to come.

Yours truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Dr. Quain's Pills the Remedy for Soldiers' Aches and Pains.

WEST LEBANON, ME., June 1, 1875.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I am now able to walk out every day, and am gaining in strength very fast, all of which is due to you as agent for the best Pills in the world. I have taken no other medicine, and my improvement has been steady since first taking Dr. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done everything for me, and I will say to you, advertise them (direct to the soldiers, for they will certainly cure them of aches and pains caused from exposure and hardship on the field. Please send me by return mail another package.

JOHN W. LORD.

Rheumatism for Twenty Years Cured by One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills—"The Best Medicine in the World."

EAST ANDOVER, N. H., Dec. 10, 1875.

MR. LANE—Dear Sir:—As I know the value of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS and the good they have done me, I take pleasure in giving them praise; so I send you another testimonial. My father has been troubled with Rheumatism for twenty years or more, and has tried everything that could be thought of, but to no purpose; at times it would be so bad that he could not lift his hand to his head or do any work at all, especially in cold weather. A short time ago I advised him to get some of these Pills. He believed nothing in them, but I gave him the last package I had of you, as I did not need them, and he has not been as free from the Rheumatic Complaint for years. No Rheumatism, no pain. What helped him? It was DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, the best medicine in the world. There is nothing like them. I know it, for I have tried them, and they are all, yes, more than they are recounded to be. Give them a fair trial and you will say so. I write this because I know the goodness of them and wish others to know the same. Some may think I am telling a big story I am. But remember I am not giving them half the praise they ought to have.

Yours with respect, ED. F. PEVARE.

DAINGERFIELD, MORRIS CO., TEXAS, Nov. 15, '75.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I have been afflicted for near twelve years with Neuralgia in the face and head. I tried I do not know how many physicians, and could not get relief. Finally I also tried many patent medicines with the same result. I have been confined to my room most all the time for eight or ten years, and have been traveling and visiting medical springs, and I still suffered most intensely. The physicians pronounced my case the worst and most stubborn that they had had anything to do with. One told me I could never get well; they advised me to go South and spend the winter, and thought that was the only chance for me, and I was trying to get ready to go to Florida, when through the kindness of Rev. R. M. Mathis, my attention was called to the advertisement of Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. I immediately sent to you for a package. I have taken four doses and I am almost free from pain. The impression here seems to be that if one pill will cure me, they will cure anybody. I have five applications to send for the pills. Enclosed please find three dollars; send five packages to one Mr. Jesse Adams Sherrell, Sulphur Springs, Hopkins county, Texas.

Yours truly, J. S. PATTON.

Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache.

LACONIA, N.H., Jan. 29, 1875.

THOS. W. LANE—Sir:—I have been troubled with Bad Blood, Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done me more good than all the medicine I ever took; I have taken considerable medicine within the last five years. For the nerves I think there is nothing so good as those pills. I can recommend them to all who are similarly afflicted, they have done me so much good. I think they will recommend themselves wherever they go. I shall recommend those Pills to all who need them. Please send me two packages more, one for myself and one for a lady friend of mine. Many thanks to the inventor, agent and advertiser of those Pills.

MRS. P. L. ELLIOTT.

PULMOCINE.

BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL

is no new discovery. Twenty-three years ago it was used by one of New England's most famous physicians as the best Pulmonary Curative he could prescribe, after a dozen years spent in experimenting with it before he was satisfied that the Materia Medica could add nothing in its favor.

Is the ultima thule of Medical Discovery.

Among its many ingredients are Wild Cherry Bark, Squill Root, Liquorice Root, Blood root, &c. It is a Blood Purifier, gently stimulating. It increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is sudorific and alterative. It is a necessary family medicine. It is a Tonic and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is a gentle sedative, and relieves nervousness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.

CLEAR YOUR THROAT!

Relieve Your Lungs.

For the terrible diseases engendered by the lung trying climate of New England,

PULMOCINE CORDIAL

Is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. Every Family should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croups, Laryngitis, or inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred Throat Diseases at all times prevalent, it is the ounce of Prevention. Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for. These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning, when a physician may be out of immediate reach. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy relief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As "a stitch in time saves nine," so does the possession of this Family Medicine prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agent. There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all thus afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and the patient's danger is past.

For Coughs,

Croup,

Diphtheria,

Asthma, etc.,

USE

Buchman's Pulmocine Cordial.

The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. It is offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

Health Regulations.

THE BOARD OF HEALTH OF THE CITY OF PORTSMOUTH call the attention of the public to the following sections of Chapter 16, of the Revised Ordinances, and invite all interested in the preservation of health in our city to aid them in the execution of their duty:

SEC. 3. All waste water of houses, yards, cellars, sinks, pumps, etc., shall be conveyed by their owners or occupiers to the common sewers, or to such places as the Health Officers may direct.

SEC. 4. No person shall be allowed to throw any vegetable or dead animal substance, or any other matter capable of producing infection, into any street, lane, alley or dock, or upon any wharf, but shall bury them or thrown them into the river below low-water mark.

SEC. 5. The contents of vaults and privies shall not be permitted to rise within one foot of the surface of the earth. And all owners or occupiers of buildings having such vaults or privies as may require it, shall cause them to be emptied within ten days from the promulgation of this ordinance, and in future on or before the first day of May in each year. And any such owner or occupier neglecting so to do, shall forfeit and pay for every such neglect a sum not less than three nor more than twenty dollars, and a like sum for every week's neglect after the time above specified.

SEC. 6. No vender of meat at the stalls shall be permitted to leave any stale meat, heads, feet or offal of any kind about their stalls or stores over night, or suffer them to be thrown into any street, lane or alley of the city. Nor shall any sellers of fish be permitted to throw any offal of fish into any street, lane or alley of the city, or upon any wharf, but shall either bury them or throw them into the river beyond low-water mark.

SEC. 7. If any dead animal or decaying vegetable substance, or any other nuisance, shall be found in any part of the city, the owners or occupiers of the premises where such nuisance shall be found, shall cause the same to be removed within twenty-four hours after being notified so to do by one or more of the health officers.

SEC. 12. When any householder shall know that any person within his family is taken sick of the small pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, he shall immediately give notice thereof to the Health Officers.

SEC. 13. When any physician shall know that any person whom he is called to visit is infected with the small pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, such physician shall immediately give notice thereof to the Health Officers.

SEC. 14. If any such householder or physician shall refuse or neglect to give the notice required in the preceding sections, he shall for each refusal or neglect, forfeit the sum of twenty dollars, to be recovered by either of the Health Officers in the name of the city.

SEC. 16. The Health Officers may give written notice to the owner or occupier of any building, vessel or enclosure, to remove or destroy any nuisance or other thing deemed by them on examination, to be injurious to the public health, within a certain time limited therein: and in case such owner or occupier—the said notice having been given to him, or left at his usual place of abode—shall neglect to comply therewith, the said Health Officers may, by direction of the mayor and accompanied by the city marshal, forcibly enter such building, vessel, or enclosure, and cause said nuisance or other thing aforesaid to be removed or destroyed.

SEC. 21. No person shall erect, keep or continue, or permit to be erected, kept or continued, upon any land occupied by him, any pen for the keeping of swine, or privy, over either of the mill ponds in this city, or so placed that offensive substances therefrom shall be discharged or drained into either of said ponds, or into any creek, or cove, or drain leading therein. And no person shall construct, keep or continue any drain leading from any pen for the keeping of any swine, slaughter-house, privy vault, or other unwholesome or offensive place, into either of said ponds, or to any flat or marsh adjoining the same. And no person shall throw or suffer to be thrown from his land into either of said ponds, or upon any of said flats or marshes, any dead, decaying, unwholesome or offensive animal or vegetable substances.

Good Fresh Butter All The Year Round.
BUTTER IN 20 MINUTES.
Lincoln Butter Powder is an entirely harmless article made from a celebrated English recipe, and now in daily use by many of the most noted farmers in the butter counties around Philadelphia.
In hot weather this Powder makes butter much firmer and sweeter than it usually is, and keeps it from turning rancid. It also removes the strong flavor of turnips, weeds, corn stalks, cotton seed, etc.; and the increased yield of butter much more than pays the trifling expense of using it.

The Fourth at Niagara.

There seemed to be very few people at Niagara, and the beautiful Indian curiosity shops were empty and the occupation of the venders of relics was to keep the flies away from the lovely specimens of bead-work and gorgeous guide-books to the Falls.

The hotel visitors sat dejectedly on the broad verandas and watched the falling rain. The only person who seemed to be enjoying himself was a boy who was the happy possessor of an old revolutionary musket and an apparently unlimited supply of powder. He appeared regularly every minute from a building in front of one of the largest hotels, walked to the middle of the street, pointed his gun at where the rain was coming from and startled the whole neighborhood with the report it made.

At last the proprietor sent a colored emissary to put a stop to the shooting, as the guests were beginning to complain of the regularity of the report.

"See heah, boy, you'se got to stop dat shootin' or go some'ares else,"

"What's the matter with you, eh? Guess this is the Fourth of (bang) July, ain't it!"

The startled African jumped about ten feet when the gun went off, and then the boy went off—to load up again. Then a man with an umbrella came out as the boy got into position once more.

"I say, young man, you must go back in the fields or some other place than here. You're frightening all the guests, and the proprietor says you must stop."

"All right, 'squire—you just give your old 'prietor and the guests my love and tell 'em they ain't none of 'em a bigger man than George Washington, and I'm keepin' his (bang) birthday."

"Take that gun from him!" shouted the irritated hotel man. "I'll stand the consequences. It will burst and kill somebody directly!"

"Take 'er from me, why don't you, you old soot-colored Africans, you! She's only loaded half-way up to the muzzle, and she's goin' to bust this time, sure!" and the frightened attacking party made lively time to keep from being in front of the old shotgun, which the boy kept pointing impartially in all directions.

"Why don't you take 'er 'way fu'me?" asked the boy. "I want you shades to understan' that my gran'father fit the Britishers with this old gun a hundred years ago, in 1812, and Washington was his capting, too. So—

"Look out, dar, I'se a gwang to shoot;
Look out, don't you understan'
Richmond's taken, Babylon—" (bang.)

When we left Niagara we still heard the periodical bang of the old gun, and we judged from that that a boy with a gun has just as much liberty in this country as the proprietor of a million dollar hotel.—Detroit Free Press.

Commodore Truxton's Cucumber Vine.

It used to be said by agriculturists that coal ashes must be reckoned among those utterly useless products which cannot possibly be made to serve any good end,—like broken crockery, worn-out tin-ware, and superannuated hoop-skirts, the only question concerning which is simply how to get rid of them and put them where they will take the least space and do the least harm. Later authorities, however, have by degrees come to allow that coal ashes, judiciously applied, may actually not only do no harm, but may serve a useful purpose. Carefully sifted and well-packed, it makes good hard garden paths, shedding water easily, and not readily encroached upon by grass and weeds. More recently, some daring agriculturists have ventured to recommend coal ashes as a sort of mechanical fertilizer, good for some stubborn soils; and by degrees, it is really beginning to be believed that the time is not far off when this heretofore most annoying result of housekeeping will be regarded as a valuable auxiliary to agriculture, and instead of being wasted on the dump, will be carefully saved up in barrels for the flower-bed and the kitchen garden. Some late experiments in this city certainly look that way. A well-known naval hero, long since retired from active maritime service to the more harmonious avocations of peace, noticed that a potato, half by accident dropped into a box of coal ashes, sprouted vigorously, and proceeded to grow as though in the best soil in the world. A happy thought occurred to the commodore; if coal ases would produce such a crop in a soap-box, what wouldn't it do in a less confined space? Acting on the suggestion, and remembering the unsightly pile which all the Spring had vexed his eye in the court yard behind his office, he at once proceeded to institute experiments.

The imposing ash-pile was leveled, making a splendid triangular bed, and therein the commodore tucked comfortably away a few kernels of corn, a dozen pats of potatoes, a pumpkin-seed or two, and several dabs of cucumber-seeds. Drawbacks were to be expected, of course. No great discoverer ever marched straight on unhindered to the reward of his faith. Unsympathetic neighbors, unfired by the commodore's zeal, kept tossing their tomato-peelings, waste paper and broken plates over the fence upon the triangular coal-ashes farm—the "heater-piece" which lay greedily absorbing the Summer sun, and nourishing in its bosom the germs of great results. Old boots, dead hens and broken barrel-hoops suddenly appeared there over night; but was the commodore to give up the ship for these things? Surely not; he issued forth at high noon, and by the aid of an old broom and a coal-shovel, threw back in the teeth, as it were, of its authors, their offal insults. The culprits, gathered in conclave on their back porches, took his warning, and refrained from trespass thereafter. And the corn shot up a dainty spire, and the potatoes came bungling up in their clumsy way, and the cucumbers, unafraid of the doryphora, showed their fat pips above the ashes. But the dry weather was another annoyance to the brave cultivator; the corn, to be sure, being tropical, liked hot weather, but potatoes, delighting in moisture, languished. But was not the commodore, with all Lake Sebago at his back, a match for Old Probabilities and his "continued hot weather?" So the plantation waxed green and flourishing, and the neighbors came to look at it as a local curiosity, and the cats sat on the surrounding fences and admired, but dared not step on, the sacred territory. And after the long dry spell, there came, this week, a delightful shower—a soft, soaking, refreshing shower, which was just what the coal-ashes farm had been longing for. The effect was wonderful. The next day the commodore went out, as usual, to meditate, like Alphonse Karr or John Quincy Adams, among his green things growing. He looked tenderly at the potatoes, to see whether there were flower-buds, which when bloomed, he might wear in his button hole, like Louis XIV.; he examined the corn, pondering as to how soon it would be proper to hire a man to spindle it; he gave an approving nod to the pumpkin vine by the fence, and thought of Thanksgiving pies; he stooped fondly over the largest cucumber-hill, and beheld, where even blooms had not appeared before,—a nice well-grown pickle, cool and brittle and crisp-looking, and dripping with vinegar! The commodore's faith in the fertility of coal ashes is confirmed, and he confidently expects to find pies on his pumpkin-vines, fish-balls in his potato-hills, and delicious brown-and-yellow squares of johnny-cake depending from his corn-stalks.—Portland Adv.

FOR PRESIDENT,

Rutherford B. Hayes,

OF OHIO.

FOR VICE PRESIDENT,

William A. Wheeler,

OF NEW YORK.

Hayes' Platform in War.

In 1864, when Hayes was in the army, being nominated for Congress he was requested to come home and stump his district. His reply was, "I have other business just now. Any man who would leave the army at this time to electioneer for Congress ought to be scalped!"

Hayes' Platform in Peace.

"Honest money for all, and free schools for all. There should be no inflation which will depreciate the one, nor sectarian interference which will destroy the other."

News and Notes.

Mr. Thomas F. Maney, of Lewiston, Me., has secured a contract for building thirteen miles of the Manchester and Keene Railroad. The cost of the road will be $22,000 per mile. Mr. Maney is to commence operations immediately, and has sent forward five car-loads of carts, horses, tools, etc., and a number of laborers. The job he expects to complete about the first of February.

A little daughter of Timothy Donahue, of North Brookfield, Mass., died on the 21st of hydrophobia.

An infant daughter of John S. Tinkham, of Fairhaven, Mass., was drowned on Sunday by falling into a tub of water, while at play.

A drunken Irish woman in Fall River, Mass., threw her infant out of a third-story window, fatally injuring it.

Five young German girls were drowned near St. Joseph, Mo., on the 23d, while gathering water lilies on a lake.

The wife of Mayor Chadbourn, of Saco, Me., and her sisters, the Misses Patten, were thrown from their carriage and pitched over an embankment on Sunday. All were severely injured, but not dangerously.

A big battle is reported between the Turks and Servians, the latter being defeated with a loss of 3000 killed. The Turks burned three villages. The Montenegrins also have been routed by the Turks, near Nevesinge. A great battle is imminent at Nissa.

Brigham Young has dedicated a new Mormon temple at St. George, Utah. The place has a population of 1500. It is located in almost a desert, and was built on the strength of a special revelation from the Lord to Brigham. The temple is a huge, ungainly-looking structure, without the least pretension to beauty, and the estimated cost is $6,000,000, to raise which oppressive tithings have been collected from the faithful.

Leavitt Alley, tried and acquitted in Boston some years ago on a charge of murdering Abijah Ellis, died in that city on Saturday night.

A waterspout in the Diamond Range mountains, California, on the 23d, swept away and drowned thirteen Chinese woodchoppers. A large camp occupied by a gang of Italian timber-cutters was also destroyed, and it is feared the men are all lost.

During Col. Merritt's fight with the Indians, on the 17th inst., Buffalo Bill, the scout so well known as the companion of Texas Jack and Morlacchi in the entertainment business, killed Yellow Hand, a young chief of the Cheyennes.

Figures Won't Lie.

The able Concord correspondent of the Manchester Mirror writes that paper as follows, concerning the manner in which ratable poll lists which are very big at election time shrink to small taxable poll lists at assessment time:

The act apportioning the State tax is making much talk and causing a great deal of inquiry which has brought forth some very suggestive facts. First, in regard to ratable polls. Each town's share of the State tax depends upon its valuation, in which are included the taxable polls, reckoned at $100 each. By reducing the number of taxable polls the valuation is therefore reduced, and it is for the interest of a town to have as few polls as possible the year the State tax is apportioned. On the other hand the number of representatives to which a town is entitled depends on the ratable polls. The more polls the more representatives. These two facts explain why the aggregate number of ratable polls and legal voters, vouched for on the certificates of the members, amount to 99,052 for the whole State, while the number of taxable polls returned and included in the valuation of the cities and towns is less than 90,000.

The champion town in this ratable poll fraud is Bartlett, a little town in Carroll county, which has sent two representatives this year. It had on the face of its list as legal voters last March, 261; names on the back of the list as ratable polls 206; making 467. The town cast at the last election 223 votes, and has returned 256 taxable polls. Last year it cast 169 votes, and returned 272 taxable polls. Thus it appears that while the voters and ratable polls upon which representatives depend have increased in a most wonderful way, the taxable polls have decreased from 272 to 256. This is probably the most barefaced steal in the State.

Another premium democratic town in this matter of polls, is Andover. The check-list used at the last election contained the names of 409 voters; on the back there were the names of 49 ratable polls making 458 voters and polls, or 8 more than enough to entitle the town to two representatives. This list was made and sworn to the week after election. The town cast for governor 368 votes. The first of April, a fortnight after the first list was sworn to, the selectmen made another, which is returned here for the purposes of valuation. It returns the whole number of taxable polls in town as 345. Thus it appears that the number of taxable polls was 113 less on the first of April than was the number of polls and voters on the 15th of March,—that there are 53 less taxable polls than there were legal voters, and 23 less than there were votes cast. Of course such a shrinkage is in plain English stealage. Probably it is the result of an attempt at two steals, first to steal a representative, and secondly to dodge a part of the State tax. One of the selectmen, when called upon to explain, said that there were a good many men over 70 years of age in town, and he believed there were about fifty votes and taxable polls left untaxed in order to prevent their gaining a settlement and becoming town paupers. As it is only necessary to omit taxing a man once in seven years to prevent his gaining a settlement, it appears that there are 350 of the tax-payers of the town who are in imminent danger of becoming paupers, and that only about twenty-five per cent. of the number represented in the legislature are safe subjects of taxation. Verily we are fearfully and wonderfully governed.

Sinclair's town of Bethlehem is another first class bad one. The check list used in March contains 506 names, front and back, but there are only 321 taxable polls returned, and there were only 281 votes cast. It would therefore seem that 36 per cent. of the number of Bethlemites represented here took to the woods before the first of April, but John G. knows how to call them back again. In the neighboring republican town of Whitefield there were thirteen more poll taxes assessed and returned than there were names on both sides of the list.

The following table gives an idea of the immense number of men who disappeared from some towns between the middle of March, when representatives were elected, and the first of April, when taxes were assessed.

As will be noticed, many towns lost from 15 to 40 per cent. of the adult male population in the short fortnight which intervened between voting and taxing time. It will also be found that the missing men, as a rule, fled from democratic wards and towns, and if they don't get back before November, Hayes and Wheeler should have 10,000 majority.

Political.

This is an incident of the late examination into the Mississippi election. In Claiborne county a leading democrat was examined by Senator Boutwell: "How do you expect to carry this election?" "In the same way we did last year," was the reply; "and you might as well understand that we are going to run that election just as we please in spite of all the Senatorial committees that can be sent down here." "That will do, sir, that will do," said Senator Bayard, and the examination came to a pause. Claiborne was one of the counties where the shot-gun argument was used last year. In 1873 the vote stood, republican, 1,844; democratic, 179; in 1875, republican, 496; democratic 1,049. The shot-gun is a very persuasive argument.—Cinn. Times.

Col. Henry O. Kent, the New Hampshire member of the Liberal National Committee chosen in 1872, is out in a protest against the circular of Ethan Allen, chairman of that committee, advising the liberals to support Hayes and Wheeler. Col. Kent announces that the liberals are united with the democrats, and will give their undivided support to Tilden and Hendricks. Possibly; but as some of the ablest of them, in this State, are working for the republican ticket, we fancy Col. Kent must be mistaken. Anyway, we don't see how Kent can assume to speak for the liberal republican party, for he has been a full-fledged democrat for years, and was supported as such by the democrats of the Third District at the Congressional election.

The democratic platform, as passed at St. Louis, has been "doctored" since then, its financial and anti-Chinese planks being very different now from what they were when passed. As passed the repeal of the "resumption clause, act of 1875, "was demanded; now, the date only is objected to. The original demanded that the present treaty with China should be so modified as to prevent the further immigration of Mongolians; in the "revised and improved" copy this demand is left out altogether. The Pacific coast and soft-money democrats are much enraged at this trickery.

The democratic House investigating committee which has been pursuing ex-Sergeant-at-Arms Ordway, hoping to find something against him concerning his expenditures, have caught two of their own party instead. In the effort to prove that money drawn for the expenses of several committees visiting the South was not properly expended by Ordway, the vouchers were all overhauled, when to their surprise it appeared that Ordway's were all right, but that Buckner of Missouri, chairman of one of the sub-committees, had not accounted for about two hundred dollars. Clarkson Potter, on another committee, had not filed vouchers for forty dollars. Of course it does not follow that either of those gentlemen misused a cent; but if these sums had been found charged against Ordway in exactly the same way, every democratic paper in the country would have bloomed with huge headlines such as "Another radical thief caught," "Proof positive of Ordway's guilt," etc.

The Rebellion of the Stomach.

The stomach obstinately rebels against all effort to make it digest superabundant or indigestible food. When a case of dyspepsia has been brought on by over-indulgence in the pleasures of the table, or any other cause, the invalid can obtain from Hostetter's Stomach Bitters prompter and more complete relief than from any other source. This admirable specific not only renders digestion active, but regulates the secretion and distribution of the bile, re-establishes a regular habit of body when costiveness exists, restores the appetite, soothes and invigorates the nerves, and, if taken before retiring, facilitates sleep. Under these happy conditions, the dyspeptic or bilious subject regains lost flesh, his spirits recover their elasticity, and all the various and harassing bodily and mental symptoms of chronic indigestion disappear.

MARBLE WORK,
I would respectfully invite the people of Portsmouth and vicinity, who have lost relatives or friends, or have occasion for the use of any kind of stone work, to call before purchasing elsewhere. My stock consists of Monuments, Headstones, Marble Posts, Mantel Shelves, Pier Tops, &c., the stock for which was bought and men employed to work the same, since the commencement of the present hard times. I have not sufficient room in which to place more work, and do not wish to discharge any of my hands. For the above reasons, I feel confident that no one can sell me with the same quality of stock and work. I take occasion to call the attention of all who are repairing or building houses, to my large stock of Mantel Shelves and Pier Tops!
Also have Three LOTS, enclosed with Granite Curbs and Posts, in Harmony Grove and Sagamore Cemeteries, which I will sell at a discount.

Jottings.

It is stated that a gentleman from New York has expressed a desire to take a half interest in a new hotel on the site of the Ocean House at Rye Beach, if an establishment can be erected that shall restore to that famous locality the prestige enjoyed under the management of Job Jenness & Son. The loss of the former hotel has been a serious deprivation to Rye, and it is thought that at the present low price of materials and labor, an elegant hotel could be erected on a stock plan, that would be the resort of the elite of the watering place visitors during the beach season.

The case of Pay Inspector J. N. Carpenter has been submitted to a board of naval surgeons, who are to determine upon his mental condition, his counsel before the court by which he was tried having put in a plea of insanity.

In point of speed and endurance probably New Hampshire's finest athlete is E. C. Stimson, of Portsmouth, lately of Dartmouth, class of '76. "Stimmy," as he was familiarly known in college, has a record of which a professional might well be proud. He was bow-oar and captain of the winning crew in the class regatta at Hanover, in Oct. 1875; winner of the one-mile run, and second in the three-mile in the Dartmouth athletic sports of last fall; No. 1 in the one and three-mile runs, and second in the half-mile race in the same sports of last Spring; and now the news comes that he has won in the one and three-mile runs at the intercollegiate sports at Saratoga. The time made in his three-mile races is as follows: Oct. '75, 18 min., 10 sec.; June, '76, 16 min., 33 sec.; July, '76, 16 min., 21 1-2 sec., which last is the best college, if not the best amateur time on record in America. The reduction of time in these different records illustrates to what an extent careful and persistent training will develope the physical capacity of the body.—Mirror.

Greenland, like most other towns in New Hampshire, has a Reform Club, numbering among its members a very large proportion of those who once failed to heed the admonition to "look not upon the wine when it is red, when it moveth itself aright in the cup," and not a few of those to whom the delights (and sorrows) of tippling are unknown, including many of the ladies of the town. Having gathered in nearly the whole population of the town, the club found its list of members ceased receiving accessions; yet there were three young men, unexceptionable except in their contumacy toward the Reform Club movement, who had not come in. Entreaty and argument, platform eloquence and private expostulations, were alike unheeded by the obdurate trio; and as a last resort the lady members of the club decided to use heroic remedies. Whether the young ladies they individually "set up with" treated them to home lectures or not, we are not informed; but the unhappy three all at once found themselves left off the list of invitations to picnics and all other jollifications, and that they could not get near enough a piece of muslin to see what color it was. This was too much—too much; and at a recent meeting of the Club the recalcitrant but severely-disciplined three honorably surrendered and enrolled their names on the books of the Club.

City Missionary William A. Loyne on Wednesday received from "a friend of the helpless" a contribution of one hundred dollars in aid of the Old Ladies' Home.

Mr. Blaine's general health has improved considerably since he reached Rye Beach, but the excessive heat exercised a retarding influence and prevented his gaining strength so rapidly as was hoped. He is inclined to be less careful about exertion than his physician would desire, as it is hard for one of his active temperament to keep entirely quiet. His only trouble now arises from physical weakness resulting from the severity of his prostration, his mind being as clear, vigorous and alert as ever. He needs simply rest to gain bodily strength, and it is hoped that the bracing atmosphere of the seashore will prove an effectual tonic.—Post.

On Thursday the Fire Department will parade with the Rye Cornet Band, (the latter appearing in their new uniform on that occasion, for the first time) to receive the new steam fire engine, Moses H. Goodrich, No. 4. After the parade the Department and invited guests will partake of a collation in Franklin Hall, furnished by the members of Company No. 4. In the afternoon a trial of the new engine will take place at the reservoir on Market square, and the new hose recently purchased by the city will be tested at the same time.

The Light Artillery, Capt. Marvin, with the Kearsarge Fife and Drum Band, went to the Shoals on Wednesday on the morning trip of the Appledore. The company made a fine appearance in their showy uniform, and displayed great improvement in marching and drill. They returned on the afternoon boat.

Mr. Potts Looking for a Light.

One night during the recent troubles in the Pennsylvania coal regions, Judge Potts' brother, Thomas Potts, was round at a meeting of the mine owners, and after the adjournment he stepped into a tavern. While there he met some friends, and in the course of an hour or two he got very intoxicated. On his way home he lost his hat, and a miner, who knew him, feeling compassion for him, clapped on his head a miner's hat; and, in order to make the dark street look brighter, he lighted the lamp in front of the hat. When Potts reached the house his wife had gone to bed and the lights were out; but Potts felt certain that the lamp was burning in the hall, but he couldn't for the life of him tell where it was.

He looked at the regular lamp and it seemed to be out; then hunted in every direction for the light, but he was unable to find it, although it seemed to shine brightly wherever he went. Presently he happened to stop in front of the mirror in the hat rack, and then he saw precisely where the light was. After a brief objurgation upon Mrs. Potts for leaving a light in such a place, he went up to the mirror and tried to blow it out. He blew and blew, but somehow the flame burned as steadily as before.

"That," said Potts, "is the most extraor'nary lamp's ever been my misfortune't encounter."

Then he took off his coat, and, holding it in front of him, crept cautiously up to the mirror, and tried to smash the coat over the lamp, which still burned brightly. He said:

"That's cer'inly very extraordinary! Moz 'stonishin circumstanz ever cum un'er my observation. Don'o how to 'count for it!"

It occurred to him that perhaps he might smash the lamp with an umbrella. Seizing the weapon, he went up to the hat rack, and, aiming a terrible blow at the light, he brought the umbrella down. He missed, and smashed his Sunday hat into chaos. He took aim again, and caught the umbrella in the lamp overhead, bringing it down with a crash. Then he tried a third time, and plunged the ferrule of the umbrella through the mirror, smashing it to atoms. He felt exultant for a moment, as the light disappeared from his vision, but he was perplexed to find there was another light somewhere, he did not know exactly where. So he sat down on the stairs and remarked;

"Moz' 'stonishing circumstaz ever come un'er my observation. Whaten thunder doz it mean, anyhow? Light's gone, an' yet's shinin'! Perfectly incomprehensible! Wish to gracious Mrs. Potts'd wake up and 'splain it. Darn'f I know what I had better do."

Then Potts took off his hat to scratch his head, in the hope that he might scare up an idea, and the truth flashed upon him. Gazing at the lamp for a moment, until he drank in a full conception of the trouble it had caused him, he suddenly smashed it down on the floor in a rage, and extinguished it after covering two yards of carpet with grease. Then he went to bed, and in the morning Mrs. Potts informed him some of those horrible miners had broken into the house the night before, and left one of their hats with a lamp. Potts turned over in bed, so that she could not see his face, and said if the stern hand of the law wasn't laid upon those ruffians soon, nobody's life would be safe.—Green Mountain Freeman.

Fluctuating Politics.

He was seedy and battered, and looked "powerful" dry. He entered a Main street saloon and approaching the bar, said to the barkeeper: "It's a good ticket, ain't it?" "First rate," replied the barkeeper. "You betcher life them's my men. Hayes 'n Wheeler for me. 'Rah for Hayes 'n Wheeler! Set out some o' yer 'publican whisky, barkeeper." "My friend," replied the barkeeper, "you're a little off; this is a democratic house." "Thunder," exclaimed the soaker, "the dummycrats ain't got nobody to holler for yit, and I'm as dry as a powder horn and not a cent twixt me and eternity." "My friend," said the obliging barkeeper, "while differing with you in politics, I cannot resist your appeal; help yourself to some of this," and he set out a glass and the bottle of lightning kept for the special use of "stiffs." The "stiff" poured out a glassful of the stuff and emptied it into his throat, and when he got through coughing and wiping his eyes on his coatsleeve, said: "I ain't got no money, but if I was the Comstock ledge I'd bet myself ag'in a Lander Hill razor-blade that them durned black republicans don't get away with the enscoin' 'lection."—Austin (Nev.) Reveille.

—The French Duke de Morny received an application for employment from a young man who came well recommended. "But I do not know how to find you a place; my household is full." "Your grace," said the young man, nervously fingering his hat, "I sadly need work." "Well, suppose I make you my hair dresser." The applicant colored, and replied, "I do not seek a sinecure." The duke was entirely bald, and for the fellow's wit hired him as a jester.

—A pious New Jersey dame has stopped praying for her husband, because, as she says, "I have prayed so long without effect that I think the Lord has just as poor an opinion of the man as I have."

PILOT BREAD.

This kind of bread having come into extensive family use, it has been my purpose to furnish, from choice materials, an article which should meet the approval of the most fastidious as to neatness, looks and taste. Whether I have succeeded in giving to the public a PILOT BREAD,

SUPERIOR IN EXCELLENCE,

the consumer may be the judge; that the quality will not be suffered to depreciate, the past with the present is my best pledge. That I can compete with all the various qualities of Pilot Bread in the market, as to price, I make no pretensions,—but in price, all things being equal, I fear no competition.]

JOHN PEARSON, Jr.,
Newburyport, Mass.

In justice to myself, and that those who prefer

PEARSON'S FAMILY PILOT BREAD

may obtain what is desired, I shall occasionally publish the names of those who keep it for sale in Portsmouth, as follows:

AMERICAN & FOREIGN PATENTS.
[ESTABLISHED 1865.]

GILMORE & CO., Successors to CHIPMAN, HOSMER & CO., Solicitors Patents procured in all countries. NO FEES IN ADVANCE. No charge unless the patent is granted. No fees for making preliminary examinations. No additional fees for obtaining and conducting a rehearing. Special attention given to Interference Cases before the Patent Office, Extensions before Congress, Infringement Suits in different States, and all litigation appertaining to Inventions or Patents. SEND STAMP TO GILMORE & CO. FOR PAMPHLET OF SIXTY PAGES.

Old Bounty Land Warrants.

The last Report of the Commissioner of the General Land Office shows 1,637,500 acres of Bounty Land Warrants outstanding. These were issued under act of 1855 and prior acts. GILMORE & CO., pay cash for them. Send by registered letter. Where Assignments are imperfect we give instructions to perfect them.

Arrears of Pay and Bounty.

OFFICERS, SOLDIERS and SAILORS of the late war, or their heirs, are in many cases entitled to money from the Government of which they have no knowledge. Write full history of service, and state amount of pay and bounty received. Enclose stamp to GILMORE & CO., and a full reply, after examination, will be given you free.

Pensions.

All OFFICERS, SOLDIERS and SAILORS wounded, ruptured or injured in the late war, however slightly, can obtain a pension by addressing GILMORE & CO. Cases prosecuted by GILMORE & CO. before the Supreme Court of the United States, the Court of Claims and the Southern Claims Commission.

Each department of our business is conducted in a separate bureau, under the charge of the same experienced parties employed by the old firm. Prompt attention to all business entrusted to GILMORE & CO. is thus secured. We desire to win success by deserving it. ADDRESS

A School Girl's Pocket.

Newspaper paragraphists and quite a number of other people have, from time immemorial, had a great amount of fun over the contents of a boy's pocket; it's a treasury of tops, marbles, cold biscuit inlaid with jam, lonesome pennies, bits of horse-shoes, kite-strings, fly-shooters, popguns, and harmonicas, but they don't pursue their discoveries in the pouche regions. They don't any of them know what a pocket is, nor anything about what one can hold.

We found one lying on the sidewalk on Sixteenth street; and at this present moment it is lying on our table, and the contents which it contained have so taken up our space that there is barely room to pen this statement, and they are amazing to the holder. We give the inventory more for the purpose of enabling the proprietor to obtain the pocket than for any other reason, for far be it from us to exhibit such a thing merely to pander to the idle curiosity of an unmerciful and sarcastic public. Two white cotton handkerchiefs, the hems of which are bigger than the balances; a fish that is a candy fish, of many colors; one short slate-pencil, light mole color, chewed at both ends, and very short and slab sided; one bit of sky-blue ribbon, intended for some fellow's button-hole; two bits in currency; one piece of short, black, scalloped ribbon; one garter, without buckle, very elastic, but not long; two short pieces of barber-pole candy, one of peppermint, the other lemon; one pair small black kids, not live ones, but gloves; one parasol tassel; a camel's hair brush; one love letter, very tender, praising the recipient, and running down another girl, hence very valuable; horse-hair ring, unfinished; three hair-pins; one perfumery bottle stopper; a box of breath perfume; one loose tooth; a small bale of floss and a broken crochet-needle; a piece of raw cotton full of white powder; the left heel of a No. 3 gaiter; one stocking with a hole in the toe; a thimble and a nut-cracker. The pocket is about the size of a flour-bag, made of yellow nankeen, and can be obtained with all the contents except the two-bit note (which we have given to the poor) on application at this office.—Ex.

AMERICAN & FOREIGN PATENTS.
R. H. EDDY, SOLICITOR OF PATENTS,
For Inventions Trade Marks or Designs
No. 76 STATE ST., OPPOSITE KILBY ST., BOSTON,
After an extensive practice of upwards of thirty years, continues to secure patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all papers for Patents, executed on reasonable terms with dispatch. Researches made to determine the validity and utility of Patents of Inventions, and legal and other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any patent furnished, by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.
No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.
All necessity for a journey to Washington to procure a Patent and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.
TESTIMONIALS.
"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents."
"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office. EDMUND BURKE, Late Commissioner of Patents."
"MR. R. H. EDDY has made for me over THIRTY applications for Patents, having been successful in almost every case. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend ALL inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases and at very reasonable charges. DR. QUAIN'S
MAGIC
CONDITION PILLS!
The Wonderful Remedy for Liver Complaint, Biliousness, Dyspepsia, Constipation, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Headache, Kidney Complaint, Nervousness, Scrofula, Piles, and all diseases arising from a bad state of the Blood!

No medicine ever offered to the public has given such universal satisfaction as Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. Their praises are on every tongue where their merits are known. They strike at once at the seat of disease and show their healing power almost immediately. Thousands of voluntary testimonials of their merits have been received by the agent, from those who have been cured by them, of which the following are samples:

Dyspepsia Four Years, Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels Three Years, Confined to my Room Two Years, Pain so I Could Not Sleep Without Morphine. One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills Made Me Eat Well, Sleep Well and Free from Pain, after being given up by Physicians.

WEST LEBANON, ME., Feb. 22, 1

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I have been sick for four years with Dyspepsia, and for the past three years Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels. I have suffered all the pain I could endure and live. I have been confined to my room for two years, and could not sleep nights without the use of morphine. I have been given up by physicians as past cure. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, and they have done me more good than all the doctors I have had. I sleep well, I eat well and have no pain. They are all they are recommended to be. Please send me three packages, as two of my neighbors wish to try them. I enclose $1.50.
Your truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Another Letter from Maj. John W. Lord, one month later. Wonderful Cures by Dr. Quain's Pills Effected on Him in Thirteen Days. First time Free from Pain for Three Years.

WEST LEBANON, ME., March 22, 1875

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I commenced taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS February 20th, and wrote you February 22d of their wonderful effect. I have continued to improve ever since. My appetite is good, and I sleep as well as I ever did in my life. I am free from pain for the first time in three years. When I was taken sick four years ago, I weighed one hundred and eighty-six pounds; I now weigh one hundred and thirty, but, as I am gaining in strength, I have faith I shall regain my flesh this summer, by the use of the Pills. I shall continue taking them for some time to come.
Yours truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Dr. Quain's Pills the Remedy for Soldiers' Aches and Pains.

WEST LEBANON, ME., June 1, 1875.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I am now able to walk out every day, and am gaining in strength very fast, all of which is due to you as agent for the best Pills in the world. I have taken no other medicine, and my improvement has been steady since first taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done everything for me, and I will say to you, advertise them direct to the soldiers, for they will certainly cure them of aches and pains caused from exposure and hardship on the field. Please send me by return mail another package.
JOHN W. LORD.

Rheumatism for Twenty Years Cured by One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills—"The Best Medicine in the World."

EAST ANDOVER, N. H., Dec. 19, 1875.

MR. LANE—Dear Sir:—As I know the value of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS and the good they have done me, I take pleasure in giving them praise; so I send you another testimonial. My father has been troubled with Rheumatism for twenty years or more, and has tried everything that could be thought of, but to no good. At times it would be so bad that he could not lift his hand to his head or do any work at all, especially in cold weather. A short time ago I advised him to get some of these Pills. He believed nothing in them, but I gave him the last package I had of you, as I did not need them, and he has not been as free from the Rheumatic Complaint for years. No Rheumatism, no pain. What helped him? It was DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, the best medicine in the world. There is nothing like them. I know it, for I have tried them, and they are all, yes, more than they are recommended to be. Give them a fair trial and you will say so. I write this because I know the goodness of them and wish others to know the same. Some may think I am telling a big story; I am. But remember I am not giving them half the praise they ought to have.
Yours with respect, ED. F. PEVARE.

DAINGERFIELD, MORRIS CO., TEXAS, Nov. 15, '75.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I have been afflicted for near twelve years with Neuralgia in the face and head. I tried I do not know how many physicians, and spent nearly all my money. I also tried many patent medicines with the same result. I have been confined to my room most all the time for eight or ten winters, and have been traveling and visiting medical springs, and I still suffered most intensely. The physicians pronounced my case the worst and most stubborn that they had had anything to do with. One told me I could never get well; they all advised me to go South and spend the winter, and said that was the only chance for me, and I was trying to get ready to go to Florida, when through the kindness of Rev. H. M. White, my attention was called to the advertisement of Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. I immediately sent to you for a package. I have taken four doses and I am almost free from pain. The impression here seems to be that if your pills will cure me, they will cure anybody. I have five applications to send for the pills. Enclosed please find three dollars; send five packages to me and one to Mrs. Laura Sherrell, Sulphur Springs, Hopkins county, Texas.
Yours truly, J. S. PATTON.

Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache.

LACONIA, N. H., Jan. 29, 1875.

THOS. W. LANE—Sir:—I have been troubled with Bad Blood, Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done me more good than all the medicine I ever took; I have taken considerable medicine within the last five years. For the nerves I think there is nothing so good as those pills. I can recommend them to all who are similarly afflicted, they have done me so much good. I think they will recommend themselves wherever they go. I shall recommend those Pills to all who need them. Please send me two packages more, one for myself and one for a lady friend of mine. Many thanks to the inventor, agent and advertiser of these Pills. MRS. P. L. ELLIOTT.

DR. QUAIN'S MAGIC CONDITION PILLS are put up only by the AMERICAN MEDICINE CO., Manchester, N. H., THOMAS W. LANE, Agent.

PULMOCINE.

BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL

is no new discovery. Twenty-three years ago it was used by one of New England's most famous physicians as the best Pulmonary Curative he could prescribe, after a dozen years spent in experimenting with it before he was satisfied that the Materia Medica could add nothing in its favor.

Is the ultima thule of Medical Discovery.

Among its many ingredients are Wild Cherry Bark, Spikk Root, Liquorice Root, Blood root, &c. It is a Blood Purifier, gently stimulating. It increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is sudorific and alterative. It is a necessary family medicine. It is a Tonic and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is a gentle sedative, and relieves nervousness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.

CLEAR YOUR THROAT!

Relieve Your Lungs.

For the terrible diseases engendered by the lung trying climate of New England,

PULMOCINE CORDIAL

Is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. Every Family should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croups, Laryngitis, or inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred Throat Diseases at all times prevalent, it is the ounce of Prevention. Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for. These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning, when a physician may be out of immediate reach. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy relief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As "a stitch in time saves nine," so does the possession of this Family Medicine prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agents. There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all thus afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and the patient's danger is past.

For Coughs,

Croup,

Diphtheria,

— AND —

Asthma, etc.,

— USE —

Buchman's Pulmocine Cordial.

The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. It is offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

Health Regulations.

THE BOARD OF HEALTH OF THE CITY OF PORTSMOUTH call the attention of the public to the following sections of Chapter 19, of the Revised Ordinances, and invite all interested in the preservation of health in our city to aid them in the execution of their duty:

SEC. 3. All waste water of houses, yards, cellars, sinks, pumps, etc., shall be conveyed by their owners or occupiers to the common sewers, or to such places as the Health Officers may direct.

SEC. 4. No person shall be allowed to throw any vegetable or dead animal substance, or any other matter capable of producing infection, into any street, lane, alley or dock, or upon any wharf, but shall bury them or th ow them into the river below low-water mark.

SEC. 5. The contes of vaults and privies shall not be permitted to rise within one foot of the surface of the earth. And all owners or occupiers of buildings having such vaults or privies as may require it, shall cause them to be emptied within ten days from the promulgation of this ordinance, and in future on or before the the first day of May in each year. And any such owner or occupier neglecting so to do, shall forfeit and pay for every such neglect a sum not less than three nor more than twenty dollars, and a like sum for every week's neglect after the time above specified.

SEC. 6. No vender of meat at the stalls shall be permitted to leave any stale meat, heads, feet or offal of any kind about their stalls or stores over night, or suffer them to be thrown into any street, lane or alley of the city. Nor shall any sellers of fish be permitted to throw any offal or fish into any street, lane or alley of the city, or upon any wharf, but shall either bury them or throw them into the river beyond low water mark.

SEC. 7. If any dead animal or decaying vegetable substance, or any other nuisance, shall be found in any part of the city, the owners or occupiers of the premises where such nuisance shall be found, shall cause the same to be removed within twenty-four hours after being notified so to do by one or more of the health officers.

SEC. 12. When any householder shall know that any person within his family is taken sick of the small pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, he shall immediately give notice thereof to the Health Officers.

SEC. 13. When any physician shall know that any person whom he is called to visit is infected with the small pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, such physician shall immediately give notice thereof to the Health Officers.

SEC. 14. If any such householder or physician shall refuse or neglect to give the notice required in the preceding sections, he shall for such refusal or neglect, forfeit the sum of twenty dollars, to be recovered by either of the Health Officers in the name of the city.

SEC. 15. The Health Officers may give written notice to the owner or occupier of any building, vessel or enclosure, to remove or destroy any nuisance or other thing deemed by them on examination, to be injurious to the public health, within a certain time limited therein; and in case such owner or occupier—the said notice having been given to him, or left at his usual place of abode—shall neglect to comply therewith, the said Health Officers may, by direction of the mayor and accompanied by the city marshal, forcibly enter such building, vessel, or enclosure, and cause said nuisance or other thing aforesaid to be removed or destroyed.

SEC. 21. No person shall erect, keep or continue, or permit to be erected, kept or continued, upon any land occupied by him, any pen for the keeping of swine, or privy, over either of the mill ponds in this city, or so placed that offensive substances therefrom shall be discharged or drained into either of said ponds, or into any creek, or cove, or drain leading thereto. And no person shall construct, keep or continue any drain leading from any pen for the keeping of any swine, slaughter-house, privy vault, or other unwholesome or offensive place, into either of said ponds, or to any flat or marsh adjoining the same. And no person shall throw or suffer to be thrown from his land into either of said ponds, or upon any of said flats or marshes, any dead, decaying, unwholesome or offensive animal or vegetable substances.

LINCOLN BUTTER POWDER.

Good Fresh Butter All The Year Round.

BUTTER IN 20 MINUTES.

Lincoln Butter Powder is an entirely harmless article made from a celebrated English recipe, and now in daily use by many of the most noted farmers in the butter counties around Philadelphia.

In hot weather this Powder makes butter much firmer and sweeter than it usually is, and keeps it from turning rancid. It also removes the strong flavor of turnips, weeds, corn stalks, cotton seed, etc.; and the increased yield of butter much more than pays the trifling expense of using it.

Portsmouth Chronicle.

Edibility of Rats.

I myself have eaten rats, (says an English clergyman) and found them good eating. I was on board ship at the time, and it was found necessary to smoke the hold out to get rid of the rats that infested the ship. Three hundred and ninety rats were found suffocated round the fires. A French third mate, who was on board, proposed to cook, and actually did cook, some of the finest of them. Chiefly the hind legs were eaten. They were exceedingly white, and delicate, and tender, and, as far as I remember, put me in mind of chicken, with a slight flavor of game about it. They had been well nourished, and were plump and in good condition. I would not object to eat them perfectly prepared, and should regard such food as a great boon after salt junk and pickled pork of six years' storing. After carefully cleaning, I believe the Frenchman fried them, at all events they were very eatable. Speaking of this to a country friend of ours—a lady—she informed me that her husband once had a pie made of rats. They were caught in a barn where the wheat was just threshed, so that they were very nice and tender from their feeding.

—A dark-skinned, foreign-appearing woman, accompanied by a sprightly little boy, not more than four years old, applied at a house in Hartford the other day for assistance. Food was offered but refused, the woman muttering "money," "money," and the child, with infinite grace kissing his hand to the lady of the house and presenting one of the ready begging-looks with which professional mendicants are furnished in New York. The grace and politeness of the couple were admired; but when money was decidedly refused, the child, as he turned away, deftly placed his thumb to nose and with gyrating outspread fingers, yelled "bad 'ooman," "bad 'ooman."

Daily Chronicle.

THURSDAY, JULY 27, 1876.

FOR PRESIDENT,

Rutherford B. Hayes,

OF OHIO.

FOR VICE PRESIDENT,

William A. Wheeler,

OF NEW YORK.

Hayes' Platform in War.

In 1864, when Hayes was in the army, being nominated for Congress he was requested to come home and stump his district. His reply was, "I have other business just now. Any man who would leave the army at this time to electioneer for Congress ought to be scalped!"

Hayes' Platform in Peace.

"Honest money for all, and free schools for all. There should be no inflation which will depreciate the one, nor sectarian interference which will destroy the other."

A Parthian Shot.

Hon. John H. Burleigh, member of Congress from the first district of Maine, having been defeated (notwithstanding the fulsome eulogiums of the democratic press) in his aspirations for a third nomination, does what he can to defeat the election of his successful competitor, Mr. Reed of Portland, and at the same time sends a Parthian shaft at Gen. M. F. Wentworth of Kittery, by sending from Washington to the Boston Herald (under the excessively gauzy disguise of "our own correspondent") some extracts from a speech he (Burleigh) made in Congress in 1874, coupled with an enthusiastic endorsement of his own honesty and devotion to "reform" in navy yard management. Mr. Burleigh's endorsement of his own immaculateness as a reformer is so earnest that it really seems he must believe —a la Sam Tilden—that he actually possesses the only genuine, unadulterated article in that line; but persons personally aware of the very large number of incompetent men placed upon the navy yard by him for no conceivable reason but that they were his supporters in caucus will hardly share in his belief. And even were he as honest a reformer as he says he is, that would not account for the misrepresentations he made in his speech and repeats under the guise of "our own correspondent" of the Herald; personal disgust at his inability to "run" the yard entirely in the interest of Hon. John H. Burleigh does account for it all—and that was just where the "reform" shoe pinched him. His virtuous wrath was especially directed against the bureau of yards and docks, and the contract ship; yet he knew—or should have known before he undertook to tell others—that that bureau, especially in the department of it he attacked, was more economically conducted than any other, and that the building of a ship by contract was in accordance with an act of Congress passed in compliance with persistent democratic demands. His charge that a sinecure office was created for Dr. Wentworth was very effective, but scarcely correct, for the office was created years before the doctor had anything to do with it, on the recommendation of Commodore Smith, chief of the bureau, and was first filled by a Portsmouth man; and so far from its being a sinecure it had responsible duties attached, and we know that in the performance of those duties the incumbent saved much more than the salary amounted to, to the government. Similarly, Mr. Burleigh's story about a navy officer of high rank making a damaging statement is convincing, but would be more so had not the naval officer denied ever making such a statement; and when he implies that at a certain period there was no work being done on the yard, and asserts that but three men were then employed in one department, when the investigating committee's records show that at that time some eighty men were at work in the department specified and a considerably larger number in some of the others, we are more forcibly struck with admiration for his zeal as a "reformer" than for his regard for facts. Mr. Burleigh complained that he had the whole Maine delegation against him; the district convention showed that the people took the same side—and no wonder, for a large proportion of them know him.

A Specimen of Reform.

Among the most prominent of the canal contractors are Barnett & Nash of Fort Edward. They have been largely engaged in canal work at that place and other points.

A year ago last April, soon after Governor Tilden's Canal Commission was appointed, it made a tour along the Champlain canal to inspect the work. Coming to Fort Edward, where Barnett & Nash were then fulfilling a contract, John Bigelow, the President of the Commission, publicly declared that it was full of fraud, and that the contractors and all other parties concerned ought to be in jail. Yet, singularly enough, though the commission has made reports upon many other canal frauds, it has never reported on this Fort Edward work. Such a report has repeatedly been called for and promised, but it has never come.

Why? It is notorious in Washington county that E. E. Davis, the well known friend of Gov. Tilden, is interested in the firm of Barnett & Nash, and has been potential in persuading the Governor to shield their operations from exposure. That is not all. M. A. Nash, of the firm, is an active politician, and sent one of the delegates to the St. Louis convention—a delegate who was simply his man. He stood by Tilden, and in return Tilden stands by him. It is a mutual bargain for mutual benefit. And now, although the president of the commission said the contractors and all concerned ought to be in jail, M. A. Nash has been elected president of the Tilden club at Fort Edward, and is lustily shouting for "Tilden and reform."

Tilden spares Nash from exposure and punishment, and Nash supports Tilden. Tilden shields the contractor, and the contractor works for "Tilden and reform." And this is a fair specimen of the real character of this bogus reform movement. It is a sham and a fraud of the first water.—Albany Journal.

Democratic Opinions.

A private letter just received from New York, from a gentleman of fairness and intelligence, says: "I had a good opinion of Tilden until I came among those who knew him, but I find they all agree that his show of reform is a humbug. The recent Albany conference is corroborative of all this testimony. The controlling politicians, as well as the masses of the people in the democratic party in New York, who can draw a dividing line between an honest man and a Bengal tiger or a hypocrite, are alike aware that Tilden can not carry his own State."

There are a few facts concerning Sam. Tilden, which, we trust, will sink into the minds of Western and Southern democrats.

1. He cannot carry his own State in November.

2. He cannot carry any Northern State.

3. He is a hypocrite, a political swindler, and has long been a public plunderer.

4. He did what he could to defeat the democratic party in Ohio, in 1875, expending his money, and subsidizing the Eastern democratic press to that end, knowing that Ohio's victory was his defeat, and loving Tilden more than the democratic party. He earned the enmity of the West and South.

5. He has sought this high office by methods so unprecedentedly shameless and disreputable that it would be an everlasting stigma and a reproach upon the American people to elect him.

6. Upon the foremost question of the hour he is a most pitiless foe of the interests of the West and the South. He is the unscrupulous oppressor of the great, struggling industries of the vast producing sections of the country. No republican administration could be more hostile to them than would his.

It could not but be that a man educated in cunning, in hypocrisy, in iniquity, nominated in corruption and shameless effrontery, even though his millions could elect him, would give us the most corrupt Administration the country has ever known. "Neither imperial dignities, nor the gloom of solitude," said Tacitus, "could save Tiberius from himself." And Tilden could not rise above himself, or above the sources of his power.

[It will surprise our readers to learn that the foregoing is taken from the democratic Cincinnati Enquirer. It was printed before Mr. Tilden's nomination, but we are not aware that it is any the less weighty for this reason. Except that it is marked by extreme bitterness, it might have appeared, originally, in any republican paper in the country. What must be Tilden's character when even his own party associates talk about him like this? If elected, "he will give us most corrupt administration the country has ever known;" that is the calm' deliberate judgment of one of his chief supporters. What do voters think of a candidate supported in this way?]

An Ohio delegate to the St. Louis convention (Hon. George W. Houk) gives the following reason, among others, why he cannot support Tilden: "Because Mr. Tilden is not in character or qualifications what he and his friends claim him to be. He has resorted to means to promote his own aspirations to the presidency that are unprecedented in this country, as they are disreputable. His record as a reformer has been seriously impeached by some of his most ardent supporters two years ago. His connection with railroad corporations and the Credit Mobilier swindles, as counsellor and adviser, is not such as to reflect credit upon his character as a lawyer, much less as a reformer; and as a hard-money man, the issue of some four millions of individual currency, in violation of law, subjecting him to heavy penalties, proves him to be a sham, and will require much explanation. He is not, in brief, such a man as even New York should have offered, much less such a man as the country should accept for the high office of President of the United States. In comparison of antecedents and character, he suffers much when placed beside the pure, straightforward and excellent man the republican party had the good sense to nominate for the presidency,—General Hayes."

—One morning a careless mason dropped a half brick from the second story of a building out on Jefferson street on which he was at work. Leaning over the wall and glancing downward, he discovered a respectable citizen, with his silk hat scrunched over his eyes and ears, rising from a recumbent posture. The mason, in tones of some apprehension, asked "Did that brick hit any one down there?" The citizen, with great difficulty extricating himself from the glove fitting extinguisher into which his hat had been transformed, replied, with considerable wrath, "Yes, sir, it did; it hit me." "That's right," exclaimed the mason, in tones of undisguised admiration; "noble man! I would rather have wasted a thousand bricks than have had you tell me a lie about it." This incident has a centennial moral, and a large reward is offered to any one who will discover what it is.—Burlington Hawk-Eye.

—The Chicago Times remarks: "The Inter-Ocean special correspondent now with the Crook expedition has lost his scalp. The circumstance, combined with the fact that the place is disagreeably raw, may explain to an astonished congregation why he walked into that West Side church yesterday with his hat on."

—Belated citizens returning home nights now look with suspicion on the wooden Indians seen loafing away their time in front of cigar stores.

What can be cured

Need not be endured, although what can't must be. Among the bodily ills susceptible of complete removal by that benign tonic and alterative, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, are general debility, malarial fevers, constipation, dyspepsia, liver disorder, and nervousness. Its remedial capabilities are, however, by no means limited to these maladies. Its properties as a blood depurent render it extremely serviceable in expelling the acrid impurities which produce those painful disorders, rheumatism and gout, and its invigorating and mildly stimulating effect upon the kidneys and bladder constitute it a useful medicine for impelling those organs to a complete performance of their functions when they are weak and inactive. In fact, there is scarcely any disease of which weakness is an accompaniment, in which this admirable medicine cannot be used with advantage.

The Gem of the Toilet

The world says is Sozodont. It renders the teeth pearly white, gives to the breath a fragrant odor, extinguishing the ill-humors which usually flow from a bad and neglected set of teeth. Sozodont is convenient, and produces a sensation at once so delightful that it makes it a pleasure to use it.

Spalding's Glue will mend your ways.

Whooping cough is greatly reduced in the length and severity of its "run" by the use of Adamson's Botanic Cough Balsam.

The stove makers are getting quite artistic in their wares. We learn that the "Belmonico" range, just issued from the extensive Rathbone Stove Works at Albany, is ornamented with rich carved mouldings, copies of bronze bas-relieffs, nickel strap hinges and escutcheon, and would adorn the window of a jewelry store.

Medicated Baths are Expensive. Not so, however, Gleen's Sulphur Soap, a cheap and efficient substitute, which answers the same purpose as far as local diseases of the skin, rheumatism and gout are concerned.

AMERICAN & FOREIGN PATENTS.

R. H. EDDY, SOLICITOR OF PATENTS,

For Inventions Trade Marks or Designs

NO. 76 STATE ST., OPPOSITE KILBY ST., BOSTON,

After an extensive practice of upwards of thirty years, continues to secure patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all papers for Patents, executed on reasonable terms with dispatch. Researches made to determine the validity and utility of Patents of Inventions, and legal and other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any patent furnished, by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.

No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.

All necessity for a journey to Washington to procure a Patent and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents."

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their application in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office. EDMUND BURKE, Late Commissioner of Patents.'

"MR. R. H. EDDY has made for me over THIRTY applications for Patents, having been successful in almost every case. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend ALL inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases and at very reasonable charges. JOHN TAGGART."

Mayoralty Caucus.

The caucus of the republicans of this city, for the purpose of nominating a candidate to be supported for the office of Mayor on Tuesday next, will be held this (Thursday) afternoon and evening at the Court House. The polls will be open from 4 o'clock until 8.

Jottings.

The new steam fire engine Moses H. Goodrich arrived Wednesday, over the Concord railroad.

The Heavy Artillery, Capt. Williams, go into camp at Rye Beach next week. They have a parade this evening.

The Fire Department have a parade this forenoon, to formally receive the new engine, and will "collate" in Franklin Hall, as guests of Company No. 4. The public trial of the engine will take place on Market square at 2 o'clock this afternoon.

Yachts White Wing, Com. Channing, Osprey, Capt. Brown, and Agnes, Capt. Peck, from Boston, arrived in this harbor Saturday evening, the 22d, and remained over Sunday. On Monday morning they had a rowing regatta in their respective tenders, for a silver cup, which was won by Mr. R. Williamson, of the Osprey; time, nine minutes, thirteen seconds. The race was witnessed by a large concourse of people and was quite a successful affair.

The Times says "The democracy are thoroughly aroused and have called a meeting to consider the situation, on Friday evening, and the republicans may as well understand now, as at any time, that unless they give us a fair election, there will be something else besides an election!" Don't get yourself in a state of perspiration, neighbor; "a fair election," which will not allow the aliens, minors and dead men of the old wards six and three to carry the democratic ticket, is just what your party does not want; every legal voter in the city will have a chance to vote once; illegal voting will be prohibited—and that's just what's the matter.

The following cases were disposed of by Judge Bufford on the 26th. William Sullivan, for stealing a shirt at Peyser & Kennedy's, fined $10, costs taxed at $8.04. Joseph J. Morrison, tramp, sixty days and costs. John Murphy, for assault on Edna Moody, $3 and costs: appealed. Murphy was also arraigned for assault on Ida Griswold and fined $3 and costs; for assault on Edward Parks he was discharged.

The insurance on the stable of Hon. F. W. Miller at Lincoln Hill, burnt by lightning July 10th, has been promptly and satisfactorily adjusted and settled at the agencies of John Sise and Morse & Haley the, Home Co. of New York, the Hartford, and the North America of Philadelphia, paying $1850 on the buildings, and about $600 on the contents.

Mr. John B. Parker, clerk of the Eastern Railroad Co., has called a meeting of the stockholders, and a meeting of the holders of certificates of indebtedness under its mortgage to Wm. C. Rogers, Wm. B. Bacon and Willard P. Phillips, trustees, dated Jude 22, 1876, to be held separately in Boston on the 21st of August, for the purpose of choosing directors.

A barn belonging to Capt. John Call, and formerly the property of Mr. Joseph Todd, at Kittery Point, was struck by lightning and burned, shortly after noon on the 26th. It was full of hay at the time.

News and Notes.

Mrs. Sullivan of Londonderry, aged 85, was thrown from a load of hay by the sudden starting of the horse last week, and broke her neck.

John Brennan and three other roughs were arrested in Brooklyn for not only fatally beating a man in Brennan's rummery, but for setting a bull-dog on him, who tore the victim fearfully.

The American Journal of Medical Sciences, for the quarter ending July, is issued, and contains the usual large amount of matter of interest and value to the medical profession. Henry C. Lee, publisher, Philadelphia; $5 per year.

Hattie Emery, youngest daughter of J. M. Emery, a merchant of Suncook, had a very narrow escape from being drowned. While standing on the wall of a reservoir she lost her balance and fell in. Alarm was given by some children, and assistance came as soon as possible. She was going down for the third time, when Mrs. James Fellows and Mrs. Wooster heroically leaped into the water and rescued her.

The dory Centennial, from Gloucester, Mass., for Europe, was spoken July 14, lat 43, lon. 47.

Tammany had a grand ratification meeting in New York, on the evening of the 26th, and decided that "Tilden, Hendricks and reform" is the ticket for Boss Tweed's old pals to support. Boss Kelly introduced that true patriot, true gentleman and sturdy stickler for truth and purity, Charles A. Dana of the Sun, who presided, endorsed the purity and patriotism of the democratic party, and announced the necessity of "establishing the principles of the St. Louis platform." [He neglected to state whether he referred to the platform as passed, or to the "doctored" one.] Dana thinks he sees his pathway clear to the New York custom house at last, after all these years' weary waiting.

At Concord, on the afternoon of the 25th, as the shifter was setting some freight cars into the covered freight depot, Michael Cashene, a laborer, who was employed about the station, was caught between one of the cars and the platform and instantly killed. He was about sixty-five years old and unmarried.

Interesting But Indefinite.

"The procession was very fine, nearly two miles in length, as was also the prayer of the chaplain."

"Notice. No one can venture on this pond except at the risk of being drowned by order of Selectmen."

A hotel is advertised as "kept by the widow of Mr. Brown who died last summer on a new and improved plan."

"A child was run over by a wagon, three years old and cross-eyed, with pantalettes on, that never spoke afterward."

A Vermont paper states that "a girl at St. Johnsbury cut open her nose so that it had to be sewed up by falling from a fence."

An Iowa paper says: "It is only twenty-one years since the first house was erected in Burlington and it now contains 30,120 inhabitants."

A boarding-house in Greensburg advertises to "furnish gentlemen with pleasant and comfortable rooms, also one or two gentlemen with wives."

The witness said that he met a man coming down stairs with one eye named John Smith. The lawyer asked, "And what was the name of the other eye?"

A furrier, lamenting the tricks of unprincipled men in his trade, "earnestly requests ladies to bring him in their skins and have them made up into muffs and boas."

Morse's Geography said of Albany, that "it consists of about two hundred houses, mostly inhabited by Dutchmen, standing with their gable-ends toward the street."

An editor wrote, "we have received a basket of strawberries from Mr. Smith, for which he will accept our compliments, some of which are four inches in circumference."

The following notice was posted at St. James' church, London: "On Sunday next the afternoon service will commence at half-past three and continue until further notice."

In an account of a steamer accident out West, a paper states that "the only passengers were T. B. Nathan, who owned three-fourths of the cargo and the captain's wife."

After quoting a poem, an editor added that "these lines were composed by a young man of great promise, who has lain in his grave for fourteen years solely for his own amusement."

A preacher remarked to the surprise of his congregation, that "a young man was found lying in the gutter in this village last Sunday when I was preaching from this pulpit in a state of beastly intoxication."

An exchange states the "the schooner Albatross was wrecked on the coast of Newfoundland on the 11th inst., the captain swimming ashore, and the female cook also, she being insured for $15,000 and heavily laden with iron."

Hurrying a Hanging.

In the olden time in Plumas county a man was arrested for murder, tried and convicted and sentenced to be hanged. The case was taken to the Supreme Court on appeal. Finally a decision was filed affirming the judgment of the Court below, and directing that the defendant be resentenced to death. In those days the Sacramento Union was about the only paper circulating in that remote county, and whatever appeared in its columns was taken as being undoubtedly the fact The number containing the Supreme Court decision arrived at the county seat, and the Sheriff saw it, and concluded that the matter was settled finally. So, walking into the jail he addressed the defendant with, "Well, the Supreme Court has affirmed the judgment in your case; it's printed in the Sacramento Union."

"Is it?" said the prisoner; "that's very rough, but I guess I'll have to stand it."

"Well," said the Sheriff, "I have got to hang you; you have been in here a good while, an expense to the county, and the sooner the thing is over the better."

"There is no use being in a hurry," said the prisoner; "give a fellow a chance to get ready."

"How will the first of next week suit you?" asked the Sheriff.

"Oh, what's the use of all that hurry; call it the last of the week."

"Well, we will split the difference and call it Wednesday afternoon," said the officer.

This was acqiesced in by the party in interest, and at the appointed time he was taken out and hanged.

At the opening of the District Court at the following term Judge R. H. Taylor, now of Virginia City, who was then on the bench, inquired of the clerk if the remittitur had been sent down, and being advised in the affirmative, said: "I guess we had better have the prisoner brought up this morning and resentenced." He was rather surprised when the Sheriff innocently informed him that the law had already been fully satisfied, and that the criminal had been sent before a court whence there could be no appeal.—Sacramento (Cal.) Bee.

Does a Bird Die a Natural Death?

It is the opinion of some naturalists that birds never die what is called a natural death, but come to their end by some murderous or accidental means; yet I have found sparrows and vireos in the fields and woods dead or dying, that bore no marks of violence; and I remember that once in my childhood a red-bird fell down in the yard exhausted and was brought in by the girl; its bright scarlet image is indelibly stamped upon my recollection. On another occasion I picked up a bird that appeared well but could not keep its center of gravity when in flight, and so fell to the ground. One reason why dead birds and animals are so rarely found is, that on the approach of death their instinct prompts them to creep away in some hole or under some cover, where they would be least liable to fall a prey to their natural enemies. It is doubtful if any of the game birds, like the pigeon and grouse, ever die of old age, or the semi-game birds, like the bobolink, or the "century-living" crow; but in what other form can death overtake the humming-bird, or even the swift and the barn-swallow? Such are true birds of the air; they may be occasionally lost at sea during their migrations, but, so far as I know, they are not preyed upon by any other species.—Scribner.

—The Gospel Banner remarks that Robbins, commonly known as the "Annie B. murderer," made no resistance when he was taken at Rockland and sent back to the insane asylum, and adds benevolently, that "he is gentlemanly, and one of the most orderly men and best boarders in the institution."

—English boiler-makers and French balloonists are trying to see who can send their machines the highest. According to the latest accounts, the steam boiler was half a mile ahead.

PROPOSALS FOR SUPPLIES.

NAVY PAY OFFICE, }
PORTSMOUTH, N. H., July 24, 1876. }

Proposals, sealed and enclosed in the envelope, "Bid for supplies advertised" will be received at this office until 12 o'clock 1st August next, for the following supplies of the best quality to be delivered free of expense at the Navy Yard, Kittery, Maine, immediately upon the award being made, subject to the usual inspection, viz:

BUREAU OF YARDS AND DOCKS.

5 Tons (2240 lbs.) English Cannel Coal.
200 Tons White Ash Anthracite Coal, Steamboat size (2240 lbs, to Ton.)
75 Tons White Ash Anthracite Coal, Stove size (2240 lbs. to Ton.)
3 Casks 1800 lbs. Dry White Lead.

All of the above to be of the best quality of its kind. The Coal is to be discharged into carts provided by the Government, and the quantity delivered to be paid for at the weights of the Navy Yard Scales.

The right is reserved to reject any or all bids that may not be deemed advantageous to the Government, and to award each article or item separate, as may be most to its interest.

Responsible security required for the prompt and faithful delivery of supplies awarded within the time specified.

Blank forms will be furnished at this office and bids opened at the hour above named, when parties interested are invited to be present.

A. J. CLARK,
Paymaster U. S. Navy.

PILOT BREAD.

This kind of bread having come into extensive family use, it has been my purpose to furnish, from choice materials, an article which should meet the approval of the most fastidious as to neatness, looks and taste. Whether I have succeeded in giving to the public a PILOT BREAD,

SUPERIOR IN EXCELLENCE,

the consumer may be the judge; that the quality will not be subject to depreciate, the past with the present is my best pledge. That I can compete with all the various qualities of Pilot Bread in the market, as to price, I make no pretensions,—but in price, all things being equal, I fear no competition.

JOHN PEARSON, Jr.,

The Charter Amendment.

STATE OF NEW HAMPSHIRE.

In the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and seventy-six.

AN ACT in amendment of the charter of the City of Portsmouth.

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives in General Court convened:

Section 1. The City of Portsmouth hereby is and shall continue to be divided into four wards, which shall be constituted as follows:

Ward One shall contain all that part of said city situated northerly of a line beginning at the Piscataqua river at the Spring market, and running through the centre of Bow street and Market street, through Market square and the centre of Congress street and Islington street to a point opposite Cass street: thence by the easterly line of land of Thomas Wardwell to the track of the Eastern Railroad, thence through the centre of said track to Creek street, thence through the centre of Creek street to Bartlett street, thence through the centre of Bartlett street to Woodbury street, thence through the centre of Woodbury street to Newington road, thence through the centre of Newington road to Dodge's lane, so called, thence through the centre of said lane to the westerly end thereof, thence by a direct line to the junction of Sherburne road with the new road leading from Myrtle street to Newington, thence through the centre of said new road to the line between Portsmouth and Newington.

Ward Two shall contain all that part of said city included within a line beginning at the Spring market and running through the centre of Bow street and Market street; through Market square and the centre of Congress street and Islington street to Cass street; thence through the centre of Cass street to a point opposite the centre of State street, thence by a direct line to the junction of Middle road and Lafayette road, thence through the centre of Lafayette road and South road to Richards avenue, thence by a direct line to Wentworth street, thence through the centre of Wentworth street to the centre of Pleasant street, thence to and through the centre of Washington street, to Puddle dock, thence through said dock to the river, and by the river to the point begun at.

Ward Three shall contain all that part of said city lying westerly of Wards One and Two and the centre line of Lafayette road.

Ward Four shall contain all that part of said city not included in the above described wards, including all the islands except Noble's island.

Section 2. The annual meeting of the legal voters of said city, for the choice of city and ward officers, shall be holden on the first Tuesday of August in each year; and all city or ward officers who are chosen by the people shall be chosen by ballot, and shall hold their respective offices for one year from and including the second Tuesday of August, and until others are chosen and qualified in their stead.

Section 3. The board of aldermen of said city shall consist of nine members, of whom Wards One and Two shall each choose three, Ward Three shall choose one, and Ward Four shall choose two; and the common council shall consist of eighteen members, of whom Wards One and Two shall choose six each, Ward Three shall choose two, and Ward Four shall choose four.

The board of assessors of taxes for said city shall consist of nine members, of whom Wards One and Two shall each choose three, Ward Three shall choose one, and Ward Four shall choose two.

There shall also be chosen in each of said wards one overseer of the poor.

Section 4. At the annual city election the several wards shall each choose as many persons to serve as school committee as they are entitled to choose aldermen, respectively, who shall hold their office for one year, and until others are chosen and qualified in their stead. The committee so chosen shall annually elect a high school committee of three members from their own number, or otherwise. The members of the high school committee may sit and act with the school committee; and the committees so chosen and constituted shall have the same powers and perform all the duties which now by law appertain to the school committee and high school committee, respectively.

Section 5. The mayor, aldermen and common council shall hereafter meet in convention for the purpose of taking the oaths of their respective offices on the second Tuesday of August in each year, at ten o'clock in the forenoon; and on said day the city councils shall, in joint convention, and by joint ballot, elect a city clerk, who shall be qualified and enter upon the discharge of the duties of his office on the second Tuesday of August in each year; provided, however, in the case of a vacancy or a failure to elect on said second Tuesday of August, said vacancy may be filled or election made at any other time.

Section 6. All city officers, with the exception of city clerk, who are now required to be chosen or appointed by the mayor and aldermen, or by the city councils in joint convention, shall be so chosen or appointed in the month of August in each year, or as soon thereafter as may be convenient.

Section 7. The mayor, aldermen, common council, assessors of taxes, overseers of the poor, and school committee, now in office in said city, shall hold their respective offices until the second Tuesday of August next, and until others are chosen and qualified in their stead, and no longer; and all officers now in office in said city, elected by the city councils or appointed by the mayor and aldermen, shall hold their respective offices until others are elected and qualified in their stead, and no longer. All such officers shall be entitled to receive pay only for such portions of the year as they may have served.

Section 8. The mayor of said city shall have a negative upon the action of the aldermen in laying out highways and streets, and in all matters appertaining to railroads in which said city may be interested, and no vote relating to these subjects can be passed over his veto, unless by a vote of two thirds at least, of all the aldermen elected.

Section 9. In balloting for State, county, city, and ward officers, school committee, representative to Congress, or electors of president and vice-president of the United States, the ballots for so many of said officers or persons there to be voted for in the different wards of said city shall be given in by the voter on one list or ballot, or so many of such officers or persons as the voter determines to vote for, with the respective offices designated against the name of each person voted for.

Section 10. At all elections held in said city, for State, county, city, and ward officers, representative to Congress, or electors of president and vice-president of the United States, the polls shall be closed at six o'clock in the afternoon of the day of election and of the day of any adjournment from that day, and no ballot shall be given in, received, or placed in the ballot-box after the striking of six o'clock of the day when the balloting takes place.

Section 11. There is hereby established in said city a board, to be called inspectors of check-lists, to consist of seven persons, of whom at each annual election the first and second wards shall each choose two, and the third and fourth wards shall each choose one. The persons thus chosen having been first sworn, in the manner prescribed for town officers, shall choose a chairman from their own number; they shall also choose a clerk, who shall be ex-officio a member of the board of inspectors, and shall be sworn. A certificate of the oaths of all the members shall be recorded by the city clerk. The clerk of the inspectors shall keep a record of the proceedings of the board; he shall continue in office until his successor is chosen and qualified.

Section 12. Said inspectors shall prepare, post, revise, and correct, in the manner selectmen of towns are required to do, an alphabetical list of the legal voters in each ward; and for that purpose shall have access to any books or lists belonging to said city, or to any ward in said city, and shall have the assistance of any of the city or ward officers they may require; and they shall deliver an attested copy of the lists of voters so prepared and corrected to the clerks of the respective wards before the opening of any meeting of the voters; and the said ward clerks shall use the lists of voters so prepared and corrected, and no others, at the elections in said wards. In preparing the lists of voters, said inspectors shall record the first or Christian name of each voter in full, but may use initial letters to designate the middle name or names of any voter; they shall also record against the name of each voter the name of the street and number of the dwelling, if numbered, in which said voter resides; if not numbered, then such description as shall indicate as nearly as possible the residence of such voter.

Section 13. The said board of inspectors shall be in public session at the city building, or such other place as they may designate, for the purpose of revising and correcting the lists of voters, three days at least, within fourteen days next preceeding the day of election, the last two days of such sessions to be held within one week of said election, from 9 o'clock A. M. to 12 M., and from 2 to 5 o'clock P. M., on each of said days. Due notice of such public sessions shall be given. The inspectors shall hear all applications for the insertion of any name upon said lists, or the erasure of any name therefrom, and may examine the party or any witnesses thereto upon oath, which may be administered by any member of the board. They shall insert the name of every legal voter omitted, and erase the name of every person not a legal voter; and when any name has been placed upon said lists, it shall not be stricken therefrom except in open session. The inspectors may prescribe such regulations, and require the aid of such police, as shall secure order and the right of each person to be heard; and there shall be no abridgment of the franchise, or other qualification required than those prescribed by the laws of this State. The said board shall also be in session from 8 to 10 A. M., and from 1 to 2 o'clock P. M., on the day of election; and in case the name of any person has been omitted from the check-lists, and the said board are satisfied is a legal voter, agreeably to the provisions of section five of chapter twenty-eight of the General Statutes, the inspectors shall certify the same to the moderator of the ward in which he is entitled to vote, who shall receive his vote, and the ward clerk shall check the name of such person so voting on the back of said certificate, and shall return the same to the clerk of the inspectors with the check-lists.

Section 14. As soon as a declaration of votes shall have been made at any election, the moderator shall deliver all the ballots given in to the clerk of the ward, and the said clerk shall seal up said ballots, and direct and deliver the same, together with the lists of voters used at said election, and a copy of the declaration of votes attested by himself, within one hour after the adjournment of such meeting, to the clerk of the board of inspectors, who shall receipt for the same, and immediately lay them before the said board, who shall be in session to receive them, and who shall preserve the ballots for six months; provided, however, that such parts only of sections twelve and thirteen of this act as the board of inspectors shall deem necessary shall apply in special elections.

Section 15. The board of inspectors shall enter upon the back of the lists of voters used in each ward at the annual meeting for the election of representatives to the General Court, within one week after such meeting, the name of every male inhabitant of the age of twenty-one years and upward who were not legal voters, but were and had been for six months next preceding such annual meeting actual residents of the ward, or who had paid a tax in said city for the year preceding such annual meeting, as ratable polls, and the certificates of election of representatives to the General Court from the several wards shall be made out, certified, and signed by the clerk of the said board of inspectors; and the clerk of said board shall certify that the check-list of the ward was duly posted and used during the balloting on which such representative was chosen, the number of ratable polls in such ward, and the number of voters upon the check-list, as corrected on the day of such annual meeting. The clerk of each ward shall make out a fair and exact copy of the record of all votes given in at the annual meeting for the election of representatives to the General Court and shall certify upon said copy that the check-list was used during the balloting on which such representatives were chosen, and that the same is a true copy of said record, and shall seal said copy, and direct and deliver the same to the clerk of the board of inspectors, with a superscription upon the same expressing the purport thereof, within two days after such meeting.

Section 16. If the moderator, selectmen, or ward clerk, or any other person, shall alter any check-list after the same shall have been delivered by the inspectors to the ward clerk, by adding any name or names thereto, or erasing any name or names therefrom, or in any way changing the lists, such officer or person so offending shall be punished by a fine not exceeding five hundred dollars, or by imprisonment in the county jail not exceeding six months; and any officer or person neglecting or refusing to comply with the terms and requirements of sections ten, eleven, twelve, thirteen, fourteen, or fifteen of this act, or offending against the provisions thereof, shall be punished by a like fine or imprisonment.

Section 17. The board of inspectors of check-lists in said city of Portsmouth at every meeting of the legal voters of each ward in said city for the choice of state and county officers, representatives in congress, or electors of president and vice-president of the United States, shall, before the check-lists are delivered to the clerks of the several wards, take and subscribe on the back of the check-lists to be used at such meetings the following oath, which may be taken before the city clerk, or any justice of the peace or notary public, the blank in the same being first properly filled: We, the inspectors of check-lists in the city of Portsmouth, do solemnly swear that, according to our best knowledge, the within list contains the names of those persons only who are by actual residence legal voters in ward ——— in said city. So help us God. The clerk or magistrate before whom said oath is taken shall make on the back of said check-list a certificate thereof.

Section 18. The board of inspectors of check-lists in said city shall take and subscribe on the back of the check-lists used at the annual meeting the following oath, which may be taken before the city clerk or any justice of the peace or notary public, the blank in the same being first properly filled: We, the inspectors of check-lists in the city of Portsmouth, do solemnly swear that, according to our best knowledge, the names of those persons only who were not legal voters at the last annual meeting, but were actual residents and ratable polls in ward ——— in said city are entered upon the back of the within list. So help us God. The clerk or magistrate before whom said oath is taken shall make on the back of said check-list a certificate thereof.

Section 19. Any inspector who shall swear falsely, in taking either of the oaths prescribed by this act, shall be taken and deemed to be guilty of wilful and corrupt perjury, and be liable to the punishment prescribed therefor.

Amendment to Section 19.

And if any inspector, appointed under the provisions of this act, shall wilfully, fraudulently, or wickedly place upon any check-list the name of any person who is not a legal voter in the ward to which the check-list belongs, or shall consent thereto, or suffer or permit the name of any person not a lawful voter in the ward to be or remain on the check-list, or shall refuse to place upon such check-list the name of any person who is a legal voter in the ward, or shall neglect or refuse to attend to the duties of his office or to hear fairly and fully all applications for the correction of any check-list, or shall in any way conduct dishonestly, unfairly, or unjustly in the discharge of the duties of his office, he shall be punished by imprisonment in the county jail, not exceeding six months, and by fine not exceeding five hundred dollars, to the use of the county of Rockingham.

Section 20. In making out the certificate of any representative from any ward in any city, the clerk of the board of inspectors shall certify whether or not the foregoing oaths prescribed by the seventeenth and eighteenth sections of this act were taken and subscribed by the inspectors on the back of the check-list used in each ward at the annual meeting.

Section 21. The following named persons, being first duly sworn, may call the first meeting of the legal voters in the several wards of said city as constituted by this act, to be held on the first Tuesday of August next, for the choice of city and ward officers, inspectors of check-lists, and school committee,—namely, John H. Locke, William C. Ham, and Emanuel Charlesworth, or any two of them, may call said meeting in Ward One; William A. Ashe, Cooper Morris Tredick and Benjamin M. Pa[illegible] or any two of them, in Ward Two; [illegible] A. C. Gray, William Sladden and Edward D. Coffin, or any two of them, in Ward Three; William B. Randall, George M. Ayers and William F. Russell, or any two of them, in Ward Four,—who shall prepare, post up, revise, and correct, in the manner in which selectmen in said city have heretofore been required to do, an alphabetical list of the voters in each of said wards to which they are hereby respectively assigned, and they shall issue and serve their warrants for said meeting of the legal voters in their respective wards for the choice of all city and ward officers, inspectors of check-lists, and school committee, who are elected by the people. Such warrants shall be posted at least fourteen days before the time appointed for said meeting, and shall designate the time and place for the meetings of the respective wards.

At said meeting, and until inspectors of check-lists and selectmen shall be elected and qualified in their stead, they shall exercise in their respective wards all the rights and perform all the duties which have heretofore been incumbent upon selectmen in said city.

They may appoint for each of said wards in which they respectively act as selectmen, a moderator and clerk, who, being first duly sworn, may perform all the duties now incumbent upon said officers, until others are chosen and qualified in their stead.

Section 22. Any person qualified to vote at any meeting held within six months from the passage of this act, in any ward as now constituted, shall have the right to vote in the ward in which he shall become an inhabitant, by the provisions of this act.

Section 23. That the act entitled "An Act in amendment of the charter of the city of Portsmouth" approved July second, one thousand eight hundred and seventy-four, and all acts and parts of acts inconsistent with this act, so far as they relate to the city of Portsmouth, are hereby repealed.

Section 24. This act shall take effect from its passage.

Health Regulations.

THE BOARD OF HEALTH OF THE CITY OF PORTSMOUTH call the attention of the public to the following sections of Chapter 16, of the Revised Ordinances, and invite all interested in the preservation of health in our city to aid them in the execution of their duty:

SEC. 3. All waste water of houses, yards, cellars, sinks, pumps, etc., shall be conveyed by their owners or occupiers into the common sewers, or to such places as the Health Officers may direct.

SEC. 4. No person shall be allowed to throw any vegetable or dead animal substance, or any other matter capable of producing infection, into any street, lane, alley or dock, or upon any wharf, but shall bury them or th ow them into the river below low-water mark.

SEC. 5. The contents of vaults and privies shall not be permitted to rise within one foot of the surface of the earth. And all owners or occupiers of buildings having such vaults or privies as may require it, shall cause them to be emptied within ten days from the promulgation of this ordinance, and in future on or before the the first day of May in each year. And any such owner or occupier neglecting so to do, shall forfeit and pay for every such neglect a sum not less than three nor more than twenty dollars, and a like sum for every week's neglect after the time above specified.

SEC. 6. No vender of meat at the stalls shall be permitted to leave any stale meat, heads, feet or offal of any kind about their stalls or stores over night, or suffer them to be thrown into any street, lane or alley of the city. Nor shall any sellers of fish be permitted to throw any offal of fish into any street, lane or alley of the city, or upon any wharf, but shall either bury them or throw them into the river beyond low-water mark.

SEC. 7. If any dead animal or decaying vegetable substance, or any other nuisance, shall be found in any part of the city, the owners or occupiers of the premises where such nuisance shall be found, shall cause the same to be removed within twenty-four hours after being notified so to do by one or more of the health officers.

SEC. 12. When any householder shall know that any person within his family is taken sick of the small pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, he shall immediately give notice thereof to the Health Officers.

SEC. 13. When any physician shall know that any person whom he is called to visit is infected with the small pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, such physician shall immediately give notice thereof to the Health Officers.

SEC. 14. If any such householder or physician shall refuse or neglect to give the notice required in the preceding sections, he shall for each refusal or neglect, forfeit the sum of twenty dollars, to be recovered by either of the Health Officers in the name of the city.

SEC. 16. The Health Officers may give written notice to the owner or occupier of any building, vessel or enclosure, to remove or destroy any nuisance or other thing deemed by them on examination, to be injurious to the public health, within a certain time limited therein: and in case such owner or occupier—the said notice having been given to him, or left at his usual place of abode—shall neglect to comply therewith, the said Health Officers may, by direction of the mayor and accompanied by the city marshal, forcibly enter such building, vessel, or enclosure, and cause said nuisance or other thing aforesaid to be removed or destroyed.

SEC. 21. No person shall erect, keep or continue, or permit to be erected, kept or continued, upon any land occupied by him, any pen for the keeping of swine, or privy, over either of the mill ponds in this city, or so placed that offensive substances therefrom shall be discharged or drained into either of said ponds, or into any creek, or cove, or drain leading thereto. And no person shall construct, keep or continue any drain leading from any pen for the keeping of any swine, slaughter-house, privy vault, or other unwholesome or offensive place, into either of said ponds, or to any flat or marsh adjoining the same. And no person shall throw or cause or to be thrown from his land into either of said ponds, or upon any of said flats or marshes, any dead, decaying, unwholesome or offensive animal or vegetable substances.

ARMSTRONG'S

LINCOLN BUTTER POWDER.

Good Fresh Butter All The Year Round.

BUTTER IN 20 MINUTES.

Lincoln Butter Powder is an entirely harmless article made from a celebrated English recipe, and now in daily use by many of the most noted farmers in the butter counties around Philadelphia.

In hot weather this Powder makes butter much firmer and sweeter than is usually the case, and keeps it from turning rancid. It also removes the strong flavor of turnips, weeds, corn stalks, cotton seed, etc.; and the increased yield of butter is much more than pays the trifling expense of using it.

French Strategy.

When the French were in Mexico the stage robberies in the vicinity of Monterey became almost as frequent as they are getting to be between here and Kingsbury. With the practical common sense for which the French are distinguished when they go about killing people the French General at Monterey devised a plan that worked like a charm. He picked out half a dozen of his smallest Zouaves and dressed them up as females and put them in the stage. Each unprotected female had a short breech-loading carbine concealed under his petticoats, and they covered their demure faces by veils. Of course the robbers surrounded the stage, and the ladies, with an excess of feminine modesty climbed out of the vehicle and fell in line with the rest of the passengers, when of a sudden an epidemic broke out among those Mexican patriots, for each lady, on an average, destroyed about three of them, and the rest lost all taste for female society and went away disgusted. The ladies returned to town in high glee, but for a long time the Mexican bandits entertained such a lofty veneration for the gentler sex than an old bonnet and a shawl displayed conspicuously in a stage secured it immunity from interruption.—San Antonio Herald.

Blinders for Horses.

A foreign authority says—"We never could see what vice or deformity lay in the horse's eye that should make it necessary to cover it, and shut out its owner from at least two thirds of his rightful vision. The poets say that old age looks backward, but we never heard of such an idiosyncrasy upon horses. The theory that a horse is less likely to be frightened when shut out from everything behind him, we suspect to be a fallacy, else saddle horses and war-horses would be duly blinded. Every horse is as familiar with his own carriage as his own tail; and as far as 'personal' fortitude is concerned, is no more afraid of being pursued by one than the other. As for other scarecrows that come behind, they are mostly so familiar that the more fully the animal can perceive them the more quietly does he submit to their approach. Then it is such a pity to cover up one of the most brilliant features of this brilliant creature. The horse has borne such a part in the civilization of this rough-and-tumble world that it seems not so much a cruelty as a discourtesy, as well as a disgrace, to cloth him with embarassing toggery. No wonder we estimate the force in the world as horse-power. No wonder the Romans and the Germans, each in their own language designate their aristocracy as riders; no wonder their descendants made chivalry a synonym for their highest virtue. Let the horse be given his due sight and unblinded."

A Nevada Yarn.

The trial of an amateur cornet player named Montrose, on a charge of disturbing the public peace, is reported in the Virginia City Chronicle. Mrs. Johnson, his landlady, testified that when he came to her house it was full of boarders, but that many of them left at the end of a week because they had not slept well. A boarder swore that Montrose played at all hours of the night, but that he couldn't play more than three consecutive notes without stopping to take breath, and that his performance was of a nature sufficiently excruciating to drive an ordinary man insane. A man who lived two blocks away testified that he had once got out of bed, supposing that the noise was made by a cow that he had lost a few days before. A second boarder didn't like the music, and had frequently gone up in the canon and laid down in an old tunnel to get some sleep. He was of the opinion that a man living in the next block would have no grounds for complaint provided he stuffed enough cotton in his ears to shut out the sound. "How much cotton would be necessary to accomplish this result?" the prosecuting attorney asked. "I think an ordinary bale of New Orleans cotton XX prime might last a man two weeks—if his ears were like yours, it might take more," was the reply. An old man, put on the stand for the defence, said that the sound of the cornet lulled him to sleep. In cross-examination, however, the opposing lawyer whistled, "Beautiful Blue Danube," and the witness swore on oath that in his opinion the tune was "Yankee Doodle." The only other witness for Montrose had never been disturbed by the cornet, although he slept in the next room; but the fact came out that he was too deaf to hear any thing fainter than a steam whistle. Montrose was fined ten dollars.

John Callender.

Out of the many instances of individual bravery which must have signalized this fearful struggle, few have been preserved; but one that has been, lights up the melancholy darkness of the scene with a peculiar brightness. At the battle of Bunker Hill, John Callender, a captain of artillery, had withdrawn from the battle, and disobeyed Putnam's orders to return. The battle over, Putnam declared if Callender were not cashiered or shot, he would himself leave the service. A court-martial convicted him of cowardice and dismissed him "from all further service in the Continental army as an officer." Coward or not, he was brave enough to step down into the ranks of the company he had commanded. The 27th of August found him on the heights overlooking Flatbush. His captain and lieutenant had fallen, and his companions were beginning to retreat. Springing in front of them, he ordered them to return and man their pieces. For a time his courage nourished theirs; but at length he stood alone, charging a field-piece, while his comrades were swept away by a tremendous onset of the enemy. Courting death, he made no signal of surrender when the hostile bayonets were at his breast; but a brave officer interfered in his behalf, and he was made a prisoner. Washington, hearing of his conduct, ordered the sentence against him to be erased and his command to be restored to him; and when, a year later, he was exchanged, he gave him his hand before the army, in token of his great respect and admiration. He left the service at the end of the war with an enviable reputation.—Harper's for August.

FOR PRESIDENT,

Rutherford B. Hayes,

OF OHIO.

FOR VICE PRESIDENT,

William A. Wheeler,

OF NEW YORK.

Hayes' Platform in War.

In 1864, when Hayes was in the army, being nominated for Congress he was requested to come home and stump his district. His reply was, "I have other business just now. Any man who would leave the army at this time to electioneer for Congress ought to be scalped!"

Hayes' Platform in Peace.

"Honest money for all, and free schools for all. There should be no inflation which will depreciate the one, nor sectarian interference which will destroy the other."

News and Notes.

A despatch from Newport, R. I., says: "Mariners will regret to learn that the signal station at this place is to be discontinued from lack of funds, the Signal Officer receiving the following despatch on the 25th: 'Discontinue observations at signal station after taking observations at midnight July 31, and report at Washington with everything belonging to the office.' The station was established here about a year ago, and it was of great benefit to the large fleet of coastwise vessels which put into this port for harbor." Democratic "economy;" the rebel brigadiers want the two or three hundred dollars annually required to run the Newport signal station, to help make up the half-million appropriated for the improvement of harbors in the Alleghany mountains.

The Governor and Council have made appointments as follows: State historian, Nathaniel Bouton of Concord; special justice of Laconia police court, Samuel W. Sanders; special justice of Nashua police court, Charles P. Danforth; justice of Pittsfield police court, John T. Hill; solicitor of Merrimac county, Daniel J. Bernard of Franklin; special commissioner for Boston and Maine Railroad, Hosea B. Carter of Hampstead; agents to expend appropriations for roads, Jonathan Jewell of Gorham, road in Pinkham woods, and Charles R. Milliken of the Glen House for the White Mountain Notch roads.

Stanley, the African explorer, has been heard from after a year's silence.

Three convicts escaped from Massachusetts State Prison on the 26th, but two were recaptured within an hour.

Senator Caperton, of West Virginia, died in Washington on the 26th.

Josiah Hall, aged about 75, dropped dead on Water street, Exeter, on the 25th. Heart disease was the cause.

A French girl from Plaistow has been perambulating the streets of Exeter in male attire. Officers were put on her track, and she left suddenly for parts unknown.

Capt. Rowland, of the yacht "Mohawk," has been again arrested.

On the 25th United States Marshal Patterson arrested Wm. L. Pike and Luke Cole, prominent democrats of Stark, for false swearing in procuring, at a recent term of the Court in Coos county, naturalization papers for one Sheridan. They swore that the applicant had resided in the United States five years, while it is claimed he had only lived here three years. Upon being arraigned before United States Commissioner Hiram A. Fletcher of Lancaster they waived examination and were held to bail in a thousand dollars each for their appearance at the next October term of the United States Circuit Court at Exeter.

Four inches of snow fell on the summit of Mount Washington on the 26th.

The Servian rising against their Turkish oppressors is pronounced a failure.

The New York correspondent of the democratic Cincinnatic Enquirer writes his paper that Tilden is worth $15,000,000; that he is spending money lavishly for campaign purposes, and has spent $30,000 for pictures of himself representing him twenty years younger than he really is.

If the democratic editors understand the meaning of the adage "People who live in glass houses should not throw stones," they will stop circulating their slanderous despatches concerning General Grant's habits. Otherwise they may be obliged to consider evidence which they will not like to examine concerning the condition of their candidate for President the night he received the news of his nomination.—N. Y. Times.

It turns out that the President has not pardoned Avery, and so the democratic and "independent" press can cork their indignation over that act. It is equally well established that the President was not displeased with Governor Hayes' admirable letter of acceptance, and so another malicious falsehood about the present occupant of the White House joins a thousand others that have been exploded. Still the democratic and "independent" press will keep right on lying about Grant until Hayes is elected.

"Impromptu" Tarbox, the little creature who thought himself a match for James G. Blaine and was so wofully undeceived when Mr. Blaine took him across his knee, says "Nobody will slander Hayes, for slander, like death, loves a shining mark." Tarbox can rejoice that he is safe from both slander and death, at that rate.

The "Patriotic" Plank.

Few democratic Northern papers have the audacity to publish that resolution of their late National convention, which commits the party to the payment of United States pensions to rebel soldiers. This has been, and is, a favorite policy at the South; but is now for the first time publicly inaugurated as a national party measure. It was a demand of the South to which the North basely yielded; a sacrifice of loyal principle for rebel votes; the premium offered for democratic power; the entering wedge by which all Southern losses occasioned by the war—slaves included—are to be admitted and paid. The policy is insulting to the honor and patriotism of the Union men who contributed to the success of the war. Even the convention itself dared not defy Northern public sentiment by an open and square announcement of this odious doctrine, but reached it by indirection, covertly and insidiously. Plain words, comprehensible at once and by all, were not within their purpose, but the meaning of the resolution is unmistakable, and the democracy should not be permitted to escape its intendment.

Resolved, That the soldiers and sailors of the Republic, and the widows and orphans of those who have fallen in battle, have a just claim upon the care, protection and gratitude of their fellow-citizens.

Had it been intended simply to approve present pension laws, a few brief words would have sufficed. But such was not the purpose of the convention. It was to open the doors and let down the bars that millions might be appropriated from the national treasury for pensions to Southern rebel soldiers. The resolution does not say that loyal soldiers and sailors have a just claim upon the government; not that those who fell in defense of the Constitution and the country are entitled to gratitude; not that those who saved the nation are within the protecting arms; but that all who fought and fell, within the Republic, however and wherever fighting, loyal or disloyal, union or rebel, destroyers as well as saviours, have equal claims upon the gratitude and care of the government, and are equally worthy of an inscription upon its pension rolls; that all distinction between loyalty and disloyalty shall be blotted out, and that henceforth those who traitorously sought to overturn, equally with those who sought to uphold the Constitution and the laws in the dark hours of civil war, are to be the democratic wards of a common people. The animus of the convention is manifest from the fact that the resolution did not exclude rebel soldiers from the benefit of the pension laws.

There can be no mistake as to what "the Republic" was and is. It was the same, before, during and since the war. It was and is the North, South, East and West, and coextensive with its entire boundaries. True, the Constitution was practically suspended in certain localities for a time, but yet it was the supreme law everywhere. The soldiers and sailors of the South, equally with those of the North, were and are soldiers and sailors of the Republic, and, under the resolution, it is immaterial whether they fell in the North or in the South.

The resolution was cautiously drawn. Its words were purposely insidious, but its meaning unmistakably clear; and should the democracy unfortunately be invested with power, the South will demand, and the democratic North will admit, the endorsement by the people of the resolution which approves "United States Pensions to Rebel Soldiers." Are the Unionists of the North and West ready for the humiliation? Haverhill Gazette.

—Thirty years ago a young man entered the city of New York, in an almost penniless condition, and without a single acquaintance in the great wilderness of houses. To-day his name is known wherever humanity dwells. It is spoken in every hamlet, it is heard in every city, and is as familiar to the worker in the mines as his brother in the mill, and where language is known and ideas expressed, the name of this penniless, unknown and uncouth lad of thirty years ago, is uttered. It was John Smith.

—The Washington (N. C.) Journal tells a story of an intelligent cat, which moved, with the family to which he belonged, from Fort Mills to Columbia, a hundred miles by rail. The cat got homesick, as cats do, and decided to go back to Fort Mills. So he went down to the station, hid himself on board the only freight car marked for Fort Mills, and arrived in due time, safe and sound. The question is, how did he know which car to take?

—The last words of Charlotte Cushman will not be awarded an important place in sentimental history. Her nephew had raised her, and offered a stimulating drink with the words, "Come, auntie, here is your milk punch." She smiled, and quoted the first line of the celebrated street-car jingle: "Punch, brothers, punch with care." Then she fell into a deep sleep, from which she never awoke.

—"Does your sister Annie ever say anything about me, sissy?" asked an anxious lover of a little girl. "Yes," was the reply, "she said if you had rockers on your shoes they'd make such a nice cradle for my doll."

What can be cured

Need not be endured, although what can't must be. Among the bodily ills susceptible of complete removal by that benign tonic and alterative, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, are general debility, malarial fevers, constipation, dyspepsia, liver disorder, and nervousness. Its remedial capabilities are, however, by no means limited to these maladies. Its properties as a blood depurent render it extremely serviceable in expelling the acrid impurities which produce those painful disorders, rheumatism and gout, and its invigorating and mildly stimulating effect upon the kidneys and bladder constitute it a useful medicine for impelling those organs to a complete performance of their functions when they are weak and inactive. In fact, there is scarcely any disease of which weakness is an accompaniment, in which this admirable medicine cannot be used with advantage.

The Gem of the Toilet

The world says is Sozodont. It renders the teeth pearly white, gives to the breath a fragrant odor, extinguishing the ill-humors which usually flow from a bad and neglected set of teeth. Sozodont is convenient, and produces a sensation at once so delightful that it makes it a pleasure to use it.

Spalding's Glue will mend your ways.

Whooping cough is greatly reduced in the length and severity of its "run" by the use of Adamson's Botanic Cough Balsam.

The stove makers are getting quite artistic in their wares. We learn that the "Delmonico" range, just issued from the extensive Rathbone Stove Works at Albany, is ornamented with rich carved mouldings, copies of bronze bas-reliefs, nickel strap hinges and escutcheon, and would adorn the window of a jewelry store.

Medicated Baths are Expensive. Not so, however, Glenn's Sulphur Soap, a cheap and efficient substitute, which answers the same purpose as far as local diseases of the skin, rheumatism and gout are concerned.

☞ That yellow tinge of the complexion is a sure indication of bile in the blood. It is effectually removed by using GILBERT'S EXCELSIOR LIVER LOZENGES.

Important to persons visiting New York or the Centennial. The Grand Union Hotel, New York, opposite the Grand Central Depot, has over 350 elegantly furnished rooms. Elevator, steam and all improvements. European plan. Carriage hire is saved, as baggage is taken to and from the depot free. Guests can live better for less money at the Grand Union than at any other first-class hotel. Stages and cars pass the Hotel constantly to all parts of the city, and to the Philadelphia depot.

MARBLE WORK,

I would respectfully invite the people of Portsmouth and vicinity, who have lost relatives or friends, or have occasion for the use of any kind of stone work to call before purchasing elsewhere. My stock consists of Monuments, Headstones, Marble Posts, Mantel Shelves, Pier Tops, &c., the stock for which was bought and men employed to work the same, since the commencement of the present hard times. I have not sufficient room in which to place more work, and do not wish to discharge any of my hands. For the above reasons, I feel confident that no one can undersell me with the same quality of stock and work. I take occasion to call the attention of all who are repairing or building houses, to my large stock of

Mantel Shelves and Pier Tops!

Mayoralty Caucus.

The republican mayoralty caucus was held Thursday afternoon and evening, as per previous announcement, commencing at 4 o'clock. Wm. R. Martin, Esq., was chosen chairman, and Messrs. John Pender, Edwin H. Leslie, John Turner and Wm. B. Randall secretes.

The balloting resulted as follows :

Whole number of votes	523
Necessary for a choice	262
Wm. A. Vaughan had	1
John H. Broughton	1
Frank W. Miller	43
George W. Pendexter	51
Charles W. Gardner	88
William H. Sise	91
Thomas E. Call	109
Jeremiah F. Hall	139

And there was no choice. The meeting adjourned to meet on Saturday at 4 o'clock, P. M., to keep open until a nomination is made. The interest taken in the coming election is shown by the large vote cast.

A Card.

Inasmuch as my name was used for the republican candidacy at the mayoralty caucus on Thursday evening, at which no choice of a candidate was effected, and while I fully appreciate the kindness which prompted the action of my friends, I improve the opportunity to thank them for this unexpected manifestation of confidence and again reiterate my desire heretofore privately expressed not to be considered a candidate. CHARLES W. GARDNER.

Hatch vs. Hatch.

The Times of July 25 contained a manifesto signed—or professedly signed—by five of the democratic representatives from this city to the General Court, the first name being that of Albert R. Hatch. We give one extract:

"Your ward lines have been changed and three of the wards abolished for the avowed purpose of giving to a party which for the last two years certainly has been a minority of the city, the absolute control of the city government and four-fifths of the Representatives in the General Court. We remonstrated in vain against this injustice, and our request that the question whether these changes shall be submitted to the vote of the people of Portsmouth was refused."

After reading the foregoing, people may be interested in a study of the following extracts from a verbatim report (made by Major George Munson, of the Concord People, for the CHRONICLE,) of Albert R. Hatch's speech in the New Hampshire House of Representatives when the democratic gerrymander bill was before the Legislature of 1874:

"It has been said that this bill ought to be referred to the people of Portsmouth, and some talk has been made about depriving men of the right of self-government because we do not submit it to them. * * * But, sir, who are the parties interested in this measure? The people of Portsmouth alone? By no means, sir; the people of this State have a word to say in reference to the matter; the people of this State have a right to say that the towns shall be fairly represented, that the voting there shall be fair and free. * * The people of this State have a voice in the matter, and they will direct how this thing shall be done. But to descend further, would it be fair when the people of one city complain that they are deprived of their rights, that they are oppressed by the majority, is it fair to make that majority the judges? * * When you ask us to leave to them the question whether we shall have our rights * is hardly to refer us to a fair tribunal. It is not such a tribunal as I think any reasonable lawyer or any intelligent man would ask a man to submit a matter of much less consequence than the right so dear to every American citizen, his right of franchise."

We refrained from publishing the speech of Mr. Hatch two years ago, not deeming it worthy of the space it would occupy. Knowing, however, his tendency to double on his own tracks if time enough were given, we preserved the stenographic report of his speech for future use, and give these extracts to show how much dependence can be placed on his utterances and declarations.

In 1874, certain conditions then existing, no "reasonable lawyer" or "intelligent man" would ask to submit the question of altering the city charter to the people of Portsmouth; in 1876, the conditions (according to the democratic manifesto in the Times) being exactly as in 1874, Albert R. Hatch demanded that the question of altering the city charter should be submitted to the people of Portsmouth!

In the same Times manifesto of July 25 is a rehearsal of the wrong done this city in the apportionment of the State tax, and the efforts of the democratic representatives from this city to have the wrong rectified. Even admitting that every word uttered in that connection may be true, the attempt to make political capital out of it in that manner is the work of a reckless and unscrupulous partisan and arrant demagogue; for the most natural inference to be drawn from the article as written, and evidently the inference its author intended should be drawn, is that the republican members of the House from this city are in some way to blame for the unjust apportionment, either because they advocated it or did not oppose it,—the fact being that as many republicans as democrats appeared before the committee having the matter in charge, and that the former were quite as earnest as the latter in urging the city's claims to a reduction of the State tax.

The Wrong Man.

The crew of the U. S. S. "Congress," as soon as paid off and discharged, went straight to Boston from the ship, making no stay at all in this city, to the serious disappointment of those business men who had anticipated the making of a few dollars in a legitimate way by supplying the seamen's wants in the clothing line, etc. Considerable indignation has accordingly been felt and expressed against City Missionary Loyne, it having been reported (and by many believed) that it was owing to representations made by him that the sailors carried their money and themselves directly to Boston, instead of procuring their go-ashore outfits in this city, as usual. That Mr. Loyne, or any other one man in the city, could exert such an overmastering influence with that or any other man-of-war's crew, is an absurd idea; and the fact is—at least we are credibly informed and fully believe it to be so—that Mr. Loyne did not interfere or attempt to interfere in the matter, in any way whatever. He visited the ship twice on week-days, solely to confer with the commanding officer relative to holding divine service on Sunday; and on the latter day again went aboard, but finding the men all in excitement regarding their approaching discharge, held no service and at once returned to this city,—on neither occasion having directly or indirectly advised any of the seamen not to stop here, or indeed having spoken with more than two or three of them. The story that the paid-off men scooted for Boston because Mr. Loyne told them "the citizens of Portsmouth did not wish them to come here" is supremely ridiculous, and is but a repetition of the same yarn that has been told of other persons on previous occasions of national vessels being paid off at this station.

The simple solution of the matter is that the "Congress" came here from Philadelphia, and parties in the latter city, laudably anxious that their city (and themselves) should have whatever benefit might accrue from the money-spending proclivities of the sailors, by previous agreement made special arrangements for trains to take them from Kittery back to Philadelphia as soon as they were paid off, that they might not be swindled by anybody—this side of the Quaker city.

"The Masheen."

On Thursday the Fire Department formally received the new steam engine, "Moses H. Goodrich," No. 4. Headed by the Rye Cornet Band, the three fire engine companies (Sagamore, No. 2, Kearsarge, No. 3, and Moses H. Goodrich, No. 4,—Dearborn steamer No. 1 being now in reserve and having no company attached, her old company having been transferred to the new machine,) and Board of Engineers, with the Mayor and committee on fire department in carriages, had a parade, the new engine bringing up the rear of the procession. As is always the case when the firemen turn out in a body to make a show, they made a good show. After marching through some of the principal streets the participants in the procession visited Franklin Hall banquet room as the guests of Company No. 4, and found a fine collation awaiting them, which they duly attended to. Brief and appropriate addresses were made by His Honor the Mayor, members of the Board of Engineers, the agent of the new engine's makers, and others.

At two o'clock, P. M., the time set for a public trial of the engine, people commenced to gather on Market square, and by the time steam was raised quite a large concourse had collected. The trial was conducted by the Board of Engineers and committee on fire department, Mr. F. G. Coggin, the manufacturers' agent, running the engine. Steam was raised in three minutes from the time the fire was lighted; in 4 minutes and 15 seconds the steam gauge showed 10 lbs. pressure, and 20 lbs. in 4:40; in 5 min. 22 sec. after firing up, the pumps were started, and in 7:35 the boiler was carrying 80 lbs. of steam to the square inch,—a very satisfactory showing, so far.

The leading hose was led down Market street to the Spring Market, 1000 feet being played through, the hose standing the test satisfactorily. An inch-and-a-quarter stream was then played through a shorter length, and water was thrown a distance of 226 feet, 4 inches. The trial we understand was considered satisfactory in every respect.

Jottings.

Hon. Charles S. Whitehouse is in town.

Capt. James Fitzgerald of this city, commander of steamer City Point, which runs on the St. Johns river in Florida, is at home on a brief visit.

The new uniform of the Rye Cornet Band is very neat and handsome.

The meat consumed at the eating rooms of the Seaman's Home on State street during the present month has reached the large amount of 1108 lbs. This item alone will give an idea of the patronage bestowed upon this convenient institution. Sunday morning, the 23d, upward of fifty quarts of baked beans were sold at the Home, and it is believed that the average weekly sales of this article of food can be increased to one hundred quarts. The Seaman's Home is managed by a Board of competent ladies, well known among us and distinguished for their benevolence and devotion to the interests of seamen and all others who need protection or assistance in various ways. It deserves, as it is receiving, the liberal patronage of our citizens. Mr. John McIver, the superintendent, understands his business and keeps an excellent house.

Schooner "Daniel Marcy," Cahoon master, one of Mr. Doane's fishing fleet, was struck by lightning off Kennebunk port, Me., on the 25th. Augustus Cahoon, a brother of the captain, and William Buckley, of New Bedford, were prostrated by the fluid. Buckley was taken ashore to the Spring Hotel in Kennebunk, in a critical condition. His body is badly burned by his clothes taking fire. The vessel was not injured.

Schooner Robert B. Smith, for this port, was ashore on Cuttyhunk on the night of the 25th, but got off on the 26th after throwing overboard twenty barrels of cement.

Republican ward caucuses in all four wards this evening. See advertisement.

The barn of Capt. John Call, burned at Kittery Point by lightning on the 26th, was struck after the shower had passed over and the rain had almost entirely ceased. There was but one clap of thunder during the shower, and that was occasioned by the flash of lightning that destroyed the barn and its contents.

The Daughters of Rebekah, of Kittery, had a picnic and clam-bake at Sea Point, Gerrish's Island, on the 26th.

DIED.

GROGAN. In Kittery, Me., July 22, Mrs. Lucy Grogan, widow of David Grogan, aged 78 years, 7 months.

EMERY. In Brooklyn, N. Y., July 27th, Mr. James W. Emery, formerly of this city. His remains are to be brought here on Saturday for interment.

PROPOSALS FOR SUPPLIES.

NAVY PAY OFFICE, PORTSMOUTH, N. H., July 24, 1876.

Proposals, sealed and endorsed on the envelope, "Bid for supplies advertised" will be received at this office until 12 o'clock 1st August next, for the following supplies of the best quality to be delivered free of expense at the Navy Yard, Kittery, Maine, immediately upon the award being made, subject to the usual inspection, viz:

BUREAU OF YARDS AND DOCKS.

5 Tons (2240 lbs.) English Cannel Coal.
200 Tons White Ash Anthracite Coal, Sicamboat size (2240 lbs. to Ton.)
75 Tons White Ash Anthracite Coal, Stove size (2240 lbs. to Ton.)
3 Casks 1890 lbs. Dry White Lead.

All of the above to be of the best quality of its kind. The Coal is to be delivered and into carts provided by the Government, and the quantity delivered to be paid for at the weights of the Navy Yard Scales.

The right is reserved to reject any or all bids that may not be deemed advantageous to the Government, and to award each article or item separate, as may be most to its interest.

Responsible security required for the prompt and faithful delivery of supplies awarded within the time specified.

Blank forms will be furnished at this office and bids opened at the hour above named, when parties interested are invited to be present.

A. J. CLARK, Paymaster U. S. Navy.

PILOT BREAD.

This kind of bread having come into extensive family use, it has been my purpose to furnish, from choice materials, an article which should meet the approval of the most fastidious as to neatness, looks and taste. Whether I have succeeded in giving to the public a PILOT BREAD,

SUPERIOR IN EXCELLENCE,

the consumer may be the judge; that the quality will not be suffered to depreciate, the past with the present is my best pledge. That I can compete with all the various qualities of Pilot Bread in the market, as to price, I make no pretensions,—but in price, all things being equal, I fear no competition.

JOHN PEARSON, Jr.,
Newburyport, Mass.

In justice to myself, and that those who prefer

PEARSON'S FAMILY PILOT BREAD

may obtain what is desired, I shall occasionally publish the names of those who keep it for sale in Portsmouth, as follows:

SEND STAMP TO GILMORE & Co. FOR PAMPHLET OF SIXTY PAGES.

Old Bounty Land Warrants,

The last Report of the Commissioner of the General Land Office shows 2,897,500 acres of Bounty Land Warrants outstanding. These were issued under act of 1855 and prior acts. GILMORE & CO. pay cash for them. Send by registered letter. Where Assignments are imperfect we give instructions to perfect them.

Arrears of Pay and Bounty.

OFFICERS, SOLDIERS and SAILORS of the late war, or their heirs, are in many cases entitled to money from the Government of which they have no knowledge. Write full history of service, and state amount of pay and bounty received. Enclose stamp to GILMORE & CO., and a full reply, after examination, will be given you free.

Pensions.

All OFFICERS, SOLDIERS and SAILORS wounded, ruptured or injured in the late war, however slightly, can obtain a pension by addressing GILMORE & CO.

Cases prosecuted by GILMORE & CO. before the Supreme Court of the United States, the Court of Claims and the Southern Claims Commission.

Each department of our business is conducted in a separate bureau, under the charge of the same experienced parties employed by the old firm. Prompt attention to all business entrusted to GILMORE & CO. is thus secured. We desire to win success by deserving it. ADDRESS

The Proof Reader.

The proof reader is probably the most unanimously impreca ted man in the world. It is impossible that he should satisfy anybody, and it were sheerest folly for him to expect to please everybody. Through weary hours he must apply himself intensely to matter which does not interest him. He must follow, not mechanically, but with his mind, disquisitions which are quite likely to be odious to him. He must correct the numerous blunders of writers, and rectify the manifold embellishments of the intelligent compositor. His information must be large and varied; he must possess an acquaintance with foreign terms in use in the language which he corrects, and must be able to rectify errors in orthography, grammar, geography and history. His task is the most thankless one under heaven, for no writer ever admits the possibility of an error on his part, preferring to make the proof-reader scapegoat for every fault.

—"We go to press at two instead of four to-day," said a Tennessee paper, "in order to attend to some business of importance in the country." At precisely five minutes before four, two high-toned-looking men with shotguns called, and wanted to know where the editor was.

—Residents of a West End street were rather startled, the other afternoon, to see a three-year-old baby, entirely naked, walking along as though the mercury wasn't 116 in the sun, and clothes were an obsolete necessity. The young gentleman had escaped, not from a lunatic asylum, but from a well-ordered nursery. He was returned to his distracted family uninjured, though somewhat tanned.—Boston Gazette.

—The New York Sun in answer to a correspondent who makes some inquiries concerning hell, explains that it is really "the association of men who in this existence loved themselves supremely, broke the laws of spiritual life, and did evil. The state of soul thus produced is infernal, and men in such a state gather together after death. But in that association, though their condition is deadly and deplorable, they do not know it, but have as much happiness as they are capable of, and as little suffering." The disinterested reader fails to see any great difference between the place thus described, and New York city.

AMERICAN & FOREIGN PATENTS.
R. H. EDDY, SOLICITOR OF PATENTS,
For Inventions Trade Marks or Designs
No. 76 STATE ST., OPPOSITE KILBY ST., BOSTON,
After an extensive practice of upwards of thirty years, continues to secure patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all papers for Patents, executed on reasonable terms with dispatch. Researches made to determine the validity and utility of Patents of Inventions, and legal and other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any patent furnished, by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.
No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.
All necessary for a patent to Washington to procure a Patent and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.
TESTIMONIALS.
"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents."
"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office. EDMUND BURKE, Late Commissioner of Patents."
"MR. R. H. EDDY has made for me over THIRTY applications for Patents, having been successful in almost every case. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend all inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases and at very reasonable charges. JOHN TAGGART."

MAGIC
CONDITION PILLS!
The Wonderful Remedy for Liver Complaint, Biliousness, Dyspepsia, Constipation, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Headache, Kidney Complaint, Nervousness, Scrofula, Piles, and all diseases arising from a bad state of the Blood!
No medicine ever offered to the public has given such universal satisfaction as Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. Their praises are on every tongue where their merits are known. They strike at once at the seat of disease and show their healing power almost immediately. Thousands of voluntary testimonials of their merits have been received by the agent, from those who have been cured by them, of which the following are samples:
Dyspepsia Four Years, Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels Three Years, Confined to my Room Two Years, Pain so I Could Not Sleep Without Morphine. One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills Made Me Eat Well, Sleep Well and Free from Pain, after being given up by Physicians.
WEST LEBANON, ME., Feb. 22, 1
MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I have been sick for four years with Dyspepsia, and for the past three years Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels. I have suffered all the pain I could endure and live. I have been confined to my room for two years, and could not sleep nights without the use of morphine. I have been given up by physicians as past cure. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, and they have done me more good than all the doctors I have had. I sleep well, I eat well and have no pain. They are all they are recommended to be. Please send me three packages, as two of my neighbors wish to try them. I enclose $3.
Your truly, JOHN W. LORD.
Another Letter from Maj. John W. Lord, one month later. Wonderful Cures by Dr. Quain's Pills Effected on Him in Thirteen Days. First time Free from Pain for Three Years.
WEST LEBANON, ME., March 22, 1875
MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I commenced taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS February 9th, and wrote you February 22d of their wonderful effect. I have continued to improve ever since. My appetite is good, and I sleep as well as I ever did in my life. I am free from pain for the first time in three years. When I was taken sick four years ago, I weighed one hundred and eighty-six pounds; I now weigh one hundred and thirty-five, and as I am gaining in strength, I have faith I shall regain my flesh this summer, by the use of the Pills. I shall continue taking them for some time to come.
Yours truly, JOHN W. LORD.
Dr. Quain's Pills the Remedy for Soldiers' Aches and Pains.
WEST LEBANON, ME., June 1, 1875.
MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I am now able to walk out every day, and am gaining in strength very fast, all of which is due to you as agent for the best Pills in the world. I have taken no other medicine, and my improvement has been steady since first taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done everything for me, and I will say to you, advertise them direct to the soldiers, for they will certainly cure them of aches and pains caused from exposure and hardship on the field. Please send me by return mail another package.
JOHN W. LORD.
Rheumatism for Twenty Years Cured by One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills—"The Best Medicine in the World."
EAST ANDOVER, N. H., Dec. 16, 1875.
MR. LANE—Dear Sir:—As I know the value of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS and the good they have done me, I take pleasure in giving them praise; so I send you another testimonial. My father has been troubled with Rheumatism for twenty years or more, and has tried everything that could be thought of, but to no good. At times it would be so bad that he could not lift his hand to his head or do any work at all, especially in cold weather. A short time ago I advised him to get some of these Pills. He believed nothing in them, but I gave him the last package I had of you, as I did not need them, and he has not been as free from the Rheumatic Complaint for years. No Rheumatism, no pain. What he had him? It was DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, the best medicine in the world. There is nothing like them. I know it, for I have tried them, and they are all, yes, more than they are recommended to be. Give them a fair trial and you will say so. I write this because I know the goodness of them and wish others to know the same. Some may think I am telling a big story. I am. But remember I am not giving them half the praise they ought to have.
Yours with respect, ED. F. PEVARE.
Wonderful Effect of Four Doses of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills upon Neuralgia of Twelve Years' Duration—Testimony of Rev. J. S. Patton.
DAINGERFIELD, MORRIS CO., TEXAS, Nov. 15, '75.
MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I have been afflicted for near twelve years with Neuralgia in the face and head. I often do not know how many physicians, and could only get partly relieved. I also tried many patent medicines with the same result. I have been confined to my house all the time for eight or ten winters, and have been traveling and visiting medical springs, and I still suffered most intensely. The physicians pronounced my case the worst and most stubborn that they had had anything to do with. One told me I could never get well; they all advised me to go South and spend the winter, and thought that was the only chance for me, and I was taken to get ready to go to Florida, when through the kindness of Rev. H. M. Mathis, my attention was called to the advertisement of Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. I immediately sent to you for a package. I have taken four doses and I am almost free from pain. The impression here seems to be that if your pills will cure me, they will cure anybody. I have five applications to send for the pills. Enclosed please find three dollars; send five packages to me and one to Mrs. Laura Sherrell, Sulphur Springs, Hopkins county, Texas.
Yours truly, J. S. PATTON.
Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache.
LACONIA, N. H., Jan. 29, 1875.
THOS. W. LANE—Sir:—I have been troubled with Bad Blood, Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done me more good than all the medicine I ever took; I have taken considerable medicine within the last five years. For the nerves I think there is nothing so good as those pills. I can recommend them to all who are similarly afflicted, they have done me so much good. I think they will recommend themselves wherever they go. I shall recommend those Pills to all who need them. Please send me two packages more, one for myself and one for a lady friend of mine. Many thanks to the inventor, agent and advertiser of those Pills. MRS. P. L. ELLIOTT.

PULMOCINE.
BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL
is a new discovery. Twenty-three years ago it was used by one of New England's most famous physicians as the best Pulmonary Curative he could prescribe, after a dozen years spent in experimenting with it before he was satisfied that the Materia Medica could add nothing in its favor.
Is the ultima thule of Medical Discovery.
Among its many ingredients are Wild Cherry Bark, Squill Root, Liquorice Root, Blood root, &c. It is a Blood Purifier, gently stimulating. It increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is sudorific and alterative. It is a necessary family medicine. It is a Tonic and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is a gentle sedative, and relieves nervousness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.
CLEAR YOUR THROAT!
Relieve Your Lungs.
For the terrible diseases engendered by the lung trying climate of New England,
PULMOCINE CORDIAL
For Coughs,
Croup,
Diphtheria,
— AND
Asthma, etc.,
— USE
Buchman's Pulmocine Cordial.
The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. It is offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

Health Regulations.

THE BOARD OF HEALTH OF THE CITY OF PORTSMOUTH call the attention of the public to the following sections of Chapter 16, of the Revised Ordinances, and invite all interested in the preservation of health in our city to aid them in the execution of their duty:

SEC. 3. All waste water of houses, yards, cellars, sinks, pumps, etc., shall be conveyed by their owners or occupiers to the common sewers, or to such places as the Health Officers may direct.

SEC. 4. No person shall be allowed to throw any vegetable or dead animal substance, or any other matter capable of producing infection, into any street, lane, alley or dock, or upon any wharf, but shall bury them or throw them into the river below low-water mark.

SEC. 5. The contents of vaults and privies shall not be permitted to rise within one foot of the surface of the earth. And all owners or occupiers of buildings having such vaults or privies as may require it, shall cause them to be emptied within ten days from the promulgation of this ordinance, and in future on or before the the first day of May in each year. And any such owner or occupier neglecting so to do, shall forfeit and pay for every such neglect a sum not less than three nor more than twenty dollars, and a like sum for every week's neglect after the time above specified.

SEC. 6. No vender of meat at the stalls shall be permitted to leave any stale meat, heads, feet or offal of any kind about their stalls or stores over night, or suffer them to be thrown into any street, lane or alley of the city. Nor shall any sellers of fish be permitted to throw any offal of fish into any street, lane or alley of the city, or upon any wharf, but shall either bury them or throw them into the river beyond low-water mark.

SEC. 7. If any dead animal or decaying vegetable substance, or any other nuisance, shall be found in any part of the city, the owners or occupiers of the premises where such nuisance shall be found, shall cause the same to be removed within twenty-four hours after being notified so to do by one or more of the health officers.

SEC. 12. When any householder shall know that any person within his family is taken sick of the small pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, he shall immediately give notice thereof to the Health Officers.

SEC. 13. When any physician shall know that any person whom he is called to visit is infected with the small pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, such physician shall immediately give notice thereof to the Health Officers.

SEC. 14. If any such householder or physician shall refuse or neglect to give the notice required in the preceding sections, he shall for each refusal or neglect, forfeit the sum of twenty dollars, to be recovered by either of the Health Officers in the name of the city.

SEC. 15. The Health Officers may give written notice to the owner or occupier of any building, vessel or enclosure, to remove or destroy any nuisance or other thing deemed by them on examination, to be injurious to the public health, within a certain time limited therein; and in case such owner or occupier—the said notice having been given to him, or left at his usual place of abode—shall neglect to comply therewith, the said Health Officers may, by direction of the mayor and accompanied by the city marshal, forcibly enter such building, vessel, or enclosure, and cause said nuisance or other thing aforesaid to be removed or destroyed.

SEC. 21. No person shall erect, keep or continue, or permit to be erected, kept or continued, upon any land occupied by him, any pen for the keeping of swine, or privy, over either of the mill ponds in this city, or so placed that offensive substances therefrom shall be discharged or drained into either of said ponds, or into any creek, or cove, or drain leading thereto. And no person shall construct, keep or continue any drain leading from any pen for the keeping of any swine, slaughter-house, privy vault, or other unwholesome or offensive place, into either of said ponds, or to any flat or marsh adjoining the same. And no person shall throw or suffer to be thrown from his land into either of said ponds, or upon any of said flats or marshes, any dead, decaying, unwholesome or offensive animal or vegetable substances.

LINCOLN BUTTER POWDER.

Good Fresh Butter All The Year Round.

BUTTER IN 20 MINUTES.

Lincoln Butter Powder is an entirely harmless article made from a celebrated English recipe, and now in daily use by some of the most noted farmers in the butter counties around Philadelphia.

In hot weather this Powder makes butter much firmer and sweeter than it usually is, and keeps it from turning rancid. It also removes the strong flavor of turnips, weeds, corn stalks, cotton seed, etc., and the increased yield of butter much more than pays the trifling expense of using it.

Portsmouth Chronicle.

A San Francisco Dog Story.

A wealthy French lady residing on Park Avenue, between Bryant and Brannan Streets, owns a small and cunning little dog, which she has facetiously named Tout Petit. He is a ratter, but when rats are scarce he takes to munching sugar as naturally as a country school girl takes to crushing peanuts, or a modern preacher to piety. The lady takes the Chronicle which is thrown in the yard by the carrier, as is common. The ratter is up every morning at daylight to watch for the carrier, and as soon as the paper is thrown in he takes possession of it, watching his treasure with the utmost fidelity. When his mistress opens the door, Tout Petit rushes up the front stairs with the Chronicle in his mouth, and places it at the foot of the lady. Then commences a vigorous wagging of the caudal appendage and appealing look from the eyes, which is sweet enough to mean sugar, and so Tout Petit is rewarded with a nice lump of snow-white sugar. He retires gracefully, and indulges in his morning nip with the utmost sang froid. But dogs, like men, will sometimes meet with misfortunes, and great were the misfortunes of Tout Petit for a while. His mistress had a box made for the reception of her favorite morning paper, and this little fact cut off the supplies of the ratter. He was disconsolate for a while, for after vainly trying to hunt up the Chronicle, he apparently gave up the chase in disgust. And now comes the astonishing part of the story. The next neighbor of the lady is a French gentleman, prominently connected with the press of this city. He is the owner of a splendid hunting dog named Bust. When misfortunes fell upon Tout Petit, it is very evident that he went to Bust for consolation. The canine Damon and Pythias got their heads together and concocted a most adroit scheme by which the sugar supply would be again forthcoming. It nearly borders on the marvellous, for its inception and practicable carrying out could not be surpassed by two intelligent human beings. The way they did it was for Bust to go in advance, almost at daylight, followed by Tout Petit, and make a reconnoissance. Having discovered a Chronicle lying inside a gate, Bust would jump and open the gate, when his little companion would rush in and gobble the paper. Both dogs would then scamper back to the lady's house, wagging their tails, and snuffing to each other, as if to say: "Didn't we do that up handsomely?" Mrs. ——, finding that Tout Petit was bringing the Chronicle as usual, was utterly astonished, but nevertheless rewarded him with a sugar-plum. The little rascal, not unlike some human beings, was very selfish and would not share his booty with Bust, but the latter, like some other human beings, was as generous and unselfish as ever. After a while complaints about some thief stealing the Chronicle from subscribers on Park Avenue became quite frequent, and a watch was set to capture him. The thieves, of course, were quickly discovered, and their modus operandi became the talk of the town in that locality. The subscribers who had lost their papers so frequently, upon discovering the thieves put up with the past inconveniences without a murmur, laughing over the matter as the best joke of the season. But the discovery brought another misfortune upon poor Tout Petit, for the little trickster is now limited to a certain amount of red tape, beyond the limits of which, like a gouty diplomatist, he cannot go. He is occasionally visited by his friend Bust, when they seem to hold the most serious confabs about the vicissitudes of dog life in San Francisco.—San Fran. Chron.

The Natural History of a Scold.

I had not seen Mrs. —— for a week, and supposed her either sick or away from home, when she drove up to my gate one morning with all her children in the carriage and stopped to exchange salutations. She really looked less bright and blooming than usual, and I said, "You have been ill." "There it is again," exclaimed she, laughing; "everybody sees the want of oxygen in my blood. The truth is, I have been sewing steadily for a week upon the children's dresses, and have not allowed myself a breath of fresh air, which I have always deemed essential to my health, and on which I am now convinced my good nature depends entirely. At the end of three days of unbroken sedentary employment I begin always to falter, and can hardly eat or sleep; but on this occasion I held on to my work and finished article after article, till my head was in such a whirl I could hardly count the garments as I laid them away. But yesterday I became desperate; I scolded poor Bridget for some slight mistake, till she looked at me in unutterable amazement. I ordered every child out of the house, even baby Benny here, because I couldn't bear the sound of a footfall within it; and when my husband came at night and told me I looked really ill and nervous, it was the last feather that broke the camel's back—I was sure it was only a courteous way of saying I looked cross and ugly, and I burst into a fit of uncontrollable sobbing, and went to bed like a naughty child at 8 o'clock. This morning I locked up the unfinished pile of sewing. We have a dinner basket there in the carriage, and are off for the woods. The children say they are in pursuit of fun, but I am after oxygen." Iowa State Register.

SATURDAY, JULY 29, 1876.

FOR PRESIDENT,

Rutherford B. Hayes,

OF OHIO.

FOR VICE PRESIDENT,

William A. Wheeler,

OF NEW YORK.

Hayes' Platform in War.

In 1864, when Hayes was in the army, being nominated for Congress he was requested to come home and stump his district. His reply was, "I have other business just now. Any man who would leave the army at this time to electioneer for Congress ought to be scalped!"

Hayes' Platform in Peace.

"Honest money for all, and free schools for all. There should be no inflation which will depreciate the one, nor sectarian interference which will destroy the other."

Correspondence.

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 26.

Up to date the banking and currency committee have disregarded the angry menace of the repudiators, and evaded reporting a bill for the repeal of the resumption act upon one pretext or another. Whether they can maintain their present attitude up to final adjournment remains to be seen. The conference committee having charge of the legislative, executive and judicial appropriation bill has, it is asserted, agreed upon the terms of a compromise; but no report has yet been made. As this was regarded as about the most difficult to compromise of any bill now pending before conference committees, the speedy adjustment of the others is looked for; and then, with the Belknap case disposed of, an early adjournment may be had.

The big job of the session is still before the Senate. As it went from the House, its iniquitous provisions had been so thoroughly ventilated that no doubt was felt that it would be promptly strangled in the Senate; and the Senate committee having charge of it did subject it to a very severe course of treatment, cutting off some seventy of its appropriations, made ostensibly for the improvement of certain unknown rivers, harbors and creeks, but really, as generally believed, to enhance the popularity of members having an eye to their re-election; but when the bill came before the Senate, the action of its committee was repudiated, the appropriations were restored, and others equally unwarrantable were voted, increasing the total amount appropriated so that it now reaches about $7,000,000. But it is believed that the President will kill the swindle by a veto.

Senator Logan succeeded in bringing up his equalization bounty bill on Monday in the morning hour; but with its expiration it went over without definite action. He expresses himself as confident that he will be able to secure a vote before final adjournment.

The end of the Belknap trial is at hand, and as the hour of the final verdict approaches the latent interest manifests itself through discussions, about the hotels and other places of resort. It is admitted that Mr. Carpenter surpassed himself in his argument. Senators are very reticent as to their views and any predictions as to the result must be based on speculation chiefly. Messrs. Glover and Whithorne have, it seems, so far moderated their virtuous and patriotic promptings, as to abandon their proposed impeachment of Secretary Robeson, and in lieu thereof propose to refer the testimony to the judiciary committee, thus hoping to secure some partisan return for all the time and hard labor vainly devoted to a vindictive attempt to ruin that official. Mr. Robeson was before Glover's committee yesterday, and by his straightforward replies to democratic conundrums, he increased public respect for himself and decreased what little was felt for certain members of the committee.

The malignant efforts of the rebel democracy seem to be chiefly concentrated now upon the one object of fomenting misunderstandings and discord between President Grant and his probable successor, General Hayes. With this view, and to poison the minds of timid republicans against the present administration, their organs are repeating alleged conversations with Hayes, condemnatory of the President, and representing the President as very bitter towards Governor Hayes; and in furtherance of this policy, every day's mail from this city goes out with a batch of insinuations as to the President's intemperate habits, and opt-spoken lies as to his threats to send an army of occupation into the South during the campaign and back it by oceans of money.

MAXWELL.

News and Notes.

Leander P. Richardson, eldest son of the late Albert D. Richardson, has been killed by the Indians in Montana, where he was travelling as a correspondent of the Springfield Republican.

A shoddy mill in Philadelphia was burned on Thursday, and three women lost their lives by jumping from a fourth story window after the fire had cut off their retreat by other means.

Servian successes in the war with the Turks are reported.

Four persons were killed and a large number injured by an accident to the "Flying Dutchman," a fast mail train from Bristol, Eng., to London, on Thursday.

The king of Spain is to marry a daughter of the Duke de Montpensier.

Major Blake of the Squamscott House, Exeter, has sold the house and other property for $8,500. The purchaser is Michael Lucy, Catholic priest. The Catholics will erect a church on the unoccupied land.

Whale ships Marengo and Illinois, of New Bedford, collided in the Arctic ocean, and the latter was destroyed.

Kingston manufactures carriages extensively, and ranks next to Concord in the annual production, which is $130,000 worth.

John Lynch was shot at his home in Stamford, Conn., by his wife, while handling a pistol which was supposed to be empty. The ball entered his breast, took a downward course, and has not yet been found. His condition is critical.

George W. Greeley, a prominent citizen of Lebanon, was found dead in his bed at Grantham, whither he had gone on a fishing excursion, on the morning of July 27th.

The claim of civil engineer W. F. McConnell against the city of Dover for $2200 has been compromised by the payment of $1550.

The State Fair is to be held on the 3d, 4th and 5th of October.

Mrs. Eliza Ricker of Franklin, eighty years old, is visiting her native place, Wolfeborough, and recently pitched on a load of hay in "work-woman" style.

Josiah Moulton of Raymond, aged 90 years, a bachelor, and the oldest man in town, was recently seen in the hay field, vigorously leading a gang of mowers, who had no easy task to keep stroke with him.

A party of loading men, principally from St. Louis, were arrested at Clear Lake, Iowa, while they were the guests of President Lewis of the St. Louis, Kansas and Northern Railroad Company. The charges against them were boisterous conduct, violating the game laws, and bathing in a nude state. After a severe reprimand they were discharged.

O'Brien's tailor shop in Great Falls was broken into on the night of the 26th, and $200 worth of goods stolen.

Louis Talgnier, an Italian image vender, has been arraigned at Lancaster on a charge of attempting to outrage a ten-year old girl by the name of Alice Howard. The respondent was committed to jail in default of bail.

William J. Forsythe, an employe at the Reading coal yard in Newburyport, while loading a coal scow from the vessel, fell fifteen feet, striking his feet on the vessel's rail and his head and back so heavily on the deck as to produce paralysis and probably death. He has a wife and family.

John Gong, 17 years old, was crushed to death in Portland on the 27th by the giving way of a salt bin beneath which he was at work.

Steamer Plymouth Rock went ashore a Rockaway on Wednesday evening, and a man and woman were drowned in the confusion.

All the mills in Dover will be closed during August.

On the 26th there was a police war in New York harbor. Several scows laden with garbage from New York city were found emptying their contents in the bay off Coney Island. Shore Inspector Ferguson, with the quarantine steamer, on which were some forty Brooklyn police, arrested the captain, crew and two New York policemen on a tug boat, which was in the employ of the New York police and which boat was towing the garbage scows. These were arrested and taken to the landing at Fort Hamilton, under a warrant of Judge Church. Two New York police commissioners and a New York police captain were on hand with the police boat Seneca, and they had a loaded howitzer on the bow of the tug boat, beside some twenty regular police. At one time the howitzer was trained on the Brooklyn officers, but was fortunately not fired. The officers of the tug boat and two policemen were held by Judge Church to answer for violation of the State law, prohibiting the dumping of dead animals and garbage within certain limits in the bay. They were remanded to jail. There is great excitement over this matter in Brooklyn and along Long Island shore, as every tide brings to the bathing places and beaches rotting carcasses of cats and dogs, and all sorts of putrifying vegetable matter from the streets of New York city. The action taken was initiated by the Quarantine Commissioners, who are charged under the law with the conservation of the general health of the State in the port of New York.

Democratic Testimony.

The leading democratic newspaper of the Northwest, the Chicago Times, (concerning which the Boston Post says "there isn't a smarter nor a more widely circulated newspaper in the West,") has the following "severe blow" at the St. Louis ticket:

"The worst blow which the St. Louis convention could have given to Governor Tilden, after nominating him for the presidency, was dealt by the nomination of Tom Hendricks for Vice President. The object in thus presenting to the country the ludicrous spectacle of two horses tied together by the tails and going in opposite directions, was to carry Indiana for the Tilden side at the October election. Tilden is known as the most pronounced embodiment of hostility to the atrocious legal tender swindle, and of the demand for the specie basis, in all America. He is for that reason especially obnoxious to the legal tender swindle lunatics who compose the greater part of all political nonentities in the semi-barbarous commonwealth of Morton and Hendricks. Tom Hendricks is the most conspicuous Indiana representative of the legal tender lunacy; not because he has any positive opinions upon the subject (he was never known to have a positive opinion upon any subject,) but because he is a thorough, ingrained demagogue capable of espousing any charlatanry to gain the applause of voting idiots. Tilden and Hendricks are politically the very polar opposites of each other. But to elect Tilden it is necessary that he should get the votes of New York, and to get the votes of New York it is deemed essential that Indiana should vote in October against the Hayes party, and to compass that result it was thought best by the political hucksters at St. Louis to disturb the virtue of Tilden's nomination by this shameful and most unnatural liaison. The arrangement is one of brazen, palpable, shameless dishonesty. Instead of helping to elect Tilden it is most likely to help the other way. For an arrangement so offensive with the stench of political dishonesty can not fail to excite the indignation as well as the contempt of a great many voters who believe that there is still such a thing as honesty in politics that is worth contending for."

The Cincinnati Enquirer, which was savage against Tilden before his nomination, but is for Tilden and soft money since, in a recent issue has the following:

"Ross, of New Jersey, and other Eastern democrats say if the resumption clause is repealed the democrats can't carry New Jersey and other Eastern States, and the Western democrats say if it is not repealed the democrats can't carry Indiana. Prominent Tennessee democrats say Tilden can't carry that State on a rabid hard money platform. A member of the North Carolina delegation fears the republicans will carry that State, and the general indications are that, owing to the hypocrisy and imbecility of this Congress, Tilden is not marching to the White House as much as he was just after the St. Louis convention under the reform banner."

The Louisiana democratic State convention, after a four days' wrangle, nominated Gen. F. R. T. Nichols for governor, and ex-Mayor Wiltz of New Orleans for lieutenant-governor.

The Jackson, Miss., Clarion, which justifies the Hamburg massacre, says: "The Hamburg affair has been enacted a thousand times over in the reconstructed States." That is saying, in plain terms, that unprovoked massacres (for such the Hamburg affair is acknowledged to have been by the Augusta Constitutionalist and Charleston News, both democratic papers and one of them published just across the river from Hamburg,) of colored men by white democrats, for political reasons, are every day affairs. Yet the Northern democratic papers deny that any such state of affairs exists.

—A book might be written of the humors of the Centennial. Some of them drift into the papers, but not all. In the Agricultural hall there are two immense hogs, stuffed, each bearing a placard telling their age and weight, and with the name of the man who prepared them for exhibition, followed by the word "taxidermist." A man and his wife were looking at these with great interest. After reading the placards, the woman said: "Why, these are taxidermists. I thought they were hogs." Her husband looked at the creatures with a puzzled expression, and then went carefully over the placards, as if to satisfy himself fully on the point. Finally he replied: "They are hogs. Taxidermist is the name of the place they come from."—Springfield Republican.

—During his recent engagement at the Queen's Theatre, London, Salvini played Hamlet to a $25 house. On one occasion a solitary person purchased a ticket, and on the night following no one offered to pay any money whatever. Last summer Salvini was the lion of the day in London.

What can be cured

Need not be endured, although what can't must be. Among the bodily ills susceptible of complete removal by that benign tonic and alterative, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, are general debility, malarial fevers, constipation, dyspepsia, liver disorder, and nervousness. Its remedial capabilities are, however, by no means limited to these maladies. Its properties as a blood depurent render it extremely serviceable in expelling the acrid impurities which produce those painful disorders, rheumatism and gout, and its invigorating and mildly stimulating effect upon the kidneys and bladder constitute it a useful medicine for impelling these organs to a complete performance of their functions when they are weak and inactive. In fact, there is scarcely any disease of which weakness is an accompaniment, in which this admirable medicine cannot be used with advantage.

The Gem of the Toilet

The world says is Sozodont. It renders the teeth pearly white, gives to the breath a fragrant odor, extinguishing the humors which usually flow from a bad and neglected set of teeth. Sozodont is convenient, and produces a sensation at once so delightful that it makes it a pleasure to use it.

Spalding's Glue will mend your ways.

Whooping cough is greatly reduced in the length and severity of its "run" by the use of Adamson's Botanic Cough Balsam.

The store makers are getting quite artistic in their wares. We learn that the "Delmonico" range, just issued from the extensive Rathbone Stove Works at Albany, is ornamented with rich carved mouldings, copies of bronze bas-reliefs, nickel strap hinges and escutcheon, and would adorn the window of a jewelry store.

Medicated Baths are Expensive. Not so, however, Glenn's Sulphur Soap, a cheap and efficient substitute, which answers the same purpose as far as local diseases of the skin, rheumatism and gout are concerned.

☞ That yellow tinge of the complexion is a sure indication of bile in the blood. It is effectually removed by using GILBERT'S EXCELSIOR LIVER LOZENGES.

Important to persons visiting New York or the Centennial. The Grand Union Hotel, New York, opposite the Grand Central Depot, has over 350 elegantly furnished rooms. Elevator, steam and all improvements. European plan. Carriage hire is saved, as baggage is taken to and from the depot free. Guests can live better for less money at the Grand Union than at any other first-class hotel. Stages and cars pass the Hotel constantly to all parts of the city, and to the Philadelphia depot.

Mayoralty Caucus.

The adjourned Mayoralty caucus will be held this (Saturday) afternoon, commencing at 4 o'clock. The meeting will not adjourn until a nomination is made.

We are authorized to announce that George W. Pendexter, Esq., is not and does not wish to be considered a candidate for nomination for Mayor of the city of Portsmouth.

As but two of the candidates (Messrs. Charles W. Gardner and George W. Pendexter) voted for on Thursday evening have withdrawn, we presume there will be another scrub race.

That Jeremiad.

The Journal, commenting on the democratic manifesto published in the Times of July 25, and which is popularlary believed to have been written by City Solicitor and Representative Hodgdon, says:

"The part of the wail of despair referring to our city charter is supposed to be from the prolific pen of Representative Hodgdon, who originated and carried through the gerrymander (in 1874) which was conceived and enacted solely to sub-divide the city in such an unequal manner that the democrats should have a majority in the city government and reward their supporters by a liberal distribution of the spoils of office. The tone of injured innocence assumed by this holder of double offices, resulting from his gerrymander, as he sees his wicked work undone, seems weighted with the boldest hypocrisy."

Concerning the apportionment of the State tax the Journal has the following:

"There is no doubt that injustice was done to Portsmouth in the new apportionment of public taxes. While we have suffered by the diminution of our shipping, always in sight for taxable purposes, and have lost the aggregated fortunes of an unusual number of wealthy citizens during a few years past, our real estate has largely depreciated from its values held ten years ago. This does not seem to have been understood by the committee. Dover secured a reduction. Her valuation was quite high, and being represented by persons employed by the city for that purpose, her rights were protected. Had our City Solicitor, instead of cooling his heels on the pleasant piazza and enjoying his fragrant weed, as perseveringly perspired before the apportionment committee as did those who looked after the interests of sister cities of whose reduction he now sings a lamentation, there would have been no necessity for this long statement of excuse now given for the poor results of his labors at Concord. The fact is, our city government was in a profound state of repose during all this adjustment, when a judicious presence of the Mayor or some reliable person to protect the interests of the city, would have been the best investment we could have made."

Jottings.

Mayor Goodrich having been renominated by the democratic city committee, "the party" was allowed to go through the farce of approving the committee's choice on Friday evening, and to call the meeting a caucus.

Mr J. Monroe Skinner, of Boston, will deliver a temperance lecture in the Methodist church on Sunday evening, at a quarter past seven o'clock. Mr. Skinner reviews the liquor traffic, portrays the evils of intemperance, and appeals in an earnest and effective manner to the churches, business and professional men, for their co-operation and support. The citizens are cordially invited to attend.

Stephen A. Chase, Esq., the first superintendent of the Eastern railroad, died at Salem on the 26th, at the age of 80 years.

Mr. Albert Clark, of this city, on Thursday caught a sea bass weighing 75 lbs., while fishing off Rye Beach.

A seaman named Nathaniel T. Chatto, belonging to schooner Bloomer, of Gloucester, was drowned off this harbor on the afternoon of July 24th.

An Old But Good Puzzle.

The old puzzle in which the chambermaid put twelve travellers into eleven rooms, and gave them each a separate room, is again going round. Here we have the eleven separate bed-rooms:

| 1 | 2 | 3 | 4 | 5 | 6 | 7 | 8 | 9 | 10 | 11 |

"Now," says she, "if two of you gentlemen will go into No. 1 bedroom and wait a few minutes I'll find a spare room for you as soon as I have shown the others to their rooms." Well, now, having thus bestowed two gents in No. 1, she puts the third in No. 2, the fourth in No. 3, the fifth in No. 4, the sixth in No. 5, the seventh in No. 6, the eighth in No. 7, the ninth in No. 8, the tenth in No. 9, the eleventh in No. 10. She then came back to No. 1, where you will remember she had left the twelfth gentleman alone with the first, and said, "I've accommodated all the rest, and have still a room to spare; if one of you will step into No. 11 you will find it empty." Thus the twelfth man got his bedroom. Of course there is a hole in the sauce-pan somewhere, but we leave the reader to determine exactly where the fallacy is, with just a warning to think twice before declaring as to which, if any, of the travellers was the "odd man out."

The Funeral of Mrs. Willis.

The Cincinnati Enquirer, in noticing the obsequies over the remains of Mrs. Helen C. Willis, the sister of Senator Twichell, on Monday last, in this city, says: "Mrs. Willis, it seems, lost her husband by violence in the South, and at the same time was a sister of Senator Twichell, of Louisiana, who was wounded by a band of assassins some months since." Well, yes; that is scarcely an overstatement of the case. Mrs. Willis' husband, dead for two years, murdered by the White League democracy, would "seem" to be "lost," while Mr. Twichell, with both arms off and shot in one leg so as to be unable to walk, would "seem" to be "wounded."

The Enquirer's way of putting the facts as to these internal outrages by the Tilden and Hendricks democracy reminds us of an expression used by Mr. Twichell himself one morning. When accosted by a visitor with the question whether he would return to Louisiana, Mr. Twitchell replied heed th would so soon as he was able; that he was far from being discouraged yet, although he had suffered enough to "discourage" him during the past four years. The murder of one brother and three brothers-in-law, the death of two sisters-in-law as the direct result of the assassination of their husbands, the death of an only sister in the same way, and the personal loss of both arms and the use of one leg from the wounds of six bullets shot by a Tilden and Hendricks democrat, are circumstances tending to "discourage" almost any man.—Indianapolis Journal.

—"My dear," said a gentleman to his wife, "our new club is going to have all the home comforts." "Indeed!" sneered the wife; "and when, pray, is our home to have all the club comforts?"

—The French metrical system of weights and measures is about to be introduced into Russia. The special committee, which is sitting at St. Petersburg, at the premises of the Russian Imperial Technical Society, has not only come to the resolution that such an innovation would be useful, but it has also emphatically declared that if the French system is decided to be introduced in the empire the present is the fitting moment, otherwise the opportunity would be lost, adding that the change ought to be accomplished within two years.

—The temperature of the Hoosac tunnel is about the same all the year round, the thermometer standing generally at sixty degrees. The air is pure except when there are a great many trains going through, filling the tunnel with smoke; yet, notwithstanding that, there is now no doubt about the tunnel's being able to thoroughly ventilate itself. When the five hundred men were at work, there was so much smoke from the lamps of the miners, the fires of the blacksmiths and the trains that were constantly at work, that the tunnel-er's eyes and lungs were often seriously affected.

—Dr. Mary Walker is for Tilden, and Phœbe Cozzens, Esq., for Hayes. Mary wears pantaloons and can kick the highest; but Phœbe is a nice girl to look at, and can make a good speech.

—The Dutch cure a lazy pauper by putting him into a deep cistern, let in the water, and provide him with a pump that, with hard work, will just keep him from drowning.

—A young gentleman, after having for some time paid his addresses to a lady, popped the question. The lady, in a frightened manner, said, "You scare me, sir." The gentleman did not wish to frighten the lady, and consequently remained silent for some time, when she exclaimed, "Scare me again."

—A little boy pranced up to his mother and said: "Ma, hain't I been real good since I've begun goin' to Sunday-school?" "Yes, my lamb," answered the maternal, fondly. "And you trust me now, don't you, ma?" "Yes, darling," she replied again. "Then," spoke up the little innocent, "what makes you keep the cookies locked up in the pantry the same as ever?"

—Old Sims noticed a bat-handle sticking from under his boy's coat as he walked down the stoop Sunday morning, whereupon he rushed out and carried the youngster in by the ear. After giving him a cordial mauling, he shook his finger in his face and said: "Do you know where boys go that play base-ball on Sunday?" "Yes," sobbed the boy, "down behind the mounment, in the white lot."

—A farmer residing in Beverly, Canada, has discovered a new method of getting rid of his grasshoppers. He keeps fifteen pigs, and during the summer months they live on nothing but grasshoppers. He keeps two of the summer's litter over till the nex spring to teach the young brood. Last summer for seven weeks his pigs lived on the grasshoppers, and came out fat and ready for fall feeding on grain.

—There was an amusing love scene in the Campbell county (Va.) court, recently, when a handsome young widow and her lover stood, with others, to be sworn upon the Bible. The young man first kissed the book, then the widow kissed it, but before it could pass to the other witnesses the ardent young lover rushed up again, caught hold of the book and rekissed it precisely where the young widow's lips had touched it.

—At the Centennial celebration of one of our New England towns, the Chairman called upon "our esteemed fellow-citizen, Col. Boozer," to make a few remarks. The Colonel, who was "pretty well loaded," commenced firing after the following style: "Feller-citizens, er hundred years 'go th' Injuns were thicker'n h—— 'round here." Here one of the committee, noticing the Colonel's condition, shook his head as a hint for more elegant language, which the speaker, construing it into a denial of his assertion, turned fiercely on his adviser and continuedd: "Tell ye they were—thicker'n flies 'round m'lasses cask. Why, a man couldn't go out to weed his garden 'thout gettin' the seat of his breeches stuck full of arrers." Here, amid a general roar, the Colonel was persuaded to postpone the remainder of his speech.—Com. Bul.

PILOT BREAD.

This kind of bread, having come into extensive family use, it has been my purpose to furnish, from choice materials, an article which should meet the approval of the most fastidious as to neatness, looks and taste. Whether I have succeeded in giving to the public a PILOT BREAD,

SUPERIOR IN EXCELLENCE,

the consumer may be the judge; that the quality will not be suffered to depreciate, the past with the present is my best pledge. That I can compete with all the various qualities of Pilot Bread in the market, as to price, I make no pretensions,—but in price, all things being equal, I fear no competition.]

The Thunderer Explosion.

The foreign mails bring further details of the explosion of the boiler of the new British man-of-war, the Thunderer, and the terrible loss of life resulting therefrom. The ship, which is a sister ship to the Devastation, was launched four years ago, but up to the time of the explosion her machinery had never been tried. The breaking out of trouble in the East expedited her outfit, and a time was appointed for the official trial of her machinery. In addition to the main engines for propelling the ship, of the collective power of 800 horses, the Thunderer had on board no fewer than twenty-six other engines for performing various work, so that she was practically an immense floating factory. She had eight boilers on board, which were heated by thirty-two furnaces. At the trial there were no less than five hundred men on board, over one hundred of these being stokers, of whom thirty were actually in the stokehole at work at the furnaces. The ship got under weigh, and although she was only going slow, the pandemonium in the stokehole was all aglow and crowded with half-naked forms actively engaged at the furnaces in working up the steam to the required pressure before making the first run. Soon a loud, sharp explosion was heard below, exactly resembling the report of one of the thirty-eight-ton guns. It was evident that something terrible had occurred, and it was soon discovered that one of the boilers had exploded. Immense volumes of steam forced their way up the uptakes and the gratings of the coal bunkers, scalding everyone in the vicinity. The bravest men on board for a time held back from rushing through the scalding steam to rescue the dead and dying in the stokeholes, but finally a number of gallant blue-jackets responded to the appeal. They fought their way down where agonizing sights presented themselves, as man after man, blackened with coal-dust and with the flesh hanging from their limbs—many being absolutely naked—were discovered writhing with pain. While this was going on, there were dying in unspeakable torturee in the stokeholes poor fellows whom it was impossible to reach for the steam. No less than twenty-seven dead bodies were found on the terrible wreck, and of the fifty-three injured nearly all have since died.

AMERICAN & FOREIGN PATENTS.
R. H. EDDY, SOLICITOR OF PATENTS,
For Inventions Trade Marks or Designs
No. 76 STATE ST., OPPOSITE KILBY ST., BOSTON.
After an extensive practice of upwards of thirty years, continues to secure patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all papers for Patents, executed on reasonable terms with dispatch. Researches made to determine the validity and utility of Patents of Inventions, and legal and other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any patent furnished, by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.
No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.
All necessity for a journey to Washington to procure a Patent and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.
TESTIMONIALS.
"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents."
"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office. EDMUND BURKE, Late Commissioner of Patents.'
"MR. R. H. EDDY has made for me over THIRTY applications for Patents, having been successful in almost every case. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend ALL inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases and at very reasonable charges. JOHN TAGGART."

MAGIC
CONDITION PILLS!
The Wonderful Remedy for Liver Complaint, Biliousness, Dyspepsia, Constipation, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Headache, Kidney Complaint, Nervousness, Scrofula, Piles, and all diseases arising from a bad state of the Blood!
No medicine ever offered to the public has given such universal satisfaction as Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. Their praises are on every tongue where their merits are known. They strike at once at the seat of disease and show their healing power almost immediately. Thousands of voluntary testimonials of their merits have been received by the agent, from those who have been cured by them, of which the following are samples:

Dyspepsia Four Years, Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels Three Years, Confined to my Room Two Years, Pain so I Could Not Sleep Without Morphine. One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills Made Me Eat Well, Sleep Well and Free from Pain, after being given up by Physicians.

WEST LEBANON, ME., Feb. 23, 1875.
MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I have been sick for four years with Dyspepsia, and for the past three years Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels; I have suffered all the pain I could endure and live. I have been confined to my room for two years, and could not sleep nights without the use of morphine. I have been given up by physicians as past cure. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, and they have done me more good than all the doctors I have had. I sleep well, I eat well and have no pain. They are all they are recommended to be. Please send me three packages, as two of my neighbors wish to try them. I enclose $1.50.
Your truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Another Letter from Maj. John W. Lord, one month later. Wonderful Cures by Dr. Quain's Pills Effected on Him in Thirteen Days. First time Free from Pain for Three Years.

WEST LEBANON, ME., March 22, 1875
MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I commenced taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS February the 8th, and wrote you February 23d of their wonderful effect. I have continued to improve ever since. My appetite is good, and I sleep as well as I ever did in my life. I am free from pain for the first time in three years. When I was taken sick four years ago, I weighed one hundred and eighty-six pounds; I now weigh one hundred and thirty, but, as I am gaining in strength, I have faith I shall regain my flesh this summer, by the use of the Pills. I shall continue taking them for some time to come.
Yours truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Dr. Quain's Pills the Remedy for Soldiers' Aches and Pains.

WEST LEBANON, ME., June 1, 1875.
MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I am now able to walk out every day, and am gaining in strength very fast, all of which is due to you as agent for the best Pills in the world. I have taken no other medicine, and my improvement has been steady since first taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done everything for me, and I will say to you, advertise them direct to the soldiers, for they will certainly cure them of aches and pains caused from exposure and hardship on the field. Please send me by return mail another package.
JOHN W. LORD.

Rheumatism for Twenty Years Cured by One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills—"The Best Medicine in the World."

EAST ANDOVER, N. H., Dec. 10, 1875.
MR. LANE—Dear Sir:—As I know the value of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS and the good they have done me, I take pleasure in giving them praise; so I send you another testimonial. My father has been troubled with Rheumatism for twenty years or more, and has tried everything that could be thought of, but to no good. At times it would be so bad that he could not lift his hand to his head or do any work at all, especially in cold weather. A short time ago I advised him to go and get a box of these Pills. He believed nothing in them, but I gave him the last package I had of you, as I did not need them, and he has not been as free from the Rheumatism for twenty years. No Rheumatism, no pain. What helped him? It was DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, the best medicine in the world. There is nothing like them. I know of, for I have tried them, and they are all, yes, more than they are recommended to be. Give them a fair trial and you will say so. I write this because I know the goodness of them and wish others to know the same. Some may think I am telling a big story. I am. But remember I am not giving them half the praise they ought to have.
Yours with respect, ED. F. PEVARE.

Wonderful Effect of Four Doses of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills upon Neuralgia of Twelve Years' Duration—Testimony of Rev. J. S. Patton.

DAINGERFIELD, MORRIS CO., TEXAS, Nov. 15, '75.
MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I have been afflicted for near twelve years with Neuralgia in the face and head. I tried I do not know how many physicians, and could only get partly relieved. I also tried many patent medicines with the same result. I have been confined to my room most all the time for eight or ten winters, and have been traveling and visiting medical springs, and I still suffered most intensely. The physicians pronounced my case the worst and most stubborn that they had had anything to do with. One told me I could never get well; they all advised me to go South and spend the winter, although they gave me little chance for me, and I was trying to get ready to go to Florida, when through the kindness of Rev. R. M. Mills, my attention was called to the advertisement of Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. I immediately sent to you for a package. I have taken four doses and I am almost free from pain. The impression here seems to be that if your pills will cure me, they will cure anybody. I have five applications to send for the pills. Enclosed please find three dollars; send five packages to me and one to Mrs. Laura Sherrell, Sulphur Springs, Hopkins county, Texas.
Yours truly, J. S. PATTON.

Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache.

LACONIA, N. H., Jan. 20, 1875.
TROS. W. LANE—Sir:—I have been troubled with Bad Blood, Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done me more good than all the medicine I ever took; I have taken considerable medicine within the last five years. For the sake of others I think there is nothing so good as those pills. I can recommend them to all who are similarly afflicted, they have done me so much good. I think they will recommend themselves wherever they go. I shall recommend those Pills to all who need them. Please send me two packages more, one for myself and one for a lady friend of mine. Many thanks to the inventor, agent and advertiser of those Pills.
MRS. P. L. ELLIOTT.

DR. QUAIN'S MAGIC CONDITION PILLS are put up only by the AMERICAN MEDICINE CO., Manchester, N. H., THOMAS W. LANE, Agent.

PULMOCINE.
BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL
is no new discovery. Twenty-three years ago it was used by one of New England's most famous physicians as the best Pulmonary Curative he could prescribe, after a dozen years spent in experimenting with it before he was satisfied that the Materia Medica could add nothing in its favor.

Is the ultima thule of Medical Discovery.

Among its many ingredients are Wild Cherry Bark, Squill Root, Liquorice Root, Blood root, &c. It is a Blood Purifier, gently stimulating. It increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is sudorific and alterative. It is a necessary family medicine. It is a Tonic and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is a gentle sedative, and relieves nervousness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.

CLEAR YOUR THROAT!

Relieve Your Lungs.

PULMOCINE CORDIAL

Is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. Every Family should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croups, Laryngitis, or inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred Throat Diseases at all times prevalent, it is the ounce of Prevention. Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for. These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning, when a physician may be out of immediate reach. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy relief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As "a stitch in time saves nine," so does the possession of this Family Medicine prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing ing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agent. There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all this afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and the patient's danger is past.

For Coughs,
Croup,
Diphtheria,
— AND —
Asthma, etc.,
— USE —
Buchman's Pulmocine Cordial.

The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. It is offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

Rockingham Ten Cents Savings Bank.
NO. 29 MARKET ST., PORTSMOUTH, N. H.
AARON H. HILL, President. JOHN CHRISTIE, Treas.

THIS Bank pays five per cent. per annum, free of all tax. A greater rate is prohibited by law. Two dividends are made in the year,—in June and December; and an extra dividend of the surplus earnings every two years. The first extra will be in June, 1874.
Deposits go on interest on the FIRST day of every MONTH, and deposits made during the FIRST THREE days of each MONTH will draw interest from the FIRST day of that MONTH.
Dividends not withdrawn will be added to the principal, and draw interest from the time when declared.
Money is received on deposit payable on checks at sight.
Portsmouth, Jan. 1, 1873.

Health Regulations.

THE BOARD OF HEALTH OF THE CITY OF PORTSMOUTH call the attention of the public to the following sections of Chapter 10, of the Revised Ordinances, and invite all interested in the preservation of health in our city to aid them in the execution of their duty:
SEC. 3. All waste water of houses, yards, cellars, sinks, pumps, etc., shall be conveyed by their owners or occupiers to the common sewers, or to such places as the Health Officers may direct.
SEC. 4. No person shall be allowed to throw any vegetable or dead animal substance, or any other matter capable of producing infection, into any street, lane, alley or dock, or upon any wharf, but shall bury them or th ow them into the river below low-water mark.
SEC. 5. The contents of vaults and privies shall not be permitted to rise within one foot of the surface of the earth. And all owners or occupiers of buildings having such vaults or privies as may require it, shall cause them to be emptied within ten days from the promulgation of this ordinance, and in future on or before the first day of May in each year. And any such owner or occupier neglecting so to do, shall forfeit and pay for every such neglect a sum not less than three nor more than twenty dollars, and a like sum for every week's neglect after the time above specified.
SEC. 6. No vender of meat at the stalls shall be permitted to leave any stale meat, heads, feet or offal of any kind about their stalls or stores over night, or suffer them to be thrown into any street, lane or alley of the city. Nor shall any sellers of fish be permitted to throw any offal of fish into any street, lane or alley of the city, or upon any wharf, but shall either bury them or throw them into the river beyond low-water mark.
SEC. 7. If any dead animal or decaying vegetable substance, or any other nuisance, shall be found in any part of the city, the owners or occupiers of the premises where such nuisance shall be found, shall cause the same to be removed within twenty-four hours after being notified so to do by one or more of the health officers.
SEC. 12. When any householder shall know that any person within his family is taken sick of the small pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, he shall immediately give notice thereof to the Health Officers.
SEC. 13. When any physician shall know that any person whom he is called to visit is infected with the small pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, such physician shall immediately give notice thereof to the Health Officers.
SEC. 14. If any such householder or physician shall refuse or neglect to give the notice required in the preceding sections, he shall for each refusal or neglect, forfeit the sum of twenty dollars, to be recovered by either of the Health Officers in the name of the city.
SEC. 16. The Health Officers may give written notice to the owner or occupier of any building, vessel or enclosure, to remove or destroy any nuisance or other thing deemed by them on examination, to be injurious to the public health, within a certain time limited therein: and in case such owner or occupier—the said notice having been given to him, or left at his usual place of abode—shall neglect to comply therewith, the said Health Officers may, by direction of the mayor and accompanied by the city marshal, forcibly enter such building, vessel, or enclosure, and cause said nuisance or other thing aforesaid to be removed or destroyed.
SEC. 21. No person shall erect, keep or continue, or permit to be erected, kept or continued, upon any land occupied by him, any pen for the keeping of swine, or privy, over either of the mill ponds in this city, or so placed that offensive substances therefrom shall be discharged or drained into either of said ponds, or into any creek, or cove, or drain leading thereto. And no person shall construct, keep or continue any drain leading from any pen for the keeping of any swine, slaughter-house, privy vault, or other unwholesome or offensive place, into either of said ponds, or to any flat or marsh adjoining the same. And no person shall throw or suffer to be thrown from his land into either of said ponds, or upon any of said flats or marshes, any dead, decaying, unwholesome or offensive animal or vegetable substances.

LINCOLN BUTTER POWDER.
Good Fresh Butter All The Year Round.
BUTTER IN 20 MINUTES.
Lincoln Butter Powder is an entirely harmless article made from a celebrated English recipe, and now in daily use by many of the most noted farmers in the butter counties around Philadelphia.
In hot weather this Powder makes the butter much firmer and sweeter than it usually is, and keeps it from turning rancid. It also removes the strong flavor of turnips, weeds, corn stalks, cotton seed, etc.; and the increased yield of butter much more than pays the trifling expense of using it.

INDEPENDENCE GAINED AND LOST.

"We will have an elegant time. You must come."

"I don't think I can," said Carrie, her eyes wandering over Julia's dainty fresh linen suit, and up to the bewitching Dolly Varden hat which completed a lovely picture.

"Why not, dear? Oh, I want you to! Perhaps you don't care to come?" This with a coaxing pout.

"Yes, I do, but—"

"Never mind the 'buts.' I shall expect you. Cousin Frank Warden is coming up, and he can walk over with you in the evening."

"I don't mind the getting home," replied Carrie, with a laugh.

"Then, good-by. You'll come?"

"I think not." But Carrie's voice was faint, and her eyes danced at the thought of fun.

The thoroughly buttoned groom put a linen duster over his mistress' flounces and Julia kissed her hand as the sprightly ponies stepped off down the road. Carrie leaned her arms on the gate and watched the phaeton with a pleased face. Julia was a dear friend—as young ladies estimate affection—and it was pleasant to see her drive up with so much ease, and leave agreeable thoughts of untold good things. When the leafy branches hid her from sight, Carrie turned, stopping a moment to set up a plant which drooped, and to examine a bush which gave promise of speedy blossoming, returned to the house.

"Oh, I want to go!" she declared, as she threw open a closet door. "I do so like to have some fun on the Fourth; and this will be splendid—croquet, music, dancing, fireworks, ice-cream, without having to make it yourself,—oh!" and Carrie whirled about the room at the thought. "But all the ladies will be so elegantly dressed. Julia said she should wear a white organdy trimmed with Valenciennes. Now I never could bear not to be well dressed too;" and she darted into the closet and came out with two dresses over her arm. "There's no use looking," she said, throwing them on the bed; "I know what they are like. The barege has a great darn in front, and the muslin is horribly faded across the shoulders. I can't wear my black silk, for I shall ruin it. Oh dear!" With a great sigh she sat on the foot of the bed, and, curling up her feet, rested her chin in the hollow of her hand. "Then my hat! It isn't a Dolly Varden, or anything but an old sun-down." It would be impossible to give the emphasis of contempt with which Carrie uttered that word.

"Why should I care?" she soliloquized. "If the year had been better, I should have had a white pique; but poor father was so pressed, I did not ask for the money. I know it's all right; but I had counted on going all the time, and I can't unless I have something pretty to wear." Carrie spoke with determination, and gave the fading sunset a perplexed, troubled look. As the quiet sky and the whispering trees presented no solution of the question, she brought her gaze in until it rested on her lap. She saw a neat white apron, and under that a really very pretty blue and white striped cambric.

"I'll wear this!" cried Carrie, jumping up. "There, freedom! Haven't I read and read about women emancipating themselves from the rule of fashion—that it would lead to progress in higher ideas, and be so good for them? Have one dress, and wear it, no matter what others did. How they'd be respected, and how happy they'd be! I'll try it. I haven't anything else to wear, and it's pretty, and I'll do it up myself, and it will look nicely. I'll put a blue ribbon in my hat, and go."

Her father's farm adjoined Mr. Livingston's country-seat, and Julia and Carrie had been summer friends for years. Julia liked Carrie's hearty, unaffected manner, and it was pleasant to have a friend to whom everything was fresh and delightful, and in a measure Julia leaned on the strong, healthy spirit which stepped into the world with such honest and discerning eyes. Carrie admired Julia's delicate beauty, and felt a protecting love for the girl who could decide nothing but the pattern of a dress, and was unfamiliar with the thousand delights which Nature lavished about her. But while Julia's girlhood had been spent at schools, so that now she could execute difficult music on her grand piano, paint a water-color sketch, converse or read in French and Italian, dance anything, bow in the divinest manner, and ride her chestnut or drive her ponies like a Diana, Carrie's had been spent at home. She could roll out delicious pats of butter with plump, sweet hands; did shape and make the perfectly fitting dresses which adorned her busy little person; could demonstrate any proposition in geometry, or calculate interest as fast as she could talk; had read all the English books she could find, and could talk intelligently to you by the hour on any topic of present interest, from the protective tariff to the probabilities of Pius IX. being the last pope. She had her own ideas, and thought about everything which seemed to affect the world, and never knew an idle, unhappy moment.

Yes, one—when Frank Warden bid her good-by last summer, and said he expected to go to California to remain years, and probably should not be in Preston again for some time. But that did not last long. She had no accomplishments, so called. She could play hymns on her old piano, could embroider, make delicious pies, cake, and preserves, and harness old Jenny to the buggy; but these are not accomplishments. She was just a rosy, active girl with bright eyes and a tender heart that made the old farm-house a pleasant place to be in. These were the two girls whose preparations were as different as their lives for the coming Fourth of July.

Carrie's mind being once made up, she did not hesitate or grieve over the inevitable. Her moon was only mock-heroic, for she did not hope or intend to reform the world, only have a pleasant day.

"If I worry or feel at all vexed," she reasoned, "my fun will all be spoiled, and I'm really going to try and be very independent."

The next morning early found her at the wash-tub. It was very far from a homely picture that she made at the door of the shed, the sunlight playing over her rippling hair tucked out of the way, and her round white arms dashing the snowy suds about. At times a pucker in her absorbed mouth, and then a smile and a few notes of song, as the way seemed clear. There was an unseen spectator of this new signing of a declaration of independence—a gentleman who was coming across the fields. He must have admired it, for he stopped to look, and then ensconcing himself on a top rail amidst well-disposed branches, he then watched until the drama was over. Saw the clear rinsing water supercede the suds, saw the dress hung up to dry in a shady place, smiled at the little pats which it received before Carrie left it and disappeared into the house. He waited some time, but she did not come out again, and only the dress hung there flapping in the wind. Only! The natural scene was lovely, with the old farm-house nestled in the elms, the orchard rambling down a hill at the back, a field of tasseled corn stretching away to a flashing brook which sang through the meadow. But this was nothing without the active little declarer, and the gentleman picked a switch and trimmed it as he said, half aloud:

"I wonder how long it takes those things to dry? She'll come out for it, I suppose. I might make a whistle."

So round about he wandered, not losing sight of the flapping dress, which slowly stiffened into an awkward, thin, shapeless object, and swung back and forth on the line. When this result was attained, he was repaid for waiting by seeing Carrie run out with an apron over her head, throw the dress over her arm, and back to the shed. No use waiting any longer; evidently the ironing could not be seen; and the restless figure disappeared from the fence and field, much to the gratification of a squirrel who had viewed him with disfavor for some time.

But it was a pity any one who felt interested could not have seen the conclusion. The shower of water from the twinkling finger-tips, the firm rolling with compressed lips, and the artistic ironing which followed. Hair back close enough then to be entirely away from the flushed cheeks, critical views at a little distance with the head on one side, ruffles re-ironed, and at last all complete, and a satisfied rest on the bed, with the dress laid on two chairs opposite: a rest with interruptions, which referred to the manifold alterations and final adjustment, broken at last by the adorning of the plebeian sundown with a blue ribbon.

The next day was the Fourth, and dawned fair and beautiful. A little warmer than its predecessors, it was still just the temperature for out-of-door enjoyment in the shade. Carrie gave no thought to Dolly Varden or Valenciennes as she straightened the sash of blue cambric and tied the sundown over her sunny brown hair. He who wanted anything prettier than the fresh brightness of the toilet and the piquant young face under the shadow of the straw hat must have been hard to please. And though perhaps we ought not to hear the secret which was known only between Carrie and her glass, she was perfectly satisfied as she gave a last look and ran down stairs. So was Julia, as she greeted the spotless little figure which ran into her room as the organdy was being assumed.

Rutherford B. Hayes,

OF OHIO.

FOR VICE PRESIDENT,

William A. Wheeler,

OF NEW YORK.

Hayes' Platform in War.

In 1864, when Hayes was in the army, being nominated for Congress he was requested to come home and stump his district. His reply was, "I have other business just now. Any man who would leave the army at this time to electioneer for Congress ought to be scalped!"

Hayes' Platform in Peace.

"Honest money for all, and free schools for all. There should be no inflation which will depreciate the one, nor sectarian interference which will destroy the other."

News and Notes.

Portland had a $30,000 fire, Saturday morning. Insurance $2000.

In Grand Rapids, Mich., Friday morning, the Rathburn House was burned, and two men lost their lives. The loss on property was $50,000.

Samuel W. Dutton, town clerk of Northfield, Mass., for twenty years, and town treasurer for thirty-one years, was kicked to death by a vicious colt in a pasture, on Thursday. Mr. Dutton was also a deacon of the Congregational church, and a justice of the peace.

The Concord post office is to be removed to White's opera house.

Surveys for the Peterboro' and Hillsboro' railroad are to be commenced at once.

The Boston police raided on sixty-one unlicensed liquor sellers on Friday, and captured some thousands of dollars' worth of spirits and beer.

Forty Irishmen on Friday demanded of the Mayor of Newburyport "bread or work." The leader is the owner of three houses, and they averaged $1000 per man each in real estate, with large deposits in the savings banks.

J. O. Smith, a fireman on the Cheshire railroad, was killed at Keene on Friday by being run over by the cars.

The democratic attempt at repudiation through the Bland silver bill is already having a noticeable effect upon Government securities. The Treasury Department has information that foreign buyers already indicate an unwillingness to make large purchases of our bonds, because the bonds only read payable in coin, and do not say in gold coin. The discussion of the bill has disclosed the fact that while all gold bonds of States and railway corporations contain the word gold, the United States bonds simply use the word coin.

In a grand free-for-all horse race at Cleveland, Ohio, July 27th, the famous stallion Smuggler beat Bodine, Lucille Golddust, Judge Fullerton and Goldsmith Maid, for a purse of $6000; time 2:16 1-2, 2:19 3-4, 2:17 1-2. Goldsmith Maid won the first two heats in 2:15 1-2, 2:17 1-2.

The Boston base ball club was defeated at Providence, R. I., on Friday, by the amateur Rhode Islands, by a score of 4 to 3. The Mutuals defeated the Live Oaks of Lynn, at Lynn, by a score of 8 to 6—the Live Oaks claiming that the score should stand: Mutuals 6, Live Oaks 6, umpire 2. Josephs, of the Bostons, was the umpire.

Ex-Sheriff James W. Odlin is to be jailor at Exeter.

Democratic Fairness.

The contemptible partisanship of and reckless disregard of justice and decency by the democratic investigating committees is well illustrated by the parallel cases of Congressman Kerr and Hayes. They were both charged with the grave offence of selling a cadetship; there was not just grounds for the charge against either, but the evidence—both direct and inferential—against Kerr was a hundred times stronger than that against Hayes. But in Kerr's case a hearing was promptly granted, the examination was postponed whenever Mr. Kerr was not present, and at the earliest possible moment a report fully exonerating him was returned. In Hayes' case, which was before the same committee months before Kerr's case was brought up, every possible obstacle the democratic members could invent was thrown in the way; as far as possible Mr. Hayes was kept in ignorance of what was being said and done against him; and now, after keeping the "inquiry" dragging along for nearly eight months, and finding absolutely nothing to support such a report as they wished to bring in, the democratic partisans report that while there is no evidence against Mr. Hayes the circumstances are suspicious! Admitting the utter failure of their malicious prosecution, they yet cannot help attempting to besmirch the reputation of the man whose character they find impregnable.—just the sort of dirty work they were appointed expressly to do. The explanation of the difference in the treatment of Messrs. Kerr and Hayes is simple enough—Kerr is a democrat, Hayes is a republican.

The treatment of ex-Sergeant-at-Arms Ordway is another case in point. Several times accused of malfeasance, in each case he promptly and triumphantly cleared himself from all suspicion; but at last another charge is trumped up, the "cause of the committee's suspicions" telegraphed all over the country and honored with big headlines in the democratic papers, and when Col. Ordway hurries to Washington and demands (what the meanest criminal is entitled to receive) a prompt trial, he is coolly told that "the committee will not be able to reach the case this session," and the democratic papers sneer at his demand for fair play as "an attempt to bully the committee!" The real reason the copperhead committee don't want to examine Col. Ordway's case is that they have already found their "cause for suspicion" baseless so far as he is concerned, but that two leading democrats do not make a good showing.

The democrats of the House on Friday decided the contested-election case of Platt vs. Goode, the former, a republican, claiming the seat occupied by the latter as representative from Virginia. The committee on elections were so thoroughly satisfied of Mr. Platt's election that, although a majority of its members are of course democrats, the majority report was in favor of the contestant; representative Thompson, democrat, of Massachusetts, made a powerful argument in favor of the adoption of the report; but the partisanship of the House "reformers" was stronger than their sense of honor and justice, and the democrat was retained in the seat he wrongfully occupies by a vote of 105 to 99.

Political.

The Fort Scott (Kansas) Pioneer has dropped Mr. Tilden's name and put up Peter Cooper's, and other Kansas papers are following its example.

If the massacre at Hamburg had no political character, how did it happen that when it became a topic of discussion at Washington, republicans only denounced it, while the democrats, led by that poor creature, Sunset Cox, excused the cowardly murder, and could hardly find words to express their admiration of Gen. Butler, the chief assassin, until Mr. Lamar shamed them out of their complacency by calling the slaughter by its right name.—Worcester Spy.

Gov. Curtin of Pennsylvania, and Gen. Banks of Massachusetts, have come out for Hayes—both very prominent "liberals," and regarded as having cut aloof entirely from the republican party.

Robert Lincoln is not for Tilden.

The republicans carried Chicago in the recent municipal election for the first time for a number of years, by a majority of 8,250.

We were inclined to believe that Gov. Hayes was a negative character, but there is more positive self-assertion shown in his letter than has been exhibited by any candidate for President in the last quarter of a century.—Memphis Avalanche (dem.)

Take the case of the Terre Haute, Alton & St. Louis Railroad as a single illustration. Tilden was accused of fraud, and a settlement demanded. What did he do? By way of offsetting the claim against him, in part, he rendered a bill of fifty-five thousand dollars for drawing up a lease! This did not satisfy the owners of the property—the plundered owners. Tilden was sued in the United States Court in New York City for one million dollars, and under oath was charged with fraud and embezzlement. That is not an old case. It is a new case. It is on, as the lawyers say. What did Tilden do when the bill was filed? Answer it? That is what an innocent man would have done. He would have made haste to answer it. But no! Once, twice, three times Tilden asked for time, and on the last occasion he was given until next October to file an answer. First he had it put over to May, next until after the St. Louis Convention, and finally until near the November election, when he will undoubtedly bridge it over that month. The record of Tilden's railroad transactions, out of which he made nearly all his money, would fill four pages of this paper, and condemn any man; and not one of these charges has ever been answered—not one! And when some of the plundered parties sought relief in Court, charging him with fraud and embezzlement, he begged and obtained time to answer, when, had he been an innocent or sensitive man, he would have been in far greater haste to answer than he could possibly be to write a letter of acceptance of the St. Louis nomination.—Cinn. Gazette.

—"Gen'l'men," exclaimed an old Connecticut salt, as he grasped the brawny arm of a Yale College oarsman, and called the company's attention to its muscular development, "Gen'l'men, thar's intelleck for yer."

What can be cured

Need not be endured, although what can't must be. Among the bodily ills susceptible of complete removal by that benign tonic and alterative, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, are general debility, malarial fevers, constipation, dyspepsia, liver disorder, and nervousness. Its remedial capabilities are, however, by no means limited to these maladies. Its properties as a blood depurent render it extremely serviceable in expelling the acrid impurities which produce those painful disorders, rheumatism and gout, and its invigorating and mildly stimulating effect upon the kidneys and bladder constitute it a useful medicine for impelling those organs to a complete performance of their functions when they are weak and inactive. In fact, there is scarcely any disease of which weakness is an accompaniment, in which this admirable medicine cannot be used with advantage.

Time Saved! Travel Saved! Visitors to New York from Boston will be glad to know that they can save twenty-three miles on the journey by purchasing tickets via Middletown, over the New York and New England Railroad. Everything new and first-class. We ask attention to card of this new route.

Mayoralty Caucus.

The adjourned caucus of the republican party was held at the Court House on Saturday, the polls opening at 4 o'clock, P. M., and closing at 8 o'clock, the check lists being used, as usual. The first ballot resulted as follows:

Whole number of votes	537
Necessary for a choice	269
George Annable had	2
Frank W. Miller	25
William H. Sise	64
Thomas E. Call	138
John H. Broughton	152
Jeremiah F. Hall	156

And there was no choice. Col. William H. Sise then withdrew his name, thanking his friends for their support; and the caucus voted to ballot again, the polls to close at 9 o'clock. The second ballot resulted as follows:

Whole number of votes	456
Necessary for a choice	229
Miller	7
Call	98
Hall	163
Broughton	188

And there was no choice. A motion was made to appoint a committee to nominate a candidate, but the motion found no favor, and the caucus proceeded to the third ballot, (Mr. Call's name being withdrawn,) with the following result:

Whole number of votes	401
Necessary for a choice	201
Miller	8
Call	11
Hall	157
Broughton	225

And Mr. John H. Broughton was declared the nominee of the caucus, and accepted in a brief speech, thanking the party for the honor conferred upon him and pledging himself if elected to use his best endeavors to advance the interests of the city. Mr. Broughton is one of our active young business men and will undoubtedly make an efficient Mayor.

The court room was suffocatingly hot during the evening, owing to the large crowd present, and when the caucus closed, which was shortly after 10 o'clock, everybody was glad to get into the open air.

Terrible Fellows.

At the democratic city caucus and indignation meeting combined, Friday evening, after the farce of permitting the caucus to accept the candidate selected by the party rulers had been performed there was some terrible talk. One choleric old gent, for twenty years and more a chronic office-seeker, advised the unterrified to "pull from the desk" on election day one of the republicans appointed by the legislature as a ward officer in Ward Four; and an ardent young democratic sprig of the law urged that one of the ward officers in Ward Two shall be "thrown out of the Court House" on the same day, though we opine that his discretion will get the better of his enthusiasm before that time arrives, so that he in person won't attempt any such silly performance. One enthusiastic adopted citizen addressed the chair as follows: "Misther Chairman; if we wuz to upset and smash the ballot-boxes, could theys arrist us for it?" The chair very discreetly ignored the question, and the Times didn't mention it in its report of the meeting; but it was asked, and evidently in earnest.

This silly talk was supplementary of the ominous warnings of the Times as to what may be expected if the democrats do not "get their rights," and was occasioned mainly by the leaving off the check-lists (as is claimed by the democrats) of the names of many persons who have for years voted the democratic ticket. How many such names have been left off we do not know; that many such should be left off we do not question: and we would remind our adopted fellow-citizens that while voting the democratic ticket year after year undoubtedly naturalizes an alien according to democratic practice, it does not do it according to the laws of the United States. The final revision of the check-lists is yet to be made, and we feel safe in saying that no man who can produce proof that he is a legal voter will be debarred his legal rights. Concerning the mob-law warnings of the Times and the violence-advising of the democratic caucus-spouters, we have a word of advice to offer—don't do anything you'll be sorry for! We are to have a fair election, and any attempt to introduce Mississippi election tactics in Portsmouth will be promptly and efficiently met; but we do not imagine that any one will be foolish enough to try it.

Jottings.

The Woman's Temperance League are to have an excursion to the Shoals on Wednesday next, in steamer "Applejore;" fare, 75 cents for the round trip. For the information of all interested we will state that one-half of the net proceeds (should there be any) will be given to the Old Ladies' Home, the other half to be used by the League in furtherance of the temperance cause. Both objects are praiseworthy, a liberal patronage is deserved and earnestly solicited, and we presume the size of the excursion party will be limited only by the size of the steamer.

The democrats have done some heavy talking about the admirable manner in which their "economical" city government has reduced the taxes—from two and one-quarter per cent. down to two per cent. That is a good showing, certainly; but many republicans (all, in fact, with whom I have spoken on the subject,) wonder how it is that, with the taxes so much lower than for years past, their tax bills are actually larger than ever before, they possessing no more taxable property than in previous years! The tax-payer is naturally pleased with a reduction of the rate of taxation, but when his property is assessed so much higher as to more than counterbalance the reduction he fails to see exactly where the rejoicing over lessened taxes comes in. ‡

The Biddeford Journal says the Ocean Bluff House at Cape Arundel, Kennebunkport, Me., is full and running over. The proprietors have hired a cottage outside and filled that, yet many persons have had to be turned away. The Ocean Bluff House is conducted by Job Jenness & Son, formerly of the Ocean House at Rye Beach—where we hope they will be located again by another year, as we understand there is a good prospect of a first-class hotel being erected on the site of the old one before another watering-place season commences.

Wm. R. Boardman, Esq., declining to run as a candidate for school committee in Ward Two, the name of Mr. John H. Hutchinson has been substituted for his on the ticket.

The Times draws a comparison between the "unanimity" of the democratic mayoralty caucus, and the protracted voting of the republican one. That's all owing to the difference in the method of making the nomination. The republican candidate is nominated by the voters of the party; the democratic candidate is nominated by the ring of wire-pullers called the city committee, the men of the party having no voice whatever in the matter,—and as the voters are allowed by their rulers to have only one candidate to choose from, their "unanimity" in choosing that one is nothing to be astonished at.

Messrs. Campbell & Jewett, proprietors of "Hotel Wentworth," are having a new floating stage moored to Newcastle new bridge, for the accommodation of their boarders.

Hon. James G. Blaine has left Rye Beach for Wenham, Mass., where he will be the guest of Gail Hamilton. Mr. Blaine's health is much improved.

Rev. William E. Gage, of Hartford, Conn., preached in the North church, of which he was formerly pastor, on Sunday. Rev. George M. Adams, now of Holliston, Mass., will preach in the same place some time in August.

Henry Colbarth, a brakeman on the Conway freight train, was struck by a bridge between Eliot and Conway Junction on Saturday, and badly but not fatally injured.

Rev. James DeNormandie has attended the funeral of but one member of the South Parish since August last, and that one was the late Capt. Shackford, an elderly man. As the South Parish society is a very large one this is remarkable.

The remains of the late James W. Emery, Esq., formerly of this city and well known to the older residents, were brought here from Brooklyn, N. Y., on Saturday, and interred in Harmony Grove cemetery, the funeral services at the grave being conducted by the venerable Elder Moses How, of New Bedford, Mass., assisted by Rev. James DeNormandie. Elder How, who is now nearly 90 years of age, many years ago officiated at the marriage of Mr. Emery, who was 71 years and 6 months of age at the time of his decease.

Burglarious.

The Albany Argus gives the details of a robbery on Wednesday morning, July 26th, at the residence of S. B. McCoy of Waterford, a stove manufacturer of Albany. The burglars, ten in number, effected an entrance to the house through a kitchen window. They first entered the room occupied by Miss McCoy, in which slept a large watch dog. They threatened to shoot her if she refused to silence the dog. The lady fainted and the robbers ransacked the room and found a gold locket. They then entered the room of Mr. and Mrs. McCoy. Mr. McCoy was aroused from his slumber by a blow from the ringleader, and discovered that his room was filled with men armed with revolvers, which were directed towards him. They interrogated him as to the whereabouts of his money and valuables. After hesitating somewhat he said: "Boys, I have enough shot in the house for you all, but you have the advantage of me. Lower that revolver from my head and take what you want." They found $75 in currency in the pocket of his pantaloons. They then asked for his gold watch and chain, which he was compelled to produce. The robbers then asked where "Ed's" room was, as if acquainted with the family. They then marched him to "Ed's" apartment and demanded of the occupant his watch and money, which he refused to give. Mr. McCoy told him it was useless to show fight, and he finally handed over his gold watch and chain and $20 in money. Leaving men to guard their prisoners, they proceeded to the servant's apartment, woke her up by a thump from the butt of a pistol and asked her where the silverware was kept, saying that in case of refusal they would kill her. She quickly complied and the burglars went to the dining-room, took all the ware they could find and carried it off. They then proceeded to the room where Mr. McCoy was confined, and made him swear that he would not alarm the people of Waterford until after 9 o'clock in the morning. In case of his refusal they threatened to burn down his barns and residence and maltreat the occupants. Mr. McCoy consented and the intruders departed, saying they disliked to trouble him, but being workmen out of employment, they needed money. Mr. McCoy, in accordance with his promise, did not inform the police of the village until 9 o'clock, when the thieves were beyond reach. Being asked why he delayed alarming the neighborhood, he said he always kept his promises.

Several Glasses Too Much.

During Mr. Charles Pope's management of a Southern theatre, one night when some high-toned star was holding forth, a great sensation was produced by a nautical old gentleman, who with all dignity produced a spyglass, and when the lorgnettes were directed at the stage, with a report like a young pistol pulled the critter out to its full proportions and leveled it at the performer. This novelty in the way of an opera-glass created so much diversion, that word was sent to the offending old sailor that he must put it up, which he wouldn't, as he was going to use it. When the curtain fell he went out. Before it rose again, in walked the seafaring man in company with eight others of the same brand as himself. Solemnly they were escorted to their seats, all near together. The play proceeded; of a sudden crack, fizz, squeak went nine spyglasses, some of them a yard long. Simultaneously the whole nine were pulled out to their extremest length, and the weather beaten old countenances brought to bear on the end of them. The audience howled, the players struggled on, but the instant an exciting passage was reached, whang went the nine spy-glasses, and the crowd yelled with delight. In this way the performance dragged along, till, as actors and audience could stand it no longer, the play was brought to an untimely end; the eight old sea-dogs who had been summoned off the levee to assist the original offender unsmilingly filed out behind him, fully avenged for all interference, with the triumphant spy-glasses under their arms.

—"Circumstances alter cases," said a lawyer to his client, after losing his fourth law-suit. "Cases alter circumstances," savagely replied the client; "by your management of my cases by circumstances have been nearly ruined."

—"No man can do anything against his will," said a metaphysician. "Faith," said Pat, "I had a brother went to prison against his will, faith, he did."

Responsible security required for the prompt and faithful delivery of the articles awarded within the time specified.

Blank forms will be furnished at this office and bids opened at the hour above named, when parties interested are invited to be present.

A. J. CLARK,
Paymaster U. S. Navy.

PILOT BREAD.

This kind of bread having come into extensive family use, it has been my purpose to furnish, from choice materials, an article which should meet the approval of the most fastidious as to neatness, looks and taste. Whether I have succeeded in giving to the public a PILOT BREAD,

SUPERIOR IN EXCELLENCE,

the consumer may be the judge; that the quality will not be suffered to depreciate, the past with the present is my best pledge. That I can compete with all the various qualities of Pilot Bread in the market, as to price, I make no pretensions,—but in price, all things being equal, I fear no competition.]

JOHN PEARSON, Jr.,
Newburyport, Mass.

In justice to myself, and that those who prefer

PEARSON'S FAMILY PILOT BREAD

may obtain what is desired, I shall occasionally publish the names of those who keep it for sale in Portsmouth, as follows:

AMERICAN & FOREIGN PATENTS.

R. H. EDDY, SOLICITOR OF PATENTS.

For Inventions Trade Marks or Designs

NO. 76 STATE ST., OPPOSITE KILBY ST., BOSTON.

After an extensive practice of upwards of thirty years, continues to secure patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all papers for Patents, executed on reasonable terms with dispatch. Researches made to determine the validity and utility of Patents of Inventions, and legal and other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any patent furnished, by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.

No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.

All necessary for a Patent or Patent Attorney to procure a Patent and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents."

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office. EDMUND BURKE, Late Commissioner of Patents."

"MR. R. H. EDDY has made for me over THIRTY applications for Patents, having been successful in almost every case. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend all inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases and at very reasonable charges. JOHN TAGGART."

DR. QUAIN'S MAGIC CONDITION PILLS!

The Wonderful Remedy for Liver Complaint, Biliousness, Dyspepsia, Constipation, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Headache, Kidney Complaint, Nervousness, Scrofula, Piles, and all diseases arising from a bad state of the Blood!

No medicine ever offered to the public has given such universal satisfaction as Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. Their praises are on every tongue where their merits are known. They strike at once at the seat of disease and show their healing power almost immediately. Thousands of voluntary testimonials of their merits have been received by the agent, from those who have been cured by them, of which the following are samples:

Dyspepsia Four Years, Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels Three Years, Confined to my Room Two Years, Pain so I Could Not Sleep Without Morphine. One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills Made Me Eat Well, Sleep Well and Free from Pain, after being given up by Physicians.

WEST LEBANON, ME., Feb. 23, 1

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I have been sick for four years with Dyspepsia, and for the past three years Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels. I have suffered all the pain I could endure and live. I have been confined to my room for two years, and could not sleep nights without the use of morphine. I have been given up by physicians as past cure. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, and they have done me more good than all the doctors I have had. I sleep well, I eat well and have no pain. They are all they are recommended to be. Please send me three packages, as I want to my neighbors wish to try them. I enclose $1.50.

Your truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Another Letter from Maj. John W. Lord, one month later. Wonderful Cures by Dr. Quain's Pills Effected on Him in Thirteen Days. First time Free from Pain for Three Years.

WEST LEBANON, ME., March 22, 1875

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I commenced taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS February 9th, and wrote you February 23d their wonderful effect. I have continued to improve ever since. My appetite is good, and I sleep as well as I ever did in my life. I am free from pain for the first time in three years. When I was taken sick four years ago, I weighed one hundred and eighty-six pounds; I now weigh one hundred and two pounds; but, as I am gaining in strength, I have faith I shall regain my flesh this summer, by the use of the Pills. I shall continue taking them for some time to come.

Yours truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Dr. Quain's Pills the Remedy for Soldiers' Aches and Pains.

WEST LEBANON, ME., June 1, 1875.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I am now able to walk out every day, and am gaining in strength, very fast, all of which is due to you as agent for the best Pills in the world. I have taken no other medicine, and my improvement has been much slower than your Pills. I have done everything for me, and I will say to you, advertise them direct to the soldiers, for they will certainly cure them of aches and pains caused from exposure and hardship on the field. I shall continue to use them and will send you more money by return mail another package.

JOHN W. LORD.

Rheumatism for Twenty Years Cured by One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills—"The Best Medicine in the World."

EAST ANDOVER, N. H., Dec. 16, 1875.

MR. LANE—Dear Sir:—As I know the value of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS and the good they have done me, I take pleasure in gooding them praise; so I send you another testimonial. My father has been troubled with Rheumatism for twenty years or more, and he has tried everything that could be thought of, but to no good. At times it would be so bad that he could not lift his hand to his head, or do any work at all, especially in cold weather. A short time ago I advised him to get some of these Pills. He believed nothing in them, but I gave him the last package I had of you, as I did not need them, and he has not been as free from the Rheumatic Complaint for years. No Rheumatism, no pain. What helped him? It was DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, the best medicine in the world. There is nothing like them. I know it, for I have tried them, and they are all yes, more than they are recommended to be. Give them a fair trial and you will say so. I write this because I know the goodness of them and wish others to know the same. Some may think I am telling a big story I am. But remember I am not giving them half the praise they ought to have.

Yours with respect, ED. F. PEVARE.

DAINGERFIELD, MORRIS CO., TEXAS, Nov. 15, '75.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I have been afflicted for near twelve years with Neuralgia in the face and head. I tried I do not know how many physicians, and could only get partly relieved. I also tried many patent medicines with the same result. I have spent a fortune in my room most all the time for eight or ten winters, and have been traveling and visiting medical springs, and I still suffered most intensely. The physicians pronounced my case the worst and most stubborn that they had had anything to do with. One told me I could never get well; they all advised me to go South and spend the winter, and thought that was the only chance for me, and I was trying to get ready to go to Florida, when through the kindness of Rev. H. M. Mathis, my attention was called to the advertisement of Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. I immediately sent to you for a package. I have taken four doses and I am almost free from pain. The impression here seems to be that if your pills will cure me, they will cure anybody. I have five applications to send for the pills. Enclosed find three dollars; send five packages to me and one to Mrs. Laura Sherrell, Sulphur Springs, Hopkins county, Texas.

Yours truly, J. S. PATTON.

Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache.

LACONIA, N. H., Jan. 29, 1875.

THOS. W. LANE—Sir:—I have been troubled with Bad Blood, Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done me more good than all the medicine I ever took; I have taken considerable medicine within the last five years. For the nerves I think there is nothing so good as those pills. I can recommend them to all who are similarly afflicted, they have done me so much good. I think they will recommend themselves wherever they go. I shall recommend those Pills to all who need them. Please send me two packages more, one for myself and one to a lady friend of mine. Many thanks to the inventor, agent and advertiser of those Pills. MRS. P. L. ELLIOTT.

DR. QUAIN'S MAGIC CONDITION PILLS are put up only by the AMERICAN MEDICINE CO., Manchester, N. H., THOMAS W. LANE, Agent.

PULMOCINE.

BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL

CONDITION PILLS!

is no new discovery. Twenty-three years ago it was used by one of New England's most famous physicians as the best Pulmonary Curative he could prescribe, after a dozen years spent in experimenting with it before he was satisfied that the Materia Medica could add nothing in its favor.

Is the ultima thule of Medical Discovery.

Among its many ingredients are Wild Cherry Bark, Squill Root, Liquorice Root, Blood root, &c. It is a Blood Purifier, gently stimulating. It increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is sudorific and alterative. It is a necessary family medicine. It is a Tonic and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is a gentle sedative, and relieves nervousness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.

Buchman's Pulmocine Cordial.

The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. It is offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

Health Regulations.

THE BOARD OF HEALTH OF THE CITY OF PORTSMOUTH call the attention of the public to the following sections of Chapter 10, of the Revised Ordinances, and invite all interested in the preservation of health in our city to aid them in the execution of their duty:

SEC. 6. All waste water of houses, yards, cellars, sinks, privies, etc., shall be conveyed by their owners or occupiers to the common sewers, or to such places as the Health Officers may direct.

SEC. 7. No person shall be allowed to throw any vegetable or dead animal substance, or any other matter capable of producing infection, into any street, lane, alley or dock, or upon any wharf, but shall bury them or throw them into the river below low-water mark.

SEC. 8. The contents of vaults and privies shall not be permitted to lie within one foot of the surface of the earth. And all owners or occupiers of buildings having such vaults or privies as may require it, shall cause them to be emptied within ten days after the publication of this ordinance, and in future on or before the first day of May in each year, or in such manner as occupier neglecting so to do, shall benefit and pay for every such neglect a sum not less than three nor more than twenty dollars, and the sum for every week's neglect after the above specified.

SEC. 9. No vessel or meat of the seals shall be permitted to remain on any shore within the city of any land adjacent thereto, for a longer time than one night, or shall they be thrown from any vessel, line or alley of the city. Nor shall any offal or fish be permitted to flow in any canal or gutter, any street, lane or alley in the city, or upon any wharf, but shall either bury them or throw them into the river beyond low-water mark.

SEC. 7. If any dead animal or decaying vegetable substance, or any other ordures, shall be found in any part of the city, the owners or occupiers of the premises where such nuisance shall be found, shall cause the same to be removed within twenty-four hours after notice, which so to do by one or more of the health officers.

SEC. 12. When any householder shall know that any person within his family is sick or dangerous to the public health, and physician shall immediately give notice thereof to the Health Officers.

SEC. 14. If any such householder or physician shall refuse or neglect to give such notice within the proceedings section 13, he shall for each refusal or neglect, forfeit the sum of twenty dollars, to be recovered by either of the Health Officers in the name of the city.

SEC. 15. The Health Officers may give written notice to the owner or occupier of any building, vessel or enclosure, to remove or destroy any nuisance or other thing deemed by them on examination, to be injurious to the public health, within a certain time limited in the notice, and in case such owner or occupier—the said notice being served upon him, or left at his usual place of abode—shall neglect to comply therewith, the said Health Officers may, by direction of the mayor, and accompanied by the city marshal, forcibly enter such building, vessel, or enclosure, and cause the nuisance or other thing aforesaid to be removed or destroyed.

SEC. 21. No person shall erect, keep or continue, or permit to be erected, kept or continued, upon any land occupied by him, any pen for the keeping of swine, or pigs, over eighty in the mill pond, in this city, or so placed that the offensive substances therefrom shall be discharged or drained into either of said ponds, or into any creek, river, or drain leading thereto. And no person shall construct, keep or continue any drain leading from any pen for the keeping of any swine, in either of said ponds, or shall place any wholesome or offensive object into either of said ponds, or to any creek or drain leading the same. And no person shall throw or cause to be thrown from his land into either of said ponds, or upon any of said land adjacent, any dead, decaying, unwholesome or offensive animal or vegetable substances.

LINCOLN BUTTER POWDER.

Good Fresh Butter All The Year Round.

BUTTER IN 20 MINUTES.

Lincoln Butter Powder is an entirely harmless article made from a celebrated English recipe, and now in daily use by many of the most noted farmers in the butter counties around Philadelphia.

In hot weather this Powder makes butter much firmer and sweeter than it usually is, and keeps it from turning rancid. It also removes the strong flavor of turnips, weeds, corn stalks, cotton seed, etc.; and the increased yield of butter much more than pays the trifling expense of using it.

INDEPENDENCE GAINED AND LOST.

Concluded from yesterday.

"Are you not dressed yet?"

"No, dear, Annie did not finish the dress until last night, and the lace had to be sewed in to-day," said Julia, with a slight frown.

"Let me help you."

"Frank asked if you would come," said Julia, from a fleecy maze of white muslin.

"Did he?" and an innocent flush suffused Carrie's face for a moment, but it returned to natural color as she cried, "Are you going to wear this lovely bracelet? You look like a bride."

"Do I?" Julia smiled into her mirror, well satisfied with the image reflected. "Perhaps I may be."

Carrie opened two gray eyes pretty wide, and following Julia down stairs, joined a gay troop of ladies and gentlemen on the lawn. The spot chosen for the picnic was a bit of meadow land and a grove on Livingston's grounds, but far enough from the house to be quite rural. Carrie found herself in the midst of a group of elegantly dressed ladies, and gentlemen in the immaculate toilet of white duck; but having once made up her mind, she was not to be disturbed, and entered into the enjoyment of the day without so much as a backward glance at Dame Fashion. Mr. Frank Warden was not slow in excusing himself from a beauty in gauze muslin and walking by her side.

"I supposed you were in California, studying seals and Chinese," said Carrie, smelling appreciatively the rose he offered her.

"Didn't Julia tell you I was here?"

"Yes; I mean till then."

"I have been, but found my mind too fully occupied to study the interesting subjects you name."

"Been and come back!" and Carrie gave him a good look of mingled interest and surprise.

"Yes; I could not help it," said Frank, returning the gaze.

"Why not? I should like to go; I'm sure I'd stay," said Carrie.

"Why not?" echoed Frank, with a tone and look that caused Carrie to blush and want to run away.

"Oh, is this the place, Mr. Warden?" asked his former companion, adding, in a lower tone, "You find that rural companion very attractive."

"Yes, I do. Allow me: Miss Budd, Miss Carrie Robbins."

The ladies bowed, and both exclaimed at the beauty of the grove, while Carrie paused in admiration of the smoothly cut, firmly rolled croquet ground. All the pleasure she had anticipated came to pass, and much more besides. The grounds had been elaborately prepared, and on one side the meadow presented a smooth green carpet for dancers, while the other side put in a plea for flirting over croquet wickets. The lunch was served by servants, and the gay party thought of nothing but enjoyment.

Carrie was in the best of spirits, and her merry laugh and bright talk proved attractive to others than Frank Warden, for Captain DeLancy gave her many a prolonged stare through his eyeglass before he asked for an introduction. He seemed to be Julia's especial attendant; and if anything can be judged from a face, she was well pleased that it should be so.

"Miss Livingston, would you introduce me to the lovely creature in blue and white?"

"Who? Miss Marston? You have met her."

"Oh no. The lady with her foot on the ball. There, she strikes."

Julia followed his eyes, and saw Carrie turn with a laugh from a croquet which had carried consternation to the heart of her antagonist.

"She's a charming creature. Where is she from?"

"She lives here," replied Julia, a little coldly, leading the way, and, the game being over, making the requested introduction.

"Most happy," said the captain, bowing low.

Frank would not yield his place, the result being that Carrie had two satellites instead of one. In the ramble about the grove, the games and dancing, the thin muslins of the other ladies suffered, and soon became rather unsightly draggled robes. Their lovely hats were caught in the bushes and torn; and if taken off, the delicate skin, unused to exposure, suffered. But Carrie's dress freshly maintained its own. It was short enough to be well out of the way, stiff enough to resist briers, and at the end of the day still looked cool and clean, being a refreshing contrast to the mossy toilets of the other ladies. The gentlemen appreciated that, Captain DeLancy saying,

"Really, Miss Robbins, I ought not to take the liberty to admire your dress, but it is charming."

Carrie smiled, and he continued,

"But it's the wearer that graces it."

Carrie turned away, for he had been paying like compliments all day, and she was too honest to think them all genuine.

"Hear! hear!" shouted a gentleman, beating vigorously on a tin pan. "Miss Livingston says there's a fine view from Sunset Rock. Who will make a trip to see it?"

"Will you go, Miss Robbins?" inquired the captain.

"Miss Carrie is engaged to go with me," asserted Frank Warden, boldly; and Carrie, glad of the change, confirmed him.

Quite a party set out; but as there were several paths, it soon came to pass that Frank and Carrie were alone.

"I'm going up that cliff," said Carrie, indicating a steep rock.

"Impossible."

"I will. See, here's a little path."

"I'll travel any path with you," replied Frank; and with much scrambling, holding of twigs, perilous slips, and precarious footing, up they went, and sat panting on the top. They could hear their party on the other side a little below them, but a thick growth of trees prevented their seeing them. They were well repaid by the fine view and the beautiful sunset, Carrie very much enjoying the little rock-chamber and the reputation of having accomplished what none of the other ladies had. As the gold and red curtains closed over the sun's departing face, and a blush, which slowly paled before the approaching twilight, stole over the sky, the two became confidential and Carrie said,

"How odd it was for Captain De Lancy to admire my dress. It's only a cambric."

"Not odd at all."

"And it's funny, too." Then she told him all about her quandary and subsequent independence.

"Was that the dress you were washing yesterday?"

"Yes; did you see me?" with a deep blush.

"Didn't I! I never saw anything so lovely. And this isn't the sort of thing the others wear? I like that. I never loved you so well before."

"Mr. Warden!" flashed out Carrie.

"Yes, Carrie, you're the girl for me. I've known it for a good while. Do come and wash dresses where I can see you; wash them for me."

"I can tell you, Mr. Warden," cried Carrie, rising, "I don't generally wash my clothes, and I don't like such nonsense."

"It's all true," he said, gently pressing her down again. "I love you, Carrie—have come to take you back to California with me."

"I don't want to go," replied Carrie, with an averted face.

"But only consider. I love you so much that I came back for you, ran the risk of losing my business, and if you don't return as my wife you'll never see me again."

Frank's tone was grave enough, and his face very red, as he tried to see her eyes. Carrie pulled at the moss, and said, faintly, "I don't want to be married."

"Oh, Carrie," he replied, with half a groan, "think of me!"

Carrie made no reply.

"Don't you love me?" pleaded Frank, putting his arm about her.

Carrie moved a little, and still did not speak; but he was evidently waiting for an answer, and at last she said, "Yes," with a jerk.

"Then you'll marry me."

"No—that is—not now."

"Oh yes; why not?"

"Because," she replied, facing him, "married people are tied up. I should have to do as you say, and you know I like to be independent."

"I wouldn't want you to do any thing you didn't want to."

"Oh, I know how it would be," replied Carrie, springing up.

"You don't. You should do just as you please. Now will you give me a good kiss?"

Carrie turned a look of indignation upon him, which was basely taken advantage of, and the kiss was stolen.

"Mr. Warden!" and away she quickly ran.

"Oh, don't go there!" he cried. "You can't; you'll hurt yourself. At any rate, wait until I come to help you."

Carrie did not heed, but went on; and in a moment a crash informed Frank that his fears had been realized. He hastened to the spot, and found her sitting very still, apparently studying the ferns.

"Are you hurt?"

"It's nothing."

"Shall we go on?"

"No, I don't wish to."

"You are hurt: let me help you rise;" this anxiously.

"I don't wish to rise."

"But you can't sit here all night. I'll get help."

"I don't want any help." Carrie started up, but fell back, with a white face.

"Darling," said Frank, tenderly, "let me put my arm about you. There! so. Now you can walk."

Carrie consented without a word, and at last broke the silence by saying.

"There's no use trying to be independent."

"Not if you are going to run away from me, and jump down rocks like that."

"I slipped."

"Then you give up?" asked Frank, stopping. "You'll be my dear, independent little wife?"

"Yes, if you'll be good."

"Always," said Frank; and before they reached the rest of the party the independent damsel was so far overcome as to lean on a loving shoulder when they rested, and her foot so much better as to enable her to take the promised walk home in the evening.

Daily Chronicle.

TUESDAY, AUGUST 1, 1876.

FOR PRESIDENT,

Rutherford B. Hayes,

OF OHIO.

FOR VICE PRESIDENT,

William A. Wheeler,

OF NEW YORK.

Hayes' Platform in War.

In 1864, when Hayes was in the army, being nominated for Congress he was requested to come home and stump his district. His reply was, "I have other business just now. Any man who would leave the army at this time to electioneer for Congress ought to be scalped!"

Hayes' Platform in Peace.

"Honest money for all, and free schools for all. There should be no inflation which will depreciate the one, nor sectarian interference which will destroy the other."

The Bloody Shirt.

A week or more ago we published some extracts from the Richmond (Va.) Whig and Charleston (S. C.) News, (both red-hot democratic supporters of Tilden and Hendricks,) in which they denounced in strong terms the unprovoked butchery of colored men at Hamburg, S. C., by white Georgians, and demanded that the "cross-roads newspapers" should, as a party measure, cease attempting to palliate or disprove such devilish work. We suggested then that the Southern democratic papers might take example from those of the North, as the latter "at present say as little as possible on the subject; next week they will deny that any such outrage has ever occurred." How nearly correct we were in our prediction the following extracts will show.

The North Anson (Me.) Advocate says: "The colored militia refused to obey the orders of the colored commander of the State militia, who then called upon the citizens for assistance. Seven negroes and two whites are reported killed."

The Belfast (Me.) Journal says: "When summoned before a colored magistrate, the captain and his followers refused to obey. The magistrate called a posse, and in the endeavor to enforce the law lives were sacrificed. While the customary howl about rebel atrocities goes up, let the fact be kept in mind that the negroes lost their lives in resisting the law."

The Hartford (Conn.) Times, (in an article which has been extensively copied by democratic papers which have too much regard for their own reputation to tell point-black lies on their own responsibility in the face of overwhelming evidence, yet are anxious to say something to break the effect of the outrage on the people of the North,) says: "The Hamburg massacre came from the orders of a republican colored justice. He arrested a militia captain for contempt of court. The colored justice was also a brigadier-general of the militia, and to sustain his civil authority, he used his military power, and battered down the works of the subordinate captain, who had treated the court of the justice and brigadier with contempt. Some of the captain's men were killed. It was a fight between a republican brigadier and a republican captain, and both were black."

Not even charity can suppose the editors of the papers from which we quote to be ignorant of the facts of the Hamburg massacre—facts given to the world by democratic papers published in the immediate vicinity of the massacre; it is therefore not uncharitable to say that each and every one of them deliberately and willfully lies, "for the good of the party." The Belfast Journal wants the "fact kept in mind that the negroes lost their lives in resisting the law;" the Augusta (Ga.) Constitutionalist, published just across the river from Hamburg, and a paper that not only supports Tilden but upholds the Hamburg massacre as being all right, says the negroes lost their lives because, being negroes, they refused to commit an illegal act at the bidding of a white democrat. The Hartford Times says the affair was "a fight between a republican brigadier and a republican captain, and both were black;" the Augusta Constitutionalist and Charleston (S. C.) News both say that it was a massacre (not a fight) of unarmed colored republicans, by white men, the latter being led—not by "a republican brigadier" and a black man at that, but by a white democrat, an ex-rebel Major General, whom democrats openly eulogized on the floor of the United States House of Representatives as a high-minded, honorable Christian gentleman.

The Richmond Whig, democratic, in urging that such men as the Hamburg assassins and their apologists do not truly represent the democratic party, says: "The misfortune is that public opinion is not outspoken enough to discourage these bad men from such acts." We should think not; how much "discouragement" the Southern negro-murdering democrats receive from the Northern democratic press is pretty well indicated by the extracts we have given! But some of the democrats are wise enough to see that raising a cry of "bloody shirt," in the North, is not sufficient to counteract the effect of the filling the bloody shirt with the body of an unoffending negro, in the South; and even Lamar, of Mississippi, who owes his position to the shot-gun—to the wholesale murders and whippings and terrorism which drove fifty thousand republicans from the polls at the last election—denounced the massacre in Congress; while the Charleston News asserts that "the Hamburg regulators are murderers in a double sense—they stabbed the State in the back while killing their suppliant prisoners;" the Richmond Whig reprobates the butchery in terms no Northern democratic or "independent" paper has yet dared to use: and even the Memphis (Tenn.) Avalanche, hitherto one of the most recklessly outspoken democratic supporters of White Lineism in the whole South, says "Gen." M. C. Butler acted like "a madman" and "raised a mob" to murder the negroes, and that there can be no controversy on the point that the negro militia company was, on the Fourth, rightly bearing arms and parading.

The Northern democrat, now so servile, cringes lowest of all at the crack of the old slave-whip.

News and Notes.

Joseph Perry, of Richmond, near Hanover, was found in his cellar on Sunday morning with three bullets in his head. No clue to the murderers.

An Italian burglar was discovered in the house of Sylvester Hondlow, of Brooklyn, Saturday morning, and on being assailed by Mr. Hondlow attacked him with a hatchet, and temporarily escaped. Mr. Hondlow will recover, but the burglar was killed by a fall while running away.

The dory Centennial, Capt. Johnsen, was passed on Sunday, July 23, in lat. 46.54, lon. 35.22, by steamer Mosel. All well.

Dennis Finn, son of Daniel Finn, a lad of 11 years of age, was run over in the depot yard at Exeter, by a freight train, Saturday morning, losing one leg below the knee. He was playing on a platform car, which, starting suddenly, threw him on the track.

A woolen mill in Millbury, Mass., was burned on Saturday; loss $160,000.

A tenement house in Haverhill, Mass., was destroyed by an incendiary fire on Saturday, and an old woman named Long was burned to death.

Three young Irish roughs, named Dennis Walsh, John Collins and John Murphy, assaulted and robbed a pawnbroker at his place of business on Harrison avenue, Boston, on Saturday afternoon. The thieves were locked up and most of the property recovered within twelve hours. The three roughs are prominent members of the "South Cove" gang.

The report that Sultan Murad has abdicated is confirmed. He is expected to commit suicide with a pair of scissors immediately.

Rev. Ezra D. Winslow's autobiography is published in the Globe of Monday, and takes up the major part of two of its pages. The Globe says: "A great many moneyed men in town breathe freer to-day than they did Saturday noon. Winslow's pistol has been fired off."

In a drunken row in Boston on Saturday, between a stevedore named Faulkner and a teamster named O'Hearo, the former was fatally kicked.

Soderhand, a maratime town of Sweden, on an inlet of the Gulf of Bothnia, was almost totally destroyed by fire July 22d. The damage amounts to many million crowns.

The dwelling house of Mrs. Maria Ruffles, on Elm street, Keene, was entirely destroyed by fire about one o'clock Saturday morning, with the entire contents. As the occupants were all absent the fire was doubtless incendiary.

The Cocheco Cotton Mills at Dover have shut down for thirty days. The Print Works will continue work as usual.

The yacht race for the Bennett cup commenced at 4:40 P. M. on Thursday and finished at 5:20 A. M. on Saturday, the Idler, Wanderer, Tidal Wave and America, and the Canadian yacht Countess of Dufferin, participating. The Idler came in first, followed in an hour by the Wanderer, the Countess of Dufferin arriving three hours after the Idler.

Twenty-six brewery workmen went on a picnic from Boston on Sunday, in a three-horse barge. They took a big lot of beer with them, stole a barrel of old cider from a farmer, got drunk, had a row on their way home, and upset and smashed the barge. One beer man lost an ear, another had an arm broken and many were seriously bruised.

A barn belonging to Lucy Templeton was entirely consumed by fire, in Hanover on Sunday. The barn contained about ten tons of hay and a lot of farming tools. The fire is supposed to have been set by her father, who lives with her. Loss $600; no insurance.

The Montenegrins have defeated the Turks near Bilek, capturing five Krupp guns and many prisoners, including the Turkish commander, Osman Pacha.

Mrs. Phebe Varney, of Sandwich, who was poisoned a year ago by her son-in-law, Veranus P. York, has died from its effects. Mrs. Varney, it will be remembered, discovered the poison, which was placed in some syrup, before she had taken a fatal quantity, but as she was quite old, the shock gradually killed her. At York's preliminary examination, his daughter made such startling disclosures of his crime that he was promptly committed, but when the case was tried, the daughter refused to testify against her father, and he was discharged, and immediately left the State.

Many inhabitants of Lynn, Mass., have petitioned the Railroad Commissioners of Massachusetts to stop the rapid running of Eastern Railroad trains over crossings at grade in that city, and the almost constant whistling of the engines.

The mother of Conductor Hervey on the Chicago, Quincy & Burlington Railroad died last week, at Wakefield, Mass. The young man was telegraphed to attend the funeral, and the managers of the road, with great courtesy, intercepted him by telegram when half way from Chicago to Omaha, ordered a relief by another conductor, and furnished him with credentials that secured his arrival at Wakefield ten minutes before the funeral service began.—*Boston Sat. Election Day.

Republicans—Do not forget that the polls open to-day at nine o'clock, A. M., and close at six, P. M.

The Times of Monday apologises to the Irish voters for the action of Mayor Goodrich in supporting special police officer Smith.

If the Ward Clerks will furnish us returns of the votes in their respective wards as soon as convenient after the closing of the polls, they will confer a favor.

The republicans of this city have an undoubted majority over their adversaries. The canvass shows it, and if all vote the city will be handsomely redeemed. Bring out your last man!

Our citizens are likely to have speedy relief from telegraph monopoly under the new charter for the "New Hampshire & Ocean Telegraph Co." A new line is to be built to Rye Beach, connecting with the Direct Cable line, after which messages may be sent at twenty-five cents for ten words to any part of the United States east of the Mississippi river.

The Heavy Artillery, Capt. Williams, go into camp at Rye Beach this afternoon, starting from their armory at 5 o'clock. The camp is named "Camp Cheney," in honor of the governor.

An excursion party from Salisbury and Newburyport will go to the Shoals per steamer Appledore this forenoon. What a pity old Ward Six isn't yet in existence—then all the excursionists might have voted the democratic ticket before embarking.

Col. Cyrus Eastman, of Littleton, whose attractive cottage at Odiorne's Point is observed by the passengers on the Shoals steamers, sent a man this Spring from Littleton to the Point. The man arrived by the cars, and on going to the Post-office inquired of half a dozen men the direction to Odiorne's Point. Not one of them had ever heard of the place, or at least knew where it was situated. To remedy this defect in local intelligence Col. Eastman has prepared a guide board, which he will have put up this week on the road, that the traveller may be pointed the way to this historic spot.

Hon. Daniel Marcy is a candidate for office just once more—he is on the democratic ticket for alderman in Ward Four. That makes twenty-three times (or twenty-five—no need of being too particular in such a case) he has been a candidate for office in less than that number of years.

The Times, fired with a patriotic zeal to say something to help its party, on Monday contained an account of the republican caucus, in which it grossly exaggerates and misrepresents what did take place, and gives a history of much that did not take place at all. It says, and truly, that "As a private citizen Mr. Broughton stands high in our community," and then announces that "many influential republicans refuse to vote for him." We have heard a good deal of that kind of talk before; and though the "many prominent republicans" who used to crawl out of editor Thayer's inkbottle to denounce the CHRONICLE have had no local habitation since the Times has been under its present management, we strongly suspect that the "many influential republicans" are only our old "prominent" friends in disguise, and hail from the same place.

If there is any republican who hesitates in giving a vote to-day for the regularly nominated republican candidate for Mayor, let him not forget that the democratic candidate was so bitterly an opponent of the war for the preservation of the Union as to leave the church of which he had been a regular attendant, because his pastor, Rev. A. J. Patterson, preached loyalty and condemned treason. Let it not be forgotten, also, that the same democratic candidate, no longer ago than on the Fourth of July last, while Mayor of this city, discourteously left the stage where the literary exercises of the Centennial anniversary of the Nation's birth were going on, when Rev. Mr. Patterson, the orator of the day, commenced his address. It is no time to forget duty to party when impenitent rebel sympathizers with undignified haste show a disposition to rake up their prejudices of the days when the country needed their services and sympathy and obtained neither. The republicans of Portsmouth owe it to their self-respect to present a solid front at the polls to-day in support of the excellent ticket they have, after mature deliberation, selected.

Charles Marseilles, Esq., of the Exeter News-Letter, enjoyed the attractions of the Oceanic on Sunday.

"Hotel Wentworth" and "Old Wentworth Mansion" are now the signs which put the traveller on the Sagamore road.

Third term! Life tenure!! Cæsarism!!! After all their howling about the "man on horseback" and "third term" and Cæsarism," the democrats nominated Mayor Goodrich for a third term. They cannot be much blamed, however, as he was the only available candidate they had to select from; and possibly their knowledge that he was not elected for the first term he served had something to do with it, as they may have desired to actually elect him a second time, if possible.

That the democrats should be disgusted with anything which interferes with their peculiar method of carrying elections is not astonishing to any one who is aware of the extent to which they have carried fraud in the city. The morning after Mayor Goodrich was counted in by them, two years ago, one of the ward officers of Ward Six called upon us, and in the course of conversation said: "Well, didn't we do well in Ward Six?" "Yes," we replied, "you gave a hundred and fifty fraudulent majority, at least." "Oh, no, we didn't," was the answer; "we didn't declare over seventy-five—extra voting, counting and all. That's honest. But," he added, earnestly, "what in thunder could we do? We had to carry the city. Everybody knows that on a fair vote the city's republican; but we've gerrymandered it to suit ourselves, and put in our own men to run things; we shall lose some votes by it up in the State, and if we didn't carry the city we'd be a laughing stock to everybody and needn't ever go to the legislature for anything else. We had to do it; but you're going too far altogether when you charge us with a hundred and fifty fraudulent votes." The remonstrant had been intimate with us for years, and his tone and manner bore evidence that his defence of his party (and himself) in Ward Six was sincere.

Col. William O. Sides having declined the nomination for Moderator on the republican ticket in Ward Two, the ward committee have selected Washington Freeman, Esq., to fill the vacancy. Col. William H. Hackett has also been selected to fill the vacancy on the ticket for school committee, Rev. James DeNormandie declining.

One of the most demonstrative of the Irish voters—or claimants of a right to vote—whose names were not put on the checklist in Ward Four at its first revision, on being told by the chairman of the board of selectmen that all that was needed was proof that he was a citizen,—"you men have only to produce your naturalization papers and your names will be put on the list,"—indignantly responded, "An' what if we ain't got 'em?" The selectman did not try to answer the conundrum.

The Wareham (Mass.) News has the following notice of Capt. E. M. Baker, formerly of the steamer Appledore: "The steamer Favorite, as at present officered and managed, is well-deserving of liberal patronage at the hands of our citizens. Capt. Baker is a thorough officer, gentlemanly and courteous, and deservedly popular, while his subordinates have all been selected with great wisdom. As an evidence of the high appreciation in which Capt. Baker and his craft is held by the public, we need but refer to the excursion of Tuesday afternoon last. The Favorite is at present in New Bedford where she will remain until the 1st prox., when another grand excursion takes place from this town."

The Sunday School picnic of the Middle street church, appointed for to-day, is postponed until to-morrow.

Political.

The democracy are immovably determined to put down the infamously immoral practice of office-holders taking an active part in political affairs. Edgar K. Apgar, Deputy Secretary of State for New York, has left his official duties at Albany to manage the Tilden campaign. He has opened headquarters in New York city and is flooding the State with circulars imploring the formation of "Tilden Reform Clubs." The circulars do not mention the name of Mr. Hendricks.

The New Haven Union, democratic, says: "There has been an utter lack of wisdom displayed by most of the Northern democratic papers in the discussion of the Hamburg massacre. Instead of condemning the outrage, as did the leading Southern papers, and insisting that it was an affair having no political significance, they followed the lead of the great Congressional joker, Sunset Cox, and attempted to defend the murderers." As every one of the men butchered in cold blood by the Hamburg mob was a republican, and as every one of the assassins was a democrat, and the mob was led by a white democrat and an ex-rebel Major General at that, the Northern democratic papers will have to "insist that the affair has no political significance" for a good while before they will be believed, especially when it is considered that an important political contest is now under way, that South Carolina democrats have announced that the State is to be carried for Tilden at all hazards, and that "Gen." M. C. Butler has notified a half-dozen of the most prominent republicans of Edgefield county, in which Hamburg is situated, that if they value their lives they had best leave the county.

Sam. Tilden must make public his defense in the suit of the St. Louis, Alton and Terre Haute Railroad against him to recover one hundred thousand dollars in bonds of the company, alleged to have stolen, before the close of the Presidential campaign. He at first induced the Indiana court, before which the complaint was entered to postpone the hearing in the case until July, which tided him over the St. Louis convention. After his nomination he induced the court to again postpone the hearing until October, with a hope, no doubt, of further postponement, in order to tide over the election. But the railroad has pressed hard for a speedy trial, and the court has modified the order to the first Monday in August, and on that day the trial will begin. If Tilden should be forced by the court to surrender the bonds, it would damage him very much. He claims that he is entitled to them in consideration of the legal services he rendered the corporation. The stockholders think otherwise.—New Haven Union (dem.)

—Concerning low corsages without sleeves, a Philadelphia fashion writer says: "We can simply say that not one woman in a hundred has a neck and shoulders fine enough to show, and the more they can be covered the better." The writer must be a woman.

—Lucy Hooper says the worst use an American heiress can put her money to is to buy a foreign titled husband. Dukes are quoted at $1,000,000; a low middling marquis fetches $500,000; while a count, who can't tether a monkey or look up at that story windows, is not worth more than $250,000.

Probate Notice.

STATE OF NEW HAMPSHIRE,
Rockingham, ss.

BY THE JUDGE OF PROBATE FOR SAID COUNTY.

TO the heirs at law and creditors to the estate of FREEMAN C. THURSTON, late of Portsmouth, in said County, deceased, intestate, and all persons interested in said estate, greeting:

You are hereby notified that MARCELLUS BUFFORD, administrator of the estate of said deceased, will present his account of administering said estate at a Court of Probate to be holden at Portsmouth, in and for said County, on the second Tuesday of September next, at 10 o'clock A. M. for examination and allowance.

You are therefore hereby cited to appear at said Court to be heard thereon, and to make such objections as you may then have. And notice is hereby required to be given by causing this citation to be published three weeks successively in the Daily Chronicle, a newspaper printed at Portsmouth in said County, the last publication whereof to be at least one week prior to said Court.

By order of the Judge.

WM. M. HUNNEWELL, Register of Probate.
Aug 1, 7, 14.

Probate Notice.

To the Hon. Judge of Probate for the County of Rockingham.

RESPECTFULLY represents PLUMER D. NORTON, Administrator of the Estate of BENJAMIN NORTON, late of Portsmouth in said County, deceased, that the Personal Estate of said deceased is not sufficient to pay the just demands against his estate; that said deceased died seized of the right in equity to redeem certain mortgaged real estate situated in said Portsmouth upon the corner of Cabot and Austin streets, and bounded nearly by land of Benjamin M. Parker, easterly by land of said Parker and land of Moses Yeaton, southerly by Austin street and westerly by Cabot street,—the same being subject to three mortgages made by said deceased, two to William Laighton, on one of which is now due nine hundred dollars and interest since March 20, 1876, and on the other five hundred dollars and interest since December 15, 1875; and one to your petitioner on which is due fourteen hundred and sixty dollars and interest since April 1, 1876; the same being subject to the rights of dower and homestead therein of one Mary S. Norton, the widow of said deceased.

And said deceased left no other property than the above will not be sufficient to pay the demands against said estate with the personal estate.

Wherefore he prays that he may be licensed to sell at public auction the right in equity which said deceased had to redeem said Real Estate together with the reversion of said dower and homestead for the payment of said demands.

Dated the eleventh day of July, A. D. 1876.

PLUMER D. NORTON, Adm'r.

STATE OF NEW HAMPSHIRE, ROCKINGHAM, SS.
PROBATE COURT at Portsmouth, in said County, July 11th, A. D. 1876.

Upon the foregoing Petition it is Ordered, that a hearing be had thereon at the Court of Probate to be holden at Portsmouth in said County, on the second Tuesday of September next; and that the Petitioner notify the heirs of said deceased and all persons concerned or interested therein, to appear at said Court, and show cause, if any they have, why the prayer of said petition should not be granted, by causing said petition and this order to be published three weeks successively in the Portsmouth Daily Chronicle, a newspaper printed at Portsmouth in said County, the last publication thereof to be at least one week prior to said Court.

By order of the Judge.

PROPOSALS FOR SUPPLIES.

NAVY PAY OFFICE,
PORTSMOUTH, N. H., July 24, 1876.

Proposals, sealed and endorsed on the envelope, "Bid for supplies to Navy Yard," will be received at this office until 12 o'clock 1st August next, for the following supplies of the best quality to be delivered free of expense at the Navy Yard, Kittery, Maine, immediately upon the award being made, subject to the usual inspection, viz:

BUREAU OF YARDS AND DOCKS.

5 Tons (2240 lbs.) English Cannel Coal.
200 Tons White Ash Anthracite Coal, Steamboat size (2240 lbs. to Ton).
75 Tons White Ash Anthracite Coal, Stove size (2240 lbs. to Ton).
3 Casks 1800 lbs. Dry White Lead.

All of the above to be of the best quality of its kind. The Coal is to be discharged into carts provided by the Government, and the quantity delivered to be paid for at the weight of the Navy Yard scales.

The right is reserved to reject any or all bids that may not be deemed advantageous to the Government, and to award each article or item separate, as may be most to its interest.

Responsible security required for the prompt and faithful delivery of supplies awarded within the time specified.

Blank forms will be furnished at this office and bids opened at the hour above named, when parties interested are invited to be present.

A. J. CLARK,
Paymaster U. S. Navy.

PILOT BREAD.

This kind of bread having come into extensive family use, it has been my purpose to furnish, from choice materials, an article which should meet the approval of the most fastidious as to neatness, looks and taste. Whether I have succeeded in giving to the public a PILOT BREAD,

SUPERIOR IN EXCELLENCE,

the consumer may be the judge; that the quality will not be suffered to depreciate, the past with the present is my best pledge. That I can compete with all the various qualities of Pilot Bread in the market, as to price, I make no pretensions,—but in price, all things being equal, I fear no competition.

JOHN PEARSON, Jr.,
Newburyport, Mass.

In justice to myself, and that those who prefer

PEARSON'S FAMILY PILOT BREAD

may obtain what is desired, I shall occasionally publish the names of those who keep it for sale in Portsmouth, as follows:

KEEP IT BEFORE THE PEOPLE!

GILBERT'S

EXCELSIOR LIVER LOZENGES!

PATENTED DEC. 16, 1873.

Cure Costiveness, Dyspepsia, Cough, Sore Throat, Piles, Rheumatic Affections, Humors, Headache, Inflammatory Fevers, Sick Headache, Palpitation of the Heart, Canker, Loss of Appetite, and the long-line of Affections consequent on a diseased state of the Liver.

An Excellent Spring Medicine.

They are purely Vegetable, perfectly safe; can be used by all persons, at any season and in any climate, and warranted to give entire satisfaction. They exert a healthy action on the Liver, thus promoting the flow of Bile, causing health and vigor to take the place of Lassitude and Disease.

N. B. Persons afflicted with any of the above affections, and wish to test the merits of this remedy, if no cure, no pay,—will please call at

No. 27 Daniel Street.

Patentee, Proprietor and Manufacturer.

—If a man is obliged to leap it makes but little difference whether or not he looks before he jumps.—N. O. Republican.

—The busy bee is most used for fables and proverbs, but it takes an enthusiastic hornet to adorn a moral and point a tale.

—"How old it is," said Pat, as he trudged along on foot one hot, sultry day, "that a man never meets a-cart going the same way as he is."

—The Providence Journal has been investigating drinking customs in that city, and finds the same surprising growth of lager beer as the national beverage which has been noted elsewhere. The proprietor of one beer room says that out of forty of his regular customers, who used to call for whiskey, thirty-four of them now drink lager beer. It was only three or four years ago that two beer bottling establishments supplied the demands of the city. Now there are a dozen or more, and families all over the city are getting in the way of having their dozen or so of lager "left at the house" with the openness and regularity of the milk boy.

Directions for Restoring Persons Apparently Dead from Drowning.

I. Lose no time. Carry out these directions on the spot.

II. Remove the froth and mucous from the mouth and nostrils.

III. Hold the body, for a few seconds only, with the head hanging down, so that the water may run out of the lungs and windpipe.

IV. Loosen all tight articles of clothing about the neck and chest.

V. See that the tongue is pulled forward if it falls back into the throat. By taking hold of it with a handkerchief it will not slip.

VI. If the breathing has ceased, or nearly so, it must be stimulated by pressure of the chest with the hands, in imitation of the natural breathing; forcibly expelling the air from the lungs, and allowing it to re-enter and expand them by the elasticity of the ribs. Remember that this is the most important step of all. To do it readily, lay the person on his back, with a cushion, pillow, or some firm substance, under the shoulders; then press with the flat of the hands over the lower part of the breastbone and the upper part of the abdomen, keeping up a regular repetition and relaxation of pressure; twenty or thirty pounds may be applied with safety to a grown person.

VII. Rub the limbs with the hands, or with dry cloths, constantly, to aid the circulation and keep the body warm.

VIII. As soon as the person can swallow, give a table-spoonful of spirits in hot water, or some warm tea or coffee.

IX. Work deliberately. Do not give up too quickly. Success has rewarded the efforts of hours.

What can be cured

Need not be enumerated, although what can't most be. Among the body, the source, thus of complete removal by that best of all tonic, invigorative, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, are general debility, malarial fevers, constipation, dyspepsia, liver disorder, and nervousness. Its remedial capabilities are, however, by no means limited to these maladies. Its properties as a blood depurent render it extremely serviceable in expelling the acrid humors which produce those painful diseases, rheumatism and gout, and its invigorating and mildly stimulating effect upon the kidneys and bladder constitute it a useful medicine for impelling those organs to a complete performance of their functions when they are weak and inactive. In fact, there is scarcely any disease of which weakness is an accompaniment, in which this admirable medicine cannot be used with advantage.

Time Saved! Travel Saved! Visitors to New York from Boston will be glad to know that there can save twenty-three miles on the journey by purchasing tickets via Middletown over the New York and New England R. R. Long, easy new and fine class. We ask attention to ad. of this new route.

The Gem of the Toilet

The world says is Sozodont. It renders the teeth pearly white, gives to the breath a fragrant odor, extinguishing the ill-humored which usually flow from a bad and neglected set of teeth. Sozodont is convenient, and produces a sensation at once so delightful that it makes it a pleasure to use it.

Spalding's Glue will mend your ways.

Whooping cough is greatly reduced in the length and severity of its "run" by the use of Adamson's Botanic Cough Balsam.

Medicated Baths are Expensive. Not so, however, Glenn's Sulphur Soap, a cheap and efficient substitute, which answers the same purpose as far as local diseases of the skin, rheumatism and gout are concerned.

☞ That yellow tinge of the complexion is a sure indication of bile in the blood. It is effectually removed by using GILBERT'S EXCELSIOR LIVER LOZENGES.

LYONS KATHAIRON prevents the Hair from falling out or turning gray, renews its growth, gives strength and vigor. It is delightfully perfumed, and makes a splendid dressing. It is the cheapest and most desirable Hair Tonic ever produced. Used by the elite. Price only 50 cents.

No. 78 STATE ST., OPPOSITE KILBY ST., BOSTON.

After an extensive practice of upwards of thirty years, continues to secure patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all papers for Patents, executed on reasonable terms with dispatch. Researches made to determine the validity and utility of Patents of Inventions, and legal and other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any patent furnished, by remitting one dollar. All documents recorded in Washington.

No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.

All necessity for a journey to Washington to procure a Patent and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents."

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.
EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents."

"MR. R. H. EDDY has made for me over THIRTY applications for Patents, having been successful in almost every case. Such unmistakable proof of skill and ability on his part leads me to recommend all inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases and at very reasonable charges.

DR. QUAIN'S MAGIC CONDITION PILLS!

The Wonderful Remedy for Liver Complaint, Biliousness, Dyspepsia, Constipation, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Headache, Kidney Complaint, Nervousness, Scrofula, Piles, and all diseases arising from a bad state of the Blood!

No medicine ever offered to the public has given such universal satisfaction as Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. Their praises are on every tongue where their merits are known. They strike at once at the seat of disease and show their healing power almost immediately. Thousands of voluntary testimonials of their merits have been received by the agent, from those who have been cured by them, of which the following are samples:

Dyspepsia Four Years, Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels Three Years, Confined to my Room Two Years, Pain so I Could Not Sleep Without Anodyne. One Package of Dr. Owen's Condition Pills Made Me Eat Well, Sleep Well and Free from Pain, after being given up by Physicians.

WEST LEBANON, ME., Feb. 22, 1

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I have been sick for over [illegible] with Dyspepsia, and for the past three years Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels. I have suffered all the pain I could endure and live. I have been confined to my room for two years, and could not sleep nights without the use of morphine. I have been given up by physicians as past cure. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, and they have done me more good than all the doctors I have had. I can now eat well, and have no pain. They are all they are recommended to be. Please send me three packages more of my neighbors wish to try them. I enclose $3.00.
Your truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Another Letter from Mej. John W. Lord, one month later. Wonderful Cures of Dr. Quain's Pills. Effected on Him in Sixteen Days. Free from Pain for Three Years.

WEST LEBANON, ME., March 22, 1875.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I commenced taking Dr. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS February 20th, and you February 23d of their wonderful effect. I continued to improve ever since. My appetite is good, and I sleep as well as I ever did in my life. I am free from pain for the first time in three years. When I was taken laid four years ago, I weighed one hundred and eighty-six pounds; I now weigh one hundred and thirty, but, as I am gaining in strength, I have faith I shall regain my flesh this summer, by the use of the Pills. I shall continue taking them for some time to come.
Yours truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Dr. Quain's Pills the Remedy for Soldiers' Aches and Pains.

WEST LEBANON, ME., June 1, 1875.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I am now able to walk out every day, and am gaining in strength very fast, all of which is due to you as agent for the best Pills in the world. I have taken no other medicine, and my improvement has been steady since first taking Dr. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done everything for me, and I will say to you, advertise them direct to the soldiers, for they will certainly cure them of aches and pains caused from exposure and hardship on the field. Please send me by return mail another package.
JOHN W. LORD.

Rheumatism for Twenty Years Cured by One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills—"The Best Medicine in the World."

EAST ANDOVER, N. H., Dec. 10, 1875.

MR. LANE—Dear Sir:—As I know the value of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS and the good they do to those who use them, I take pleasure in giving them praise; so I send you another testimonial. My father has been troubled with Rheumatism for twenty years or more, and has tried everything that could be heard of, but to no good. At times it would be so bad that he could not lift his hand to his head or do any work at all, especially in cold weather. A friend of his ago I advised him to get some of these Pills. He believed nothing in them, but I gave him the last package I had of you, as I did not need them, and he has not been as free from the Rheumatic Complaint for years. No Rheumatism, no pain. What helped him? It was DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, the best medicine in the world. There is nothing like them. I know it, for I have tried them, and they are all, yes, more than they are recommended to be. Give them a fair trial and you will say so. I write this because I know the goodness of them and wish others to know the same. Some may think I am telling a big story, but I am. But remember I am not giving them half the praise they ought to have.
Yours with respect, ED. F. PEVARE.

DAINGERFIELD, MORRIS CO., TEXAS, Nov. 15, '75.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I have been troubled for over twelve years with Neuralgia in the right side of my head. I tried I do not know how many physicians, and could only get partial relief. I also tried many patent medicines with the same result. I have been confined to my room most all the time for eight or ten winters, and have been traveling and visiting medical springs, and I still suffered most intensely. The physician pronounced my case incurable, and told me when that they had had anything to do with. One told me I could never get well; that I should be a sufferer as long as I lived the winter, and thought that was the only chance for me, and I was trying to get ready to go to Florida, when through the kindness of Rev. H. M. Bailey, my attention was called to the advertisement of Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. I immediately sent to you for a package. I have taken four doses and I am almost free from pain. The impression here seems to be that if your pills will cure me, they will cure anybody. I have five applications to send for the pills. Enclosed please find three dollars; send the packages to me and one to Mrs. Laura Sacredh, Sulphur Springs, Hopkins county, Texas.
Yours truly, J. S. PATTON.

Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache.

LACONIA, N.H., Jan. 29, 1875.

THOS. W. LANE—Sir:—I have been troubled with Bad Blood, Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done me more good than all the medicine I ever took; I have taken considerable medicine within the last five years. For the nerves I think there is nothing so good as those pills. I can recommend them to all who are similarly afflicted, they have done me so much good. I think they will recommend themselves wherever they go. I shall recommend those Pills to all who need them. Please send me two packages more, one for myself and one for a lady friend of mine. Many thanks to the inventor, agent and advertiser of those Pills.
MRS. P. L. ELLIOTT.

DR. QUAIN'S MAGIC CONDITION PILLS are put up only by the AMERICAN MEDICINE CO., Manchester, N. H., THOMAS W. LANE, Agent.

PULMOCINE.

MAGIC

BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL

is no new discovery. Twenty-three years ago it was used by one of New England's most famous physicians as the best Pulmonary Cordial he could prescribe, after a dozen years spent in experimenting with it brought to perfection the one Materia Medica could add nothing to its favor.

Is the ultimate ultimate of Medical Discovery.

Among its many ingredients are Wild Cherry Bark, Squill Root, Liquorice Root, Blood root, &c. It is a Blood Purifier, gently stimulating. It increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is sudorific and alterative. It is a secretory family medicine. It is a Tonic and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is a gentle sedative, and relieves nervousness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.

CLEAR YOUR THROAT!

Relieve Your Lungs.

For the terrible diseases engendered by the inclement and trying climate of New England

PULMOCINE CORDIAL

Is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. Every Family should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croups, Laryngitis, or inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred Throat Diseases at all times prevalent, it is the ounce of Prevention. Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for. These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning, when a physician may be out of immediate reach. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy relief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As "a stitch in time saves nine," so does the possession of this Family Medicine prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing in the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agent. There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all this afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and the patient's danger is past.

For Coughs,

Croup,

Diphtheria,

— AND —

Asthma, etc.,

— USE —

Buchman's Pulmocine Cordial.

The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. It is offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

Health Regulations.

THE BOARD OF HEALTH OF THE CITY OF PORTSMOUTH call the attention of the public to the following sections of Chapter 10, of the Revised Ordinances, and invite all interested in the preservation of health in our city to aid them in the execution of their duty:

SEC. 3. All waste water of houses, yards, cellars, sinks, pumps, etc., shall be conveyed by their owners or occupiers to the common sewers, or to such places as the Health Officers may direct.

SEC. 4. No person shall be allowed to throw any vegetable or dead animal substance, or any other matter capable of producing infection, into any street, lane, alley or dock, or upon any wharf, but shall bury them or fix ow them into the river below low-water mark.

SEC. 5. The contents of vaults and privies shall not be permitted to rise within one foot of the surface of the earth. And all owners or occupiers of buildings having such vaults or privies as may require it, shall cause them to be emptied within ten days from the promulgation of this ordinance, and in future on or before the the first day of May in each year. And any such owner or occupier neglecting so to do, shall forfeit and pay for every such neglect a sum not less than three nor more than twenty dollars, and a like sum for every week's neglect after the time above specified.

SEC. 6. No vender of meat at the stalls shall be permitted to leave any stale meat, heads, feet or offal of any kind about their stalls or stores over night, or suffer them to be thrown into any street, lane or alley of the city. Nor shall any sellers of fish be permitted to throw any offal of fish into any street, lane or alley of the city, or upon any wharf, but shall either bury them or throw them into the river beyond low-water mark.

SEC. 7. If any dead animal or decaying vegetable substance, or any other nuisance, shall be found in any part of the city, the owners or occupiers of the premises where such nuisance shall be found, shall cause the same to be removed within twenty-four hours after being notified so to do by one or more of the health officers.

SEC. 12. When any householder shall know that any person within his family is taken sick of the small pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, he shall immediately give notice thereof to the Health Officers.

SEC. 13. When any physician shall know that any person whom he is called to visit is infected with the small pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, such physician shall immediately give notice thereof to the Health Officers.

SEC. 14. If any such householder or physician shall refuse or neglect to give the notice required in the preceding sections, he shall for each refusal or neglect, forfeit the sum of twenty dollars, to be recovered by either of the Health Officers in the name of the city.

SEC. 15. The Health Officers may give written notice to the owner or occupier of any building, vessel or enclosure, to remove or destroy any nuisance or other thing deemed by them on examination, to be injurious to the public health, within a certain time limited therein; and in case such owner or occupier—the said notice having been given to him, or left at his usual place of abode—shall neglect to comply therewith, the said Health Officers may, by direction of the mayor and accompanied by the city marshal, forcibly enter such building, vessel, or enclosure, and cause said nuisance or other thing aforesaid to be removed or destroyed.

SEC. 21. No person shall erect, keep or continue, or permit to be erected, kept or continued, upon any land occupied by him, any pen for the keeping of swine, or privy, over either of the mill ponds in this city, or so placed that offensive substances therefrom shall be discharged or drained into either of said ponds, or into any creek, or cove, or drain leading thereto. And no person shall construct, keep or continue any drain leading from any pen for the keeping of any swine, slaughter-house, privy vault, or other unwholesome or offensive place, into either of said ponds, or to any flat or marsh adjoining the same. And no person shall throw or suffer to be thrown from his land into either of said ponds, or upon any of said flats or marshes, any dead, decaying, unwholesome or offensive animal or vegetable substances.

LINCOLN BUTTER POWDER.
Good Fresh Butter All The Year Round.
BUTTER IN 20 MINUTES.
Lincoln Butter Powder is an entirely harmless article made from a celebrated English recipe, and now in daily use by many of the most noted farmers in the butter counties around Philadelphia.
In hot weather this Powder makes butter much firmer and sweeter than it usually is, and keeps it from turning rancid. It also removes the strong flavor of turnips, weeds, corn stalks, cotton seed, etc., and the increased yield of butter much more than pays the trifling expense of using it.

A Girls' Picnic.

The girls got up a hen picnic last week, and had a glorious time of it all together. They had lots of tea and sugar and milk (which all got sour,) but no matches, and plenty of pickles, sponge cake and butter, but no bread. Add to this that each of the girls got her mother to let her bring a roast turkey, so as to astonish the rest of the girls and show that she could do things in style, that they had no knives and forks, and, though lots of plates, no drinking utensils, it is not difficult to see that their commissariat was well organized and a source of much harmony, pleasure and satisfaction to all concerned in its preparation. After several life-long quarrels and such comments as "I don't care!" "You're just as mean as dirt!" "Well, it wasn't my fault, any way!" they made a frugal repast of dismembered turkey, cold water, pickles, and sponge cake, and then decided to amuse themselves as best they could for the remainder of the day. One girl undertook to fish, and, having put on her gloves, introduced a hook to her worm, but the fierce animal gave a squirm, and with a terrific yell she dropped the wild beast right down the back of a friend and young companion dear, who was sitting beneath. The f. and y. c. d. went into active hysterics, and the author of the tragedy impaled her thumb on the fish hook, and fainted at the sight of blood. After this one of the girls stepped into a swamp about half way up to her ears, and another got a beetle into her ear, and a third unearthed a horrid snake seven inches long, and while a devoted member of the excursion was stooping down to collect a specimen of that rare and valuable plant, the sorrel, Mr. Kehoe's merino ram stole upon her and butted her over a seven railed fence, irretrievably ruining a $7 thing to make her dress puff out behind. Then they went home to find out what was good for sunburns.—Watertown (N. Y.) Despatch.

—A school visitor in Kansas was examining the first class in geography and coming to the subject of the products of the several States, he asked "Where does all our grain go to?" "Into the hopper," replied a pupil. "What hopper?" he asked. "The grasshopper," was the conclusive response.

Centaur Liniments.
White for the Human Family.
Yellow, for Horses and Animals.

For sprains or bruises it is the most potent remedy ever discovered. The Centaur Liniment is used with great efficacy for Sore Throat, Toothache, Caked Breasts, Earache, and Weak Back. The following is but a sample of numerous testimonials:

"INDIANA HOME, JEFF. CO., IND., May 28, 1873.
"I think it my duty to inform you that I have suffered much with woollen feet and chords. I have not been free from these swellings in eight years. Now I am perfectly well, thanks to the Centaur Liniment. The Liniment ought to be applied warm.
BENJAMIN BROWN."

The proof is in the trial. It is reliable, it is handy it is cheap, and every family should have it.

To the sick and bed-ridden, the lame and lame, to the wounded and sore, we say, "Come and be healed."

To the poor and distressed who have spent their money for worthless medicines, a bottle of CENTAUR LINIMENT will be given without charge.

THE YELLOW CENTAUR LINIMENT

is adapted to the tough muscles, cords and flesh of horses and animals. It has performed more wonderful cures of Spavin, Strain, Wind-galls, Scratches, Sweeny, and general Lameness, than all other remedies in existence. Read what the great Expressmen say of it:

"NEW YORK, January, 1874.
"Every owner of horses should give the CENTAUR LINIMENT a trial. We consider it the best article ever used in our stables.
"H. MARSH, Supt. Adams Ex. Stables, N. Y.
"E. PULTZ, Supt. U. S. Ex. Stables, N. Y.
"ALBERT S. OLIN, Supt. Nat. Ex. Stables, N. Y."

"MONTGOMERY, ALA., Aug. 17, 1874.
"GENTLEMEN,—I have used over one gross of CENTAUR LINIMENT, yellow wrapper, on the mules of my plantation, besides dozens of the family Liniment for my negroes. I want to purchase it at the wholesale price, and will thank you to ship me by Savannah steamer one gross of each kind. Messrs. A. T. Stewart & Co. will pay your bill on presentation.
"Respectfully, JAMES DARROW."

The best patrons of this Liniment are Farriers and Veterinary Surgeons. It heals Galls, Wounds and Poll-evil, removes Swellings, and is worth millions of dollars to Farmers, Livery-men, Stock-growers, Sheep-raisers, and those having horses or cattle.

What a Farrier cannot do for $20 the Centaur Liniment will do at a trifling cost.

These Liniments are warranted by the proprietors, and a bottle will be given to any Farrier or Physician who desires to test them. Sold everywhere.

Castoria.
Is a pleasant and perfect substitute, in all cases, for CASTOR OIL. Castoria is the result of an old Physician's effort to produce, for his own practice, an effective cathartic, pleasant to the taste and free from griping.
Dr. Samuel Pitcher, of Hyannis, Mass., succeeded in combining, without the use of alcohol, a purgative agent as pleasant to take as honey, and which possesses all the desirable properties of Castor Oil.
It is adapted to all ages, but is especially recommended to mothers as a reliable remedy for all disorders of the stomach and bowels of children. It is certain, agreeable, absolutely harmless, and cheap. It should be used for wind colic, sour stomach, worms, costiveness, croup, &c., then children can have sleep and mothers may rest.
J. B. ROSE & Co., of 46 Dey Street, New York, are the sole proprietors of Castoria, after Dr. Pitcher's recipe.

WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 1, 1876.

FOR PRESIDENT,

Rutherford B. Hayes,

OF OHIO.

FOR VICE PRESIDENT,

William A. Wheeler,

OF NEW YORK.

Hayes' Platform in War.

In 1864, when Hayes was in the army, being nominated for Congress he was requested to come home and stump his district. His reply was, "I have other business just now. Any man who would leave the army at this time to electioneer for Congress ought to be scalped!"

Hayes' Platform in Peace.

"Honest money for all, and free schools for all. There should be no inflation which will depreciate the one, nor sectarian interference which will destroy the other."

Correspondence.

WASHINGTON, D. C. July 28.

The purpose sought to be accomplished by the numerous lying dispatches and letters sent from this city all over the country, to the effect that the President has pardoned Avery and was about to pardon others of the whisky conspirators, and had thereby brought about a rupture between himself and Attorney General Taft and other prominent republicans, very badly miscarried. It was probably hoped that before the falsehoods could be refuted that the leaders throughout the country would have put themselves in an attitude of hostility to the administration, thus preventing, or at least retarding, the complete unifaction of the great republican party, with all its factions harmoniously moving forward to the pulling down of the strongholds of the enemy. The same purpose is manifested in the thousand and one reports from the same veracious sources to the effect that Hayes was determined upon a complete repudiation of Grant and his official appointees, and that the President, on the other hand, maddened and almost insane from an over indulgence in his "nesetting sin," had determined to drive all honest men and "reformers" out of office and replace them by the "servile creatures of his own will;" that he had openly repudiated Hayes, and that he would exert all the influence of the administration to compass his defeat; or that he had given assurances that the South was to be invaded by a federal army and that those of its voters too honest to be bribed were to be subdued into submission to the republican party by the bayonet. To be sure there is a want of consistency in these contradictory statements; but it is a fact that statements like these, and others equally conflicting and absurd, have been industriously sent all ever the country within the past four weeks, showing the desperation of the ex-Confederate democracy. The repudiators among the honest democracy won a victory last night in caucus. The proposition to repeal the date fixed for the resumption of specie payment was carried by a vote of 47 to 24; but they are not over sanguine as to final victory, because it is said that Mr. Gibson, of the committee on banking and currency, is obstinate in his purpose to oppose the repeal, thus insuring a majority in favor of resumption, and defeating the report of any bill for its postponement. The mad excitement of the last five days over the silver inflation proposition reported by the committee on mines and mining, has somewhat subsided. The bill as reported provided for the issue of coin-notes of the denomination of $50 and multiples thereof up to $10,000, redeemable by the mints and assay offices from the gold and silver on deposit; their issue only limited by the value of such deposits. These coin-notes were to be received for all dues to the United States, and for all debts, public and private, not specified to be paid in gold. It is believed that it cannot pass the House without very essential modification, and that its defeat would be sure in Senate. But it has many and enthusiastic friends. MAXWELL.

News and Notes.

The Grand Union Hotel, opposite the Grand Central depot in New York, has several special advantages over its rivals. It is so near the depot that the traveller is spared all annoyance and expense of carriage, baggage and expressage hire, while its location is such that street car and stage lines radiate from this point to all parts of the city. It has elegantly furnished rooms, has all the latest improvement, and is run on the European plan. Travellers visiting New York, or on their way to or from the Centennial, will find this hotel par excellence in every respect. It is under the management of G. F. & W. D. Garrison, and has become one of the most popular hotels in the city of New York.

David Bartlett, the oldest of the Bowdoinham Bank robbers, died in the State prison at Thomaston, Me., on Saturday, of consumption. He had served nine out of fifteen years' sentence.

A two-masted schooner with her topmasts broken off was seen by the signal service observer at Barnegat, N. J., at about 7 o'clock Monday evening, sunk near the shore, with part of her hull in sight. No men were to be seen, and nothing more is known of the vessel. Pine cord-wood has drifted on shore from the wreck.

Father Strain, a Catholic priest of Lynn, denounced the Father Matthew Temperance Society and ordered all his parishioners to cease their connections with it. The society, which numbers in its membership many highly respected and prominent citizens of Lynn, strongly object to the priest's interference as being unwarrantable. Father Strain, in an interview with a reporter, said the members of the society "seemed to think that it was a small matter to oppose those whom God had placed over them to govern them; that they must know that it was God they resisted and not merely the pastor of the church; that it was God whom they opposed, and it was to Him they offered the injury."

The buildings of John Meserve at Dover were almost entirely consumed by fire Monday afternoon. Loss $2000; covered by insurance.

A correspondent says: There are no better hotels in the world than those with which the name of Chas. E. Leland is connected as partner or proprietor. There is the Delavan at Albany, which is famous as the best house on all the great lines of travel leading through that city; the aristocratic Clarendon of Saratoga, which, with its popular prices, is the favorite and most prosperous house at the Springs; and last, but not least, the new and magnificent Rossmore, of Broadway and 42d street, New York. The Rossmore being near the elevated railroad is peculiarly convenient to "down-town" and all parts of the city, while its furnishing and the manner in which it is kept is really superb. Persons visiting New York and the Centennial should by all means stop at the Rossmore.

The Westliche Post says: "This is a queer country. Democratic Judges imprison little thieves for small offences, and run railroad sharpers and ballot-box stuffers as Presidential candidates."

Master Humphrey's Clock.

All the papers have had something to say about Master Humphrey's clock, made famous by Dickens, which has just passed into the possession of Isaac S. Bailey, of New York. An old chap was looking at it the other day and asking about its history, and when a whole lot of information had been given him gratis he remarked:

"Same old clock that Dickens wrote about, hey? Sure?"

"Certainly, it is the same clock."

"Same old clock, hey?"

"No doubt about it. Just the same."

"An' Dickens wrote suthin 'bout that ere old time-piece, did he?"

"Yes, almost a whole book."

"Well, now, that's kinder curus. 'Pears to me that ere clock don't amount to much any way."

The old man mused a little and continued, "The folks up hum had as good a clock as that, an' didn't make no fuss about it. What d' yessay they caller?"

"Master Humphrey's Clock."

"Jess so; an' who was that ere Dickens?"

"Dickens! Did you never read Dickens?"

"Can't say's I did. Never had much time for readin'. But lemme see. Wasn't he the feller that ret suthin' pooty hard 'bout this country once?"

"Yes, I believe he did?"

"Jess so. Think I heard 'bout that. Well, mister, I don't care nothin' 'bout that ere durned old clock. T'aint wuth much anyhow, kinder busted all ever. Mr. Dickens h'aint got no business sendin' it here. Tell him so if you want to, I don't care. I ain't afraid. My father fit 'em in 1812, an' we kin lick 'em again. So; sure enough. Master Humphrey's clock, hey—wouldn't give fifty cents for the hull caboodle."

The old fellow then borrowed a chew of tobacco and went out with his hat over one ear.

A Surgeon's Courtship.

In the long list of eminent surgical and medical practitioners, not one is entitled to a higher stand than John Abernethy. He was a quaint, blunt man, earnestly devoted to his profession, and with but little thought of things which had no relation thereto. His eccentricities of character have afforded humorists much material for pleasant gossip, and among his eccentric doings, his courtship is certainly not the least, and unlike much that is printed of the celebrated man, this may be relied upon as true.

One Sabbath, when Abernethy was very near, if not quite up to the middle age, he found time to go to church, and was shown into a pew where there were two ladies—one of them young and the other elderly. He had no prayer book, and the young lady handed him one. At the close of the services they walked out from the pew together, and found, at the porch, that it was raining heavily. Abernethy offered to take them home in his carriage, which was waiting for him. On the way he fell into conversation with the younger of his companions, whom he found to be remarkably intelligent and lady-like. He learned that they were mother and daughter, the husband and father having been an officer in the army, and killed in the war with Tippoo Sultan; and he furthermore discovered that they were in straightened circumstances.

Abernethy set them down at their humble dwelling, and waited upon them into the narrow hall, where he handed his card to the daughter, saying, as he did so:

"Young lady, I am Mr. Abernethy, the surgeon. I have never married, because I never had time to spare for that sort of courting which girls of the present age seem to expect. I should like you to be my wife. If you will have the goodness to write me a note on Tuesday, saying whether you will have me or not, I will, if your decision be favorable, call on the following day and take you to church," and with that he left.

The note came on Tuesday. On Wednesday he took a very pretty and happy woman to church, and was married to her, and thence they were driven to the stately mansion of which she had become the honored mistress.

"My dear," said her husband, after he had introduced her to the friends assembled to receive them, "you must excuse me until three o'clock, as I have to give a lecture at St. Bartholomew's hospital, which I cannot omit on any account."

They were a happy couple—happy and true. When Abernethy died in 1831, he left the whole of his wealth to his widow, who survived him a score of years, honored and beloved for her solid goodness, and her deeds of charity and christian benevolence.

The Dory "Centennial."

The bold mariner from Gloucester who is now making his way across the ocean in a dory appears to be getting on famously. A Troy gentleman who has been on a visit to London, and who returned by the steamer Greece, reports that in mid-ocean the watch at the bow reported to the captain that he descried ahead what seemed to be part of a wreck. As it neared the ship the object was discovered to be a small skiff, and in the darkness the figure of one man was descried. The captain immediately gave orders to stop the engines and to get the ropes ready to pull the man on board. The sea was running high. The skiff came quite near to the ship, appearing and disappearing at intervals—now on the top of an immense wave level with the deck of the vessel, the next minute hidden from sight in the billows. The captain, calling to know who was in the boat, was answered in a strong German accent: "I am John Johnsen, from Gloucester, Mass." He told further that he was bound to Liverpool: that his skiff was named "Centennial," and that he had been out fifteen days. He then asked the captain to compare reckonings. His was long, 46, lat. 39; the captain's was the same. Johnsen informed the captain that he slept by day, and before going to sleep he took in his rudder and took down all sails; during sleep his craft drifted with the waves. He was awake at nights. The captain made a last appeal to him to come on board, stating that if he refused he would probably regret it when the vessel was out of his reach. To this Johnsen emphatically answered, "No, sir; good-night," and giving his sails to the wind was soon lost to sight. Johnsen sits in the centre of his boat, with a lamp burning before him, exposing the dial of what seemed to be a compass. The deck fore and aft is covered with canvas, under which, besides the compass and lamp, were several barrels, containing, no doubt, provisions, water, etc. When last heard from (July 23,) Johnsen was less than thirty-six degrees west from London.

—Henry Watterson poetically says that ice is "water gone to sleep." It has every opportunity for going to sleep while Watterson is around.

—It is now asserted that the angels of heaven are all men. We have to give up our seats here, and walk off into the mud, and submit to all sorts of vanities; it looks reasonable that there should be a change some day.—Courier-Journal.

What can be cured

Need not be endured, although what can't must be. Among the bodily ills susceptible of complete removal by that benign tonic and alterative, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, are general debility, malarial fevers, constipation, dyspepsia, liver disorder, and nervousness. Its remedial capabilities are, however, by no means limited to these maladies. Its properties as a blood depurent render it extremely serviceable in expelling the acrid impurities which produce these painful disorders, rheumatism and gout, and its invigorating and mildly stimulating effect upon the kidneys and bladder constitute it a useful medicine for impelling those organs to a complete performance of their functions when they are weak and inactive. In fact, there is scarcely any disease of which weakness is an accompaniment, in which this admirable medicine cannot be used with advantage.

Time Saved! Travel Saved! Visitors to New York from Boston will be glad to know that they can save twenty-three miles on the journey by purchasing tickets via Middletown, over the New York and New England Railroad. Everything new and first-class. We ask attention to card of this new route.

The Gem of the Toilet

The world says is Sozodont. It renders the teeth pearly white, gives to the breath a fragrant odor, extinguishing the ill-humors which usually flow from a bad and neglected set of teeth. Sozodont is convenient, and produces a sensation at once so delightful that it makes it a pleasure to use it.

Spalding's Glue will mend your ways.

Whooping cough is greatly reduced in the length and severity of its "run" by the use of Adamson's Botanic Cough Balsam.

Medicated Baths are Expensive. Not so, however, Gleam's Sulphur Soap, a cheap and efficient substitute, which answers the same purpose as far as local diseases of the skin, rheumatism and gout are concerned.

☞ That yellow tinge of the complexion is a sure indication of bile in the blood. It is effectually removed by using GILBERT'S EXCELSIOR LIVER LOZENGES.

LYON'S KATHAIRON prevents the Hair from falling out or turning gray, renews its growth, and gives strength and vigor. It is delightfully perfumed, and makes a splendid dressing. It is the cheapest and most desirable Hair Tonic ever produced. Used by the elite. Price only 50 cents.

THE ELECTION.

Tuesday was a bright, pleasant day, the sun shining from an almost cloudless sky and the air being cool and comfortable. The polls opened at the appointed hour, and voting commenced promptly, but without any great enthusiasm being displayed on either side; and at noon the indications were that the city vote would be a very light one.

As the day wore on it was evident there was to be no deadly assault on the republicans by the democrats, as had been vaguely intimated might be the case; in fact, many of the democrats, especially the naturalized citizens, were like the Americans at the battle of Bladensburg,—they "didn't seem to take no interest;" and long before the polls were closed the city was conceded to the republicans. We believe a more quiet election never took place in this city, as we heard of but one fight, (in which a pugnacious democrat aggrieved a still more pugnacious republican and was considerably damaged in consequence,) and there was not a great deal of drunkenness.

The polls closed promptly at 6 o'clock, the democrats then conceding Mr. Broughton's election by 250 majority. When the returns were all received, it was found that the total vote, which had did fair to be light early in the day, footed up 2006, 84 more than the total vote of 1865, and but 186 less than that of 1874, when old Ward Six backed up Sebastapol so nobly in the counting-in line. The vote as declared for Mr. Goodrich in 1874 was 1101, a plurality of 12; in 1875, 1069, a plurality of 220; this time he has 830, a majority of 346. The republican vote as declared in 1874 was 1089; in 1875, 849; this year Mr. Broughton has 1169, a plurality of 339 and a majority of 332.

As soon as the result was generally known the Fife and Drum Band was called out and took a stand between the CHRONICLE office and custom house, where their excellent music soon drew a crowd of delighted republicans and less happy democrats; one of the latter called for three groans for the republican party, which were given by his compatriots in a manner to show that the democrats can groan by night better than they can carry elections in the daytime; another wanted three groans given for the CHRONICLE's editor, with cheers for Tilden and Hendricks; and cheers and counter-cheers, and songs, more energetic than musical, were given until the band started off at the head of a long procession to call upon the Mayor-elect, who made a brief address, and was followed by Messrs. Howard and Bufford. Aldermen-elect Yeaton and Betton, Gov. Goodwin and others were also called upon, the venerable ex-Governor being especially happy in his remarks.

During the evening the following despatch was received from Col. Daniel Hall, Chairman of the Republican State Committee:

"I congratulate the republicans of Portsmouth; the first gun of the campaign gives no uncertain sound."

—This characteristic illustration of the parrot-drill of public schools is given by a writer in the Penn Monthly: It it said that a gentleman who fell in with one of our school-boys offered him "a quarter" if he would tell him the names of all the capitals in Europe. It was done, and quickly. "Now," said the gentleman, "I will give you another quarter if you will tell me whether they are animals or vegetables." "Animals," was the ready and confident answer.

—According to the American, this is the way it works in Lawrence; "Milk is a cent a quart cheaper since the milk inspector resigned, and there is now no complaint of a scarcity. For two or three weeks after the arrests were made on charge of milk adulterations, many of the milkmen were troubled to supply their regular customers. The milk-product suddenly ran short. There is apparently no trouble now in increasing the supply to any extent desired."

—It wasn't a loaded Onondaga county preacher who recently said: "Brezzern, szensier for a cammil—hic—tgo srough ze knee of an idol, zan for—hic—a rich man to live—hic—pezably with his muzzer-in-law."

Jottings.

The Woman's Temperance League have an excursion to the Shoals to-day, (Wednesday) in steamer "Appledore;" fare, 75 cents for the round trip. For the information of all interested we will state that one-half of the net proceeds (should there be any) will be given to the Old Ladies' Home, the other half to be used by the League in furtherance of the temperance cause. Both objects are praiseworthy, a liberal patronage is deserved and earnestly solicited, and we presume the size of the excursion party will be limited only by the size of the steamer.

Mills, the chairman of the House subcommittee which visited this navy yard in search of political capital for the democratic party, has rendered just the kind of a report his instructions demanded, but says "Your Committee do not see any reason for shutting up the Navy Yard at Kittery. The Navy Yard is among the best and should be kept and used for the benefit of the Government, as it may deem proper."

"If Portsmouth goes democratic to-day the country's sure for Tilden!" So spake one of the most prominent democrats in the city, Tuesday morning. Portsmouth didn't go democratic so much as it might have gone had old Wards Three and Six been left in control of the able manipulators who cheated the republicans of the election two years ago. Yet the country is not so sure for Tilden, today, as Portsmouth apparently was for another opponent of the war for the Union, on Tuesday at sunrise.

Will the Times please reprint the pictures representing the republican policemen walking off, which it favored the public with two years ago?

One of the CHRONICLE's carriers, a bright youth of Irish descent and democratic ideas, while folding his list on Tuesday morning, read several paragraphs which seemed to him to have a political bearing, and finally found one which he thought was intended to influence the votes of our adopted citizens, when he remarked; "Pooh! what odds will that make? Half of the Irish voters can't read and the other half never see a republican paper anyway!"

A rich treat was afforded the guests at the Appledore House in the presentation on Tuesday evening, by the Rudolphsen English Opera Company, of Balfe's opera of the "Sleeping Queen," Miss Anna Starbird taking the part of "Irene, Queen of Leon," with Miss L. Florence Holmes as "Donna Agnes," Mr. C. W. Tower as "Don Phillipe," and Mr. J. F. Rudolphsen as "Regent of Leon." The entertainment concluded with "Cox and Box," both pieces being presented in full. The new amusement hall afforded excellent and complete facilities.

J. Beebe, of Springfield, Mass., a prominent mill owner, died at the Boar's Head Hotel, early Monday forenoon, after a three days' sickness. He was aged about 55 years, and was boarding at the Boar's Head with his family.

Royal W. Merrill, a native of Stratham, and many years on the Boston Advertiser staff, has accepted a position on the editorial staff of the Philadelphia Times.

Col. J. Horace Kent has filed his bonds and qualified as Sheriff of Rockingham county.

Mrs. Harriet Beecher Stowe is expected at the Appledore soon.

Schooner Nettie Adams, John J. Thurlow master, belonging in Newburyport, left there Saturday night for the Hampton Beach shore and returned early next morning with 40 bbls. of prime mackerel.

A large party from Newburyport and Salisbury (about two hundred) went to the Shoals in the Appledore Tuesday forenoon, Capt. Robinson doing himself proud to old acquaintances.

—There have been plenty of Indian braves at the Exhibition, but the first feathered, moccasined, deer-skinned squaw made her appearance only yesterday. That she was a thoroughbred member of Sitting Bull's family was put beyond doubt when she yelled at an urchin who stealthily pulled a feather from her head-dress. "Bad luck to ye, ye pale-faced spalpeen——." Here she recovered her native tongue. "Ugh!" she exclaimed, clenching a ponderous fist, "bad little brave."—Philadelphia Times.

—"Pa," exclaimed Elnathan Dorkins, Jr., to his respected sire, "pa, what's the difference 'tween a elephant and a tree?" Mr. Dorkins said something about having trunks, but was scornfully interrupted by his offspring, who shouted, "Cause the tree leaves in Spring and the elephant leaves when the menagerie leaves."

DIED.

BROUGHTON. In this city, July 30, Mr. Charles H. Broughton, aged 30 years, 1 month and 7 days.

PILOT BREAD.

This kind of bread having come into extensive family use, it has been my purpose to furnish, from choice materials, an article which should meet the approval of the most fastidious as to neatness, looks and taste. Whether I have succeeded in giving to the public a PILOT BREAD,

SUPERIOR IN EXCELLENCE,

the consumer may be the judge; that the quality will not be suffered to depreciate, the past with the present is my best pledge. That I can compete with all the various qualities of Pilot Bread in the market, as to price, I make no pretensions,—but in price, all things being equal, I fear no competition.]

A Wonderful Cat.

A few evenings since Alvy Moody was paying a visit to his dulcinea. She had smuggled him into the parlor, and the darkness only served to conceal her blushes while Alvy told his story of love. The muttered words reached the parent's ear, and coming suddenly into the room he demanded to know of Mary who it was she had with her.

"It's the cat, sir," was the mumbling reply.

"Drive it out of here," thundered paterfamilias.

"Scat!" screeched Mary; and then sotto voice, "Alvy, meaow a little."

Alvy set up a woful yowl.

"Confound it, bring a light and scare the thing out."

This was too much and poor Alvy made a leap for the window, carrying glass and frame with him.

"Thunder, what a cat!" exclaimed the parent, contemplating the ruin after the light was brought; "I never saw anything like it, and confound it, it's tail is made of broadcloth," as he viewed a fluttering remnant hanging from the window.—Washington Gazette.

—"Small thanks to you," said a petulant plaintiff to one of his witnesses, "for what you said in the case." "Ah, sir," replied the witness, "but just think of what I didn't say!"

REASONS WHY FARMERS should purchase The Halladay Wind-Mill

It is the first reliable self-regulating Wind Mill ever made, and continues to lead the van.

It has stood the test of nearly a quarter of a century, and has gained a reputation as broad as its use is extensive.

It is the only wind mill generally adopted on all the railroads.

It is the cheapest wind mill.

The United States Wind Engine and Pump Co. have the largest wind mill manufactory in the world. We are willing to put our mill upon its merits. We ask an investigation of facts and motives. We duly appreciate the patronage and support we have received in the past, and while we solicit a continuance of favors, we shall try to merit them. We are the pioneers in the production of a wind mill adapted to the use of farmers.

DR. QUAIN'S MAGIC CONDITION PILLS!

The Wonderful Remedy for Liver Complaint, Biliousness, Dyspepsia, Constipation, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Headache, Kidney Complaint, Nervousness, Scrofula, Piles, and all Diseases arising from a bad state of the Blood!

No medicine ever offered to the public has given such universal satisfaction as Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. Their praises are on every tongue where their merits are known. They strike at once at the seat of disease and show their healing power almost immediately. Thousands of voluntary testimonials of their merits have been received by the agent, from those who have been cured by them, of which the following are samples:

Dyspepsia Four Years, Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels Three Years, Confined to my Room Two Years, Pain so I Could Not Sleep Without Morphine. One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills Made Me Eat Well, Sleep Well and Free from Pain, after being given up by Physicians.

WEST LEBANON, ME., Feb. 22, 1

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I have been sick for four years with Dyspepsia, and for the past years Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels. I have suffered all the pain I could endure and live. I have been confined to my room for two years, and could not sleep nights without the use of morphine. I have been given up by physicians as past cure. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, and they have done me more good than all the doctors I have had. I sleep well, I eat and have no pain. They are all they are recommended to be. Please send me three packages, as two of my neighbors wish to try them. I enclose $5.

Your truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Another Letter from Maj. John W. Lord, one month later. Wonderful Cures by Dr. Quain's Pills Effected on Him in Thirteen Days. First time Free from Pain for Three Years.

WEST LEBANON, ME., March 22, 1875

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I commenced taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS February 9th, and wrote you February 22d of their wonderful effect. I have continued to improve ever since. My appetite is good, and I sleep as well as I ever did in my life. I am free from pain for the first time in three years. When I was taken sick four years ago, I weighed one hundred and eighty-six pounds; I now weigh one hundred and thirty, but, as I am gaining in strength, I have faith I shall regain my flesh this summer, by the use of the Pills. I shall continue taking them for some time to come.

Yours truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Dr. Quain's Pills the Remedy for Soldiers' Aches and Pains.

WEST LEBANON, ME., June 1, 1875.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I am now able to walk out every day, and am gaining in strength very fast, all of which is due to you as agent for the best Pills in the world. I have taken no other medicine, and my improvement has been steady since first taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done everything for me, and I will say to you, advertise them direct to the soldiers, for they will certainly cure them of aches and pains caused from exposure and hardship on the field. Please send me by return mail another package.

Rheumatism for Twenty Years Cured by One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills—"The Best Medicine in the World."

EAST ANDOVER, N. H., Dec. 16, 1875.

MR. LANE—Dear Sir:—As I know the value of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS and the good they have done me, I take pleasure in giving them praise; so I send you another testimonial. My father has been troubled with Rheumatism for twenty years or more, and has tried everything that could be thought of, but to no good. At times it would be so bad that he could not lift his hand to his head or do any work at all, except walk. A few weeks ago I wrote ago I advised him to get some of these Pills. He believed nothing in them, but I did not lose the last package I had of you, as I did not need them, and he has not been as free from the Rheumatic Complaint for years. No Rheumatism, no pain. When tipped him ? It was DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, the best medicine in the world. There is nothing like them. I know it, for I have tried them, and they are all, yes, more than they are recommended to be. Give them a fair trial and you will say so. I write this because I know the goodness of them and wish others to know the same. Some may think I am telling a big story I am. But remember I am not giving them half the praise they ought to have.

Yours with respect, ED. F. PEVARE.

DAINGERFIELD, MORRIS CO., TEXAS, Nov. 15, '75.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I have been afflicted for near twelve years with Neuralgia in the face and head. I tried I do not know how many physicians, and could only get partly relieved. I also tried many patent medicines with the same result. I have been induced to try them most all the time for eight or ten winters, and have been traveling and visiting medical springs, and I still suffered most intensely. The physicians told me every my case the worst and most stubborn that they had had anything to do with. One told me I could never get well; they all advised me to go South and spend the winter, and thought that was the only cause for me, and I was ready to go to Florida, when through the kindness of Rev. H. M. Mathis, my attention was called to the advertisement of Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. I immediately sent to you for a package. I have taken four doses and I am almost free from pain. The impression here seems to be that if your pills will cure me, they will cure anybody. I have five applications to send for the pills. Enclosed, please find three dollars; send five packages to me and one to Mrs. Laura Sherrell, Sulphur Springs, Hopkins county, Texas.

Yours truly, J. S. PATTON.

Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache.

LACONIA, N. H., Jan. 29, 1875.

THOS. W. LANE—Sir:—I have been troubled with Bad Blood, Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done me more good than all the medicine I ever took; I have taken considerable medicine within the last five years. For the nerves I think there is nothing so good as those pills. I can recommend them to all who are similarly afflicted, they have done me so much good. I think they will recommend themselves wherever they go. I shall recommend those Pills to all who need them. Please send me two packages more, one for myself and one for a lady friend of mine. Many thanks to the inventor, agent and advertiser of those Pills.

One told me I could never get well; they all advised me to go South and spend the winter, and thought that was the only cause for me, and I was ready to go to Florida, when through the kindness of Rev. H. M. Mathis, my attention was called to the advertisement of Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. I immediately sent to you for a package. I have taken four doses and I am almost free from pain. The impression here seems to be that if your pills will cure me, they will cure anybody. I have five applications to send for the pills. Enclosed, please find three dollars; send five packages to me and one to Mrs. Laura Sherrell, Sulphur Springs, Hopkins county, Texas.

Yours truly, J. S. PATTON.

Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache.

LACONIA, N. H., Jan. 29, 1875.

THOS. W. LANE—Sir:—I have been troubled with Bad Blood, Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done me more good than all the medicine I ever took; I have taken considerable medicine within the last five years. For the nerves I think there is nothing so good as those pills. I can recommend them to all who are similarly afflicted, they have done me so much good. I think they will recommend themselves wherever they go. I shall recommend those Pills to all who need them. Please send me two packages more, one for myself and one for a lady friend of mine. Many thanks to the inventor, agent and advertiser of those Pills.

MRS. P. L. ELLIOTT.

DR. QUAIN'S MAGIC CONDITION PILLS are put up only by the AMERICAN MEDICINE CO., Manchester, N. H., THOMAS W. LANE, Agent.

PULMOCINE.

BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL

CONDITION PILLS!

The Wonderful Remedy for Liver Complaint, Biliousness, Dyspepsia, Constipation, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Headache, Kidney Complaint, Nervousness, Scrofula, Piles, and all Diseases arising from a bad state of the Blood!

Is the ultima thule of Medical Discovery.

Among its many ingredients are Wild Cherry Bark, Squill Root, Liquorice Root, Blood root, &c. It is a Blood Purifier, gently stimulating. It increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is sudorific and alterative. It is a necessary family medicine. It is a Tonic and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is a gentle sedative, and relieves nervousness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.

CLEAR YOUR THROAT!

Relieve Your Lungs.

For the terrible diseases engendered by the busy trying climate of New England

PULMOCINE CORDIAL

Is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. Every Family should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croups, Laryngitis, or inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred Throat Diseases at all times prevalent, it is the ounce of Prevention. Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning, when a physician may be out of immediate reach. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy relief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As "a stitch in time saves nine," so does the possession of this Family Medicine prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agent. There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all thus afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and the patient's danger is past.

For Coughs,

Croup,

Diphtheria,

Asthma, etc.,

— USE —

Buchman's Pulmocine Cordial.

The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified in some form or other. The receipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. It is offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

Health Regulations.

THE BOARD OF HEALTH OF THE CITY OF PORTSMOUTH call the attention of the public to the following sections of Chapter 16, of the Revised Ordinances, and invite all interested in the preservation of health in our city to aid them in the execution of their duty:

SEC. 3. All waste water of houses, yards, cellars, sinks, pumps, etc., shall be conveyed by their owners or occupiers to the common sewers, or to such places as the Health Officers may direct.

SEC. 4. No person shall be allowed to throw any vegetable or dead animal substance, or any other matter capable of producing infection, into any street, lane, alley or dock, or upon any wharf, but shall bury them or in ow them into the river below low-water mark.

SEC. 5. The contes. of vaults and privies shall not be permitted to rise within one foot of the surface of the earth. And all owners or occupiers of buildings having such vaults or privies as may require it, shall cause them to be emptied within ten days from the promulgation of this ordinance, and in future on or before the first day of May in each year. And any such owner or occupier neglecting so to do, shall forfeit and pay for every such neglect a sum not less than three nor more than twenty dollars, and a like sum for every week's neglect after the time above specified.

SEC. 6. No vender of meat at the stalls shall be permitted to leave any stale meat, heads, feet or offal of any kind about their stalls or stores over night, or suffer them to be thrown into any street, lane or alley of the city. Nor shall any sellers of fish be permitted to throw any offal of fish into any street, lane or alley of the city, or upon any wharf, but shall either bury them, or throw them into the river beyond low-water mark.

SEC. 7. If any dead animal or decaying vegetable substance, or any other nuisance, shall be found in any part of the city, the owners or occupiers of the premises where such nuisance shall be found, shall cause the same to be removed within twenty-four hours after being notified so to do by one or more of the health officers.

SEC. 12. When any householder shall know that any person within his family is taken sick of the small pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, he shall immediately give notice thereof to the Health Officers.

SEC. 13. When any physician shall know that any person whom he is called to visit is infected with the small pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, such physician shall immediately give notice thereof to the Health Officers.

SEC. 14. If any such householder or physician shall refuse or neglect to give the notice required in the preceding sections, he shall for each refusal or neglect, forfeit the sum of twenty dollars, to be recovered by either of the Health Officers in the name of the city.

SEC. 16. The Health Officers may give written notice to the owner or occupier of any building, vessel or enclosure, to remove or destroy any nuisance or other thing deemed by them on examination, to be injurious to the public health, within a certain time limited therein; and in case such owner or occupier—the said notice having been given to him, or left at his usual place of abode—shall neglect to comply therewith, the said Health Officers may, by direction of the mayor and accompanied by the city marshal, forcibly enter such building, vessel, or enclosure, and cause said nuisance or other thing aforesaid to be removed or destroyed.

SEC. 21. No person shall erect, keep or continue, or permit to be erected, kept or continued, upon any land occupied by him, any pen for the keeping of swine, or privy, over either of the mill ponds in this city, or so placed that offensive substances therefrom shall be discharged or drained into either of said ponds, or into any creek, or cove, or drain leading thereto. And no person shall construct, keep or continue any drain leading from any pen for the keeping of any swine, slaughter-house, privy vault, or other unwholesome or offensive place, into either of said ponds, or to any flat or marsh adjoining the same. And no person shall throw or suffer to be thrown from his land into either of said ponds, or upon any of said flats or marshes, any dead, decaying, unwholesome or offensive animal or vegetable substances.

ARMSTRONG'S
LINCOLN BUTTER POWDER.
Good Fresh Butter All The Year Round.
BUTTER IN 20 MINUTES.
Lincoln Butter Powder is an entirely harmless article made from a celebrated English recipe, and now in daily use by many of the most noted farmers in the butter counties around Philadelphia.
In hot weather this Powder makes butter much firmer and sweeter than it usually is, and keeps it from turning rancid. It also removes the strong flavor of turnips, weeds, corn stalks, cotton seed, etc.; and the increased yield of butter much more than pays the trifling expense of using it.

The Life Saving Service.

Each district is in care of a superintendent; all are under the supervision of a captain in the revenue marine service, and the entire service is in the hands of the Revenue Marine Bureau. The stations are each in charge of a keeper selected by the superintendent, who is held accountable for the property placed in his charge and the management of the apparatus. Six surf-men are attached to each station, who are selected by the keeper from the ablest wreckers and fishermen along the coast. They live in the station-house from December 1, to April 1, and are subject to call any time during the rest of the year. The beach is patrolled every night.

The houses are placed as close to the shore as is safe, and are furnished with the most efficient apparatus for saving life, principal among which are the life-boat, life-car, mortar and balls, hawser, lines, tackles, signal lanterns, Coston lights, life-preservers, &c. The kitchen is furnished with cooking stove, table, tinware and dishes, and the bedroom with mattresses and blankets.

On tempestuous nights, when the "northeaster" howls along the coast like a blast from Labrador, the greatest vigilance is necessary, for it is then when there is likely to be sore need of the services of the wrecker. The latter draws on his rubber clothing and starts out on his patrol, lantern in hand, the driving sleet and sand making it impossible to look in the direction of the wind. He pushes on, guarding his eyes with the visor of his cap and peering here and there into the darkness. His route is dangerous, for the treacherous surf has worn gullies and formed deep quicksands in unsuspected places, into which he is liable to plunge at any step. When he hears the sound of a vessel pounding on the beach and the flapping and snapping of her sails, so soon as he can make out her outlines he instantly burns a red light as a signal that it is seen. The surfman makes all haste to the station and reports to the keeper, who summons all hands. The life-car and mortar are loaded upon the wagon, with hawser and lines and all that is needed, and the laborious task of hauling through the gullies and sand in the face of the storm is begun.

Reaching the scene of the wreck the keeper, with the aid of his nightglass does his utmost to ascertain the position of the stranded vessel, and he selects a spot in which to place the mortar. It is a bad time now to give orders, for the roar of the ocean and storm drown the strongest voices, and a man can split his throat without being heard six feet away. All, however, know their part, and their is little necessity for issuing commands. Rubber blankets are held by several of the men, while the charge of powder and the ball (five and three-quarter inches in diameter) are carefully put in place. The line is skillfully coiled to prevent its becoming entangled, and the end is fastened to the ball by a spiral wire. The mortar is ranged and elevated, careful regard being had to the force and direction of the wind. A white light is burned to warn those on the vessel of what is coming, and the match is applied. Then there is a heavy boom from the mortar, a ringing screech from the line, as it is drawn out with great velocity through the air and drops across the ship. The waiting seamen by the aid of this line, draw off a second one of large size, and by means of the second pull off the hawser, which is made fast to the ship. The sand anchor is firmly embedded in the beach and a powerful tackle is secured to it, by which the hawser is drawn as tight as the rolling of the vessel will permit. The life-car is suspended beneath, and drawn out to the ship by the second line and hauled back to shore by a rope attached for that purpose, which process is continued until all are landed.

The car is boat-shaped and made of iron, fitted with a tight cover, which can be secured by fastening both outside and within, and it will accommodate six men, although more may be crowded in. Only a few minutes is required to make a "passage." As the air speedily becomes vitiated and unable to support life, quick work is necessary. After the passengers are landed they are taken to the station and made as comfortable as possible. During the past year forty-eight vessels, valued with their cargoes at $2,231,606, and having on board 1,166 persons, were driven on our shores, and 303 persons were rescued by the Life-Saving Service.

A Bird Story.

Lovers of the birds will be interested in the story of a golden robin in Newburyport that has been through quite a tragedy for a small chap. While engaged with his mate last week in building their nest, which was suspended fifty feet high, from an extreme branch of an elm, his foot became entangled in a piece of twine, which he was deftly weaving into the structure, and losing his balance, he dropped about two feet, the length of his rope, and hung in mid-air. The little rascal had just stolen the string from the grocery steps near by, and retribution was sure and swift, though he doubtless thought hanging a severe penalty for so small an offence. He hung several hours, struggling till exhausted, to regain his nest, his terrified mate fluttering and screaming round him, and the spectators below pitying his fate, but unable to relieve him. Finally a tender-hearted spectator came to the rescue with a long ladder and a hooked pole. He ascended the tree and climbed along the limb till he could reach the bird with the hook and, capturing him, brought him down in safety. Robby's leg was found to be badly broken and twisted, and Dr. Hurd volunteered to set it, thinking it might possibly be saved, though in a few days it was obvious that amputation would be necessary, and the doctor performed it as skillfully as if his patient had been a Christian, and at a third visit removed the bandages and pronounced him all right. After Robby had been stumping round his place of confinement a few days, his kind protector caught his mate and restored her to the bosom of her lord, and now the little couple are the happiest of all the songsters that compose his "happy family."—Boston Post.

Daily Chronicle.

THURSDAY, AUGUST 3, 1876.

FOR PRESIDENT,

Rutherford B. Hayes,

OF OHIO.

FOR VICE PRESIDENT,

William A. Wheeler,

OF NEW YORK.

Hayes' Platform in War.

In 1864, when Hayes was in the army, being nominated for Congress he was requested to come home and stump his district. His reply was, "I have other business just now. Any man who would leave the army at this time to electioneer for Congress ought to be scalped!"

Hayes' Platform in Peace.

"Honest money for all, and free schools for all. There should be no inflation which will depreciate the one, nor sectarian interference which will destroy the other."

Belknap.

The impeachment trial of Wm. W. Belknap closed in his favor on Tuesday, August 1, the Senators voting as follows: for conviction, thirty-six; against conviction, twenty-five. A two-thirds vote being necessary for conviction, Belknap of course escaped—something, no one knows what. Senators Morton and Cameron voted "not guilty." Nearly all who voted against conviction did so because they were convinced the Senate had no jurisdiction in the case; had the question been simply one of fact concerning Belknap's sale of a place, the vote would have been nearly unanimous against him.

The Boston Post comments on this matter as follows: "When the disgraced Secretary ran to the White House, told Grant of his guilt, and begged the immediate acceptance of his resignation, it was granted on the spot and the penalties of impeachment were removed. The vote of the Senate yesterday failed of a two-thirds majority and consequent conviction through this action of the President, and thus he aids another guilty man to escape."

The Boston Globe says: "Belknap owes his acquittal, or rather his escape from conviction, to the President, who accepted his resignation with so much alacrity and such deep 'regret.'"

The Post is a democratic "organ," consistently presenting everything in a manner to make the best possible showing for its own party and the worst possible for its opponents; the Globe is professedly an "independent" paper; but they agree that the President saved Belknap from punishment by accepting his resignation when it was tendered. They are both big "metropolitan" papers, and of course must know everything; and we wish one or the other—or both—of them would explain to us how Grant shielded Belknap by accepting his resignation; or, in other words, that they would point out to us any law compelling any citizen of the United States to hold an office after he has resigned it. There may be some law compelling a Cabinet officer to remain in office against his will; but we do not believe there is any such law, and if there is such a law we believe it is certainly not constitutional,—and unless there is such a law the talk about the President shielding Belknap by accepting his resignation is sheer twaddle. If the President had power to compel Belknap to remain in office, the censure would be just; not otherwise; and we consider that the moment Belknap placed his resignation "to take effect immediately," in the hands of the appointing power, that moment he ceased to be Secretary of War,—and that neither President nor Congress had any power whatever to prevent him from becoming a private citizen at any moment he chose to do so.

News and Notes.

Marshal Bazaine, of France, is said to be conducting the Turkish campaign against the Servians. Gen. Kauffman, the Russian conqueror of Khiva and Khokand, is one of the Servian leaders. The Turks are reported to have lost 6000 men in the defeat near Bilek.

Mr. Carleton Ireland, of the firm of Morris & Ireland, safe manufacturers, is missing, and a Boston detective is in Portland trying to hunt him up. He is supposed to be insane.

Jesse Pomeroy's case has been again discussed by the Executive Council of Massachusetts. It is reported that Gov. Rice and a majority of the Council oppose any commutation of his sentence. We forget what Pomeroy's sentence was, but believe it was that he should die of old age in jail unless previously pardoned for good behavior.

A correspondent writing from the Westminister Hotel, of New York, says: I find as the Fall approaches the tide of travel to the Centennial increases. This hotel, which, by the way, is one of the best in the world, and the most centrally and conveniently located in the city, seems to be the favorite with visitors. Col. Jerome Bonaparte and family were recently here, and nearly every day there are arrivals of distinguished persons. The house is conducted on the European plan, and has a restaurant of peculiar excellence. Visitors to New York will find the Westminster decidedly the best place to stop at while in this city.

L. P. Richardson, the reporter said to have been killed by Indians in Montana, is alive and well.

A married couple in Ansonia, Conn., recently had a surprise party as was a surprise party. It was the twenty-fifth anniversary of their wedding, and while a party of friends were making merry at their house their two daughters stepped out for a while and were married on the sly.

John Dooly, of Roxbury, Conn., armed with rags saturated with kerosene, endeavored to exterminate by fire a big hornet's nest under the ridge-pole of his barn. He succeeded, and the next swarm of hornets will find a new barn.

The dwelling house and barn of Dudley L. Parker, near Lake Village, in Gilford, were burned July 31. Mr. Parker lost all his furniture and several tons of hay. Loss about $1000; fully insured.

The New York Tribune says that the yacht Mohawk has been sold for $20,000, and is to be turned into an oyster boat.

The family of J. W. Gerrish, of Lebanon, were poisoned recently by eating cheese. Remedies were promptly administered, and all are now out of danger.

Josiah Holbrook, of Richmond, was found dead in the woods in Swanzey, July 30, with a rum-jug by his side. He was of very intemperate habits, and had evidently been dead several days when found.

George Morris, an engineer on the Providence and Worcester Railroad, was instantly killed on the 1st by being struck by a bridge while leaning from the cab of his engine.

Isaac M. Ritchie, a commission merchant of Cincinnati, got drunk, then became displeased with his lady love, and to mark his displeasure fatally shot Barney Geisler and John Whalen, who were passing the house.

A London firm of iron ship builders has failed, with liabilities of $830,000.

In a four-oared race rowed by ladies at Grand Haven, Mich., the winning boat made the mile and turn in seven minutes any fifty-seven seconds.

A picnic barge filled with excursionists, while sailing on Bow Breeze Lake, near Detroit, Mich., on the afternoon of August 1, sunk, and three men and six women and children were drowned.

The ship Geltwood, on a voyage from Liverpool to Melbourne, was lost, with all hands on board, off Cape Northumberland, on the south coast of Australia.

Political.

Tilden deems it of vital importance to his cause that the Democracy carry Indiana in October. To accomplish this, $3,000,000 are to be raised from the faithful to be expended in that State.

A Washington dispatch says the attorneys for the whisky men now in the Western penitentiaries, who have been there for some weeks urging that pardons be granted, were officially notified Monday that the President would not take any action on their cases, and that they may as well give up the effort. The democratic papers will keep right on announcing that they all have been or are immediately to be pardoned, just the same.

The Cincinnati Enquirer says: "Hayes has gained no particular strength in Ohio since the day of his nomination. Tilden is gaining votes daily. That's the way it looks to us." That must make the Enquirer feel bad, as it not long ago said of Tilden: "It could not but be that a man educated in cunning, in hypocrisy, in iniquity, nominated in corruption and shameless effrontery, even though his millions could elect him, would give us the most corrupt administration the country has ever known."

Galusha A. Grow, the former Pennsylvania Congressman, who has of late years been a liberal, now comes out for Hayes and Wheeler.

The Chicago Times, in a blindly fatuitous fashion, advocates the election of Tilden, of whom it is said on the 19th of June: "It is useless to talk of defeating Hayes with Tilden. The chances are so enormously against it that nothing but a blind fatuity of the stupidest partyism would venture upon so wild an experiment."

How long does a Presidential nomination last, anyhow? If Tilden and Hendricks don't accept pretty soon, that St. Louis convention will expire by limitation.—Indianapolis Journal.

"Who stuck to Tweed through thick and thin? who counted John T. Hoffman in? who thought the Union was a sin? Sam. Tilden."

The democratic New Haven Union says: "The western democrats claim, and with a good show of reason, that the vote in the House to allow Goode of Virginia to retain his seat, in the face of the majority report of the committee on contested elections that Platt was duly elected, was the result of an understanding between Goode and the eastern hard money democrats. The charge is directly made that the necessary votes to make up Goode's majority were obtained from among hard money democrats who voted for him on the condition, well understood, that he should absent himself from the banking and currency committee, and thus prevent a report in favor of a bill repealing the resumption act." Hon. Charles P. Thompson, democratic Congressman from Massachusetts, who as a member of the elections committee was thoroughly conversant with all the evidence in the case, made an earnest speech in resistance to the plot, declaring that to carry it out would be "the boldest outrage in the history of the American Congress."

Keep it before the people that Samuel J. Tilden was one of the organizers and the financial manager of the "Society for the Diffusion of Political Knowledge," which distributed an immense number of treasonable tracts and speeches among the soldiers of the army of the Potomac, for the purpose of undermining their loyalty and weakening the government.—Indianapolis Journal.

Take Off That Hat.

Colonel Bangs is very bald, and in order to induce his hair to grow again, he is using a very excellent article called "hair vigor" upon his scalp. A week or two ago he was summoned as a juryman upon a case in the Circuit Court, and upon the day of the trial, just before the hour at which court met, he remembered that he had not applied the "vigor" to his head that morning. He had only a few minutes to spare, but he flew upstairs and into the dark closet where he kept the bottle, and pouring some fluid on a sponge, he rubbed his head energetically. By some mistake the Colonel got hold of the wrong bottle, and the substance with which he inundated his scalp was not "vigor," but the black varnish with which Mrs. Bangs decorated her shoes. However, Bangs didn't perceive his mistake, but darted down stairs, put on his hat and walked off to the court-room. It was a very cold morning, and by the time the colonel reached his destination the varnish was as stiff as a stone, his hat glued fast to the skin, and his efforts to take it off gave him frightful pain. Just then he heard his name called by the crier. He was wild with apprehension of coming trouble; but he took his seat in the jury-box and determined to explain at the earliest possible moment. Presently the clerk screamed: "Hats off in court!" The colonel grew crimson in the face. "Hats off!" yelled the clerk again, and the colonel was about to reply, when the judge came in, and as his eye rested on Bangs he said: "Persons in the court-room must remove their hats."

Bangs—May it please your honor, I kept my hat on because—

Judge—Well, sir, you must take it off now.

Bangs—But I say I kept it on because I—

Judge—We don't want any argument upon the subject, sir. Remove that hat this moment, sir!

Bangs—Judge, if you would only give me a chance to—

Judge—This is intolerable! Do you mean to insult the court, sir? Take off your hat, sir, or I will fine you for contempt.

Bangs—Well, it's very hard I can't say a word by way of ex——

Judge (warmly)—This is too much! You've got more audacity than a mule. Mr. Clerk, fine that man $50!

Bangs—Judge, this is rough on me. I—

Judge (in a furious rage)—Won't do it, yet. Why, you impudent scoundrel, I've a notion to— Mr. Clerk, fine him $100 more, and Mr. Jones, you go and take that hat off by force.

Then the tipstaff approached Bangs and hit the hat with his stick. It didn't move. Then he struck it again and caved in the crown; but it remained on Bangs' head. Then he picked up a volume of "Brown on Evidence" and mashed the crown in flat. Then Bangs sprang at him, and shaking his fist under Jones' nose he shrieked: "You muttonheaded scullion! I've half a notion to kill you! If that jackass on the bench had any sense he could see that the hat is glued fast. I can't take it off if I wanted to." Then the judge removed the fines and excused him, and Bangs went home. He slept in the hat for a week, and even when it came off the top of his head looked as black as if mortification had set in.—Pittsburg Leader.

Primitive Warfare.

The Montenegrin method of making war is very primitive. A Russian officer, who visited their country, and studied it, tells us that a Montenegrin never sues for mercy, and whenever one of them is severely wounded, and it is impossible to save him from the enemy, his own comrades cut off his head. When at the attack of Clobuck, a small detachment of Russian troops was obliged to retreat, an officer of stout make, and no longer young, fell on the ground from exhaustion. A Montenegrin, perceiving it, ran immediately to him, and, having drawn his yatagan, said: "You are very brave, and must wish that I should cut off your head. Say a prayer, and make a sign of the cross." The officer, horrified at the proposition, made an effort to rise, and rejoined his comrades with the assistance of the friendly Montenegrin. They consider all those who have been taken by the enemy as killed. They carry out of the battle their wounded comrades on their shoulders. Arms, a small loaf of bread, a cheese, some garlic, a little brandy, an old garment, and two pair of sandals made of raw hide, form all the equipage of the Montenegrins. On their march they do not seek any shelter from rain or cold. In rainy weather the Montenegrin wraps around his head the strooka (a shawl of coarse cloth,) lies down on the ground and, putting his rifle under him, sleeps very comfortably. Three or four hours of repose are quite sufficient for his rest, and the remainder of his time is occupied in constant exertion. It is impossible to retain them in reserve, and it seems that they cannot calmly bear the view of the enemy. The tactics of the Montenegrins are confined to being skillful marksmen. A stone, a hole, a tree offer them a cover from the enemy. Firing usually in a prostrate position on the ground, they are not easily hit, while their rapid and sure shots carry destruction into the closed ranks of a regular army. They have besides a well practised eye for judging of distance, and thoroughly understand how to take advantage of the ground. Of course it will always be difficult to employ such warriors against regular troops.—London Daily News.

NOTICE.
HAVING my ware-room (which is the largest this side of Boston) full of the best of
MARBLE WORK,
I would respectfully invite the people of Portsmouth and vicinity, who have lost relatives or friends, or have occasion for the use of any kind of stone work to call before purchasing elsewhere. My stock consists of Monuments, Headstones, Marble Posts, Mantel Shelves, Pier Tops, &c., the stock for which was bought and men employed to work the same, since the commencement of the present hard times. I have not sufficient room in which to place more work, and do not wish to discharge any of my hands. For the above reasons, I feel confident that no one can undersell me with the same quality of stock and work. I take occasion to call the attention of all who are repairing or building houses, to my large stock of Mantel Shelves and Pier Tops!
Also have Three LOTS, enclosed with Granite Curbs and Posts, in Harmony Grove and Sagamore Cemeteries, which I will sell at a discount.

WARD OFFICERS ELECT.

Moderators—John H. Cheever, Washing-Freeman, Charles A. Sinclair, Henry F. Wendell; two republicans, two democrats.

Selectmen—Enoch J. Connor, Robert E. Rich, Charles H. Besselievre, Newton Johnston, Plumer D. Norton, Samuel H. Kingsbury, William J. Moat, Alexander Robinson, James G. Locke, Alonzo K. W. Green, Albert B. Trefethen, John S. Tuckerman; six republicans, six democrats.

Ward Clerks—James M. Knapp, Edwin H. Leslie, William H. Canty, William S. Hazel; two republicans, two democrats.

WE APOLOGISE.

The "ardent young democratic sprig of the law" whom we credited with having said at the democratic mayoralty caucus that one of the Ward Two officers should be "thrown out of the Court House" on election day, denies having in any way counselled violence, and defies any one to produce a witness who will bear out our accusation. So far as we are concerned we don't care about any witness, one way or the other; our legal friend's square denial satisfies us that we did him an injustice, for though we can easily conceive of his saying something quite rash under the impulse of anger, we have a very much better opinion of him than to think he would lie about it afterward. He further assures us that the "choleric old gent, for twenty years and more a chronic office-seeker," so far from advising the democracy of Sebastopol to "pull from the desk" one of the ward officers, was emphatic in urging that no violence should be used under any circumstances;—and neither in this instance do we question his veracity. We regret the injustice done the two gentlemen referred to, and should have made this statement sooner had we been sooner undeceived; but we must remark that the stories as we heard (and printed) them seemed very reasonable when taken in connection with the previous warnings of the Times as to what would take place in certain contingencies, and its accounts of the intense indignation expressed by the democrats whose names had not yet been placed on the check-lists.

BOSTON'S "OLD SOUTH."

Messrs. Editors: I remember of reading a very spirited article in your paper on the propriety of Portsmouth holding out a helping hand toward the preservation of the Old South, reminding us that our boys of Engine No. Three preserved it from the great fire. Remembering the effective aid our New Hampshire boys gave Boston a hundred years ago amid the scenes which consecrated the Old South, we may well wish to preserve that sacred building. We remember with pride the record of the battle of Bunker Hill, in which it appears that our "New Hampshire regiments under Colonel Stark and Reed came on to the ground a short time before the battle commenced, and were posted at the rail fence on the left of the redoubt, where they were most needed and where they fought with great spirit." And Connecticut also had a brave share in the glories of that great day. "A company of one hundred and twenty men from Conn., commanded by Capt. Knowlton, a brave officer who afterward fell in the service, had orders to proceed that night to Bunker Hill to build fortifications. During the action the company retired into the redoubt. The works were left to the defence of the brave men who built them, already exhausted by hunger and fatigue." Indeed, why not make the saving the Old South a National thing? It surely should be no mere State affair. Let us emulate the spirit of Patrick Henry, when he exclaimed: "British oppression has effaced the boundaries of the several colonies; I am not a Virginian, but

AN AMERICAN."

Jottings.

The Granite State base ball nine go to Exeter to-day, (starting at 12 o'clock, M., to play the Eagles of that town.

The Times gracefully yields to the inevitable, and "accepts the situation" until November, when it hopes for better things in the line of democratic majorities. Bro. Guppy also kindly accedes to our request that he reprint his chromo showing the effect of an adverse election on the police force, first published two years ago. Thanks, neighbor; thanks!

The Woman's Temperance League excursion to the Shoals in steamer Appledore on Wednesday was largely attended.

The Sunday School picnic of the Middle street church took place at Pinkham's Grove on Wednesday. A large number of people, old and young, went out for a day's pleasure.

A valuable horse belonging to Miss Lydia Rollins was killed by a locomotive drawing one of the trains from Dover to this city, on the evening of the 1st. The horse strayed upon the track from the pasture of the owner.

The new city government will meet in convention on Tuesday next, August 8, at 10 o'clock, A. M., for the purpose of taking the oaths of office and choosing a city clerk.

The Boston Post chronicles another gain to the "Tilden and reform" party, as follows: "E. C. Moody, Esq., of York, Me., for many years a prominent and active republican and late member of the republican county committee, has withdrawn from that party and supports Tilden and Hendricks." As Mr. Moody withdrew from the republican party some years ago, immediately after he lost an office which was abolished on the ground that it was a sinecure, and has ever since been an active democrat, his supporting Tilden and Hendricks is nothing to wonder at. "Ed" is a good fellow personally, and dearly loves office; and as the New York Sun officially announces that Tilden, if elected, will inaugurate civil service reform by turning out eighty thousand republican office holders and putting eighty thousand democrats in their places, we are ready to believe that "Ed" is enthusiastic for the great reformer—and a small office.

Nathaniel of Texas came into our office late Tuesday evening, and announced "This world is all a fleeting show, to vain delusions given."

A little girl named Barrett was run over on the corner of High and Hanover streets, Wednesday afternoon, by a jigger, the wheel of which went over her instep. She was riding on the jigger, and fell off.

Geo. W. Marston, Esq., senior editor of the CHRONICLE, after depositing his vote on the 1st for the republican candidates took the cars for Colorado, where he will engage in the development of a silver mine. If our esteemed associate only has all the luck we wish him he will have no room to complain. P.

Puzzles.

Messrs. Editors:—I copy from a recent number of the Times the following:

"Sojourners at Hampton Beach are struggling with this problem: If the head of a fish is seven-eighths of an inch long, and the tail is as long as the head and one-half the length of the body, and the body is as long as the head and tail put together, how long is the fish? Thus far, this has been 'one of those things that no feller has found out.'"

If it is "one of those things that no feller has found out" it isn't one of the things no feller can find out, as it is easily solved by algebra, or even by simple arithmetical analysis,—as for instance: the body is as long as the head and tail together, therefore the body is one-half the length of the fish; the tail is as long as one-half the body (equal to one-fourth the whole fish,) and the head, thus leaving the fourth quarter to be divided equally, by the terms of the problem, between the head and tail. This gives the head one-eighth the fish's length, the tail three-eighths and the body four-eighths; and if the head is seven-eighths of an inch long the tail will be twenty-one eighths and the body twenty-eight; making the whole fish seven inches long.

The "twelve lodgers" puzzle printed in the CHRONICLE of Saturday is "old but good," as it was headed. How the chambermaid, with but eleven rooms, can give each of the twelve lodgers a separate room by putting two in No. 1, the third in No. 2, and so on until she places the eleventh in No. 10 and then goes back to No. 1 for the twelfth man, whom she places in No. 11, seems very odd; but a little reflection will show that the "odd man" in room No. 1 was but the second lodger and that the twelfth was entirely ignored in the distribution of rooms.

—The moral atmosphere of Saratoga does not appear to trouble the visitors there to any great extent. "The church steeples are not very numerous or very high, and a spirit of thrift has got the upper hand and says that John Morrissey must be left completely to himself. There are those who insist that Morrissey's ways are not the ways of a moral community. But he has spent a big fortune in Saratoga, and draws fortunes to it. They think, too, that a great many respectable people from the cities are so fond of such highly-seasoned excitement for variety, that Saratoga would not be so attractive to them nor their stay so long if if were not for John Morrissey's 'tiger.' The bank reaps steadily a certain percentage by its immoral license, but it also steadily pays Saratoga a per centage for the privilege. It is argued that the bank reaps nothing from the townspeople, and one honest old burgher boasted of never having seen the inside of the club-house; but they are not equally prepared to say that the bank sows no seed. Saratoga is already getting the name of the American Baden-Baden. Its club-house is a resort for foreigners, this season. The Spaniards are frequent and often successful visitors through the doorway guarded by the bronze dogs. One of the most agreeable features of Saratoga this season is the improvement made in Congress Park, for which Morrissey contributed very liberally. One of the pretty coffee-houses in the park is directly opposite the club-house, the corner lot of which Morrissey has made into a very pretty garden." What will Saratoga do when Tilden makes Hon. John Morrissey minister to England?

Promise and Performance.

The proprietors of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters promise nothing in behalf of this famous tonic and regulating elixir which it will not perform. No pretensions irreconcilable with common sense are made in reference to it, but evidence of the most positive nature has been accumulating for over a quarter of a century in its behalf which proves it to be a reliable preventive and curative of malarial diseases, an efficient and genial tonic and general corrective, and specially valuable in cases where the bowels, liver, stomach or urinary organs are affected. Debility, the source from whence so many bodily evils spring, is entirely remedied by the invigorative action of the Bitters, which arrests premature decay and repairs losses of nervous and muscular power while improving the appetite and rendering digestion easy.

What are the credentials of Glenn's Sulphur Soap? Firstly, it is indorsed by medical men as a disinfectant, deodorizer, and remedy for local diseases of the skin. Secondly, it is an admirable article for toilet use. Thirdly, it is inexpensive.

If times were so very bad people would not demand such fine workmanship for their Cooking Ranges as that in the "Delmonico," for the manufacturers are having orders come in faster than they can supply.

Adamson's Botanic Cough Balsam is made from the choicest barks, roots and herbs, and is highly recommended for its great curative properties.

Sozodont.

An article that is at once a teeth preserver and breath purifier, and yet so pleasant and convenient to use, its exceeding popularity does not surprise any one. Time has fully established the fact that the SOZODONT possesses these excellent qualities in an eminent degree. It has legitimately acquired the right to a position upon every toilet table.

PILOT BREAD.

This kind of bread having come into extensive family use, it has been my purpose to furnish, from choice materials, an article which should meet the approval of the most fastidious as to neatness, looks and taste. Whether I have succeeded in giving to the public a PILOT BREAD,

SUPERIOR IN EXCELLENCE,

the consumer may be the judge; that the quality will not be suffered to depreciate, the past with the present is my best pledge. That I can compete with all the various qualities of Pilot Bread in the market, as to price, I make no pretensions,—but in price, all things being equal, I fear no competition.]

Old Bounty Land Warrants.

The last Report of the Commissioner of the General Land Office shows 2,897,500 acres of Bounty Land Warrants outstanding. These were issued under act of 1855 and prior acts. GILMORE & CO., pay cash for them. Send by registered letter. Where Assignments are imperfect we give instructions to perfect them.

Arrears of Pay and Bounty.

OFFICERS, SOLDIERS and SAILORS of the late war, or their heirs, are in many cases entitled to money from the Government of which they have no knowledge. Write full history of service, and state amount of pay and bounty received. Enclose stamp to GILMORE & CO., and a full reply, after examination, will be given you free.

Pensions.

All OFFICERS, SOLDIERS and SAILORS wounded, ruptured or injured in the late war, however slightly, can obtain a pension by addressing GILMORE & CO. Cases prosecuted by GILMORE & CO. before the Supreme Court of the United States, the Court of Claims and the Southern Claims Commission.

Each department of our business is conducted in a separate bureau, under the charge of the same experienced parties employed by the old firm. Prompt attention to all business entrusted to GILMORE & CO. is thus secured. We desire to win success by deserving it. ADDRESS

AMERICAN & FOREIGN PATENTS.

R. H. EDDY, SOLICITOR OF PATENTS,

For Inventions Trade Marks or Designs

No. 76 STATE ST., OPPOSITE KILBY ST., BOSTON,

After an extensive practice of upwards of thirty years, continues to secure patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all papers for Patents, executed on reasonable terms with dispatch. Researches made to determine the validity and utility of Patents of Inventions, and legal and other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any patent furnished, by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.

No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.

All necessity for a journey to Washington to procure a Patent and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents."

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.
EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents.'

"Mr. R. H. Eddy has made for me over THIRTY applications for Patents, having been successful in almost every case. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend all inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases and at very reasonable charges.

BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL

CONDITION PILLS!

The Wonderful Remedy for Liver Complaint, Biliousness, Dyspepsia, Constipation, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Headache, Kidney Complaint, Nervousness, Scrofula, Piles, and all diseases arising from a bad state of the Blood!

Is the ultima thule of Medical Discovery.

No medicine ever offered to the public has given such universal satisfaction as Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. Their praises are on every tongue where their merits are known. They strike at once at the seat of disease and show their healing power almost immediately. Thousands of voluntary testimonials of their merits have been received by the agent, from those who have been cured by them, of which the following are samples:

Dyspepsia Four Years, Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels Three Years, Confined to my Room Two Years, Pain so I Could Not Sleep Without Morphine. One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills Made Me Eat Well, Sleep Well and Free from Pain, after being given up by Physicians.

WEST LEBANON, ME., Feb. 22, 1

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I have been sick for four years with Dyspepsia, and for the past three years Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels. I have suffered all the pain I could endure and live. I have been confined to my room for two years, and could not sleep nights without the use of morphine. I have been given up by physicians as past cure. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, and they have done me more good than all the doctors I have had. I sleep well, I eat and have no pain. They are all they are recommended to be. Please send me three packages, as two of my neighbors wish to try them. I enclose $1.50.
Your truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Another Letter from Maj. John W. Lord, one month later. Wonderful Cures by Dr. Quain's Pills Effected on Him in Thirteen Days. First time Free from Pain for Three Years.

WEST LEBANON, ME., March 22, 1875

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I commenced taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS February 9th, and wrote you February 23d of their wonderful effect. I have continued to improve ever since. My appetite is good, and I sleep as well as I ever did in my life. I am free from pain for the first time in three years. When I was taken sick four years ago, I weighed one hundred and eighty-six pounds; I now weigh one hundred and one. I am ashamed to publish my strength, I have faith I shall regain my flesh this summer, by the use of the Pills. I shall continue taking them for some time to come.
Yours truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Dr. Quain's Pills the Remedy for Soldiers' Aches and Pains.

WEST LEBANON, ME., June 1, 1875.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I am now able to walk out every day, and am gaining in strength very fast, all of which is due to you as agent for the best Pills in the world. I have taken no other medicine, and my improvement has been steady since first taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done everything for me, and I will say to you, advertise them direct to the soldiers, for they will certainly cure them of aches and pains caused from exposure and hardship on the field. Please send me by return mail another package.
JOHN W. LORD.

Rheumatism for Twenty Years Cured by One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills—"The Best Medicine in the World."

EAST ANDOVER, N. H., Dec. 16, 1875.

MR. LANE—Dear Sir:—As I know the value of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS and the good they have done me, I take pleasure in giving them praise; so I send you another testimonial. My father has been troubled with Rheumatism for twenty years or more, and has tried everything that could be bought of, but to no good. At times it would be so bad that he could not lift his hand to his head, or do any work at all, especially in cold weather. A short time ago I advised him to get some of these Pills. He believed nothing in them, but I gave him the last package I had of you, as I did not need them, and he has not been as free from the Rheumatic Complaint for years. No Rheumatism, no pain. What helped him? It was DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, the best medicine in the world. There is nothing like them. I know it, for I have tried them, and they are all, yes, more than they are recommended to be. Give them a fair trial and you will say so. I write this because I know the goodness of them and wish others to know the same. Some may think I am telling a big story I am. But remember I am not giving them half the praise they ought to have.
Yours with respect, ED. F. PEVARE.

DAINGERFIELD, MORRIS CO., TEXAS, Nov. 15, 75.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I have been afflicted for near twelve years with Neuralgia in the face and head. Tried I do not know how many physicians, and could only get partly relieved. I also tried many patent medicines with the same result. I have been confined to my room most all the time for eight or ten winters, and have been traveling and visiting medical springs, and I still suffered most intensely. The physicians pronounced my case the worst and most stubborn that they had had anything to do with. One told me I could never get well; they all advised me to go South and spend the winter, and thought that was the only chance for me, and I was to get ready to go to Florida, when through the kindness of Rev. H. M. Mathis, my attention was called to the advertisement of Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. I immediately sent to you for a package. I have taken four doses and I am almost free from pain. The impression here seems to be that if your pills will cure me, they will cure anybody. I have five applications to send for the pills. Enclosed please find three dollars, send five packages to me and one to Mrs. Laura Sherrell, Sulphur Springs, Hopkins county, Texas.
Yours truly, J. S. PATTON.

Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache.

LACONIA, N. H., Jan. 29, 1875.

TROS. W. LANE—Sir:—I have been troubled with Bad Blood, Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done me more good than all the medicine I ever took; I have taken considerable medicine within the last five years. For the nerves I think there is nothing so good as those pills. I can recommend them to all who are similarly afflicted, they have done me so much good. I think they will recommend themselves wherever they go. I shall recommend those Pills to all who need them. Please send me two packages more, one for myself and one for a lady friend of mine. Many thanks to the inventor, agent and advertiser of those Pills.
MRS. P. L. ELLIOTT.

PULMOCINE.

BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL

a no new discovery. Twenty-three years ago it was used by one of New England's most famous physicians as the best Pulmonary Curative he could prescribe, after a dozen years spent in experimenting with it before he was satisfied that the Materia Medica could add nothing in its favor.

Among its many ingredients are Wild Cherry Bark, Squill Root, Liquorice Root, Blood root, &c. It is a Blood Purifier, gently stimulating. It increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is sudorific and alterative. It is a necessary family medicine. It is a Tonic and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is a gentle sedative, and relieves nervousness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.

CLEAR YOUR THROAT!

Relieve Your Lungs.

For the terrible diseases engendered by the lung-trying climate of New England.

PULMOCINE CORDIAL

Is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. Every Family should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croups, Laryngitis, or inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred Throat Diseases at all times prevalent, it is the ounce of Prevention. Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for. These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning, when a physician may be out of immediate reach. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy relief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As "a stitch in time saves nine," so does the possession of this Family Medicine prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agent. There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all thus afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and the patient's danger is past.

For Coughs,

Croup,

Diphtheria,

— AND —

Asthma, etc.,

— USE —

Buchman's Pulmocine Cordial.

The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. It is offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

REASONS WHY FARMERS

should purchase

The Halladay Wind-Mill

It is the first reliable self-regulating Wind Mill ever made, and continues to lead the van.

It has stood the test of nearly a quarter of a century, and has gained a reputation as broad as its use is extensive.

It is the only wind mill generally adopted on all the railroads.

It is the cheapest wind mill.

The United States Wind Engine and Pump Co. have the largest wind mill manufactory in the world. We are willing to put our mill upon its merits. We ask an investigation of facts and motives. We duly appreciate the patronage and support we have received in the past, and while we solicit a continuance of favors, we shall try to merit them. We are the pioneers in the production of a wind mill adapted to the use of farmers.

Health Regulations.

THE BOARD OF HEALTH OF THE CITY OF PORTSMOUTH call the attention of the public to the following sections of Chapter 16, of the Revised Ordinances, and invite all interested in the preservation of health in our city to aid them in the execution of their duty:

SEC. 3. All waste water of houses, yards, cellars, sinks, pumps, etc., shall be conveyed by their owners or occupiers to the common sewers, or to such places as the Health Officers may direct.

SEC. 4. No person shall be allowed to throw any vegetable or dead animal substance, or any other matter capable of producing infection, into any street, lane, alley or dock, or upon any wharf, but shall bury them or throw them into the river below low-water mark.

SEC. 5. The contents of vaults and privies shall not be permitted to rise within one foot of the surface of the earth. And all owners or occupiers of buildings having such vaults or privies as may require it, shall cause them to be emptied within ten days from the promulgation of this ordinance, and in future on or before the the first day of May in each year. And any such owner or occupier neglecting so to do, shall forfeit and pay for every such neglect a sum not less than three nor more than twenty dollars, and a like sum for every week's neglect after the time above specified.

SEC. 6. No vender of meat at the stalls shall be permitted to leave any stale meat, heads, feet or offal of any kind about their stalls or stores over night, or suffer them to be thrown into any street, lane or alley of the city. Nor shall any sellers of fish be permitted to throw any offal of fish into any street, lane or alley of the city, or upon any wharf, but shall either bury them or throw them into the river beyond low-water mark.

SEC. 7. If any dead animal or decaying vegetable substance, or any other nuisance, shall be found in any part of the city, the owners or occupiers of the premises where such nuisance shall be found, shall cause the same to be removed within twenty-four hours after being notified so to do by one or more of the health officers.

SEC. 12. When any householder shall know that any person within his family is taken sick of the small pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, he shall immediately give notice thereof to the Health Officers.

SEC. 13. When any physician shall know that any person whom he is called to visit is infected with the small pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, such physician shall immediately give notice thereof to the Health Officers.

SEC. 14. If any such householder or physician shall refuse or neglect to give the notice required in the preceding sections, he shall for each refusal or neglect, forfeit the sum of twenty dollars, to be recovered by either of the Health Officers in the name of the city.

SEC. 16. The Health Officers may give written notice to the owner or occupier of any building, vessel or enclosure, to remove or destroy any nuisance or other thing deemed by them on examination, to be injurious to the public health, within a certain time limited therein: and in case such owner or occupier—the said notice having been given to him, or left at his usual place of abode—shall neglect to comply therewith, the said Health Officers may, by direction of the mayor and accompanied by the city marshal, forcibly enter such building, vessel, or enclosure, and cause said nuisance or other thing aforesaid to be removed or destroyed.

SEC. 21. No person shall erect, keep or continue, or permit to be erected, kept or continued, upon any land occupied by him, any pen for the keeping of swine, or privy, over either of the mill ponds in this city, or so placed that offensive substances therefrom shall be discharged or drained into either of said ponds, or into any creek, or cove, or drain leading thereto. And no person shall construct, keep or continue any drain leading from any pen for the keeping of any swine, slaughter-house, privy vault, or other unwholesome or offensive place, into either of said ponds, or to any flat or marsh adjoining the same. And no person shall throw or suffer to be thrown from his land into either of said ponds, or upon any of said flats or marshes, any dead, decaying, unwholesome or offensive animal or vegetable substances.

LINCOLN BUTTER POWDER.

Good Fresh Butter All The Year Round.

BUTTER IN 20 MINUTES.

Lincoln Butter Powder is an entirely harmless article made from a celebrated English recipe, and now in daily use by many of the most noted farmers in the butter counties around Philadelphia.

In hot weather this Powder makes butter much firmer and sweeter than it usually is, and keeps it from turning rancid. It also removes the strong flavor of turnips, weeds, corn stalks, cotton seed, etc.; and the increased yield of butter much more than pays the trifling expense of using it.

Remarkable Self-Sacrifice.

This is a true story. The happy circumstances occurred on last Sunday evening. He escorted her to and from the church, and upon arriving at her home their discussion of the sermon and the extreme best suggested an invitation, readily accepted by Charles, that they step into the house and partake of a cooling glass of lemonade. She led him to the dining-room, and there found naughty brother Ben about to squeeze the last lemon in the house for his own individual benefit! Calling him aside she induced Ben, by means of sundry threats and promises, to dissect that lemon and make Charlie and herself a glass. A self-sacrificing thought struck her! "No, Ben," said she, "put the juice of the whole lemon into Charlie's glass and bring me a glass of water. He won't notice it—there is no light in the parlor!" Ben was making one good strong lemonade, as directed, when Charlie quietly slipped out and remarked: "I say, Ben! put the juice of your entire lemon in your sister's glass and bring me some ice-water—there is no light in the parlor, and she won't notice it!" Ben's forte is in obeying orders. With a merry twinkle in his eye he drank the lemonade, then carried them each a glass of water, which they drank with much apparent relish, asking each other between sips "if it were sweet enough?" And naughty brother Ben with the taste of that lemonade in his mouth, stood out in the hall and laughed till his sides ached, to hear them assure each other that it was "just right! so palatable and so refreshing!"—Globe.

—This is the way the people who live on the eastern coast of Maine are said to describe their weather: "Dirty days hath September, April, June and November; from January up to May, the rain it raineth every day. All the rest have thirty-one, without a blessed gleam of sun; and if any of them had two-and-thirty, they would be just as wet and twice as dirty."

Centaur Liniments.

White for the Human Family.

Yellow, for Horses and Animals.

These Liniments are simply the wonder of the world. Their effects are little less than marvellous, yet there are some things which they will not do. They will not cure cancer or mend broken bones, but they will always allay pain. They have straightened fingers, cured chronic rheumatism of many years standing, and taken the pain from terrible burns and scalds, which has never been done by any other article.

THE WHITE LINIMENT is for the human family. It will drive Rheumatism, Sciatica and Neuralgia from the system; cure Lumbago, Chilblains, Palsy, Itch, and most Cutaneous Eruptions; it extracts frost from frozen hands and feet, and the poison of bites and stings of venomous reptiles; it subdues swellings, and alleviates pain of every kind.

For sprains or bruises it is the most potent remedy ever discovered. The Centaur Liniment is used with great efficacy for Sore Throat, Toothache, Caked Breasts, Earache, and Weak Back. The following is but a sample of numerous testimonials:

"INDIANA HOME, JEFF. CO., IND., May 28, 1873.

"I think it my duty to inform you that I have suffered much with swollen feet and chords. I have not been free from these swellings in eight years. Now I am perfectly well, thanks to the Centaur Liniment. The Liniment ought to be applied warm.

BENJAMIN BROWN."

The proof is in the trial. It is reliable, it is handy it is cheap, and every family should have it.

To the sick and bed-ridden, the halt and lame, to the wounded and sore, we say, "Come and be healed."

To the poor and distressed who have spent their money for worthless medicines, a bottle of CENTAUR LINIMENT will be given without charge.

THE YELLOW CENTAUR LINIMENT

is adapted to the tough muscles, cords and flesh of horses and animals. It also removes the strong flavor of turnips, weeds, corn stalks, cotton seed, etc.; and the increased yield of butter much more than pays the trifling expense of using it.

35 Cents Per Package.

WHOLESALE DEPOT:

"E. PULTZ, Supt. U. S. Ex. Stables, N. Y.
"ALBERT S. OLIN, Supt. Nat. Ex. Stables, N. Y."

"MONTGOMERY, ALA., Aug. 17, 1874.

"GENTLEMEN.—I have used over one gross of CENTAUR LINIMENT, yellow wrapper, on the mules of my plantation, besides dozens of the family Liniment for my negroes. I want to purchase it at the wholesale price, and will thank you to ship me by Savannah steamer one gross of each kind. Messrs. A. T. Stewart & Co. will pay your bill on presentation.

"Respectfully, JAMES DARROW."

The best patrons of this Liniment are Farriers and Veterinary Surgeons. It heals Galls, Wounds and Foul-evil, removes Swellings, and is worth millions of dollars to Farmers, Livery-men, Stock-growers, Sheep-raisers, and those having horses or cattle.

What a Farrier cannot do for $20 the Centaur Liniment will do at a trifling cost.

These Liniments are warranted by the proprietors, and a bottle will be given to any Farrier or Physician who desires to test them. Sold everywhere.

Castoria.

Is a pleasant and perfect substitute, in all cases, for CASTOR OIL. Castoria is the result of an old Physician's effort to produce, for his own practice, an effective cathartic, pleasant to the taste and free from griping.

Dr. Samuel Pitcher, of Hyannis, Mass., succeeded in combining, without the use of alcohol, a purgative agent as pleasant to take as honey, and which possesses all the desirable properties of Castor Oil.

It is adapted to all ages, but is especially recommended to mothers as a suitable remedy for all disorders of the stomach and bowels of children. It is certain, agreeable, absolutely harmless, and cheap. It should be used for wind colic, sour stomach, worms, costiveness, croup, &c., then children can have sleep and mothers may rest.

J. B. ROSE & CO., of 45 Dey Street, New York, are the sole proprietors of Castoria, after Dr. Pitcher's recipe.

Daily Chronicle.

FRIDAY, AUGUST 4, 1876.

FOR PRESIDENT,

Rutherford B. Hayes,

OF OHIO.

FOR VICE PRESIDENT,

William A. Wheeler,

OF NEW YORK.

Hayes' Platform in War.

In 1864, when Hayes was in the army, being nominated for Congress he was requested to come home and stump his district. His reply was, "I have other business just now. Any man who would leave the army at this time to electioneer for Congress ought to be scalped!"

Hayes' Platform in Peace.

"Honest money for all, and free schools for all. There should be no inflation which will depreciate the one, nor sectarian interference which will destroy the other."

"A True and Fitting Exponent."

The Boston Post refers to Gen. Frank Nicholls, whom the democrats of Louisiana have just nominated for Governor, as "well worthy the confidence of his fellow-citizens. He is a graduate of West Point and served in the Seminole war in Florida. In the late war he lost an arm and a leg in battle, but he still remained on duty, although unable to engage in active service, to the close of the war. Since that time he has been practicing his profession in Assumption parish and adding to his brilliant record as a brave soldier and a good citizen. In the present condition of Louisiana politics his nomination is a singularly happy one. It is calculated to unite all the elements of conservatism throughout the State. * * An illustrious soldier, an able jurist, an accomplished scholar, a man of broad and enlightened and liberal views and of spotless integrity, * * he comes before the people 'wearing the flower of a blameless life,' a true and fitting exponent of the spirit of reform which found expression in his nomination."

This "illustrious soldier" of "spotless integrity," who "lost an arm and a leg in battle in the late war" and is "a true and fitting exponent of the spirit of reform" according to the democratic standard, served (as the Post forgot to mention) on the rebel side in the late war, and lost his leg and arm in the attempt to destroy the Union. We have no doubt he is "a true and fitting exponent of reform" on the Louisiana democratic plan.

News and Notes.

Hon. Godlove S. Orth has withdrawn as a candidate for Governor of Indiana on the republican ticket.

Speaker Kerr is in a critical condition, and it is thought cannot live.

The "unkindest cut of all" is administered to Dana, of the New York Sun by the Washington Star. Dana having stated in his Sun to anxious inquirers on religious topics, that he fervently believes in a hell, the Star remarks that "Dana without a hell would be literally 'a man without a country.'"

The Plattsburg (Mo.) Lever tells the following: "In a Methodist meeting-house in this city on Wednesday evening, the prayer-meeting was broken up by the entrance of a small pig. The sexton tried to eject the pig, but the pig had no thought of abandoning the field, and as the sexton dashed down one side the pig ran up another, occasionally running under the benches and destroying the solemnity of the occasion. Meantime the pastor retained his speechless gravity in the pulpit. But when the pig evinced so much audacity as to climb into the pulpit and take up a position beside the pastor, the latter fully realized the extremity to which he was at last reduced, and he and his congregation retired."

New Hampshire Items.

The Sir Knights of Suncook and Hooksett have invited the members of Trinity Commandery, Manchester, and Mt. Horeb Commandery, Concord, to visit them and enjoy a field day at Suncook. Both commanderies have unanimously accepted the invitation.

At a meeting of the Trustees of the New Hampshire State Normal School, held at Concord, Rev. K. S. Hall of Lake Village was chosen Secretary of the Board.

William Dana, a farmer living in East Acworth, was found lying insensible in his field on the 26th ult. Medical aid was called, but consciousness was not restored, and he died the next morning.

The barn of Samuel P. Hoitt, in Lee, with fifty tons of hay, hay-press, farm tools, etc., was burned at 9 o'clock on the evening of August 1. Mr. Hoitt tied his oxen in the barn early in the evening, and at the hour mentioned found them turned out and the barn on fire at both ends.—undoubtedly the work of some scoundrel who won't get justice outside the State prison. Insurance $200; less not stated, but large.

Political.

The democrats of the first Congressional District of Maine held their convention at Biddeford on the 2d. They assailed Hon. James G. Blaine savagely, not to say scurrilously; enthusiastically "endorsed" Congressman Burleigh, but didn't feel called upon to nominate him on their ticket; and nominated Hon. John M. Goodwin, a war democrat.

Fourteen democratic papers in Indiana, six in Kansas, and two in Ohio, repudiate Tilden. Most of them are for Peter Cooper.

The democratic papers have made considerable ado over a letter to Carl Schurz from Otto Ottendorfer, printed in his paper, the New York Staats Zeitung denouncing Schurz for not supporting "Tilden and reform." It is but a short time since Ottendorfer denounced Tilden as "a demagogue, popularity-hunter, and one suspected of dishonorable railroad transactions."

The democratic Constitutionalist, published in Augusta, Ga., within pistol-shot of the building in which the colored republicans of Hamburg vainly sought refuge from the fury of the mob of white democrats who, under the lead of a "christian gentleman of irreproachable character and the best blood," after their surrender mercilessly butchered a number of them, at first denounced the massacre, but immediately changed its tune for fear of hurting the feelings of some of the high-minded christian gentlemen engaged in the cowardly butchery. In a late issue it says: "Hamburg is a very blot upon creation, and the life of every negro in it—all of them politically poisoned, misguided, wrong-headed—is not worth that of young Meriwether, who fell in the fray." Young Meriwether was a Georgian, "a white man and a democrat," and at the time he met his death was bravely standing behind a fence in a South Carolina town, endeavoring with a rifle to reduce the republican vote of the latter-named State; his death is therefore something for the democratic paper to bitterly regret. But the negroes of Hamburg are "politically poisoned"—that is, they all vote the republican ticket; hence their town is "a very blot upon creation," and their lives justly held to be forfeited to the resentment of the Georgian democracy whenever the latter see fit to exact the penalty. We commend this extract from the Constitutionalist to the prayerful consideration of the "independent" papers and kind-hearted voters of the North, that insist there was "no political significance" in the Hamburg massacre, and that the "bloody shirt" is a product of northern manufacture instead of southern.

The coroner's inquest at Hamburg charges murder against Gen. M. C. Butler, with some fifty South Carolinians and eighty Georgians. It is said the South Carolinians are going to give themselves up, but the authorities will never be allowed to punish them to the extent of more than a light penalty.

Gov. Tilden's Letter.

The public on Wednesday received with delight a positive assurance that Gov. Tilden has at last found out what his principles are, and would on Thursday promulgate a letter accepting the democratic nomination and heartily advocating Tilden and reform for President. We reprint the document in full, as published in the Boston papers of Thursday evening, as follows:

"Tilden and Reform."

One of the principal claims made for Tilden as a reformer is that in the first year of his service as Governor of New York—he has been now only eighteen months in office—he reduced the general tax of the State by the enormous sum of $6,000,000. This statement is false and it may be worth considering whether a candidate who is such a humbug as to assert that he or his party made such a crushing reduction, not only in a single year, but in the very first months of his administration, ought to be recognized as personally honest. That reduction was made under the administration of Governor Dix, and Tilden is stealing his thunder. It is, altogether, an interesting bit of political and financial history, but not at all complex. We may as well revise it:

When Hoffman was Governor—he is now the deadest of all the politicians of New York, broken in reputation and fortune and only just outside the pale of the law, like Oakey Hall—a system of plunder was carried on for four years by the Canal Ring, which impoverished the Treasury. It would not do to levy new taxes to fill the pockets of the canal cormorants, for that would expose the vast frauds that had been committed under democratic rule. The easier and more silent course was taken of robbing the sinking fund, a reserve established and made sacred by the Constitution to pay the canal bonds. Every dollar taken from it was a theft or a malfeasance in office, yet so long as the contractors were paid their fraudulent claims the thing could be carried on by false accounts.

When General Dix succeeded Hoffman, it was speedily found that the sinking fund had been plundered to the amount of about $10,000,000. The credit of the State was in peril. The management of Governor Hoffman had been an executive usurpation, but none of the guilty parties could be reached, and none of the stolen money, upon the strength of which the democratic party had reduced the tax levy, could be recovered. Governor Dix went to work with a strong republican legislature, and increased the revenues of the State by frank, open taxation for that avowed purpose until the sinking fund was re-imbursed of all the robbery it had suffered from Hoffman democracy. There were two years of heavy taxation, and in the last the fund took $6,000,000 over and above the regular expenses of the commonwealth. Best it was made good in an honest way, though the people had to pay the penalty of Hoffman's fault. Dix left the treasury and the fund in sound condition. The period of excessive taxation had passed. The necessity no longer existed.

And now comes in Sammy Tilden as the apostle of reform which had already been accomplished and claiming the credit of all that Dix had done. He could reduce the taxation, because Dix had already restored the finances of the State, and if Dix had been re-elected the reduction would have been the same, or greater. It is a theft of reputation for Tilden to claim for himself the credit of the onerous work performed by the republican party. It is a meanness toward General Dix, an act which in private life would stamp a man as a pretender and scalawag. With that reduction of taxation the democracy had no more to do than had any Jerseyman. They had opposed the measures that made it possible, and howled extravagance against the republicans because they had made good to the Treasury what the democrats had plundered. Yet Tilden is small enough in soul to rob his great chivalric predecessor of a credit which belongs to him alone.

To go a little further, Tilden's next dodge of reform was to lower the rates of toll upon the canal. The canal forwarders are a powerful political class, and he started in to conciliate them. The result was a loss of a million to the revenue of the State, and a disastrous season to the forwarders themselves. There was a light movement of the crops, shippers claimed the whole advantage of the reduction in tolls, and the whole thing was a sham and pretense for the advancement of Tilden. In his prosecutions for canal frauds he has met with no single success and he did not mean to succeed. There has been one conviction, but no imprisonment, and no infliction of a fine. There was one recovery of $12,000, but that was voluntarily made by one Bennett, who was, when we knew of him, a republican. Nothing has come of all this humbug reform by Tilden. The firm action of Governor Dix made the $6,000,000 reduction not only possible but compulsory on the succeeding administration of Tilden, and he is a fraud to brag about it as his own.—Newark Daily Advertiser.

Sunday Flirtation.

In a certain sense all attractive females are flirts. True, there are women about as good looking as the rough side of a horse-radish grater, who read with glasses and eat with porcelain teeth, and yet flirt. There is an excuse for them. It is business with them. They are obliged to snap at the first chance like hungry wolves. But girls who don't have to jump at chances flirt because it is pretty business. True, it is pretty, and it is right. That is the only way she is to find out what her beau, possibly her future husband, is like. A man always approaches a girl dressed in society politeness, and it is the girl's duty to pierce this thin coating of sugar and plum, and learn what is beneath. She cannot accomplish this without flirting. Sunday is a blessed day for this semi-religious work. It is like an after-dinner hour. The men are gallant, the ladies melted out from the week-day stiffness, impulses are a-top, the key of the conversation delightful soprano, and the old people are snoozingly satisfied in the cool back room, or lazily content in church. In the evening the moon gives light enough to see the shafts of a woman's glance when her head is bent forward. A woman's face never looks well by moonlight with the chin salient, unless it is when the young man has a few of his fingers engaged in supporting it. When the head is bent downward the girl can look out of the tops of her eyes. A man at all interested will wither like a cabbage leaf in August before the glance of a woman shot from the tops of her eyes. Again on Sunday the heart feels peculiarly soft and tender. There is a pathetic sadness in the associations which the heart takes. And this is in the woman's favor. She should lean away from levity. No man ever made any progress in loving while a woman was laughing. Nothing will sink into his soul like that subdued confidingness of tone on sad topics. A man may be worldly, but of all things he dislikes it is worldliness in a young girl. If you have any pity crowd it up on Sunday evenings. Better brush it up in the morning.—Rochester Union.

—An eminent Judge went on the Welsh Circuit, and did not know the Welsh language. A man accused of stealing a horse was defended by a well-known Welsh lawyer, and the case seemed hopeless for the prisoner. The wily advocate requested permission of the Judge to address the jury, themselves Welshmen, in their native tongue, and the request was granted. The advocate, who admitted to the jury that there was hardly the shadow of a defense for his client, assured them that the Judge, who was the kindest-hearted person in the world, and hated to convict any one, would be only too delighted if the jury would, by any means, find it possible to acquit him. Upon this the jury, full of desire to please his lordship, announced, with beaming countenances, to the utter surprise of the Judge, that they found the prisoner "not guilty." In vain the Judge attempted to expostulate. The jury, delighted at the pleasure they had afforded his lordship, would not listen to a word, and the prisoner was released.

—The wife of a New York man who charged her husband with "sixteen years of constant cruelty," admitted on cross-examination that on one occasion she sold $2000 worth of furniture for $50, and that on another her husband permitted her to "scratch his hands for five minutes on condition that she would refrain from screaming so as to arouse the whole neighborhood."

—A clergyman, after preaching a tedious sermon on happiness, during which he enumerated the various classes of happy persons, asked one of his elders what he thought of the discourse—"You omitted one large class of the happy," replied the elder, "and that is they who escaped your sermon."

—In an agricultural base ball nine they have a hay pitcher and a cow catcher.

—The diamond drill is a gambling tool. Ex-minister Schenck does not think so, nor his partner, Trenor W. Park; but C. W. Bonynge, Vice-President of the San Francisco Board of Brokers, does. "Since its introduction," he says, "I have been but a light operator, for I would rather play against loaded dice or marked cards, and have a better chance of winning. This is a discovery that has enabled the managers of a mine to look away ahead into the ground. They can drill hundreds of feet horizontally and a thousand feet in depth, thus enabling them to know exactly when to get out and when to get in; even after a body of ore is reached and they commence to extract it they can locate the exact positions of the walls. They can carry the ore excavations up to and within a foot of the walls and leave off, the faces still showing fine ore. They take your expert in and show a world of ore at every point, when the whole mine may be but a shell."

NOTICE.
Having my ware-room (which is the largest this side of Boston) full of the best of
MARBLE WORK,
I would respectfully invite the people of Portsmouth and vicinity, who have lost relatives or friends, or have occasion for the use of any kind of stone work to call before purchasing elsewhere. My stock consists of Monuments, Headstones, Marble Posts, Mantel Shelves, Pier Tops, &c., the stock for which was bought and men employed to work die same, since the commencement of the present hard times. I have not sufficient room in which to place more Work, and do not wish to discharge any of my hands. For the above reasons, I feel confident that no one can undersell me with the same quality of stock and work. I take occasion to call the attention of all who are repairing or building houses, to my large stock of Mantel Shelves and Pier Tops!
Also have Three LOTS, enclosed with Granite Curb and Posts, in Harmony Grove and Sagamore Cemeteries, which I will sell at a discount.
John S. Treat,
Corner of Deer and Vaughan Streets.
N. B. It is not so troublesome show our goods as it is to show dry goods; we shall therefore be pleased to see any one who may come, whether we sell to him or not.

HOW IT HAPPENED.

Joshua L. Foster, Esq., formerly editor of the Portsmouth Times and now of the Dover Democrat, comments on the recent municipal election in this city, as follows:

"The democrats had the strength to have beaten them [the republicans] if all the Irishmen of that city had proved true. We have it from good authority that very many of them refused to vote at all unless they were paid, and more of them still voted the republican ticket. The republicans busily circulated the story among them that Mayor Goodrich went upon the ball bond of policeman Smith, who accidentally and unintentionally killed an Irishman last fall who resisted the officer on duty. The story was false; but if it had been true, it was nobody's business, and had nothing to do with Mr. Goodrich as candidate for Mayor. If the officer did only his duty, the Mayor and the whole City Government were bound to protect him. It turned out that the officer only did his duty, and the jury gave him a verdict of acquittal. But the Irishmen, many of them were mad because it was alleged that Mayor Goodrich bailed officer Smith out of jail, and so they voted the republican ticket, thus showing how small the amount of sense they had. Another thing was, a large number of Irish laborers were offended because the Street Commissioner would not employ them upon the streets and give them jobs the year round when he had nothing for them to do. * * And then again lots of these people hung around the street corners near the voting places for leading democrats to hire them to vote. They wanted five or ten dollars to cast their votes. But the democrats had rightly and justly determined to pay not a single cent for a vote in the election. And when one of these beggars came along for money or refused to vote without it, he was answered in short and crusty language that not a cent would he get, and he could vote as he liked, or not vote at all."

Foster's Democrat we may presume is good democratic authority; at any rate, if the statements made in the foregoing extract are displeasing to our democratic townsmen, they cannot blame us for them. But one thing in the Democrat's story strikes us as a trifle odd, and that is the statement that many of the democrats wouldn't vote their own ticket unless paid for so doing. "Very many of them refused to vote at all unless they were paid;" "lots of these people hung around the street corners near the voting places for leading democrats to hire them to vote. They wanted five or ten dollars to cast their votes." What does that mean, anyway? How comes it that men who have always heretofore voted the democratic ticket refused to do so at the late election unless "leading democrats" would pay them for so doing? Many stories—some extravagant but many undoubtedly true—have been told about the improper use of money in elections, in this State and this city, neither party having escaped such charges from their opponents; and we have heard it said for years past that the evil had become so widespread in the democratic party that the leaders were compelled to buy up their own voters at every election. The Democrat's statement that a main reason of the democratic defeat this year was the refusal of "leading democrats" to buy up democratic voters at "five or ten dollars" each, is a virtual admission that democratic victories in other years have been won by a liberality on the part of those "leading democrats" which they did not see fit to display this year.

JOTTINGS.

Sam; come in and get your note book.

Ship Chocorua, Matthews, from Valparaiso, arrived at New York August 1st.

The annual meeting of the Portsmouth Savings Bank was held on the 2d, and the old Board of Trustees re-elected. Hon. Moses H. Goodrich was chosen a member of the corporation. The report shows a surplus of $100,000 over and above all liabilities.

The Boston Traveller of August 2d says: "The democrats of Portsmouth, and Frank Jones in particular, are called upon to explain. For two years in succession they have elected their candidate for Mayor, but yesterday the tables were turned, and they suffered an overwhelming defeat. Was Tilden the cause? or Hendricks? or the Hamburg massacre? or the set of the current? They will please be quick with their answer. Don't be in a hurry about demanding an answer, Mr. Traveller; consider the leaders of the great "reform" party—how they wait as long as is necessary for them to find out what their principles are, before writing letters accepting nominations; and don't ask the mere voters of the party to be more prompt than their great leader.

One of the speakers at the democratic indignation meeting indignantly asserted that 160 democratic voters' names had been left off the checklist in Ward Two, which includes old Wards Two and Six. We are informed that some 46 of the 160 appeared either in person or by proxy to demand that their names should be put on, and that all or nearly all of them were enrolled. But why didn't the remaining hundred and odd come forward? That was a big shrinkage to take place in the democratic vote of one small ward—for most of it took place in Ward Six, as old Ward Two, previously in republican control, had but few names on its checklist to strike off.

A new telegraph line is now being constructed between Dover and Portsmouth by the New Hampshire Land and Ocean Telegraph Company, chartered by our Legislature of 1869. It connects with the Ocean Cable at Rye Beach, runs over the travelled highway from Portsmouth to the bridge at Dover Point, thence by the line of railroad to the city proper, thence to Portland.—Dover Democrat.

SEA-BATHS AT THE SHOALS.

The Boston Globe says "The water at the Isle of Shoals is too cold for sea-bathing. It cuts like a knife." That is true of the water outside the Appledore House bathing-pond, as it is of all places on the coast where the water is very deep and the bottom rocky; yet there is no place where a salt-water bath or swim can be taken with greater comfort and security than at Appledore. The Laighton Brothers some years ago cleared the rocks from a good-sized lagoon in front of their hotel, dammed the entrance with heavy gates, and thus made a pond perfectly safe for women and children to bathe in, while deep enough over half its extent to drown a man anything less than nine feet high. The water, however cold it may be when it flows into the pond, is soon brought to a pleasant temperature by the sun, becoming warmest at the shoalest part, where the children go to splash around. The pond is also utilized as a boating place for children, several small row and sail boats being in almost constant use upon it, manned by the juveniles; an experienced boatman and skillful swimmer and diver being always on the watch to prevent any serious result should a capsize or a tumble-out occur among the young folks. Of surf-bathing there is none at the Shoals; the Shoals surf is not an article to fool with; but all the other pleasures of sea-bathing, without any of its dangers, can be enjoyed as well at the Shoals as at any place we know of.

Military Photography.

There is hardly any branch of science of which the soldier of to-day does not avail himself. The Abyssinian war has been termed a triumph of engineering, and our campaign in Ashantee was simply a victory of medical science. Our soldiers include in their ranks surveyors, telegraphers, engineers, and architects, while the modern artilleryman not only serves his gun, but calculates the rate at which a cannon ball flies, and can tell us to within a few pounds the amount of force or energy that it represents. Now, we are told, the soldier is about to avail himself of the microscope and the camera, in order to improve his knowledge of geography. Already during the siege of Paris the aid of photography was called in to supply the Parisians with news from the outer world when the Germans surrounded the capital; letters and dispatches were reduced to a microscopic scale, and the tiny documents were then sent into the French metropolis by the aid of carrier-pigeons. This same principle of reducing printed characters by means of photography is, according to a scientific cotemporary, to be adopted by the War Office for producing maps, and plans on a small scale. The ordnance maps are to be photographed on such a scale that they will measure but three or four inches in length. So delicately and distinctly can this be done, however, that the roads and railways are still recognizable with the naked eye, while with a magnifying glass the name of every village and hamlet is to be read with ease. The little maps are transparent, so that they must be held up to the light to be examined, and they weigh, so we are informed, only a few grains each. A scout might travel with fifty such maps in his waistcoat pocket, and the whole continent of Europe, depicted in this way, could be contained in a pocketbook. The French Government, it seems, is already provided with topographical surveys taken upon this minute scale, and no doubt the German War Office, which so well understands the importance of such things, will not be behindhand in the matter. It is gratifying to find that we also in this country are ready to take what advantage we can of science to perfect our means of warfare.—London News.

Nothing Like Comparisons.

"Jim was hoeing in a garden on Cass avenue the other forenoon. That is, he had his back against a cherry tree and was lazily chopping at weeds and vines together, hitting one when he missed the other. Along came a boy of about the same age, and, looking over the fence, he exclaimed:

"What! You working?"

"Yaas," was the sad reply.

"Hoeing up weeds with the thermometer at 90 degrees in the shade?"

"Yaas."

After a short period of astonishment the new boy confidentially inquired:

"Jim, how can Christian parents expect a boy to hoe and dig and rip up the soil with the thermometer way up sky high?"

"But I've either got to hoe or get licked," protested Jim.

"Then, Jim, come on and let's go fishing, and you take the licking. Fishing will last half a day, anyhow, and a licking doesn't last over ten minutes."

"It hurts, though," mused Jim.

"Yes, it hurts a little, but just think how we'll sit on the wharf and make them big black bass holler for mercy all day long! Can't you stand as much as a fish?"

Jim thought he could, and he hung his hoe on a limb, crawled through the fence, and the weeds knew him no more.—Detroit Free Press.

—Instinct (if you choose to give it that name) is unerring, or it would not teach you to keep your hand on your pocketbook while in the presence of a man who is cruel to his dog.

Promise and Performance.

The proprietors of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters promise nothing in behalf of their famous tonic and regulating elixir which it will not perform. No pretensions irreconcilable with common sense are made in reference to it, but evidence of the most positive nature has been accumulating for over a quarter of a century in its behalf which proves it to be a reliable preventive and curative of malarial diseases, an efficient and genial tonic and general corrective, and specially valuable in cases where the bowels, liver, stomach or urinary organs are affected. Debility, the source from whence so many bodily evils spring, is entirely remedied by the invigorative action of the Bitters, which arrests premature decay and repairs losses of nervous and muscular power while improving the appetite and rendering digestion easy.

What are the credentials of Glenn's Sulphur Soap? Firstly, it is indorsed by medical men as a disinfectant, deodorizer, and remedy for local diseases of the skin. Secondly, it is an admirable article for toilet use. Thirdly, it is inexpensive.

If times were so very bad people would not demand such fine workmanship for their Cooking Ranges as that in the "Delmonico," for the manufacturers are having orders come in faster than they can supply.

Adamson's Botanic Cough Balsam is made from the choicest barks, roots and herbs, and is highly recommended for its great curative properties.

Sozodont.

An article that is at once a teeth preserver and breath purifier, and yet so pleasant and convenient to use, its exceeding popularity does not surprise any one. Time has fully established the fact that the SOZODONT possesses these excellent qualities in an eminent degree. It has legitimately acquired the right to a position upon every toilet table.

Spalding's Glue, always up to sticking point.

LYON'S KATHAIRON prevents the Hair from falling out or turning gray, renews its growth, and gives strength and vigor. It is delightfully perfumed, and makes a splendid dressing. It is the cheapest and most desirable Hair Tonic ever produced. Used by the elite. Price only 50 cents.

PILOT BREAD.

This kind of bread having come into extensive family use, it has been my purpose to furnish, from choice materials, an article which should meet the approval of the most fastidious as to neatness, looks and taste. Whether I have succeeded in giving to the public a PILOT BREAD,

SUPERIOR IN EXCELLENCE,

the consumer may be the judge; that the quality will not be suffered to depreciate, the past with the present is my best pledge. That I can compete with all the various qualities of Pilot Bread in the market, as to price, I make no pretensions,—but in price, all things being equal, I fear no competition.]

Directions for Restoring Persons Apparently Dead from Drowning.

I. Lose no time. Carry out these directions on the spot.

II. Remove the froth and mucous from the mouth and nostrils.

III. Hold the body, for a few seconds only, with the head hanging down, so that the water may run out of the lungs and windpipe

IV. Loosen all tight articles of clothing about the neck and chest.

V. See that the tongue is pulled forward if it falls back into the throat. By taking hold of it with a handkerchief it will not slip.

VI. If the breathing has ceased, or nearly so, it must be stimulated by pressure of the chest with the hands, in imitation of the natural breathing; forcibly expelling the air from the lungs, and allowing it to re-enter and expand them by the elasticity of the ribs. Remember that this is the most important step of all. To do it readily, lay the person on his back, with a cushion, pillow, or some firm substance, under the shoulders; then press with the flat of the hands over the lower part of the breastbone and the upper part of the abdomen, keeping up a regular repetition and relaxation of pressure; twenty or thirty pounds may be applied with safety to a grown person.

VII. Rub the limbs with the hands, or with dry cloths, constantly, to aid the circulation and keep the body warm.

VIII. As soon as the person can swallow, give a table-spoonful of spirits in hot water, or some warm tea or coffee.

IX. Work deliberately. Do not give up too quickly. Success has rewarded the efforts of hours.

R. H. EDDY,
SOLICITOR OF PATENTS,
For Inventions Trade Marks or Designs
NO. 76 STATE ST., OPPOSITE KILBY ST., BOSTON,

After an extensive practice of upwards of thirty years, continues to secure patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all papers for Patents, executed on reasonable terms with dispatch. Researches made to determine the validity and utility of Patents of Inventions, and legal and other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any patent furnished, by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.

No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.

All necessary for a journey to Washington to procure a Patent and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents."

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them as early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.
EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents."

"Mr. R. H. Eddy has made for me over THIRTY applications for Patents, having been successful in almost every case. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend all inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases and at very reasonable charges.

REASONS WHY FARMERS should purchase The Halladay Wind-Mill

It is the first reliable self-regulating Wind Mill ever made, and continues to lead the van.

It has stood the test of nearly a quarter of a century, and has gained a reputation as broad as its use s extensive.

It is the only wind mill generally adopted on all the railroads.

It is the cheapest wind mill.

The United States Wind Engine and Pump Co. have the largest wind mill manufactory in the world. We are willing to put our mill upon its merits. We ask an investigation of facts and motives. We duly appreciate the patronage and support we have received in the past, and while we solicit a continuance of favors, we shall try to merit them. We are the pioneers in the production of a wind mill adapted to the use of farmers.

DR. QUAIN'S MAGIC CONDITION PILLS!

The Wonderful Remedy for Liver Complaint, Biliousness, Dyspepsia, Constipation, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Headache, Kidney Complaint, Nervousness, Scrofula, Piles, and all diseases arising from a bad state of the Blood!

No medicine ever offered to the public has given such universal satisfaction as Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. Their praises are on every tongue where their merits are known. They strike at once at the seat of disease and show their healing power almost immediately. Thousands of voluntary testimonials of their merits have been received by the agent, from those who have been cured by them, of which the following are samples:

Dyspepsia Four Years, Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels Three Years, Confined to my Room Three Years, Pain so I Could Not Sleep Without Morphine. One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills Made Me Eat Well, Sleep Well and Free from Pain, after being given up by Physicians.

WEST LEBANON, ME., Feb. 22, 1

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I have been sick for four years with Dyspepsia, and for the past three years Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels. I have suffered all the pain I could endure and live. I have been confined to my room for two years, and could not sleep nights without the use of morphine. I have been given up by physicians as past cure. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, and they have done me more good than all the doctors I have had. I sleep well, I eat well and have no pain. They are all they are recommended to be. Please send me three packages, as two of my neighbors wish to try them. I enclose $1.50.
Your truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Another Letter from Maj. John W. Lord, one month later. Wonderful Cures by Dr. Quain's Pills Effected on Him in Thirteen Days. First time Free from Pain for Three Years.

WEST LEBANON, ME., March 22, 1875

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I commenced taking Dr. Quain's CONDITION PILLS February 8th, and wrote you February 22d of their wonderful effect. I have continued to improve ever since. My appetite is good, and I sleep as well as I ever did in my life. I am free from pain for the first time in three years. When I was taken sick four years ago, I weighed one hundred and eighty-six pounds; I now weigh one hundred and thirty, but, as I am gaining in strength, I have faith I shall regain my flesh this summer, by the use of the Pills. I shall continue taking them for some time to come.
Yours truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Dr. Quain's Pills the Remedy for Soldiers' Aches and Pains.

WEST LEBANON, ME., June 1, 1875.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I am now able to walk out every day, and am gaining in strength very fast, all of which is due to you as agent for the best Pills in the world. I have taken no other medicine, and my improvement has been steady since first taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done everything for me, and I will say to you, advertise them direct to the soldiers, for they will certainly cure them of aches and pains caused from exposure and hardship on the field. Please send me by return mail another package.
JOHN W. LORD.

Rheumatism for Twenty Years Cured by One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills—"The Best Medicine in the World."

EAST ANDOVER, N. H., Dec. 10, 1875.

MR. LANE—Dear Sir:—As I know the value of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS and the good they have done me, I take pleasure in giving them praise; so I send you another testimonial. My father has been troubled with Rheumatism for twenty years or more, and has tried everything that could be thought of, but to no good. At times it would be so bad that he could not lift his hand to his head or do any work at all, especially in cold weather. A short time ago I advised him to get some of these Pills. He believed nothing in them, but I gave him the last package I had of you, as I did not need them, and he has not been as free from the Rheumatic Complaint for years. No Rheumatism, no pain. What helped him? It was DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, the best medicine in the world. There is nothing like them. I know it, for I have tried them, and they are all, yes, more than they are recommended to be. Give them a fair trial and you will say so. I write this because I know the goodness of them and wish others to know the same. Some may think I am telling a big story. I am. But remember I am not giving them half the praise they ought to have.
Yours with respect, ED. F. PEVARE.

DAINGERFIELD, MORRIS CO., TEXAS, Nov. 15, '75.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I have been afflicted for near twelve years with Neuralgia in the face and head. I tried I do not know how many physicians, and could only get partly relieved. I also tried many patent medicines with the same result. I have been confined to my room most all the time for eight or ten winters, and have been traveling and visiting medical springs, and I still suffered most intensely. The physicians pronounced my case the worst and most stubborn that they had had anything to do with. One told me I could never get well; they all advised me to go South and spend the winter, and thought that was the only chance for me, and I was trying to get ready to go to Florida, when through the kindness of Rev. H. M. Mathis, my attention was called to the advertisement of Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. I immediately sent to you for a package. I have taken four doses and I am almost free from pain. The impression here seems to be that if your pills will cure me, they will cure anybody. I have five applications to send for the pills. Enclosed please find three dollars; send five packages to me and one to Mrs. Laura Sherrell, Sulphur Springs, Hopkins county, Texas.
Yours truly, J. S. PATTON.

Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache.

LACONIA, N. H., Jan. 29, 1875.

THOS. W. LANE—Sir:—I have been troubled with Bad Blood, Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done me more good than all the medicine I ever took; I have taken considerable medicine within the last five years. For the nerves I think there is nothing so good as those pills. I can recommend them to all who are similarly afflicted, they have done me so much good. I think they will recommend themselves wherever they go. I shall recommend those Pills to all who need them. Please send me two packages more, one for myself and one for a lady friend of mine. Many thanks to the inventor, agent and advertiser of those Pills.
MRS. P. L. ELLIOTT.

PULMOCINE.

BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL

is a new discovery. Twenty-three years ago it was used by one of New England's most famous physicians as the best Pulmonary Curative he could prescribe, after a dozen years spent in experimenting with it before he was satisfied that the Materia Medica could add nothing in its favor.

Is the ultima thule of Medical Discovery.

Among its many ingredients are Wild Cherry Bark, Squill Root, Liquorice Root, Blood root, &c. It is a Blood Purifier, gently stimulating. It increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is sudorific and alterative. It is a necessary family medicine. It is a Tonic and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is a gentle sedative, and relieves nervousness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.

CLEAR YOUR THROAT!

Relieve Your Lungs.

For the terrible diseases engendered by the lung-trying climate of New England

PULMOCINE CORDIAL

Is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. Every Family should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croups, Laryngitis, or inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred Throat Diseases at all times prevalent, it is the ounce of Prevention. Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for. These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning, when a physician may be out of immediate reach. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy relief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As "a stitch in time saves nine," so does the possession of this Family Medicine prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agent. There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all this afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and the patient's danger is past.

For Coughs,

Croup,

Diphtheria,

Asthma, etc.,

—USE—

Buchman's Pulmocine Cordial.

The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. It is offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

Health Regulations.

THE BOARD OF HEALTH OF THE CITY OF PORTSMOUTH call the attention of the public to the following sections of Chapter 10, of the Revised Ordinances, and invite all interested in the preservation of health in our city to aid them in the execution of their duty:

SEC. 3. All waste water of house, yards, cellars, sinks, pumps, etc., shall be conveyed by their owners or occupiers to the common sewers, or to such places as the Health Officers may direct.

SEC. 4. No person shall be allowed to throw any vegetable or dead animal substance, or any other matter capable of producing infection, into any street, lane, alley or dock, or upon any wharf, but shall bury them or th ow them into the river below low-water mark.

SEC. 5. The contes. of vaults and privies shall not be permitted to rise within one foot of the surface of the earth. And all owners or occupiers of buildings having such vaults or privies as may require it, shall cause them to be emptied within ten days from the promulgation of this ordinance, and in future on or before the the first day of May in each year. And any such owner or occupier neglecting so to do, shall forfeit and pay for every such neglect a sum not less than three nor more than twenty dollars, and a like sum for every week's neglect after the time above specified.

SEC. 6 No vender of meat at the stalls shall be permitted to leave any stale meat, heads, feet or offal of any kind about their stalls or stores over night, or suffer them to be thrown into any street, lane or alley of the city. Nor shall any sellers of fish be permitted to throw any offal of fish into any street, lane or alley of the city, or upon any wharf, but shall either bury them or throw them into the river beyond low-water mark.

SEC. 7. If any dead animal or decaying vegetable substance, or any other nuisance, shall be found in any part of the city, the owners or occupiers of the premises where such nuisance shall be found, shall cause the same to be removed within twenty-four hours after being notified so to do by one or more of the health officers.

SEC. 12. When any householder shall know that any person within his family is taken sick of the small pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, he shall immediately give notice thereof to the Health Officers.

SEC. 13. When any physician shall know that any person whom he is called to visit is infected with the small pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, such physician shall immediately give notice thereof to the Health Officers.

SEC. 14. If any such householder or physician shall refuse or neglect to give the notice required in the preceding sections, he shall for each refusal or neglect, forfeit the sum of twenty dollars, to be recovered by either of the Health Officers in the name of the city.

SEC. 16. The Health Officers may give written notice to the owner or occupier of any building, vessel or enclosure, to remove or destroy any nuisance or other thing deemed by them on examination, to be injurious to the public health, within a certain time limited therein; and in case such owner or occupier—the said notice having been given to him, or left at his usual place of abode—shall neglect to comply therewith, the said Health Officers may, by direction of the mayor and accompanied by the city marshal, forcibly enter such building, vessel, or enclosure, and cause said nuisance or other thing aforesaid to be removed or destroyed.

SEC. 21. No person shall erect, keep or continue, or permit to be erected, kept or continued, upon any land occupied by him, any pen for the keeping of swine, or privy, over either of the mill ponds in this city, or so placed that offensive substances therefrom shall be discharged or drained into either of said ponds, or into any creek, or cove, or drain leading thereto. And no person shall construct, keep or continue any drain leading from any pen for the keeping of any swine, slaughter-house, privy vault, or other vuwholesome or offensive place, into either of said ponds, or to any flat or marsh adjoining the same. And no person shall throw or suffer to be thrown from his land into either of said ponds, or upon any of said flats or marshes, any dead, decaying, unwholesome or offensive animal or vegetable substances.

Good Fresh Butter All The Year Round.

BUTTER IN 20 MINUTES.

Lincoln Butter Powder is an entirely harmless article made from a celebrated English recipe, and now in daily use by many of the most noted farmers in the butter connies around Philadelphia.

In hot weather this Powder makes butter much firmer and sweeter than it usually is, and keeps it from turning rancid. It also removes the strong flavor of turnips, weeds, corn stalks, cotton seed, etc.; and the increased yield of butter much more than pays the trifling expense of using it.

Portsmouth Chronicle.

An Elopement.

The quiet of this place, says a Claymont correspondent, has been somewhat ruffled the past few days by the recital of an event that had its beginning in all the novelties of a romance, but found a denouement in the ridiculous. A young man here has been enamored of a young lady of fair education and personal attractions of no mean order. His affections met with reciprocation, and as her father would not for an instance countenance a marriage between them an elopement was the first thing that suggested itself to the two, and on a very dark night very recently he handed a sylph-like form down from a ladder that found its termination at her bed-room window. At Churchman's Wharf a boat was moored and into this the stalwart young man helped the fair one, and with one splash of the oars the craft sped rapidly out into the stream. But a sudden change came over the happiness of this dream. The young lady repented what she had done, and insisted upon being taken back to her papa. The young man, hardly able to realize the sudden change, begged and implored her to fly with him, and they would be made man and wife; but the young lady remained firm in her purpose to return home, and there was no course left for him, as a gentleman, but to comply with the request, and this he did, though with considerable reluctance. The cold gray of day was just breaking in the horizon, and when they had landed and were proceeding up Churchman street to the home of the young lady, the figure of a man was seen advancing with a shot-gun on his shoulder, who proved to be the father of the young lady. He had gotten up early, and seeing a ladder in a very unusual way against the house, concluded that the ladder didn't grow there, and he went to the top of it and found where it led to, and that the fair one of eighteen summers and winters was not there. Then it was he took down from the mantel-piece that trusty old weapon that his grandfather so proudly bore in the revolution, and started. "Papa!" she said, "we've had such a nice ride on the river." "Yes," said the young man, "it was delightful." "Yes," said the old man as he took down the heirloom from his shoulder, and fingered about the lock, "but it was not pleasant as I propose to make it if you cannot travel faster than powder or lead." Then it was a hat stood on three hairs, two coat tails stood up like sails on a yacht, two legs struck an attitude like pen sticks ready for the peas, and before the heirloom could be brought to bear, the hero had gone. Where, echo answered not, but the young lady has lost all taste for romance on bread and water, and sighs for one good square attack on beefsteak and onions or ham and cabbage.—Washington Herald.

PULMOCINE.

Centaur Liniments.

White for the Human Family.

Yellow, for Horses and Animals.

These Liniments are simply the wonder of the world. Their effects are little less than marvellous, yet there are some things which they will not do. They will not cure cancer or mend broken bones, but they will always allay pain. They have straightened fingers, cured chronic rheumatism of many years standing, and taken the pain from terrible burns and scalds, which has never been done by any other article.

THE WHITE LINIMENT is for the human family. It will drive Rheumatism, Sciatica and Neuralgia from the system; cure Lumbago, Chilblains, Palsy, Itch, and most Cutaneous Eruptions; it extracts frost from frozen hands and feet, and the poison of bites and stings of venomous reptiles; it subdues swellings, and alleviates pain of every kind.

For sprains or bruises it is the most potent remedy ever discovered. The Centaur Liniment is used with great efficacy for Sore Throat, Toothache, Chilled Breasts, Earache, and Weak Back. The following is but a sample of numerous testimonials:

"INDIANA HOME, JEFF. CO., IND., May 28, 1873.
"I think it my duty to inform you that I have suffered much with swollen feet and ankles. I have not been free from these swellings in eight years. Now I am perfectly well, thanks to the Centaur Liniment. The Liniment ought to be applied warm.
BENJAMIN BROWN."

The proof is in the trial. It is reliable, it is handy it is cheap, and every family should have it.

To the sick and bed-ridden, the halt and lame, to the wounded and sore, we say, "Come and be healed."

To the poor and distressed who have spent their money for worthless medicines, a bottle of CENTAUR LINIMENT will be given without charge.

THE YELLOW CENTAUR LINIMENT is adapted to the tough muscles, cords and flesh of horses and animals. It has performed more wonderful cures of Spavin, Strain, Wind-galls, Scratches, Sweeny, and general Lameness, than all other remedies in existence. Read what the great Expressmen say of it:

"NEW YORK, January, 1874.
"Every owner of horses should give the CENTAUR LINIMENT a trial. We consider it the best article ever used in our stables.
"H. MARSH, Supt. Adams Ex. Stables, N. Y.
"E. PULTZ, Supt. U. S. Ex. Stables, N. Y.
"ALBERT S. OLIN, Supt. Nat. Ex. Stables, N. Y."

"MONTGOMERY, ALA., Aug. 17, 1874.
"GENTLEMEN,—I have used over one gross of CENTAUR LINIMENT, yellow wrapper, on the mules of my plantation, besides dozens of the family Liniment for my negroes. I want to purchase it at the wholesale price, and will thank you to ship me by Savannah steamer one gross of each kind. Messrs. A. T. Stewart & Co. will pay your bill on presentation.
"Respectfully, JAMES DARROW."

The best patrons of this Liniment are Farriers and Veterinary Surgeons. It heals Galls, Wounds and Poll-evil, removes Swellings, and is worth millions of dollars to Farmers, Livery-men, Stock-growers, Sheep-raisers, and those having horses or cattle.

What a Farrier cannot do for $20 the Centaur Liniment will do at a trifling cost.

These Liniments are warranted by the proprietors, and a bottle will be given to any Farrier or Physician who desires to test them. Sold everywhere.

Daily Chronicle.

SATURDAY, AUGUST 5, 1876.

FOR PRESIDENT,

Rutherford B. Hayes,

OF OHIO.

FOR VICE PRESIDENT,

William A. Wheeler,

OF NEW YORK.

Hayes' Platform in War.

In 1864, when Hayes was in the army, being nominated for Congress he was requested to come home and stump his district. His reply was, "I have other business just now. Any man who would leave the army at this time to electioneer for Congress ought to be scalped!"

Hayes' Platform in Peace.

"Honest money for all, and free schools for all. There should be no inflation which will depreciate the one, nor sectarian interference which will destroy the other."

Hendrick's Financial Platform.

Many of the eastern democratic papers to prove that Thomas A. Hendricks is a hard-money man, keep the following paragraph standing in their columns:

"No one desires a return to specie payments more earnestly than myself, for I believe gold and silver are the real standard of values."—Gov. Hendricks.

As a further exposition of Gov. Hendricks' "principles" they might add the following, written from Indianapolis under date of July 24, 1876, to a democratic Congressman in Washington:

"My Dear Sir:—A repeal of the resumption clause in almost any form will elect the State ticket and carry the Indianapolis district. If to obtain a report from the committee it be necessary to give the assurance that it shall pass without amendment, that assurance should be given, unless the condition or qualification of the repeal be really objectionable. The form of repeal is not now important, for the people understand the difficulty of obtaining an unconditional surrender. It is not objectionable to retain a per cent. of gold in the Treasury. Cannot you and others who are in favor of repeal unite in giving the committee the assurance of passing a bill as reported, if that be necessary to carry a report? The repeal is the important proposition; and the form is not so important.

Truly, T. A. HENDRICKS."

Democratic Testimony.

A. H. Purdy, a prominent New York democrat, is familiar with Mr. Tilden's history. In a recent speech he thus refers to that gentleman's past transactions:

"The great capitalists claim a strength for Mr. Tilden by the assertion that he is an honest man. Let us examine his record and see if it is such. William M. Tweed was probably the greatest thief that this country ever saw. But the larceny was not the work of an hour, or a day, or a month, or a year. During all the time that he was carrying on his plunder in so open a manner that the world knew it, Mr. Tilden was actively associated with him, was the chairman of all the conventions that were controlled by Tweed, was living in the same city, belonged to the same political organization. When Tweed was exposed by that eminent reformer, Jimmy O'Brien, when he was at the bar of justice and shorn of his political power, and cast down, then and not till then did Mr. Tilden join in the cry against him. If Mr. Tilden did not know or suspect the robberies of Tweed in all the years that they were going on I say he was not a man of any sagacity. He was in a position to know it and to ascertain it. If he did know of these robberies, but stood calmly by without lifting his hand or his voice to stop them, he was not and is not an honest man. The dilemma that you find him in is either being a fool or a thief, and in either event not a fit man to be President of the United States."

News and Notes.

It is not generally known that Dr. Oliver Wendell Holmes is the inventor of the common hand stereoscope. Such is the fact, however, and his work was given to the world without the protection of a patent. He has an immense collection of stereoscopic views from all parts of the earth.

Accounts published in Australia say that there have been further massacres committed by the South Sea Islanders on vessels sent out after native laborers. The entire crews are stated to have been murdered. As these native-laborer hunters are but slavers under a very thin disguise, it does not matter much if they do get killed by the natives they would enslave.

The race for the Queen's cup between the yachts Madaline and Countess of Dufferin will, it is expected, be sailed on the 8th, 10th and 12th insts., and yachting experts predict the defeat of the Countess of Dufferin. She is being overhauled for the contest.

Thomas Conyngham, a leading business man of Wilkesbarre, Pa., has committed forgeries to the amount of $200,000, and fled.

In Buffalo, N. Y., on the 2d, John Klingmeyer, aged 42, cut his wife's throat and then his own. Family troubles led to the tragedy. They leave thirteen children.

A Newark, N. J., policeman was mortally wounded on Thursday by a burglar whom he was trying to arrest. The murderer escaped.

Cottrell and Babcock, manufacturers of printing presses, have failed with liabilities of over $250,000. The works of the company are at Westerly, R. I., and on its being ascertained that the business was being carried on at a loss, the firm determined to suspend. It is believed a satisfactory arrangement will be made with the creditors and the business will soon be resumed.

Capt. Joshua Shaw of the Baltimore Board of Pilots reports that while piloting the steamship Augustus on her outward bound voyage from Baltimore about two weeks ago the vessel was becalmed off Cape Henry at the mouth of Chesapeake Bay. While thus detained a sea serpent twenty-five feet long and as thick as a flour barrel, wriggled up the chain cable over the bow and got its head up to the hawser-hole. The crew, armed with pistols, handspikes and capstan bars, drove the monster three times into the sea. The last time it disappeared altogether, leaving red stains in the water. It is supposed to have been killed or fatally injured. The reptile had a horrid-looking head, with eyes protruding an inch from the sockets. The sea serpent has appeared several times in Casco Bay, off the coast of Maine, this season. It is "very like a whale."

New Hampshire Items.

Items regardiug the oldest pair of twins in the country have been going the rounds of the press, and we contribute the following to the general stock: In Wakefield, in this State, live twin brothers, Isaac and Jacob Chesley, who will be 87 years old on their next birthday, which occurs we believe in October. One of the brothers is a bachelor,—it is no discourtesy to call him an old bachelor,—and the other is married; the single man lives with his married brother, the pair having never had separate habitations during their long lives.

A barn on Front street, Nashua, belonging to the Nashua Corporation, was burned Thursday morning, and Mr. Hill Hudson's dwelling house, which adjoined it, was slightly damaged. Loss $400; cause unknown.

Rev. Jonathan McGee, first pastor of the First Congregational church of Nashua, died Thursday morning of paralysis, aged eighty-seven years.

The late ex-Governor Haile left about $300,000, which is disposed of by will substantially as follows: The homestead in Keene to Mrs. Haile; $70,000 to Mrs. Haile and granddaughter, Gertrude E. Davenport; and, after some minor bequests, the remainder to be equally divided among the three children, William H. Haile and Mrs. J. M. Stebbins of Springfield, and Mrs. O. G. Dort of Keene.

The introductory lecture in the medical department of Dartmouth College was given before a large and appreciative audience Wednesday afternoon, the 2d, by Prof. A. Dorrisby. Sixty students were present, an unusually large number for the first day. The class will probably reach one hundred.

D. F. Sullivan, fourteen years old, struck his head against a piece of iron in the Manchester Mills on the 3d, causing such injuries that he died a few hours after.

More than 1000 men are at work on the Manchester & Keene Railroad, between Greenfield and Keene. It is intended to have the cars running to Bennington by October.

A burglar administered ether to C. A. Hall and wife in Guildhall, and then robbed Mr. Hall's pocket book, containing $500 in money and notes to the value of $1500.

Charles C. Tuttle, while out fishing, found on the shores of Pawtuckaway pond, in Nottingham, three stone chisels or gouges, relics of the days when the Indians inhabited that section. The largest implement is some seven or eight inches long; the others are smaller. They are skillfully formed and interesting curiosities.

A resident of Greenland writes to the friends of Mr. Carleton Ireland, the missing member of the firm of Morris & Ireland, that he saw Mr. Ireland pass his house on Monday, July 31, and that Mr. Crane, a gentleman from Boston, met him on the road near the Eastern Railroad station. Mr. Crane telegraphed a friend in Boston that he had positively spoken to Mr. Ireland on Monday. Following up this clue a Boston detective visited Greenland, and on Thursday telegraphed the Boston chief of police as follows. "No doubt Ireland was here Monday at 10 o'clock, dressed in a rubber overcoat, rubber boots, black hat and umbrella, inquiring the way to Newmarket. I go to Newmarket."

Political.

The Boston Globe, which is certainly not open to charges of undue leaning toward "Grantism" or of any inclination to "wave the bloody spirit" for partisan purposes, says: The President's letter in reply to Governor Chamberlain of South Carolina, regarding the cold-blooded and utterly inexcusable outrage at Hamburg, expresses with characteristic earnestness and vigor the prevailing sentiment of the country. No decent man of either section can fail to agree with him that the "scene at Hamburg was cruel, bloodthirsty, wanton, unprovoked and as uncalled for as it was cruel." It is a matter that admits of no palliation or apology and is not to be dealt with by earnest and thinking men with slurs or trivial epithets.

The New York Herald says "The Hamburg affair was too terrible in all its aspects to be considered as a mere political scarecrow. Its fiendishness is too well established to fade before the breath of denial or ridicule. It is equally undeniable that similar outrages have been committed in nearly every Southern State, and are liable to be committed at any time."

Both the sons of Stephen A. Douglas are hard at work for Hayes and Wheeler, and one of them is a republican candidate for Congress.

To solve the great St. Louis riddle is a troublesome business for Samuel; to go through the eye of a needle is an easier job for a camuel.

Gov. Tilden's letter is postponed just once more—positively for the last time previous to the next postponement. A sick brother this time. The able document which is to clear the way for Tilden and reform as President is surely to be given to a longing people on Monday, the 7th.

Gov. Hendricks, the democratic candidate for Vice President, while in the Senate, in 1866, not only voted to give himself increased pay, but voted himself back pay at the increased rate. He voted to increase the compensation of Congressmen to $5,000 a year, besides mileage, and the record shows that, under the act passed, in part by his vote, he drew $2,806.56 in back pay. Remarks from democratic newspapers in reference to "salary-grabbers" are now in order.—Newburyport Herald.

Thomas A. Hendricks.

It may be well to inquire who this Mr. Thomas A. Hendricks is; and for this purpose we do not propose to go back of 1862, when he was elected to the Senate of the United States by the legislature of Indiana. He took his seat in the Senate on the 4th of March, 1863, and retained it till March, 1868. He was consequently, a member of the Senate during a part of the war and nearly the whole of the reconstruction period. His general attitude during the war was one of persistent opposition to the measures of the Government for its prosecution, and also to the reconstruction measures of Congress after the close of the war. In this respect he was a "Copperhead" of the worst type, not being a whit better than Vallandigham. In June, 1864, Congress passed the bill for the repeal of the Fugitive Slave Law, and Mr. Hendricks earnestly spoke against it and then managed to dodge when the final vote was taken.

In the month of February, 1865, Congress adopted the concurrent resolution proposing the Thirteenth Amendment, abolishing slavery throughout the United States; and Mr. Thomas A. Hendricks recorded his vote in the negative at the time, and in the negative in all the preceeding votes of the Senate on the subject. In June, 1866, the Fourteenth Amendment was proposed, and Mr. Hendricks, true to his antecedents, opposed it and voted against it. In February, 1869, Congress proposed the Fifteenth Amendment, and we find Mr. Hendricks among those who voted against it. His record during the whole period of his Senatorial career shews not only that he had no sympathy with the Government in its death struggle with the Rebellion, but also that he was opposed to the constitutional abolition of slavery, to the granting of civil rights to the colored man and to his enfranchisement, as was proposed in the Fifteenth Amendment.

In February, 1866, Congress passed the first Civil Rights bill for the purpose of securing to the Negro the rights guarantied by the Thirteenth Amendment, a bill whose constitutionality is unquestioned, and Mr. Hendricks, true to his democratic instincts, voted against it. President Johnson vetoed the bill; and, when the question came before the Senate whether it would be passed over the President's veto, Mr. Hendricks repeated his adverse vote.

A bill passed by Congress amending the charter of a city railroad at Washington, so as to forbid the company to exclude persons from the cars on account of race or color, was confronted by the strong opposition of Mr. Hendricks. He denounced the bill and voted against it.

Take, then, Mr. Hendricks in relation to the Rebellion, in relation to reconstruction, and in relation to equal rights, as shown by these antecedents, and we do him no injustice in saying that he was a "Copperhead" during the war, and that while the Government, after the close of the war, was seeking permanently to destroy slavery and secure to all the people equality of civil and political rights he persistently opposed every measure looking toward this end. Such is his record during the most critical period of our country's history; and, moreover, the facts are not so far back in time as to be irrelevant to the present. The record makes him eminently a suitable candidate to represent the democratic party. He represented it when the facts were transpiring and he represents it now. Whether he is a suitable candidate for the people to elect is quite another question. We hold that no man who was false to his country during the war and whose conduct proves him to be the enemy of equal rights ought to be trusted with the powers and duties of the Vice Presidency. Such a public record as that of Mr. Hendricks ought to secure his rejection.

And this is the man paraded before the country as one of the standard-bearers of the "reform" party. The pro-slavery party, the anti-war party, the negro-hating party, the repudiation party, the pledge-violating party has at last turned up as the "reform" party. And Thomas A. Hendricks is one of the reformers, and the former political associate of one Tweed in the management of Tammany and New York democracy is the other reformer. We do not wonder that Carl Schurz should, in the Westliche Post, designate the whole thing as a "humbug." The American people are not at all likely to be humbugged by a trick of words, in the absence of things.—N. Y. Independent.

—The Dhu Heartach lighthouse, recently constructed on the western coast of Scotland, is situated upon a rock fourteen miles from land. Work was begun in 1867, but landings were difficult, from thirty-seven to sixty-two days each year only being available. The rock is thirty-five feet above the water, and the light rises 145 feet above the sea. Once a gale detached more than a dozen stones, each weighing over two tons, although they were over thirty-five feet above high water mark. The structure cost $357,000.

—"Lord Henry Vane Tempest," says an exchange, "recently received a concussion of the brain while playing polo in England. Some of our Newport poloists must take warning." —The Farrell foundery of Ansonia, Conn., recently purchased a lot of army traps which came from a fort at Eastport, Me. They consist of cannons, carriages, wheels, grape, canister and shell. Ten kegs of the finest blasting powder were taken from the shells.

LITERARY EXERCISES

At the Dedication of Gerrish's Island Grove and the unveiling of Pocahontas' Monument, by the Piscataquaticus Chowderheads, July 18th, 1876;

Now that the tremendous excitement of our city election is over, we can turn our attention to less war-like matters; and the historian of the exercises at the dedication of Gerrish's Island Grove and the unveiling of Pocahontas' Monument having finished his labors, we give the first instalment of his history, as follow:

Dinner having been duly attended to, M. C. D. J. Vaughan escorted the Poet, Orator and Monument Dedicator of the day to the middle (and over the top of much) of the "Grove," and addressed the assembled Association substantially as follows:

Fellow Chowderheads and Chowderheadesses: It is my painful duty to "Welcome you to Kittery!" We have assembled, friends, upon this "auspicious centennial occasion," to dedicate this magnificent grove (great applause), to consecrate a monument to the memory of one hitherto shamefully neglected, and to—eat chowder. (Cheers; question by M. C.: Are those cheers for the one shamefully neglected,—or for the chowder? Cries of "for both.") Your committee of arrangements, composed of some of the most eminent citizens of Portsmouth—(vociferous cheers; question by M. C.: Are those cheers for the eminent citizens, or in honor of my distinguished self? Cries of "for the eminent citizens.") Your committee of arrangements have been fortunate in securing the services of three gentlemen eminent in the literary world, and you will have the exquisite pleasure of listening to their eloquent words. The first number on the programme is a poem, and I have the honor of presenting to you one whose fame as a poet reaches from Kittery to the sea, Brig. Gen. Roberto B. Palfreyo. Brig. Gen. Palfreyo then orated the following

POME.

On the banks of Piscataqua's waters—
On the shores of this calm, placid stream,
You have gathered, brave sons and fair daughters,
And your faces with happiness teem.

The edict went forth from the master;
He summoned us all to his side;
And on, on we came, faster and faster,
With our boats, on the broad, swelling tide.

In this year of great glorification,
While we sing of our forefathers brave,
Of their sacrifice made for the nation,
How for it their life blood they gave,—

How they rose like a plan preconcerted,
Never faltering when the work was begun,
How they fought—bled—died—and deserted,
As we their successors have done,—

How for freedom their voices all blended;
What true patriots they were, every one;
Never ceasing 'til at Yorktown they ended
The struggle in Concord begun,—

So in concord we'll live, and I am sure
We have set an example that's plain;
When a chowder-head crowd from New Hampshire,
Sets out a grove down here in Maine.

'Neath the shade of these branches wide spreading,
'Midst this vast, boundless forest of trees,
In this park, with no one forbidding
Us to walk wherever we please,

"We can lie and dream of the past time,
Eons of thought far away,
And in the jungles of memory
Loosen our fancy to play."*

We can roam in this wild wood forever,
If for that length of time we should live;
In these wilds will our children's grand-children
Long cherish this gift that we give.

With a thought for the next generation
We have planted these trees in the soil,—
But our children may lack veneration,
And laugh at both us and our toil,

Crying, "Shades of our fathers defend us,
For the shades of these trees they will not;"
And with Arctic coolness commend us
To a place that is hottest of hot.

If any of the dead gone before us
Are hovering around overhead,
They will join in united chorus,
Thanking their stars they are dead.

Those old fellows with white queue and cocked hat,
Were of stock that was fearless and brave;
King George and his minions they laughed at,
And their lives to their country they gave.

They planted, they builded an altar,
They worshipped at Liberty's shrine,
But we lend the poor girl with a halter,
And rue with her laurels entwine.

I was told I must be patriotic,
Because this was Centennial year,
But that "idi"—not "patri" is my "otic,"
I have every occasion to fear.

So I now will return to the present;
("Tis the age I mean, not the grove;)
And never without your full consent,
Allow my muse backward to rove.

Here, we all have oft gathered together;
We old chowder-heads, every one,
In the glare of the hot summer weather
Had our noses burnt by the sun;

We have sizzled, fried, wilted and roasted,
Have melted till we nigh run away;
Been browned like a muffin that's toasted,
'Till our feelings no words could convey.

But now what a change has come o'er us,
'Neath the shade of these branches compact,
And fanned by the zephyrs of Boreas
Our complexions remain quite intact.

It seems quite the fashion in this year,
To plant a Centennial shrub;
Then rally with pome and oration;
Fire cannon, and beat rub-a dub.

Your committee, with like spirit fired,
With an earnest desire to please,
With a zeal that never yet tired,
Have set out this vast forest of trees.

That tree that you see over yonder
Is friend Sanborn's attempt at a Park,
But the cows knocked the thing all to thunder,
By eating the leaves and the bark.

Why he planted a birch is no wonder,
He remembered his school days gone by,
And he leaves this, a gentle reminder
To the youths of the sweet by and by.

The tree which you see in this corner,
("Its condition we sadly deplore;
It will soon, I fear, be a goner,)
Was planted for our absent friend Shaw.

They thought that an honor they'd do him,
By planting in his name a neat spruce;
But this much I here would say to them,—
The honor looks more like abuse.

That tree which you see there, fast anchored,
Is a gift from our Lewiston friend;
To add his wee mite he has hankered;
His shrub is a perfect godsend.

As the twig is inclined the tree groweth,
(I hope that he twigs me aright)
And we'll stick to our old merry-makings
Ne'er forgetting friend Horace's mite.

For the birch, for the spruce, for the pine tree,
A place in our memory we'll give.
Let our cheers fill the air, a three times three;
To a ripe good old age may they live.

In the words of old Rip, Here's your good health,
And the health of your family too;
That they may live long and may prosper
Is my wish for each one of you.

JOTTINGS.

Rev. S. S. Hebbard, recent pastor of the Universalist church, has withdrawn from the ministry and resumed the practice of law at Taylorville, Illinois. He was ordained to the ministry in 1867.

William Martine Harding, son of Capt. Samuel Harding, formerly of this city, died at Rotterdam, Holland, on June 18, of rupture of the heart. He was travelling on the continent for his health.

The Times says there are "more empty tenants" in this city now than at any previous time for years. All owing to the reform movement. Some that are empty now-a-days used to be full about all the time.

The Granite State base ball nine of this city went to Exeter on Thursday, to play the Eagles of that place; they returned in the evening, having met the enemy and (the rest of the report, as handed in, is illegible.)

The Band of Hope is making arrangements for one of the most pleasing temperance demonstrations ever seen in this vicinity. Their programme is to have a procession in the morning, consisting of twenty floral and evergreen cars, each with appropriate banners, together with emblematic representations, music, etc. All the temperance organizations in the city and vicinity will be invited to join in the procession, with decorated carriages. After passing through the principal streets, they will proceed to one of the groves in the vicinity, where appropriate exercises will take place, and healthy amusements indulged in. Gov. Cheney has signified his intention to be present and join in the festivities of the day. The Band of Hope now numbers over 400 members, and with their badges make a very neat appearance. It is hoped that the older friends of the cause will co-operate and encourage the boys and girls in their work of temperance, for "prevention is better than cure."—Times.

The Granite State base ball boys say "those Eagle chaps, of Exeter, are good sociable fellows and treated us first-rate, but"—

The new drinking fountain on Congress (near Vaughan) street has been put in position.

Rev. George W. Bicknell, formerly of this city, has been unanimously elected President of the Fifth Maine regiment association.

An excursion party from Great Falls to the Shoals, with a band, passed through this city on Friday. The party numbered about two hundred.

The Olympic and Granite State base ball clubs will have a practice game to-day, at the Plains. Game will be called at two o'clock.

Capt. William Robinson, the deservedly popular commander of the steamer Appledore, on Thursday evening introduced a variation in his usual daily programme of exercises. Just before the steamer's time for starting, a small boy (named Hurley, we believe) fell overboard, and was in imminent danger of drowning; but Captain Robinson stood not on the order of his going, but went overboard at once, clothes and all, and pulled the imperilled youngster out. The gallant captain's dress didn't look quite so neat as usual, when he again stepped aboard, but nobody seemed to think any the worse of him for it.

On Thursday the guests at the Appledore got up a "three-legged race," two handsome silver goblets being the prizes contested for, and the distance covered (not run) by the contestants about one hundred feet. There were three entries, as follows: 1st couple—Messrs. E. J. Wendell and Gordon Wendell (winners of first prize;) 2d couple—Messrs. H. B. Mason and Francis Batcheller (winners of second prize;) 3d couple—Messrs. Alfred Batcheller and C. W. Morris. The race created a vast deal of mirth, For the information of those who never saw a "three-legged race" we will explain that the parties race in couples, the right leg of one and the left leg of the other being firmly bound together.

Col. Hackett will sell at auction at noon to-day, at his office, shares in Mechanics & Traders', New Hampshire, and Rockingham National Banks. See advertisement.

Religious services will be held at Camp Cheney, (of the Heavy Artillery) at Rye Beach, on Sunday afternoon at 6:30 o'clock, by Rev. C. A. Holbrook, Chaplain; to be followed by dress parade.

The Band of Hope will meet this (Saturday) afternoon at Franklin Hall, at 3 o'clock, when every boy and girl of the Band is expected to be present, to learn more about the great celebration.

The new Episcopal chapel at Rye Beach will be opened on Sunday, when services will be held for the first time. Rev. Dr. Lambert, of Charlestown, Mass., will officiate.

Elder Moses How, of New Bedford, Mass., will preach in the Court street Christian church on Sunday afternoon at a quarter to three o'clock. All are welcome.

The Council of Massachusetts Improved Order of Red Men held its great sun session in the wigwam of Manatuag Tribe No. 1, of Marblehead, Mass., on Tuesday, First Sun, Sturgeon Moon. The order was well represented and a large amount of important business was transacted. At the conclusion of the meeting Manatuag Tribe started on their usual excursion to Portsmouth and the Isles of Shoals.

Promise and Performance.

The proprietors of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters promise nothing in behalf of this famous tonic and regulating elixir which it will not perform. No pretensions irreconcilable with common sense are made in reference to it, but evidence of the most positive nature has been accumulating for over a quarter of a century in its behalf which proves it to be a reliable preventive and curative of malarial diseases, an efficient and genial tonic and general corrective, and specially valuable in cases where the bowels, liver, stomach or urinary organs are affected. Debility, the source from whence so many bodily evils springs, is entirely remedied by the invigorative action of the Bitters, which arrests premature decay and repairs losses of nervous and muscular power while improving the appetite and rendering digestion easy.

What are the credentials of Glenn's Sulphur Soap? Firstly, it is indorsed by medical men as a disinfectant, deodorizer, and remedy for local diseases of the skin. Secondly, it is an admirable article for toilet use. Thirdly, it is inexpensive.

If times were so very bad people would not demand such fine workmanship for their Cooking Ranges as that in the "Delmonico," for the manufacturers are having orders come in faster than they can supply.

Adamson's Botanic Cough Balsam is made from the choicest barks, roots and herbs, and is highly recommended for its great curative properties.

Sozodont.

An article that is at once a teeth preserver and breath purifier, and yet so pleasant and convenient to use, its exceeding popularity does not surprise any one. Time has fully established the fact that the SOZODONT possesses these excellent qualities in an eminent degree. It has legitimately acquired the right to a position upon every toilet table.

Spalding's Glue, always up to sticking point.

LYON'S KATHAIRON prevents the Hair from falling out or turning gray, renews its growth, and gives strength and vigor. It is delightfully perfumed, and makes a splendid dressing. It is the cheapest and most desirable Hair Tonic ever produced. Used by the elite. Price only 50 cents.

PILOT BREAD.

This kind of bread having come into extensive family use, it has been my purpose to furnish, from choice materials, an article which should meet the approval of the most fastidious as to neatness, looks and taste. Whether I have succeeded in giving to the public a PILOT BREAD,

SUPERIOR IN EXCELLENCE,

the consumer may be the judge; that the quality will not be suffered to depreciate, the past with the present is my best pledge. That I can compete with all the various qualities of Pilot Bread in the market, as to price, I make no pretensions,—but in price, all things being equal, I fear no competition.

Directions for Restoring Persons Apparently Dead from Drowning.

I. Lose no time. Carry out these directions on the spot.

II. Remove the froth and mucous from the mouth and nostrils.

III. Hold the body, for a few seconds only, with the head hanging down, so that the water may run out of the lungs and windpipe

IV. Loosen all tight articles of clothing about the neck and chest.

V. See that the tongue is pulled forward if it falls back into the throat. By taking hold of it with a handkerchief it will not slip.

VI. If the breathing has ceased, or nearly so, it must be stimulated by pressure of the chest with the hands, in imitation of the natural breathing; forcibly expelling the air from the lungs, and allowing it to re-enter and expand them by the elasticity of the ribs. Remember that this is the most important step of all. To do it readily, lay the person on his back, with a cushion, pillow, or some firm substance, under the shoulders; then press with the flat of the hands over the lower part of the breastbone and the upper part of the abdomen, keeping up a regular repetition and relaxation of pressure; twenty or thirty pounds may be applied with safety to a grown person.

VII. Rub the limbs with the hands, or with dry cloths, constantly, to aid the circulation and keep the body warm.

VIII. As soon as the person can swallow, give a table-spoonful of spirits in hot water, or some warm tea or coffee.

IX. Work deliberately. Do not give up too quickly. Success has rewarded the efforts of hours.

AMERICAN & FOREIGN PATENTS.

R. H. EDDY,
SOLICITOR OF PATENTS.

For Inventions Trade Marks or Designs

No. 76 State St., (Opposite Kilby St.), Boston.

After an extensive practice of upwards of thirty years, continues to secure patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all papers for Patents, executed on reasonable terms with dispatch. Researches made to determine the validity and utility of Patents of Inventions, and legal and other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any patent furnished, by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.

No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of Inventions.

All necessity for a journey to Washington to procure a Patent and the usual great delay there, are here saved Inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents."

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.
EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents."

"Mr. R. H. Eddy has made for me over THIRTY applications for Patents, having been successful in almost every case. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend all inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases and at very reasonable charges.
JOHN TAGGART."

MAGIC

CONDITION PILLS!

The Wonderful Remedy for Liver Complaint, Biliousness, Dyspepsia, Constipation, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Headache, Kidney Complaint, Nervousness, Scrofula, Piles, and all diseases arising from a bad state of the Blood!

No medicine ever offered to the public has given such universal satisfaction as Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. Their praises are on every tongue where their merits are known. They strike at once at the seat of disease and show their healing power almost immediately. Thousands of voluntary testimonials of their merits have been received by the agent, from those who have been cured by them, of which the following are samples:

Dyspepsia Four Years, Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels Three Years, Confined to my Room Two Years, Pain so I Could Not Sleep Without Morphine. One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills Made Me Eat Well, Sleep Well and Free from Pain, after being given up by Physicians.

WEST LEBANON, ME., Feb. 22, 1

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I have been sick for four years with Dyspepsia, and for the past three years Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels. I have suffered all the pain I could endure and live. I have been confined to my room for two years, and could not sleep nights without the use of morphine. I have been given up by physicians as past cure. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, and they have done me more good than all the doctors I have had. I sleep well, I eat well and have no pain. They are all they are recommended to be. Please send me three packages, as two of my neighbors wish to try them. I owe life to them.
Your truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Another Letter from Maj. John W. Lord, one month later. Wonderful Cures by Dr. Quain's Pills Effected on Him in Thirteen Days. First time Free from Pain for Three Years.

WEST LEBANON, ME., March 22, 1875

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I commenced taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS February 9th, and wrote you February 22d of their wonderful effect. I have continued to improve ever since. My appetite is good, and I sleep as well as I ever did in my life. I am free from pain for the first time in three years. When I was taken sick four years ago, I weighed one hundred and eighty-six pounds; I now weigh one hundred and thirty-five, but, as I gain in strength, I have faith I shall regain my flesh this summer, by the use of the Pills. I shall continue taking them for some time to come.
Yours truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Dr. Quain's Pills the Remedy for Soldiers' Aches and Pains.

WEST LEBANON, ME., June 1, 1875.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I am now able to walk out every day, and am gaining in strength very fast, all of which is due to you as agent for the best Pills in the world. I have taken no other medicine, and my improvement has been steady since first taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done everything for me, and I will say to you, advertise them direct to the soldiers, for they will certainly cure them of aches and pains caused from exposure and hardship on the field. Please send me by return mail another package.
JOHN W. LORD.

Rheumatism for Twenty Years Cured by One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills—"The Best Medicine in the World."

EAST ANDOVER, N. H., Dec. 16, 1875.

MR. LANE—Dear Sir:—As I know the value of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS and the good they have done me, I take pleasure in giving them praise; so I send you another testimonial. My father has been troubled with Rheumatism for twenty years or more, and has tried everything that could be thought of, but to no good. At times it would be so bad that he could not lift his hand to his head or do any work at all, especially in cold weather. A short time ago I advised him to get some of these Pills. He believed nothing in them, but I gave him the last package I had of you, as I did not need them, and he has not been as free from the Rheumatic Complaint for years. No rheumatism, no pain. What helped him? It was DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, the best medicine in the world. There is nothing like them. I know it, for I have tried them, and they are all, yes, more than they are recommended to be. Give them a fair trial and you will say so. I write this because I know the goodness of them and wish others to know the same. Some may think I am telling a big story. I am. But remember I am not giving them half the praise they ought to have.
Yours with respect, ED. F. PEVARE.

Wonderful Effect of Four Doses of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills upon Neuralgia of Twelve Years' Duration—Testimony of Rev. J. S. Patton.

DAINGERFIELD, MORRIS CO., TEXAS, Nov. 15, 75.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I have been afflicted for near twelve years with Neuralgia in the face and head. I tried I do not know how many physicians, and could only get partly relieved. I also tried many patent medicines with the same result. I have been confined to my room most all the time for eight or ten winters, and have been traveling and visiting medical springs, and I still suffered most intensely. The physicians pronounced my case the worst and most stubborn that they had had anything to do with. One told me I never would get well; they all advised me to go South and spend the winter, and thought that was the only chance for me, and I was trying to get ready to go to Florida, when through the kindness of Rev. H. M. Mathis, my attention was called to the advertisement of Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. I immediately sent to you for a package. I have taken four doses and I am almost free from pain. The impression here seems to be that if your pills will cure me, they will cure anybody. I have five applications to send for the pills. Enclosed please find three dollars; send five packages to me and one to Mrs. Laura Sherrell, Sulphur Springs, Hopkins County, Texas.
Yours truly, J. S. PATTON.

Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache.

LACONIA, N.H., Jan. 29, 1875.

THOS. W. LANE—Sir:—I have been troubled with Bad Blood, Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done me more good than all the medicine I ever took; I have taken considerable medicine within the last five years. For the nerves I think there is nothing so good as those pills. I can recommend them to all who are similarly afflicted, they have done me so much good. I think they will recommend themselves wherever they go. I shall recommend those Pills to all who need them. Please send me two packages more, one for myself and one for a lady friend of mine. Many thanks to the inventor, agent and advertiser of those Pills. MRS. P. L. ELLIOTT.

DR. QUAIN'S MAGIC CONDITION PILLS are put up only by the AMERICAN MEDICINE CO., Manchester, N. H., THOMAS W. LANE, Agent.

PULMOCINE.

BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL

Is the ultima thule of Medical Discovery.

Among its many ingredients are Wild Cherry Bark, Squill Root, Liquorice Root, Blood root, &c. It is a Blood Purifier, gently stimulating. It increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is sudorific and alterative. It is a necessary family medicine. It is a Tonic and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is a gentle sedative, and relieves nervousness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.

CLEAR YOUR THROAT!

Relieve Your Lungs.

For the terrible diseases engendered by the lungs trying climate of New England

PULMOCINE CORDIAL

Is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. Every Family should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croups, Laryngitis, or Inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred Throat Diseases at all times prevalent, it is the ounce of Prevention. Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for. These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning, when a physician may be out of immediate reach. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy relief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As "a stitch in time saves nine," so does the possession of this Family Medicine prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agent! There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all thus afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and the patient's danger is past.

For Coughs,

Croup,

Diphtheria,

— AND —

Asthma, etc.,

— USE —

Buchman's Pulmocine Cordial.

The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. It is offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

REASONS WHY FARMERS should purchase The Halladay Wind-Mill

It is the first reliable self-regulating Wind Mill ever made, and continues to lead the van.

It has stood the test of nearly a quarter of a century, and has gained a reputation as broad as its use extensive.

It is the only wind mill generally adopted on all the railroads.

It is the cheapest wind mill.

The United States Wind Engine and Pump Co. have the largest wind mill manufactory in the world. We are willing to put our mill upon its merits. We ask an investigation of facts and motives. We duly appreciate the patronage and support we have received in the past, and while we solicit a continuance of favors, we shall try to merit them. We are the pioneers in the production of a wind mill adapted to the use of farmers.

Health Regulations.

THE BOARD OF HEALTH OF THE CITY OF PORTSMOUTH call the attention of the public to the following sections of Chapter 16, of the Revised Ordinances, and invite all interested in the preservation of health in our city to aid them in the execution of their duty:

SEC. 3. All waste water of houses, yards, cellars, sinks, pumps, etc., shall be conveyed by their owners or occupiers to the common sewers, or to such places as the Health Officers may direct.

SEC. 4. No person shall be allowed to throw any vegetable or dead animal substance, or any other matter capable of producing infection, into any street, lane, alley or dock, or upon any wharf, but shall bury them or throw them into the river below low-water mark.

SEC. 5. The contents of vaults and privies shall not be permitted to rise within one foot of the surface of the earth. And all owners or occupiers of buildings having such vaults or privies as may require it, shall cause them to be emptied within ten days from the promulgation of this ordinance, and in future on or before the the first day of May in each year. And any such owner or occupier neglecting so to do, shall forfeit and pay for every such neglect a sum not less than three nor more than twenty dollars, and a like sum for every week's neglect after the time above specified.

SEC. 6. No vender of meat at the stalls shall be permitted to leave any stale meat, heads, feet or offal of any kind about their stalls or stores over night, or suffer them to be thrown into any street, lane or alley of the city. Nor shall any sellers of fish be permitted to throw any offal of fish into any street, lane or alley of the city, or upon any wharf, but shall either bury them or throw them into the river beyond low-water mark.

SEC. 7. If any dead animal or decaying vegetable substance, or any other nuisance, shall be found in any part of the city, the owners or occupiers of the premises where such nuisance shall be found, shall cause the same to be removed within twenty-four hours after being notified so to do by one or more of the health officers.

SEC. 12. When any householder shall know that any person within his family is taken sick of the small pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, he shall immediately give notice thereof to the Health Officers.

SEC. 13. When any physician shall know that any person whom he is called to visit is infected with the small pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, such physician shall immediately give notice thereof to the Health Officers.

SEC. 14. If any such householder or physician shall refuse or neglect to give the notice required in the preceding sections, he shall for each refusal or neglect, forfeit the sum of twenty dollars, to be recovered by either of the Health Officers in the name of the city.

SEC. 16. The Health Officers may give written notice to the owner or occupier of any building, vessel or enclosure, to remove or destroy any nuisance or other thing deemed by them on examination, to be injurious to the public health, within a certain time limited therein; and in case such owner or occupier—the said notice having been given to him, or left at his usual place of abode—shall neglect to comply therewith, the said Health Officers may, by direction of the mayor and accompanied by the city marshal, forcibly enter such building, vessel, or enclosure, and cause said nuisance or other thing aforesaid to be removed or destroyed.

SEC. 21. No person shall erect, keep or continue, or permit to be erected, kept or continued, upon any land occupied by him, any pen, for the keeping of swine, or privy, over either or the mill ponds in this city, or so placed that offensive substances therefrom shall be discharged or drained into either or said ponds, or into any creek, or cove, or drain leading thereto. And no person shall construct, keep or continue any drain leading from any pen for the keeping of any swine, slaughter-house, privy vault, or other unwholesome or offensive place, into either of said ponds, or to any flat or marsh adjoining the same. And no person shall throw or suffer to be thrown from his land into either of said ponds, or upon any of said flats or marshes, any dead, decaying, unwholesome or offensive animal or vegetable substances.

LINCOLN BUTTER POWDER.

Good Fresh Butter All The Year Round.

BUTTER IN 20 MINUTES.

Lincoln Butter Powder is an entirely harmless article made from a celebrated English recipe, and now in daily use by many of the most noted farmers in the butter counties around Philadelphia.

In hot weather this Powder makes butter much firmer and sweeter than it usually is, and keeps it from turning rancid. It also removes the strong flavor of turnips, weeds, corn stalks, cotton seed, etc.; and the increased yield of butter much more than pays the trifling expense of using it.

Ridiculous Baby Fashions.

The children at the fashionable watering-places do not seem to be troubled about hard times. At the Saratoga garden party last week the little ones astounded the natives by their marvellous toilettes. One ridiculous sight was that of a little three-year-old who was dressed in a rose-colored silk with a yard of her mamma's point lace flounce for an overdress, and who wore tiny white kid gloves, pearl fan pendant, pink silk stockings, and with kid boots the same color. Well, this baby started off well pleased to dance with another baby of her age, but, seeing a companion of the like tender years dancing with a boy several years her senior, she came down the lawn with her mouth wide open, and her hands spread in frantic fashion, screaming vigorously, and when she reached her anxious mother yelled out with the passion of an enraged child, "I want to dance with a boy; I won't dance with a girl." Poor little thing! That is her beginning of woes, for their are numerous maidens all forlorn who would cry aloud if they could for masculine partners. The children were dressed regardless of cost or their future happiness. Laces and muslins over different hued silks predominated. The boys appeared in Highland, sailor and other costumes. They danced or romped and played about as they felt inclined. Ladies and gentlemen walked about the ground, or enjoyed sitting and watching the children at their sports. Many ladies were richly dressed, and that in a style that is only allowable at Saratoga, light evening silks, with overdresses of lace, gauze, or any rich, light fabric suitable for a summer evening. Diamonds glittered everywhere. At one of the juvenile balls at Cape May, last week, there were three or four hundred masters and misses in full evening dress. The little girls were beautifully attired, and glided through the dance in white or colored stockings, and buff or black bootees or slippers, like fairies. A dozen or more charming little girls danced fairy dances, and with their juvenile partners of the other sex, did the Lancers with charming grace. Post.

should purchase

The Halladay Wind-Mill

It is the first reliable self-regulating Wind Mill ever made, and continues to lead the van.

It has stood the test of nearly a quarter of a century and has gained a reputation as broad as its use is extensive.

It is the only wind mill generally adopted on all the railroads.

It is the cheapest wind mill.

The United States Wind Engine and Pump Co. have the largest wind mill manufactory in the world. We are willing to put our mills against all others. We ask an investigation of facts and motives. We duly appreciate the patronage and support we have received in the past, and while we solicit a continuance of favors, we shall try to merit them. We are the pioneers in the production of a wind mill adapted to the use of farmers.

Probate Notice.

STATE OF NEW HAMPSHIRE,

Rockingham, ss.

BY THE JUDGE OF PROBATE FOR SAID COUNTY.

TO the heirs at law and creditors to the estate of JEREMIAH C. THURSTON, late of the City of Portsmouth, in said County, deceased, intestate, and all persons interested in said estate, greeting.

You are hereby notified that M. MARCELLUS BUFFORD, administrator of the estate of said deceased, will present his account of administering said estate at a Court of Probate to be holden at Portsmouth, in and for said County, on the second Tuesday of September next at 9 o'clock A. M. for examination and allowance.

You are therefore hereby cited to appear at said Court to be heard thereon, and to make such objections as you may then have. And notice is hereby required to be given by publication of this citation to be published three weeks successively in the Daily Chronicle, a newspaper printed at Portsmouth in said County, the last publication whereof to be at least one week prior to said Court.

By order of the Judge.

WM. M. HUNNEWELL, Register of Probate.

Aug 1, 7, 14.

Probate Notice.

To the Hon. Judge of Probate for the County of Rockingham.

RESPECTFULLY represents PLUMER D. NORTON, Administrator of the Estate of BENJAMIN NORTON, late of Portsmouth in said County, deceased, that the Personal Estate of said deceased is not sufficient to pay the just demands against his estate; that said deceased died seized of the right in equity to redeem certain mortgaged real estate situated in said Portsmouth upon the corner of Cabot and Austin streets, and bounded northerly by land of Benjamin M. Parker, easterly by land of said Parker and land of Moses Yeaton, southerly by Austin street and westerly by Cabot street,—the same being subject to three mortgages made by said deceased, two to William Leighton, on one of which is now due nine hundred dollars and interest since March 20, 1876, and on the other five hundred dollars and interest since December 15, 1875; and one to your petitioner on which is due fourteen hundred and sixty dollars and interest since April 1, 1876; the same being subject to the rights of dower and homestead therein of one Mary S. Norton, the widow of said deceased.

And said deceased left no other real estate, and the above will not be sufficient to pay the demands against said estate with the personal estate.

Wherefore he prays that he may be licensed to sell at public auction the right in equity which said deceased had to redeem said Real Estate together with the reversion of said dower and homestead for the payment of said demands.

Dated the eleventh day of July, A. D. 1876.

PLUMER D. NORTON, Adm'r.

STATE OF NEW HAMPSHIRE, ROCKINGHAM, SS. PROBATE COURT at Portsmouth, in said County, July 11th, A. D. 1876.

Upon the foregoing Petition it is Ordered, that a hearing be had thereon at the Court of Probate to be holden at Portsmouth in said County, on the second Tuesday of September next; and that the Petitioner notify the heirs of said deceased and all persons concerned or interested therein, to appear at said Court, and show cause, if any they have, why the prayer of said petition should not be granted, by causing said petition and this order to be published three weeks successively in the Portsmouth Daily Chronicle, a newspaper printed at Portsmouth in said County, the last publication whereof to be at least one week prior to said Court.

By order of the Judge.

FOR PRESIDENT,

Rutherford B. Hayes,

OF OHIO.

FOR VICE PRESIDENT,

William A. Wheeler,

OF NEW YORK.

Hayes' Platform in War.

In 1864, when Hayes was in the army, being nominated for Congress he was requested to come home and stump his district. His reply was, "I have other business just now. Any man who would leave the army at this time to electioneer for Congress ought to be scalped!"

Hayes' Platform in Peace.

"Honest money for all, and free schools for all. There should be no inflation which will depreciate the one, nor sectarian interference which will destroy the other."

The Long Looked For Letters.

At last, after six weeks' delay and innumerable consultations with the leaders of the democratic party, Tilden and Hendricks gave their letters of acceptance to the public on Saturday, dating them back to July 31st, just for the looks of the thing. As might have been expected from the time taken to write it, Tilden's letter is a fearfully long document, an immense quantity of words being used to say but very little. The main portion of the letter is devoted to the financial question; but after carefully wading through his columns of stilted and oracular phrases and undisputed truisms, and giving earnest study to the quotations from what was said "in my message" of such and such dates, or "in a speech by me," etc. we are only able to understand that Mr. Tilden believes that fixing a date for resumption to be wrong. Mr. Greeley's saying, "The way to resume is to resume," goes just as far toward suggesting a practical plan of resumption as does Mr. Tilden's letter. The latter says, "the Government has only to make good its own promises," to "provide a central reservoir of coin," etc., but how all this is to be done is not pointed out, though he cannot see that it is "a work of difficulty," —which his party friends in Congress have found it. It is said that his financial views suit both the inflation and hard money wings of the democratic party, and we can see no reason why they should not; as a mere political document, written to harmonize two conflicting elements and conceal the writer's ideas under a mountain of verbosity and high-sounding phrases, Tilden's letter is a skillful production.

He announces himself as strongly in favor of civil service reform, among other reasons "that the ordinary employment of the public business may not be a prize sought for at the ballot-box: a brief reward of party zeal, instead of posts of honor, assigned for proved competency and held for fidelity in the public employ." This may be intended as a sharp rebuke to the democratic majority in the House, or as a hint that if elected he will not carry out the Sun's programme already laid down for him, to turn out eighty thousand republican officials and put in eighty thousand democrats; but if he really means to ignore the time-honored democratic maxim, "to the victors belong the spoils,"—a creed the democratic party has faithfully lived up to from its first accession to power up to the present day,—he does not say so. On this point, as on others, he talks much but says wonderfully little.

Concerning the South he says: "An necessary cause, enhancing the distress in business, is to be found in the systematic and unsupportable misgovernment imposed on the States of the South." As the State governments of the South are and for years have been nearly all democratic, this seems rather rough on his party friends; but what follows shows he means it as an attack upon the republican party. He announces his determination, if elected, to uphold the civil and political rights of all citizens under the constitution and "the amendments universally accepted;" that is good—the only trouble being that the amendments are not "universally accepted" by his party friends in the South.

Compared with the manly, fearless, straightforward letter of Gov. Hayes, Tilden's long-winded epistle suffers terribly. The former, easy to read and to understand, was evidently the work of an honest man, who having strong convictions on important matters, dared plainly announce them; the latter is just as evidently the production of an able partizan politician, aiming to advance his party's interests that his own may thereby be advanced,—and if that is the best he can do in six weeks, he had better have taken another month at it.

Mr. Hendricks' letter has one merit; it is not interminable. He endorses the St. Louis platform, demands that a step shall be taken toward specie payments by abolishing the date fixed for resumption, advocates (as does Tilden) that the United States adopt the Chinese idea of exclusiveness and keep out the Chinese, wants republicanism entirely eliminated from the national government and civil service reform introduced, makes a back-handed defence of President Grant, deprecates the fostering of sectarian animosities on the public school question, says "all the people must be made to feel and know that once more there is established a purpose and policy, under which all the citizens of every condition, race and color, will be secure in the enjoyment of whatever rights the Constitution and laws declare or recognize," and heartily endorses Tilden as a great reformer. Tilden's letter is that of a shrewd political trickster; Hendricks' that of an earnest and not over-judicious demagogue.

News and Notes.

The Live Oak amateur base ball club, of Lynn, defeated the professional Athletics, 8 to 0, on Friday. The Bostons defeated the Rhode Island amateurs, 5 to 2.

The Miners' Trust Company Bank, of Pottsville, Penn., has suspended, with liabilities of $1,125,000. Its depositors are mainly of the laboring class.

The Reform Clubs of Vermont had a mass convention at Bellows Falls on the 4th, at which 6000 people were present. The St. Patrick Total Abstinence Benevolent Society received the visiting guests at the depot.

The frigate Vandalia has arrived at New York. She will be put on the dry dock to ascertain the damage from going ashore on the coral reefs, near Hayti, in June last.

Bury Freeman, a merchant of Rahway, N. J., was bound, gagged, beat and hung to a clothes hook in his own house, by four masked robbers, who pilfaged the house and left. The fortunate return of his sister saved him from strangulation.

Important Servian successes are announced.

In the House, Saturday, Mr. Bland attempted to force his "silver bill" through, and made certain statements which Hon. Henry L. Peirce, of Massachusetts, denounced as willfully and maliciously false. There was a lively time for a half-hour, but the bill did not pass.

One of the Otterville, Mo., railroad robbers has been captured, with documents sufficient to secure his conviction and implicate a number of others.

New Hampshire Items.

Manson S. Brown, Esq., of Plymouth, has been appointed State Liquor Commissioner for New Hampshire.

The Reform Club of Lebanon has presented John W. Drew, the reform speaker, who organized a club in that town, with a gold watch, valued at $150.

Mrs. Ireland, wife of the missing safe manufacturer, W. C. Ireland, has received an incoherent letter from him, showing that his mind is deranged. The postmark on the letter is illegible; the date inside is Windsor, N. H., probably meaning the town of that name in Vermont. The Boston detective, Wood, started for Antrim in search of Mr. Ireland, Friday.

George H. Everett, Esq., of Laconia, has filed his bond as Sheriff of the county of Belknap.

Mr. Swett, a fruit-tree dealer from South Paris, Me., got intoxicated in Manchester on Friday, was attacked by some roughs, knocked down and his face terribly mutilated. The roughs then robbed him of $50 in money and escaped.

Hon. James G. Blaine returned to Little Boar's Head on Saturday.

A six year old daughter of S. H. Sherman of Lisbon was so badly burned on the 27th ult., while building a fire in a stove, that she died the next morning.

Sheriff Scott has appointed Daniel L. Stevens, Daniel F. Healy, Harrison D. Lord and George W. Nichols deputy sheriffs for Manchester.

Political.

John Bigelow and his commission declared that all concerned in the New York canal contracts and fraudulent work "ought to be in the State Prison." But they are not. One of them, M. A. Nash, is President of a Tilden and Hendricks Club at Fort Edward. The local democratic paper says: "When Tilden was nominated for Governor, Nash was in possession of canal contracts and was closely allied with Barkley, Davis & Co., in giving the State 'dry wall' at $3.60 per yard, under contracts which called for 'good cement wall' at $2.25 per yard, and was having the same inspected and measured by one John Somers, his foreman, now one of the officers of the same club, as three feet thick, when it was, in fact, only about six inches. This you may say is a very encouraging change in favor of the party of reform."

A leading democratic paper in Nebraska, the Lincoln Daily Globe, says: "To-day we hoist the name of Hayes, whom we will support for President in preference to Tilden. It is with sorrow we do this; but it is the only course left since the fatal action of the St. Louis convention."

The tail has wagged the dog; the House banking and currency committee on Saturday, voted to report a bill repealing the date of specie payment resumption.

"Ben." Harrison, a grandson of President William Henry Harrison, and great grandson of one of the signers of the declaration of independence, for whom he was named, has been nominated by the Indiana republicans for Governor. He is a very able man and one of the most popular republicans in the State.

The republican State convention of Massachusetts will be held at Worcester, September 6th.

The Democracy on Land Grants.

The democratic platform contains the following:

"Reform is necessary to put a stop to the profligate waste of public lands, and their diversion from actual settlers by the party in power, which has squandered 200,000,000 of acres upon railroads alone, and out of more than thrice that aggregate has disposed of less than a sixth directly to tillers of the soil."

The largest land grant ever made to any railroad was that to the Northern Pacific, nearly 40,000,000 acres. The bill making this enormous gift was engineered through the lower house of Congress by Representative Beck, of Kentucky, and Representative Eldredge, of Wisconsin, then the acknowledged leader of the democracy of the northwest.

Thomas A. Hendricks, of Indiana, was a member of the Senate at the time (1864) the bill was passed, and earnestly advocated its passage. He said:

"The bill before the Senate proposes to encourage the construction of a very important railroad to connect the waters of Lake Superior with the waters of the Pacific Ocean. Everybody can see at a glance that it is a work of national importance. * * I do not think that a work of such national importance ought to be embarrassed in its passage through this body, and through the House of Representatives," etc.

We need not here enquire whether or not the 200,000,000 acres of land granted railroads has been "squandered;" assuming that it has, the squandering of a large proportion of it was largely due to the able efforts of the leading democrats of the land-granting era, including the man who is at present a candidate for Vice President on the democratic ticket.

—A good story is told of several Boston merchants who with their wives are summering it at a hotel not many miles from Boston. Immediately after supper one of the members of B. M. & Co. arose and announced that there would be some private theatricals, tableaux, etc. The tables were removed, and impromptu curtains were made of shawls. The first performance was to be "The Sleeping Beauty," to be followed by a farce, "This Hotel is Sold." One of the ladies was requested to take the part of the sleeping beauty. She reclined on the sofa, covered with two waterproofs and a piece of mosquito netting. One of the party, under pretence of going for a hammer to act as auctioneer, slipped out of a side door with his three companions and adjourned to an upper chamber, where they indulged in the good old game of "high-low jack." The lady and the audience remained patiently an hour and twenty minutes, when a large placard was dropped into their midst, with the words, "This house is sold."—Traveller.

—On a recent Sunday at Lowell a collection was taken up at one of the churches in aid of the reform club. As the box reached a pew occupied by a lady, her daughter and little son, the two former found themselves without a cent of money. Master Hopeful reached over and deposited a cent in the box, and then whispered to his sister, "There, I just saved this family from being white-washed."

Promise and Performance.

The proprietors of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters promise nothing in behalf of this famous tonic and regulating elixir which it will not perform. No pretensions irreducible with common sense are made in reference to it, but evidence of the most positive nature has been accumulating for over a quarter of a century in its behalf which proves it to be a reliable preventive and curative of malarial diseases, an efficient and genial tonic and general corrective, and specially valuable in cases where the bowels, liver, stomach or urinary organs are affected. Debility, the source from whence so many bodily evils spring, is entirely remedied by the invigorative action of the Bitters, which arrests premature decay and repairs losses of nervous and muscular power while improving the appetite and rendering digestion easy.

What are the credentials of Glenn's Sulphur Soap? Firstly, it is indorsed by medical men as a disinfectant, deodorizer, and remedy for local diseases of the skin. Secondly, it is an admirable article for toilet use. Thirdly, it is inexpensive.

If times were so very bad people would not demand such fine workmanship for their Cooking Ranges as that in the "Delmonico," for the manufacturers are having orders come in faster than they can supply.

Adamson's Botanic Cough Balsam is made from the choicest barks, roots and herbs, and is highly recommended for its great curative properties.

Sozodont.

An article that is at once a teeth preserver and breath purifier, and yet so pleasant and convenient to use, its exceeding popularity does not surprise any one. Time has fully established the fact that the SOZODONT possesses these excellent qualities in an eminent degree. It has legitimately acquired the right to a position upon every toilet table.

LITERARY EXERCISES

At the Dedication of Gerrish's Island Grove and the unveiling of Pocahontas' Monument, by the Piscataquatico Chowderheads, July 15th, 1876:

The Poet having concluded, to the great relief of the afflicted Association, the M. C. introduced the Orator of the day, as follows:

The programme hath it that the orator will "soothe to somnolence." Plentitude of chowder inclineth to somnolence, and your greasy, shining faces convince me you have eaten your fill. I am proud of the honor of introducing to you one who will be sure to talk you to sleep. I present Major Gen. J. Alberto Sanborneo.

Then came the

ORATION.

Mr. Chairman, and Ladies and Gentlemen: The poet says: "Man is a poor creature at the best, 'Till the fiend in his belly is lulled to rest; Throw him a sop, and the road is free To meditation and sanctity."

My fellow Chowderheads, if you had this sentiment in your minds while eating your dinners, I am forced to the mournful conclusion that you have been over zealous in the role of fiend subduers; for, although I would encourage all laudable efforts tending to meditation and sanctity, (especially on the part of a few here present, who are in the habit of resorting to this island on the holy Sabbath day, thereby disturbing the studies of a select coterie of illustrious gentlemen who "go down into the sea in ships" on the Saturday evening preceeding the aforesaid Sabbath,) yet, on the whole, it is my private opinion publicly expressed, that the enormous quantities of chowder you have absorbed, individually and collectively, during the last hour, has not only lulled each of your particular and personal fiends to a long, long rest, but has, I fear, rendered you incapable of bestowing upon me that enthusiastic and vociferous applause which is the food upon which we orators thrive.

But, my fellow pilgrims, I am undaunted. I propose to dawn upon you in all my "grotesque sweetness." Here I take my stand, and as my particular friend, Moses, said to Pharaoh when the latter broke through the ice on the first skating rink of which history makes mention, "I propose to fight it out on this line this summer, if it takes all winter." Then go to sleep who will; in an insensate lethargy thou may'st snore thine "happy hours away," yet shall I raise my voice on this great occasion, and astonish the garrison of yonder frowning fortress, likewise cause yonder herd of fierce cows to slink affrighted to their lairs. These rocks and hills, the restless bosom of yonder broad Atlantic, the tender blue of this bending sky—from which the American Eagle occasionally descends, just to see how things are getting on—all, all shall resound to my eloquence, and presently I shall hear a "still, small voice" exclaiming in caressing tones, "Oh, Sanborn, give us a rest!" Should the aforesaid caressing tones be accompanied by the usual display of clubs and stones, peradventure the aforementioned trifling request will be granted.

But, my champion Chowderheadists, I do not propose to indulge in that inflated, spread-eagle style of oratory so distasteful to American ears; rather would I recall to your memories the calm presence and placid words of George Francis Train, at one of those annual, brilliant and exciting Rockingham County Agricultural Horse Races.

My dilapidated and sunburnt relics of what was, a few hours ago, as fair a picture of brave men, stately matrons and lovely maidens as the sun ever shone upon; when I gaze upon this vast assembly before me, my heart swells with pride at the thought that I was born one hundred years ago, and in time to be present at and participate in these glorious centennial services. When with a retrospective glance I permit my eyes to frisk and gambol adown the dim aisles of the remote past; when I look upon the present; and when with a second sight—as it were—with a hop, skip and a jump I precipitate my optics into the fathomless depths of the future, I unanimously exclaim, "Thank Heaven I did not live in the remote Past; thank Heaven my lot was not cast in the Future; thank Heaven my lines were cast in the Present—the beautiful, grove-planting, chowder-partying present." Past, Present, and Future; no age, no nation ever has had, and I doubt if any ever will have more to do with these interesting divisions of time than our own glorious, free-born country. In conformity to an ancient and religiously preserved custom, we here, to-day, gronify the Past, deplore the Present, and doubt sadly for the Future. While we are singing praises to the generation passed before us to "that bourne from whence," etc., etc., we are anxiously awaiting to see what the present generation will do next. As for the Future, we generously and wisely bequeath that to our successors, hoping that they may be fitted for their herculean labors by indulging in such chowder as their ancestors know how to make—and eat.

In the past, our glorious flag was honored and respected as the emblem of the free—but why do I say this? but for the fond hope I idly cherish that we again, some day, may behold—alas! this is but a dream, and belongs not to the Present, but to the awful Future. I said "awful Future"—not that I believe the future is to be so very awful, but because many of our most celebrated orators use this expression, and never fail to be applauded; therefore I use it. (Immense applause.)

It is with a proud heart I stand here before you to-day, in this great and glorious year, when over forty million of people are—or should be—eating chowder, and laying plan after plan for the future—which the future will never carry out. If the future does carry them out, the aforesaid future is an idiot. Look at the great deeds of your ancestors, and then ask yourselves the question, will future generations be idiotic? "Yes, yes," you exclaim. 'Tis echoed back from the granite hills of your own staunch State, and from every island on yonder sea,—but then we must not forgot that one swallow does not make a Spring, and that there are over forty millions of people—ourselves included—to correct our national idiocy.

With a solicitude which must be seen in order to be appreciated, we as a people stand around, anxiously waiting to raise a monument over the remains of our wisest, most learned, and bravest and best. Thus we glorify the Past. We inscribe on the tablets of the Present the name of every great, good and worthy Railroad King, Congressman and defaulter; and as representatives of our age and people, what nobler monument, what more exquisitely carved tablet can we offer to the Future, than this stately grove of trees?

Rome, stern monarch of the world upon her seven hills,—Rome never had a grove like this! Greece, with her proud philosophers, the home of Aristotle, Thomas Collins, Esq., and myself,—Greece never had a grove like this! England, mistress of the seas, whose drum beat precedes the sun in his westward march around the world,—England never had a grove like this! Nobody ever could have a grove like this, except they were chowderheads; nobody ever would have a grove like this, but chowderheads.

When future generations shall repose under the cool shades of some other grove, or sitting here upon these rocks in the amber moonlight of nights to come, and gazing as we have gazed upon the white winged ships specking the distant horizon,—in the midst of such beautiful scenes, grateful thoughts should arise—but probably won't—of those who originated this umbrageousness. Then will come our reward. Then will our children rise up and call us blessed, or words to that effect.

GOSPORT.

Messrs. Editors:—When we notice the marked parallel in the names of our New England watering places and those of Old England, it becomes interesting to observe also the parallel in natural features. If we read the description of the harbor and natural features of Portsmouth, England, we find it the precise description of our own Portsmouth. The English Portsmouth is surrounded with walks which are shaded with trees and afford a good promenade for the inhabitants.

Then our Gosport was named for the English Gosport, where five years ago I saw Queen Victoria embarking for her summer sojourn at Osborne in the Isle of Wight, which corresponds to our Isles of Shoals. It is to be hoped that none of these fine old English names will be cast aside. Especially let us preserve the beautiful name of Gosport, and not merge it into that of Rye.

Let us who have a lingering affection for our venerable Mother Land, petition Mr. Poor to name his delightful hotel the "Gosport House;" his fleet and safe steamer, commanded by the gallant Capt. Bird, the "Gosport;" and above all do not wipe out from the face of New England the TOWN OF GOSPORT.

[We sympathize with our correspondent's veneration for and desire to preserve the old names with which the early settlers kept alive their memories of the districts they came from across the Atlantic; but we have little faith in the success of any attempt to retain the town of Gosport on the map of New Hampshire. That once flourishing town was virtually "wiped out from the face of New England" by the great fire which destroyed most of its dwellings many years ago; from that date its population steadily decreased, making the burden of taxation harder and harder to bear for the few who remained, until at length but a score or so of votes were cast at the annual town meeting. When Mr. Poor became proprietor of most of Star island the resident population still further decreased, until only a portion of the Downs and Caswell families, we believe, remained to represent the old lords of the island; and but a dozen votes, all told, were thrown to elect a representative to the legislature. It needs no argument to show that this was not only a political absurdity but a political outrage; yet so long as the State government was politically in sympathy with the dozen island voters there was little prospect of a remedy being applied. For two years past the State government was democratic; Gosport was also democratic, and Gosport was consequently left undisturbed. This year the State government is republican, and had Gosport last Spring chosen a republican representative we are not sure Gosport would not still have been undisturbed; but Gosport went solidly democratic, so at last, years after it should have been done, it has been decided that a dozen voters on an island shall no longer politically balance a hundred and fifty voters on the main land.—Eds. Chron.]

JOTTINGS.

Ex-President Norton, of the Common Council, after the dissolution of the convention of the City Councils on Thursday evening, made a few remarks, thanking the members for their courtesy extended to him as their presiding officer, and expressing a hope that his successor in office would receive the same consideration at the hands of the democrats that had been extended to him by the members of the minority. After the adjournment Mr. Norton entertained the Common Council, which body had adjourned sine die.

The postal bill adopted on Friday establishes new mail routes in this vicinity as follows: between Greenland depot and Rye Beach; Portsmouth and Newcastle; Portsmouth and Newington.

The guests of the Oceanic, Isles of Shoals, will give a dramatic and musical entertainment, on Wednesday evening, August 9th, the net proceeds to be devoted to the saving of the Old South Church, Boston, to the nation. Mr. Poor offers the citizens of Portsmouth the opportunity of enjoying this pleasure for the low fare of 50 cts. for the round trip. Steamer Major will leave the wharf at 6 o'clock.

The dwelling house formerly owned by the late Conrider S. Derby, situated on Sheafe street and numbered six, was disposed of by Col. Hackett on Saturday at a guardian's auction sale, for $1015, to Miss Nellie F. Dwyer, daughter Mr. Jeremiah Dwyer.

Sheriff Kent has appointed the following named gentlemen as deputies, all of whom have furnished the required bonds: James W. Odlin, Exeter; Charles A. Shepard, Raymond; John W. Smart, Manchester; Isaiah A. Dustin, Derry.

Mr. Edwin C. Neally has been reappointed Chief Engineer of the fire department at the United States navy yard at Kittery, Me., vice Harriman, removed.

The wicked "types" on Saturday made us say (after we so wrote it) that Col. Hackett would sell certain bank stock by auction at noon on that day,—just a week ahead of the time advertised in another column. The Colonel had proof of the benefits of advertising in the number of persons who called on him during the forenoon to ask how it was about that stock.

There will be a concert at the Farragut House, Rye Beach, this (Monday) evening, for the benefit of the new Episcopal chapel. Tickets on sale at Preston's drug store, and at the Farragut House.

It is reported that nearly $6,000,000 of the bonds of the Eastern Railroad Company have already been surrendered to the trustees. This includes the $3,000,000 of sterling bonds.

The new City Government takes charge of things Tuesday, and we presume will lose no great amount of time in replacing the present paid city officials with republicans. "If it were done, when 'tis done, then 'twere well it were done quickly." Who the new officers are to be we have not had,—or expected,—or wanted,—a hint; but we hope at least two of the officers who were legislated out of office by the democrats two years ago, will be reinstated,—the City Clerk and City Marshal. Mr. Johnson we consider as good an officer as the city ever had in that position, and if reelected he would bring to the office a thorough knowledge of what to do, and will and ability to do it faithfully and efficiently. There is no department of city affairs in which the welfare of the city demands a competent chief more than in the department of police, and that ex-Marshal Johnson would fill the bill his long and satisfactory previous service insures.

We have received a communication from some one who finds fault with the conduct of some officials at the Eastern depot, but the communication being anonymous we cannot publish it. In all such cases we require the writer's name, not for publication but as a guarantee of good faith; and if the correspondent will comply with our rule we will publish the complaint referred to.

—A friend, meeting another, spoke of having some Centennial democratic pups. Meeting the same friend a few days after, he said: "I've some republican puppies at my house." "Why, how so," cries the friend, "I thought you called them democratic pups a few days ago?" "Well," answered he, "so I did; but they have their eyes open now."

—A man in Boone county, Iowa, grew weary of his wife's absence on a visit to her mother-in-law, and hurried her return by having a photograph of his house taken with himself and a neighbor's wife standing on the porch. This he sent to his better half, and she returned by the first train.

—A ragged boy was, years ago, cared for by a benevolent young man in Baltimore, who had just married. The boy grew up intelligent, educated and enterprising. Mark the power of gratitude. A few days ago he eloped with his benefactor's wife.

—A Michigan editor, on discovering a fire, rushed out into the street shouting: "Conflagration! conflagration!! conflagration!!! Approximate hither with the implements of deluge and extinguish this combustion."

—"It's proof of the singular operation of the human mind," says a mental philosopher, "that when two men accidentally exchange hats, the one who gets the worst tile is always the first to discover the mistake."

—Sojourner Truth has been basely lied about; she is not dead, but is sojourning in Michigan.

PILOT BREAD.

This kind of bread having come into extensive family use, it has been my purpose to furnish, from choice materials, an article which should meet the approval of the most fastidious as to neatness, looks and taste. Whether I have succeeded in giving to the public a PILOT BREAD,

SUPERIOR IN EXCELLENCE,

the consumer may be the judge; that the quality will not be rendered to depreciate, the past with the present is my best pledge. That I can compete with all the various qualities of Pilot Bread in the market, as to price, I make no pretensions,—but in price, all things being equal, I fear no competition.]

Sitting Bull's Statue.

Those who have visited Washington have seen Greenough's sitting statue of Washington in the east part of the capitol grounds. Most of those whose eyes have been so fortunate as never to have rested on it know that it is a colossal figure of George, naked to the waist, sitting out in the sun and rain, without any hat or umbrella, in a marble chair, on top of a granite block. His outstretched hand is lifted appealingly, and the common explanation of this is that he is pointing to the patent office, where hangs the last suit of clothes he wore as commander-in-chief. Of late they have wheeled the great stone image into the area immediately in front of the main porch of the capitol.

Standing here, in loose plaid walking coat and looser trousers, was a real John Bull, looking around with one eye glass the other morning, when his vision rested full on George. Turning to Major Ben. Perley Poore, who happened to be near, the Englishman said:—

"Aw, beg pardon, sir; but what is that large marble figure?"

"That, sir,' replied the Major, with great gravity, "is Sitting Bull."

"Aw! Really, now! Wonderful! And you've got him up so soon! Aw, what an extraordinary people, to be sure!"

With this he left the Major and started down the steps, and the last seen of this astonished Englishman he was walking around the granite base, whereon Washington is seated, reading the inscription which one full walk around is needed to complete: "First in war, first in peace, first in the hearts of his countrymen," That inscription must have puzzled J. Bull considerably, and caused him to repeat with emphasis his former ejaculation: "Aw, what an extraordinary people, to be sure."—Wash. Cor. Cin. Gazette.

—Sixty-three babies reported for duty at the Battle Creek baby party. The careless reporters assert that Mrs. B—— "furnished refreshments for the whole of them."

—The Burlington Hawkeye is inclined to harbor the conviction that "no man can realize the geological history of creation, the slow, regular development and shaping of things in the slow unfolding centuries and ages, until he has watched a gang of men at work on the streets."

MAGIC
CONDITION PILLS!
The Wonderful Remedy for Liver Complaint, Billiousness, Dyspepsia, Constipation, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Headache, Kidney Complaint, Nervousness, Scrofula, Piles, and all diseases arising from a bad state of the Blood!
No medicine ever offered to the public has given such universal satisfaction as Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. Their praises are on every tongue where their merits are known. They strike at once at the seat of disease and show their healing power almost immediately. Thousands of voluntary testimonials of their merits have been received by the agent, from those who have been cured by them, of which the following are samples:
Dyspepsia Four Years, Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels Three Years, Confined to my Room Two Years, Pain so I Could Not Sleep Without Morphine. One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills Made Me Eat Well, Sleep Well and Free from Pain, after being given up by Physicians.
WEST LEBANON, ME., Feb. 22, 1
MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I have been sick for four years with Dyspepsia, and for the past three years Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels. I have suffered all the pain I could endure and have been confined to my room for two years, and could not sleep nights without the use of morphine. I have been given up by physicians as past cure. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, and they have done me more good than all the doctors I have had. I sleep well, I eat well and have no pain. They are all they are recommended to be. Please send me three packages, as two of my neighbors wish to try them. I enclose $1.50.
Your truly, JOHN W. LORD.
Another Letter from Maj. John W. Lord, one month later: Wonderful Cures by Dr. Quain's Pills Effected on Him in Thirteen Days. First time Free from Pain for Three Years.
WEST LEBANON, ME., March 22, 1875
MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I commenced taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS February 9th, and wrote you February 22d of their wonderful effect. I have continued to improve ever since. My appetite is good, and I sleep as well as I ever did in my life. I am free from pain for the first time in three years. When I was taken sick four years ago, I weighed one hundred and eighty-six pounds; I now weigh one hundred and thirty, but, as I am gaining in strength, I have faith I shall regain my flesh this summer, by the aid of DR. QUAIN'S PILLS I continue taking them for some time to come.
Yours truly, JOHN W. LORD.
Dr. Quain's Pills the Remedy for Soldiers' Aches and Pains.
WEST LEBANON, ME., June 1, 1875.
MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I am now able to walk out every day, and am gaining in strength very fast, all of which is due to you as agent for the best Pills in the world. I have taken no other medicine, and my improvement has been steady since first taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done everything for me, and I will say to you, advertise them direct to the soldiers, for they will certainly cure them of aches and pains caused from exposure and hardship on the field. Please send me by return mail another package.
JOHN W. LORD.
Rheumatism for Twenty Years Cured by One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills—"The Best Medicine in the World."
EAST ANDOVER, N. H., Dec. 10, 1875.
MR. LANE—Dear Sir:—As I know the value of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS and the good they have done me, I take pleasure in giving them praise; so I send you another testimonial. My father has been troubled with Rheumatism for twenty years or more, and has tried everything that could be thought of, but to no purpose. At times it would be so bad that he could not lift his hand to his head or do any work at all, especially in cold weather. A short time ago I advised him to get some of these Pills. He believed nothing in them, but I gave him the last package I had of you, as I did not need them, and he has not been as free from the Rheumatic Complaint for years. No Rheumatism, no pain. What helped him? It was DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, the best medicine in the world. There is nothing like them. I know it, for I have tried them, and they are all, yes, more than they are recommended to be. Give them a fair trial and you will say so. I write this because I know the goodness of them and wish others to know them as some. Some may think I am telling a big story I am. But remember I am not giving them half the praise they ought to have.
Yours with respect, ED. F. PEVARE.
Wonderful Effect of Four Doses of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills upon Neuralgia of Twelve Years' Duration—Testimony of Rev. J. S. Patton.
DAINGERFIELD, MORRIS CO., TEXAS, Nov. 15, '75.
MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I have been afflicted for near twelve years with Neuralgia in the face and head. I tried I do not know how many physicians, and could only get partly relieved. I also tried many patent medicines with the same result. I have been confined to my room most all the time for eight or ten winters, and have been traveling and visiting medical springs, and I still suffered most intensely. The physicians pronounced my case the worst and most stubborn that they had had anything to do with. One told me I could never get well; they all advised me to go South and spend the winter, and thought that was the only chance for me, and I was trying to get ready to go to Florida, when through the kindness of Rev. H. M. Mathis, my attention was called to the advertisement of Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. I immediately sent to you for a package. I have taken four doses and I am almost free from pain. The impression here seems to be that I (your agent) can cure them, they will cure anybody. I have five applications to send for the pills. Enclosed please find three dollars; send five packages to me and one to Mrs. Laura Powell, Sulphur Springs, Hopkins county, Texas.
Yours truly, J. S. PATTON.
Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache.
LACONIA, N. H., Jan. 29, 1875.
THOS. W. LANE—Sir:—I have been troubled with Bad Blood, Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done me more good than all the medicine I ever took; I have taken considerable medicine within the last five years. For the nerves I think there is nothing so good as those pills. I can recommend them to all who are similarly afflicted, they have done me so much good. I think they will recommend themselves wherever they go. I shall recommend the pills to all who need them. Please send me two packages more, one for myself and one for a lady friend of mine. Send bills to the inventor, agent and advertiser of those Pills.
MRS. P. L. ELLIOTT.

PULMOCINE.

BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL

is a new discovery. Twenty-three years ago it was used by one of New England's most famous physicians as the best Pulmonary Curative he could prescribe, after a dozen years spent in experimenting with it before he was satisfied that the Materia Medica could add nothing in its favor.

Is the ultima thule of Medical Discovery.

Among its many ingredients are Wild Cherry Bark, Squill Root, Liquorice Root, Blood root, &c. It is a Blood Purifier, gently stimulating. It increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is sudorific and alterative. It is a necessary family medicine. It is a Tonic and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is a gentle sedative, and relieves nervousness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.

CLEAR YOUR THROAT!

Relieve Your Lungs.

For the terrible diseases engendered by the lung trying climate of New England.

PULMOCINE CORDIAL

Is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. Every Family should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croups, Laryngitis, or inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred Throat Diseases at all times prevalent, it is the ounce of Prevention. Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for. These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning, when a physician may be out of immediate reach. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy relief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As "a stitch in time saves nine," so does the possession of this Family Medicine prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agent. There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all thus afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and the patient's danger is past.

For Coughs,
Croup,
Diphtheria,
Asthma, etc.,
— USE —
Buchman's Pulmocine Cordial.

The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. It is offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

Health Regulations.

THE BOARD OF HEALTH OF THE CITY OF PORTSMOUTH call the attention of the public to the following sections of Chapter 10, of the Revised Ordinances, and invite all interested in the preservation of health in our city to aid them in the execution of their duty:

SEC. 3. All waste water of houses, yards, cellars, sinks, pumps, etc., shall be conveyed by their owners or occupiers to the common sewers, or to such places as the Health Officers may direct.

SEC. 4. No person shall be allowed to throw any vegetable or dead animal substance, or any other matter capable of producing infection, into any street, lane, alley or dock, or upon any wharf, but shall bury them or throw them into the river below low-water mark.

SEC. 5. The contents of vaults and privies shall not be permitted to rise within one foot of the surface of the earth. And all owners or occupiers of buildings having such vaults or privies as may require it, shall cause them to be emptied within ten days from the promulgation of this ordinance, and in future on or before the the first day of May in each year. And any such owner or occupier neglecting so to do, shall forfeit and pay for every such neglect a sum not less than three nor more than twenty dollars, and a like sum for every week's neglect after the time above specified.

SEC. 6. No vender of meat at the stalls shall be permitted to leave any stale meat, heads, feet or offal of any kind about their stalls or stores every night, or suffer them to be thrown into any street, lane or alley of the city. Nor shall any sellers or fish be permitted to throw any offal of fish into any street, lane or alley of the city, or upon any wharf, but shall either bury them or throw them into the river beyond low-water mark.

SEC. 7. If any dead animal or decaying vegetable substance, or any other nuisance, shall be found in any part of the city, the owners or occupiers of the premises where such nuisance shall be found, shall cause the same to be removed within twenty-four hours after being notified so to do by one or more of the health officers.

SEC. 12. When any householder shall know that any person within his family is taken sick of the small pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, he shall immediately give notice thereof to the Health Officers.

SEC. 13. When any physician shall know that any person whom he is called to visit is infected with the small pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, such physician shall immediately give notice thereof to the Health Officers.

SEC. 14. If any such householder or physician shall refuse or neglect to give the notice required in the preceding sections, he shall for each refusal or neglect, forfeit the sum of twenty dollars, to be recovered by either of the Health Officers in the name of the city.

SEC. 16. The Health Officers may give written notice to the owner or occupier of any building, vessel or enclosure, to remove or destroy any nuisance or other thing deemed by them on examination, to be injurious to the public health, within a certain time limited therein: and in case such owner or occupier—the said notice having been given to him, or left at his usual place of abode—shall neglect to comply therewith, the said Health Officers may, by direction of the mayor and accompanied by the city marshal, forcibly enter such building, vessel, or enclosure, and cause said nuisance or other thing aforesaid to be removed or destroyed.

SEC. 21. No person shall erect, keep or continue, or permit to be erected, kept or continued, upon any land occupied by him, any pen for the keeping of swine, or privy, over either of the mill ponds in this city, or so placed that offensive substances therefrom shall be discharged or drained into either of said ponds, or into any creek, or cove, or drain leading thereto. And no person shall construct, keep or continue any drain leading from any pen for the keeping of any swine, slaughter-house, privy vault, or other unwholesome or offensive place, into either of said ponds, or to any flat or marsh adjoining the same. And no person shall throw or suffer to be thrown from his land into either of said ponds, or upon any of said flats or marshes, any dead, decaying, unwholesome or offensive animal or vegetable substances.

LINCOLN BUTTER POWDER.

Good Fresh Butter All The Year Round.

BUTTER IN 20 MINUTES.

Lincoln Butter Powder is an entirely harmless article made from a celebrated English receipe, and now in daily use by many of the most noted farmers in the butter counties around Philadelphia.

In hot weather this Powder makes butter much firmer and sweeter than it usually is, and keeps it from turning rancid. It also removes the strong flavor of turnips, weeds, corn stalks, cotton seeds, etc.; and the increased yield of butter much more than pays the trifling expense of using it.

Yellow Hand's Scalp.

Since Yellow Hand, the Cheyenne warrior, yielded up his life to the strength and bravery of Buffalo Bill, it was reported that the intrepid scout was to honor this city with the scalp, the arms and the dress of the poor but haughty Indian. The report has become a fact. One morning they arrived, and now they adorn the window of the Pickwick cigar store, where they have attracted the attention of large numbers of people. The old man with his spectacles and the street gamin with his wonderment, gaze in admiration at the following articles: The scalp of the noble Cheyenne, head-dress, shield, blanket, bowie-knife, whip, and bridle. The shield has the ghastly ornament of several Indian scalps, thus showing that his death-dealing hand had only been felt by those in whose veins the blood of the red man runs. To the scalp, which is about three inches square, is attached a braided switch of straight black hair about two feet long. The head-dress is the chief and most attractive part of the warrior's costume. It is five or six inches wide and as many feet long, and made of buffalo skin. The whole thing is closely set with feathers from that noble bird, the American eagle. Each feather is tipped with fine hair, attached by some kind of cement. The flowing end of this head-dress is ornamented with scarlet cloth, sewed with green thread. Bells are attached to the cloth, no doubt to give warning when the brave was upon the war-path. This paraphernalia suggests the savageness and the impossibility to bring the red man under the soft influences of civilization.

—A Nantucket innkeeper has posted the following notice conspicuously in every guest-chamber of his house: "If there is anything that does not suit you, don't go about growling, but come to me."

Centaur

iniments.

White for the Human Family.

Yellow, for Horses and Animals.

These Liniments are simply the wonder of the world. Their effects are little less than marvellous, yet there are some things which they will not do. They will not cure cancer or mend broken bones, but they will always allay pain. They have straightened fingers, cured chronic rheumatism of many years standing, and taken the pain from terrible burns and scalds, which has never been done by any other article.

THE WHITE LINIMENT is for the human family. It will drive Rheumatism, Sciatica and Neuralgia from the system; cure Lumbago, Chilblains, Palsy, Itch, and most Cutaneous Eruptions; it extracts frost from frozen hands and feet, and the poison of bites and stings of venomous reptiles; it subdues swellings, and alleviates pain of every kind.

For sprains or bruises it is the most potent remedy ever discovered. The Centaur Liniment is used with great efficacy for Sore Throat, Toothache, Caked Breasts, Earache, and Weak Back. The following is but a sample of numerous testimonials:

"INDIANA HOME, JEFF. CO., IND., May 28, 1873.

"I think it my duty to inform you that I have suffered much with rheuma. feet and chords. I have not been free from these swellings in eight years. Now I am perfectly well, thanks to the Centaur Liniment. The Liniment ought to be applied warm.

BENJAMIN BROWN."

The proof is in the trial. It is reliable, it is handy it is cheap, and every family should have it.

To the sick and bed-ridden, the halt and lame, to the wounded and sore, we say, "Come and be healed."

To the poor and distressed who have spent their money for worthless medicines, a bottle of CENTAUR LINIMENT will be given without charge.

THE YELLOW CENTAUR LINIMENT is adapted to the tough muscles, cords and flesh of horses and animals. It has performed more wonderful cures of Spavin, Strain, Wind-galls, Scratches, Sweeny, and general Lameness, than all other remedies in existence. Read what the great Expressmen say of it:

"NEW YORK, January, 1874.

"Every owner of horses should give the CENTAUR LINIMENT a trial. We consider it the best article ever used in our stables.

"H. MARSH, Supt. Adams Ex. Stables, N. Y.
"E. PITZ, Supt. U. S. Ex. Stables, N. Y.
"ALBERT S. OLIN, Supt. Nat. Ex. Stables, N. Y."

"MONTGOMERY, ALA., Aug. 17, 1874.

"GENTLEMEN,—I have used over one gross of CENTAUR LINIMENT, yellow wrapper, on the mules of my plantation, besides dozens of the family Liniment for my negroes. I want to purchase it at the wholesale price, and will thank you to ship me by Savannah steamer one gross of each kind. Messrs. A. T. Stewart & Co. will pay your bill on presentation.

"Respectfully, JAMES DARROW."

The best patrons of this Liniment are Farriers and Veterinary Surgeons. It heals Galls, Wounds and Poll-evil, removes Swellings, and is worth millions of dollars to Farmers, Livery-men, Stock-growers, Sheep-raisers, and those having horses or cattle.

What a Farrier cannot do for $20 the Centaur Liniment will do at a trifling cost.

These Liniments are warranted by the proprietors, and a bottle will be given to any Farrier or Physician who desires to test them. Sold everywhere.

Castoria.

Is a pleasant and perfect substitute, in all cases, for CASTOR OIL. Castoria is the result of an old Physician's effort to produce, for his own practice, an effective cathartic, pleasant to the taste and free from griping.

Dr. Samuel Pitcher, of Hyannis, Mass., succeeded in combining, without the use of alcohol, a purgative agent as pleasant to take as honey, and which possesses all the desirable properties of Castor Oil.

It is adapted to all ages, but is especially recommended to mothers as a reliable remedy for all disorders of the stomach and bowels of children. It is certain, agreeable, absolutely harmless, and cheap. It should be used for wind colic, sour stomach worms, costiveness, croup, &c., then children can have sleep and mothers may rest.

J. B. Rose & Co., 45 & 47 Dey Street, New York, are the sole proprietors of Castoria, after Dr. Pitcher's recipe.

Daily Chronicle.

TUESDAY, AUGUST 8, 1876.

FOR PRESIDENT,

Rutherford B. Hayes,

OF OHIO.

FOR VICE PRESIDENT,

William A. Wheeler,

OF NEW YORK.

Hayes' Platform in War.

In 1864, when Hayes was in the army, being nominated for Congress he was requested to come home and stump his district. His reply was, "I have other business just now. Any man who would leave the army at this time to electioneer for Congress ought to be scalped!"

Hayes' Platform in Peace.

"Honest money for all, and free schools for all. There should be no inflation which will depreciate the one, nor sectarian interference which will destroy the other."

Louisiana Politics.

Gen. Frank Nicholls, the ex-Confederate general nominated by the democratic convention of Louisiana as candidate for Governor of that State, in his speech of acceptance said:

"I want to announce to you that I am thoroughly, utterly and completely opposed to fraud, whether it comes from our side or comes from the other side. I want this election to be square, fair and peaceable. I want not simply the letter of the law followed, but also the spirit. I want every man who is entitled to vote to be permitted to do so."

That was brave talk to use to a democratic convention in Louisiana, and it did not well please its hearers. Nicholls is said to be a high-minded and just man, notwithstanding his rebel record. A speech that gave far greater satisfaction than Nicholls', was that made by a man in advocacy of the nomination of L. A. Wiltz, former mayor of New Orleans and now democratic candidate for Lieutenant Governor. This man said: "Nominate him and we bet our lives no Returning Board or Metropolitan Police will or can prevent him from taking possession of the office. (Loud cheering.) Judging his future by the past we know we can depend upon him when the hour for action arises. When elected Mayor of New Orleans he did not wait for any election board, but ordered his Radical opponents at five minutes' notice to vacate their offices. (Tremendous cheering.)"

That is, nominate Wiltz for Governor and he will take possession of the office, no matter what the election returns may be; as a proof that he will do it, remember that he once led a mob and drove republicans from office in New Orleans "at five minutes' notice," without waiting for any election returns and without a shadow of legal authority. The following extracts indicate that Gen. Nicholls will "want every man who is entitled to vote to be permitted to do so" a good while before that good time arrives in his State:

Deputy Sheriff F. T. Fisher left here a week ago last Monday night with two insane persons, Jim Shepard and Julia Davis, sent to the Insane Asylum by order of the parish court, and returned by the Onachita Belle last Sunday. He reports that when he got to Bayon Sara he had great difficulty in getting anybody to drive him to Jackson on account of the danger of being attacked and murdered by the "regulators." Not a colored man could be found who was willing to take the risk. Finally an Irishman was employed, and at two o'clock Wednesday morning the driver, sheriff and prisoners set out for the insane asylum, about twenty miles distant.

On the way back, when about eight miles from Bayou Sara, they were stopped by five finely mounted and well armed men, one of whom made several inquiries of Mr. Fisher, asking where he was from, where he had been, what was his business, etc. Noticing a revolver by his side, one of them asked the Sheriff if he did not know that "niggers are not allowed to carry pistols in these parts," wanted to know when he was "going to leave," and wound up by telling him he had better be G—— d—— careful how he walked around in that country. He was then permitted to depart, and the "bulldozers" disappeared in the woods. Mr. Fisher reports that there is a perfect reign of terror in West Feliciana. Cotton fields are deserted, the crops are neglected, and everything bears the marks of desolation and ruin.

During his whole trip from Bayou Sara to Jackson and back, he saw but two colored persons. On the evening of his arrival in Bayou Sara a colored man was shot by a white man in broad daylight, the ball from a Spencer rifle passing through his body. The night before he reached Jackson, one man was killed and another wounded. West Feliciana has been guilty of giving another one thousand majority to the republican ticket. Verily, this is a free country.—St. James (La.) Sentinel.

Henry Martin was one of the colored men hung between the gateposts of the Point Pleasant plantation. Levin Foster was hanged and shot; Wilson Rhodes and Bill Lewis were hanged. The bodies of these victims were "viewed" and buried by the justice of the peace at Fort Hudson, but for evident reasons no inquest could be held.

While the murderous work was being perpetrated at the Point Pleasant place, leading men of the parish remonstrated with the "poor whites" from the pineywoods, who constitute the main working force of the Regulators. It was urged to these roughriders that the negro organization had been broken up, that they would not again dare to take part in politics; and that unnecessary slaughter would so panic them that not enough would be left to take off the crops. The significant retort was "D——n you, we don't want to work agin niggers! Plow and pick your own cotton, as we have to!"

Herein lies a serious danger that the well-to-do planters of the Felicianas and East Baton Rouge must consider—we may say, in many instance, are now painfully considering. They have unleashed a fiendish spirit, which defies law and human rights, for the purpose of curing the evils they found in the ignorant and not always too scrupulously honest negroes. Now that the negro is thoroughly cowed and servile as the most exacting master could wish, can they subdue and chain up their evil agent? Many fear that they can not, and the indications are that this fear is but too well grounded.—N. O. Republican.

News and Notes.

Six men and four women were drowned by the sinking of a boat in a pond in Essex county, N. Y., on Sunday.

There were seven affrays in Boston on Sunday in which knives were used with more or less effect, though no fatal wounds were inflicted.

A fellow named Samuel T. Baker seriously and probably fatally shot policeman McGarrigle of Boston, Sunday evening, because the officer ordered him and two companions not to obstruct the sidewalk. The would-be assassin is in custody.

On Saturday the following championship games of base ball were played: Bostons 13, Athletics 6; Louisvilles 4, Chicagos 2; Mutuals 4, Hartfords 1. The clubs now stand in the following order, for the championship: Chicagos, St. Louis, Hartfords, Bostons, Louisvilles, Mutuals, Athletics, Cincinnatis.

The receiver of the Townsend, Conn., Savings Bank has lately received $900 for a $60,000 loan made some years ago to Ethel C. Hine of New York, now a bankrupt. At the time the loan was made it was secured by a note for $75,000 and by securities of the face value of $220,000, but now "not worth a red."

The body of Mrs. L. Perkins of Tremont, Mass., who left her home some six or eight weeks since and had not since been heard from, was found in the woods near Tremont on Thursday. She was in good health when she left home.

The new schooner James L. Shute, of Gloucester, Mass., has been absent on a Grand Bank trip five months. She was fitted for a five months' trip, but with the large fleet returning from the Banks it is felt to be singular that she has not been spoken, or anything heard from her since leaving port, and it is feared that she has met with some accident in the ice fields.

Sch. Edward E. Webster, at Gloucester from Grand Banks, reports that on July 4 one of her crew, Alfred Myers, was washed overboard and drowned, Myers was a young man, about 22 years of age, and unmarried.

The carriage factories of J. R. Huntington and James Hume, at Newburyport, were entered and property destroyed to the value of several hundred dollars. The house of James Squires was robbed of $240, Saturday night.

New Hampshire Items.

A man named Conn shot and killed a Mr. Williams in Tamworth on Sunday, for refusing to go away from near his house when ordered.

A slaughter-house opposite Plymouth was burned, Saturday, with several sheep, hides, tallow and hay. The building was owned by N. H. Weeks, whose loss was $2000; insured for $1000. The covered bridge narrowly escaped destruction.

Charles Eaton of Haverhill, twenty-one years old, was drowned at Hampton Beach on Sunday while bathing.

The missing man, Mr. W. C. Ireland, was found at Windsor, in Hillsborough county, at the home of his grandfather, on Saturday. He walked from Portland to Windsor, 140 miles, in four days and a half, arriving very much exhausted.

A cottage house at Bakersville, owned by the Magic Garter and Suspender Company and occupied by Michael Shea, was burned Saturday night; loss, $1000; no insurance. The cause was incendiary. J. Carr was run over by a fire engine and had his shoulder broken.

A further hearing in the Swansey murder case was held in the Keene Court House, Saturday afternoon. Attorney-General Tappan was present, and at his request the inquest was adjourned without date, subject to the call of the Coroner. The general opinion is that Perry, who was found in his cellar with five bullets in his body, was murdered through revenge or in a personal quarrel.

Political.

"The masses are moving." A great democratic Reform Convention, held in Crawford county, Kan., a few days ago, was attended by just eleven persons.

Charles Francis Adams is said to be likely to receive the democratic nomination for Governor of Massachusetts.

Tilden, in his first epistle general, says "The public mind will no longer accept shams." That's so; the public mind repudiated Tilden's sham reputation as a reformer some time ago.

The demagogue never was more plainly apparent than in the following sentence in the letter of Thomas A. Hendricks: "I hope never again to see the cruel and remorseless proscription for political opinions which has disgraced the Administration of the last eight years." And the man who wrote that, knowing that his party never allowed a political opponent to hold office a day after he could be superceded by a partisan supporter, and in face of the "remorseless proscription for political opinion which has disgraced" the present Confederate House of Representatives, is a candidate for Vice President on the "Tilden and reform" ticket. Bah!

DeWitt C. Littlejohn, heretofore a leading democrat in New York and a delegate to the St. Louis convention, comes out for Hayes and Wheeler, and says the republicans will carry the State by 40,000 majority.

Hendricks, in his letter of acceptance, says: "The strife between the sections and between the races will cease as soon as the power for evil is taken away from a party that makes political gain out of scenes of violence and bloodshed, and the Constitutional authority is placed in the hands of men whose political welfare requires that peace and good order shall be preserved everywhere." As Missouri, Georgia and other southern States have been made democratic only by "violence and bloodshed," and in all the "scenes of violence and bloodshed" in the South the democrats are the aggressors and the republicans the victims, it is evident Hendricks must mean his own party when he refers to "the party that makes political gain" out of such ruffianism.

What do the American people think of a man who withdrew from the church because the pastor preached a sermon in favor of upholding the Government against traitors in arms? That is what Hendricks did, and now he wants the loyal masses of the country to make him Vice President of the United States. The people will tell him what they think of such fellows next November. Albany Journal.

Promise and Performance.

The proprietors of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters promise nothing in behalf of this famous tonic and regulating elixir which it will not perform. No pretensions irreconcilable with common sense are made in reference to it, but evidence of the most positive nature has been accumulating for over a quarter of a century in its behalf which proves it to be a reliable preventive and curative of malarial diseases, an efficient and genial tonic and general corrective, and specially valuable in cases where the bowels, liver, stomach or urinary organs are affected. Debility, the source from whence so many bodily evils spring, is entirely remedied by the invigorative action of the Bitters, which arrests premature decay and repairs losses of nervous and muscular power while improving the appetite and rendering digestion easy.

A POPULAR LINE.—The New York and New England Railroad, under its present live management, is winning immense patronage and thousands of friends. Being the only route from Boston to Philadelphia without change of cars, its Centennial traffic is immense, while its unqualified inducements to travellers to Brooklyn, Baltimore, Washington and other points render it a favorite with tourists and commercial travellers.

What are the credentials of Glenn's Sulphur Soap? Firstly, it is indorsed by medical men as a disinfectant, deodorizer, and remedy for local diseases of the skin. Secondly, it is an admirable article for toilet use. Thirdly, it is inexpensive.

If times were so very bad people would not demand such fine workmanship for their Cooking Ranges as that in the "Delmonico," for the manufacturers are having orders come in faster than they can supply.

Adamson's Botanic Cough Balsam is made from the choicest barks, roots and herbs, and is highly recommended for its great curative properties.

Sozodont.

An article that is at once a teeth preserver and breath purifier, and yet so pleasant and convenient to use, its exceeding popularity does not surprise any one. Time has fully established the fact that the SOZODONT possesses these excellent qualities in an eminent degree. It has legitimately acquired the right to a position upon every toilet table.

COOKED CORNED BEEF.

Articles are being published calculated to prejudice the public against using Cooked Corned Beef, and we would say in answer to them that in no instance has positive proof been claimed to show that such is the case.

Our goods are packed in a manner very similar to that of Corn, Tomatoes, Fruit and canned goods generally, (which have long been tested) and we use nothing whatever of a poisonous nature in their preparation.

In addition to our own statement we have the strong endorsement of Prof. Hosford of Cambridge, one of the most eminent Chemists in the country, who has fully tested and is familiar with the entire details of the preparation of our goods.

We would also state that we use none but the choicest of Beef that our Chicago market affords, and trust that with these statements the rapidly growing popularity of our Corned Beef may be increased.
